NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES

Items of General Interest Clipped

From our Exchanges.

Asheboro Courier:

Millred Humble, a saw mill man living five miles South east of Asheboro, in the Richland section, had the misfortune to have his left arm cut off while operating his mill last Thursday afternoon. Dr. Fox responded to a hasty call and went down and attended him. His arm was cut off just below the elbow. Mr. Humble is a son of Mrs. Martilda Humble, a widow lady and is a hard working young man and is to be pitied because of his great misfortune.

Albemarle Chronicle:

Mrs. M. C. Arrowood died Tuesday morning at the home of her stepson, Dewitt Arrowood, in West Albemarle. She was the widow of the late Rev. M. C. Arrowood, who was for a number of years pastor of the Presbyterian church here and who was the founder of the present church after leaving here Mr. Arrowood had work in the eastern North Carolina where he died several months ago. Mrs. Arrowood remaining shortly afterwards and since made her home here. She leaves three small children, two of whom are now ill with measles which disease caused their mother's death.

Wilmington Republican:

Miss Elizabeth Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Duncan of Raleigh, was successfully operated upon for appendicitis at the Wm. City Hospital, Sunday. Miss Duncan is a pupil at Salem Academy and College.

One night the past week, Anna Seales, aged 5 years was accidentally shot at Kernersville by Mas. Joyce col, who was cleaning up an old pistol into which Seamster had unknowingly put some cartridges. The child was brought to the Water Hospital, this city and if survives it will be marked and buried about the head for life. Every pistol should be legislated out of existence.

Asheboro Gazette:

The first well-developed thunder storm of the season passed within hailing distance of this place Saturday night, although the rolling detonations indicated that the fury of the storm was expended elsewhere. The electric display was grand.

Last week the brakemen on the D. & W. railway struck for an increase of wages, but the places made vacant by the strikers were speedily filled by new men and the road experienced no perceptible inconvenience. It was about the tamest strike imaginable—resulting in nothing but a few men walking out of their jobs and letting other men walk into them.

High Caucasian:

Chanie Alston, a colored woman, died in Raleigh Friday morning she was one hundred years old having been born in 1810, in Scotland Neck. She was the mother of twelve children. She had resided in Raleigh for the past thirty years, living with her son, Alfred Christmas.

Ennis Ingraham, who was sent to the State Penitentiary from Cumberland county on May 29, 1908 to serve four years for the crime of bigamy, made his escape Saturday night. He managed to unlock his door, after which he went down the fire escape to the ground. He then secured a ladder, placed it against the wall and climbed over. Ingraham is a white man about thirty-four years old. He was kept in the dangerous insane department.

Asheboro Patriot:

Sam Stewart, of Rockingham county, who was arrested in Greensboro recently for retailing and sentenced to the roads by Judge Bure for 12 months, escaped from Capt. Melver's convict camp Friday.

The local branch of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company has sent a crew of men with equipment to the farm of Col. Joe Hardie near Brown Summit, to give a steam plow demonstration today and tomorrow. It is expected that the demonstration will attract a large number of farmers in that section.

Rev. W. H. Roach, a minister of the Christian church, died at his home in High Point last Wednesday night. He had been suffering from Bright's disease for three months, is due wholly to electric Bitters. Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed 50c at Freeman Drug Co.

Sher City Girl:

Mrs. R. M. Rains, who lived near Parks X Roads in Randolph County, was killed one day last week by her cow. She was in the stall milking, and when in response to her screams her husband rushed in, he found her lying under the cow having hooked her under the ear and thus breaking her neck.

J. W. Peace of Albright township, had the misfortune to lose his barn by fire last Thursday night. All his feed, five head of horses and one cow were lost, and two cows were badly burned. The origin of the fire is unknown, though some think it to have been the work of an incendiary. There was no insurance and Mr. Peace has the sympathy of all in his great loss.

Webster Weekly:

Ben Williamson of Saxapahaw, a brother of our estimable town-lady, Mrs. J. C. Mills, passed through Reidsville Tuesday on his way Forth, where he goes to consult specialists regarding his health. We trust that his indisposition is only temporary.

Last Saturday night Robert Newman of the Madison section, suffered the misfortune of having his barn destroyed by lightning. His horse mule, cow and two hogs sheltered in the barn at the time were burned. This good farmer has the sympathy of the people in this dispensation of Providence which brings him sore loss.

Wilkes Patriot:

During the thunder storm Saturday night the lightning played upon the electric light system in North Wilkesboro and put out all lights in town. The damage to the system however, was slight and was repaired and the lights turned on again after a couple hours darkness.

A mass meeting has been called to meet at the court house Saturday night to appoint cooperative committees to act with similar committees of other places to perfect plans for the early construction of the railroad from Taylorsville. A large attendance is hoped for and expected.

Danbury Reporter:

W. H. Flichum of Piedmont, Springs, caught another large grey fox in a small spring trap the past week, this being the second one he has caught recently. Neither fox was injured by the trap and Mr. Flichum will keep them as pets.

This section was visited by a severe electrical storm Saturday night. During the storm lightning struck one of the front wheels of Wm. Shelton's wagon at his home three miles north of Dahbury. Mr. Shelton had just returned from Winston and unhitched his mules from the wagon when the crash came. The wife of Mr. Shelton was slightly stunned by the stroke.

Randleman News:

Prof. J. B. Robertson, the general superintendent of the graded school went to Shoffner school-house Friday, where he delivered the literary address at the close of the school. Prof. Robertson taught his first school at this place.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break-downs. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed 50c at Freeman Drug Co.

Entered as second-class matter May 20, 1908, at the post office at Burlington, North Carolina, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Wednesday, March 16, 1910.

Why wouldn't a "Shoo Fly" from Greensboro to Raleigh do the business. What say our railroad friends?

The Democratic convention goes to Charlotte. Well, we suppose that city is fully prepared for a hot time.

Wonder what become of that new train that was to have been put on this line between Greensboro and Goldsboro some time ago. It seems to have been lost in the shuffle.

The city of Raleigh must be getting very quiet, did not even want the Democratic state convention. Perhaps they could not put up the required amount of liquid refreshments.

The indications are that there will be no let up in the building of "Greater Burlington" this spring and summer. Many substantial business houses and commodious residences will be erected.

Ex-Governor Glenn says he is not a candidate for Congress; but would not object to going to the United States Senate. Well, we guess not, but this is one wish of the "wind jammer" that will hardly ever materialize.

That Nash county blockader must have been an influential Democratic politician, from the fact that the sheriff was content with capturing the outfit and left the owner and operator to terrorize the neighborhood.

It would be nothing short of a calamity for ex-Governor Glenn to break into the United States Senate. There are too many of that kind there now. We need more statesmen there, and fewer demagogues of the Davis, Vardaman and Glenn stripe.

One would not think that such lawlessness as that perpetrated in Nash county last week could occur in North Carolina under Democratic good government. Well, but there is no telling where they will go, or what they will do if given a chance.

The head lines of an article in a recent issue of the News and Observer, "the need of more Superior courts," and the teaching and arguments of the Burlington News, that there is a decrease in crimes committed throughout the state, do not harmonize by any means.

The Democrats in North Carolina see the hand-writing on the wall and they are beginning to quake in the knee joints. As might be expected they have already begun to sing their old song, "nigger, nigger." If they cannot find a new issue, they certainly should try a new song. Just any old song will do, but it is consistent.

Let's Go Forward.

Burlington, in order to compete with neighboring cities in attracting outside capital and industries, must have additional railroad facilities. These we can easily acquire if we will determine to put our shoulders to the wheel and work in harmony for the general good of our city and county.

THE STATE DISPATCH suggests the organization of a company to build a line from this city to Pittsboro, thus giving us direct and quick connection with the main line of the Seaboard Air Line at Moncure. Let the townships which this road would traverse issue bonds to the extent of their ability and these with the private subscriptions that could be secured, would assure the prompt construction of this connecting link with the outside world.

Let us think about these things and "get busy." What say our Chamber of Commerce? Why not call a public meeting and set the ball in motion?

THE STATE DISPATCH invites an expression of opinion from citizens living in the territory affected by this long needed addition to our transportation facilities. In this matter, as in all other movements affecting the welfare of our people, this paper desires to lend its columns and its influence.

Something For All.

Under the above caption our esteemed contemporary the Greensboro Daily News gets in the right word at the right place in commenting upon the following item that is going the rounds.

The item and the comment, we think fits some people we know, who have variegated ideas about how a newspaper should be run. We reproduce the article in full and it is worth reading.

"This paragraph has been caught in the whirlpool, and is going the rounds:

"A wisely conducted newspaper is like a banquet, says an exchange. Every thing is served up with a view to variety. Help yourself to what you want and do not condemn the entire spread because pickles an onions may be included. If you do not relish them somebody else may find them palatable. Be generous and broad enough to select gracefully such reading matter from newspapers as will be agreeable to your mental taste. You, as an individual, are not compelled to swallow everything. We do not all think alike on every subject and it is a good thing, as it makes more variety, and variety is the spice of existence."

"This is an old picture in a new setting—an old truth in a new dress. The banquet idea is a good one, and the fellow with the uncultivated taste may with all propriety pass up the celery and olives, and regale himself with a sandwich, plain water, and perchance a mint.

"A newspaper—in its true view—is a many sided proposition. Its first duty is to print the news for the masses, and not for any particular class. It caters to all classes for subscriptions, and must of necessity secure patronage from many classes or cease to exist. The fellow who cares nothing for sporting news, reports of football, baseball, tennis, prize fights, etc., can turn to the personals and pink teas, or to some other class of news, and vice versa. And because one class of subscribers do not like the policy advocated in one particular editorial they should not give it up as a bad job and hopeless case, and "stop the paper" with an air that carries with it a desire to suppress the entire publication.

"The paper that pleases everybody in everything has never come from the press, either in news matter or editorial policy. It is as impolite to demand of the paper of which you are a subscriber that it print only such news and opinions as to meet your approval, as it would be to attend a banquet and order the waiters to remove everything from the table that does not appeal to your own individual taste."

Our correspondents and the writers of the R. F. D. items must in the future have their copy in by noon Tuesday to insure its appearance in print that week. When handed us on Wednesday we will not guarantee its appearance that day.

The Burlington News in its veiled efforts to justify the Democratic board of aldermen and to condemn the Burlington Pastors Association, in its last weeks issue says: "If this were a political argument with The State Dispatch or an argument on the cross roads campaign we would not hold our friends up to a Scriptural standard." Now we all know what The News would do if in a political argument with the State Dispatch, judging the future by the past, he would either run or lay down.

The Virginia Senate last week adopted the Federal income tax proposition by a vote of 19 to 4. The house of delegates a few nights ago voted against the proposition.

He Knew Them.

A Congregational minister, the father of six-year-old twin boys, was obliged to send one from the table for misbehavior. The little fellow was sitting crestfallen on a chair in an adjoining room when the maid entered. Upon spying him she said, "Oh, Billie, I'd be ashamed to be sent away from the table, as big a boy as you are, too." Billie, with flashing eyes, drew himself up saying, "Well, you wouldn't if you'd known this family as long as I have."—THE DELINEATOR for April.

A Bill Nye Story.

The following anecdote appeared in the first number of the Bookman and has just been reproduced in that magazine. It concerns Edward W. Nye (Bill Nye), who made, we are informed, a short speech at an author's dinner in London that was much relished by the bookmen present, including the publishers at whom it was indirectly aimed.

News Over the State

The Southern railway will build a brick and steel boiler factory at Spencer, at a cost of $175,000. This will about double the boiler force and output and necessitate an addition of 500 horse power to the power plant.
