NO. 17

TRIAL OF HENRY CLAY BEATTIE, JR.

Chesterfield Court House Va., Aug. 31.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife, sobbed like a child today when his gray-haired father in a low tremulous voice told of the domestic felicity of his son and the slain woman, Louise Owen Beattie. It was the first time that the calm prisoners countenance had given way during the trial. The testimony of the father in behalf of his son came as the dramatic close of a long days battle by the defense against the evidence heaped up by prosecution. Tomorrow the accused himself will go on the stand, and the defense will rest its case.

Battering constantly against the testimony of Paul Beattie, cousin of the prisoner, as to the purchase of the gun, his delivery of it to Henry and his subsequent conversations with the accused, the defense introduced several witnesses to cast doubt upon the veracity of Paul.

It emphasized that point when it produced David D. Beattie Pauls grandfather and the uncle of Henry, who testified that Pauls character was not good. It was another intense period in the trial for with apparent regret the aged man told of his grandson's shortcomings.

The most surprising refutation of the day against Paul's testimony came when Ernest H. Neb litt, superintendent of a paper-making plant, said that on Sunday, July 16 he saw Paul Beattie on the bridge where he worked handling a single barreled shot gun. Paul had maintained ever since the coroner's inquest that he disposed of the shotgun the same day he bought it. Saturday July 15, by giving it to Henry. Subsequently the defense brought many witnesses to tell of Mr. Neb litt's good character and brought others to attack Paul's veracity.

E. H. Lewis an employee of the Beattie store in South Richmond declared that people spoke of Paul Beattie 'as the biggest liar in town.'

Henry Clay Beattie Sr., father of the accused was interrogated for an hour just before court adjourned for the day. As he stepped to the witness stand the prisoner's face flushed. The white-haired man, his face deeply wrinkled and pale spoks in a voice scarcely above a whisper. Counsel leaned forward over the bench to listen to him. He talked with great effort, repressing an ever recurrent emotion.

He told how his life had been saddened by the death of some of his children, how Henry in his infancy had been neglected because twins came into the family during his boyhood, and described how on this account and the death of his own wife he had grown closely attached to his son. He described the strong love that had existed between Henry and his ill-fated wife testifying that he himself grew to love his daughter in law as one of his own children.

When her baby was born, said he, it was like starting life over for me to see the grandchild. It drew us all together very much. The father spoke highly of his sons character and controverted the testimony of many witnesses for the prosecution that Henry showed no signs of grief after his wife's murder. He declared he sobbed and moaned almost all night after the tragedy.

Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., father of the accused stated his age at 58, said that his wife was dead and that the prisoner was his son and was 27 years old.

What age was Henry when his mother died? asked Attorney Smith.

About 16, said the elder Beattie.

Have your relations with him since become closer or more distant on that account?

Certainly closer.

Why did they become so?

He was one of the twins and was previously more or less neglected.

Do you know what his reputation for truth and veracity was among the people with whom you associated?

Good.

How long has he been with you in your store?

Eight years. He has charge of the shoe and gents' furnishing department, and does the buying.

Did you know about Henry's being involved with this woman Beulah Binford, two or three years ago?

Yes.

How did you learn of it?

(Objection was made by the prosecution that this was not evidence for the defense. The objection was not sustained.)

I heard rumors and asked him all about it, finally answered Mr. Beattie.

Did he tell the whole truth about it?

Yes.

Now, Mr. Beattie that was before his marriage?

Yes.

Had his relations with the woman prior to his marriage been broken off?

Yes.

Was your son's marriage a source of happiness to you and your family?

It was not only on account of the girl herself, but because Henry was going to marry.

What was the relation between you and your daughter-in-law?

When she came into the home she grew upon me and I came to love her as my daughter. She was of a loveable disposition.

Did you show any distinction between her and your other child ren?

Well I wasn't demonstrative, but I looked upon her as one of my children.

When the baby was born how did that affect your relations with your daughter?

It drew us all closer together.

What were the relations between your son and the daughter in law?

All that could be desired?

As the father spoke the prisoner flushed and rubbed his eyes constantly. Soon he began to weep. It was his first breakdown during the trial.

I never heard a cross word between them, was the answer the father intently watching his son.

Here the prisoner wept audibly and his father was much affected speaking in a low tremulous voice.

Mr. Beattie do you remember what time your son left the store with Paul on Saturday night just preceding the homicide? Attorney Smith continued.

I couldn't tell other than that it must have been nearly half past ten.

Did you see Paul early that evening too?

Yes.

Do you remember what time Henry left your house Tuesday night, the night of the homicide?

I was out on the porch and had read as long as there was light to read by. I saw my son back out of the garage with the machine. It must have been around half past eight.

What was the first intimation that you had of any trouble that night?

After reading some time some one called on the phone. My son Douglas went to the phone. I understood from the conversation that Henry or someone was shot or killed. I phoned to Tom Owens and found that Henry had been held up. I went to the house and saw my son with his dead wife. I saw my son's face bleeding and asked him if he was badly hurt.

That isn't evidence, interrupted Prosecutor Wendenburg.

(The court ruled that the witness could only relate conversations at which others were present and Mr. Smith changed the question.)

Your son was lying on a sofa when you first saw him? asked Mr. Smith.

Yes, I didn't know then about his wife.

What did you say?

I asked my son if he was badly hurt. He was sobbing, moaning low and crying. My next thought was about Louise. He told me she was dead.

The father here described the grief demonstrated by his son over the tragedy.

He moaned and sobbed all night the elder Beattie said.

Some witnesses saw no signs of grief. Did you see any particular manifestation? asked Lawyer Smith.

I was noticing him I think more particularly than the others. He was grieved sorely grieved I know.

Did you see him put anything in his hand belonging to his wife? I was kneeling by his side. He was fondling one of her slippers. He was grieving over it.

He was grieving over it? He was moaning.

Now bid that state of anguish continue when he was alone with you?

Yes while we were together several times that night.

Was your son attentive to his wife up to the time of her death. He was. I found no fault with his attentions to her.

What was his custom with reference to his wife when he left her at morning dinner or night? Always kissed her.

Do you recall seeing or knowing anything about a gauntlet being found in the machine?

No.

Has Henry or any one in your family kept back any clothes or information?

Our attitude has been to give everything asked for.

Did you ever see that gun before the coroner's inquest?

No.

When Beattie had finished and was ready for cross-examination by the prosecution Mr. Wendenburg, in a husky voice, waived the opportunity. It was the first time during the trial that this had occurred.

On Friday morning a controversy ensued as to whether the defense would conclude its case Saturday when one of the witnesses said, "Please consider us, Judge," and the court immediately asked H. M. Smith, Jr., counsel for the defense, how many more witnesses he would introduce.

"Just a few more," said Mr. Smith, "but we will close our case to-morrow by placing the prisoner on the stand."

Judge Watson announced he would hold court later than usual to-morrow evening, if necessary, to finish the case, but an agreement was reached to suspend judgment as to holding the session until the testimony of the accused had been presented.

Those who testified as to the happy relations between the couple were Miss Bessie Wells Miss Louise Reams, maid of honor at Mrs. Beattie's wedding. Mrs. Traphagan, a sister of Henry C. Beattie, Sr., Mrs. Ella J. Bowman, a sister-in-law and housekeeper to Henry C. Beattie, Sr., for many years.

Except for the impromptu admission of Douglass Beattie, a brother of the accused, that he would have destroyed evidence of the murder had he known his brother was to be charged with the crime, the most interesting development of the day was the discovery of a new witness by the defense. Joseph Casselberg, of Richmond.

Casselberg, it has been rumored for some time has had mysterious knowledge of the case. He is reported to have been on the Midlothian turnpike with another physician about the same time that the murder occurred, and is supposed to be the man who stopped to crank his machine and was seen by the group of boys on their way from the dance at Bon Air.

The question of whether Mrs. Beattie was shot while standing on the running board or in the road, or as her husband insists, while she sat in the front seat to the left of him, again was raised to-day when several automobile experts testified that a large pool of blood such as was found at the scene of the crime could have trickled through the machinery of the car and flowed from the drip pan underneath the car to the ground. The testimony of the automobile experts was in line with the contention also that blood dripped from the machine in many places from the scene of the crime to the Owen home in Richmond, where the Philathea Entertainment.

Misses Florine and Ella Robert son delightfully entertained the members of the Philathea Class of Front Street Methodist Church at their home Friday night.

The lawn was brilliantly lighted for the occasion and nine tables were arranged in a circle.

The guests were greeted by the hostesses and conducted to the tables. The chief game of the evening was Progressive Hearts in which Miss Nellie Mitchell and Walter Story tied for the largest score which went to Mr. Story who won the prize a beautiful book.

Two solos were rendered by Mrs. W. A. Carter, two recitations each by Miss Dora Hornaday and Mr. Jno. Lashley.

The occasion was largely enjoyed.

Machine Hugs Wagon Wheel

Mr. Alex Walker who was speeding his auto Monday morning ran into the front wheel of a one horse wagon standing in front of the First National Bank Building, one rod was broken under the body of the machine otherwise it was not damaged. Altho the machine gave the wheel several blows, the wheel was not hurt as the machine was a light one. Mr. Walker appeared the least bit nervous while telling the boys who had gathered how it all happened.

Close of 13th Pastoral Year.

August 31st closed Rev. J. D. Andrews's 13th pastoral year in the Burlington Charge of the Reformed Church. Following is a summary of the 13 year's work:

No. times preached 1576
No. funerals 276
No. marriages 238
No. calls made 12,014
No. Adult additions to Church 418
No. losses 135
Total gain in membership 283
No. children baptized 101

In point of service Rev. Andrews is now the second oldest pastor in his denomination in North Carolina and perhaps the oldest of any denomination in Alamance county. The year just closed was a very prosperous one.

Enoch Stockard.

In the old Stockard homestead in Albright's township a very pretty marriage was solemnized last Wednesday, Aug. 30, when Mr. Charles Enoch led to the altar Miss Jewell Stockard, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Stockard. The service of the Reformed Church was spoken by Rev. J. D. Andrews and witnessed by a large number of relatives. Immediately after the ceremony a fine dinner was served and then between the copious showers of falling rain the happy couple drove to the home of the groom's parents at the Judge Ruffin farm, where they will make their future home.

Several of our boys and girls left this week for Elon College and Guilford College where they will enter school. Others will leave next week for Chapel Hill and the State Normal Greensboro

W. E. Sharpe, Burlington, N. C.

Upper Twenty Club.

You have read of born poets and musicians and writers and of men born to occupy other lines of fame. You are now reading of a born financier—one W. E. Sharpe manager of the Alamance Insurance and Realty Company, and be well informed of the fact that you are reading about a live wire, or a bundle of wires for there's nothing singular about Sharpe. He is just about all plural. We have always been told that the early bird gets the worm and have been taught that one of the secrets of success lay in the application of that trite saying. That might do for most of us, but Sharpe, not exactly! He figured it out long ago that the bird that was both early and late could get many more worms than the bird that was merely early. And during all of these waking hours the grey matter must be working for he is always springing up with original ideas, which are executed with rare business ability. In spite of all the above Sharpe has time to be married and is blessed with a happy family. The Alamance Insurance & Realty Company is one of the best and consistently successful agents with which we are connected.

For fear that from reading the above you may have the idea that Sharpe is advanced in years, let us hasten to state that he is a young man. If he keeps on at the present successful pace—well J. Pierpont Morgan was also a financier at Sharpe's age.—Insurance & Real Estate Journal.

Pass Law Examination.

Eighty out of ninety-three passed the examination and were awarded certificates to practice the Supreme Court Friday.

Among this number was Ira Ward, of the southeastern part of Alamance, a brilliant young man of excellent qualities; one lady, Mrs. Lillian Rowe Fry, of Swain county, and one negro.

Annual Picnic.

The regular annual picnic of Whitsett Institute will be held Saturday September 9. The day will be crowded with interesting events.

Everybody cordially invited.

HELD FOR BURGLARY

Greensboro, Sept. 3.—Yesterday while Turner May and John Dawson were quietly snoozing in the Buffalo church burying ground, hid behind some tall grass in the shade of some cedar trees, a terrible thing happened to them. The two men had come from Gibsonville, and, having walked all the way, they had lain down to take a much needed rest, when their slumber was rudely broken up by a ghost appearing in the form of Deputy B. O. Clark, who grabbed them, hustled them into an automobile and brought them to jail, where they were placed behind the bars.

In a little while another little act was enacted at Proximity; Eugene Moore and Lesley Conn having gone to bed in broad open daytime, were hauled out by the officers and placed in jail together with the other two men from the graveyard. All four of them were greatly surprised at the rough treatment thus accorded; but their astonishment gave way to fear when they were told that they were the four men who had robbed a number of stores and some freight cars in Gibsonville Friday night. Turner May is an escaped convict from Alamance, with 21 months of unexpired term yet to serve.

Handicapped

This Is the Case with Many Burlington People.

To many Burlington citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills help sick kidneys. Can you doubt Burlington evidence?

Mrs. Isham Ashworth, Lakeside St., R. F. D. 2, Burlington, N. C., says: "About two years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint and last winter, I was in bad shape. The pains never left my back and it was almost impossible for me to sleep well. This resulted in a tired, languid feeling when I got up in the morning. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me as soon as I began taking them and the results of continued use were so satisfactory that I can recommend them with great confidence in their curative powers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Crowded out last week.

Miss Neva Barker is spending a few days in the city, visiting Misses Mary and Margaret Hayes.

Miss Ida Simpson is visiting at Rev. J. W. Holt's on No. 9. Thanks to our good friends for lots of nice melons and vegetables since our last writing.

Miss Bessie Leath of Union Ridge is visiting at W. L. Leath.

We are grateful to our patrons for the interest they took in our picnic, and thanks are due Mr. E. K. Isley for use of the beautiful grove; to Will Brannock for the plank for table; G. L. Simpson, John F. Sutton, J. W. Garrison, John Conrell, Galey Gatis and others for assistance in building table and fixing ball ground. We wish to thank especially Tom Ross Ben Simpson and associate, for the nice music. It was a great occasion. To say that we enjoyed it would be putting it mildly. Our ball game was a hot one. The club that we counted on coming failed to get there and our first-nine, the unbeatable "green horns," arranged a "practice" game with the "scrubs" and got beat 3 to 4. Terry Smith and Galey Gatis was the battery for the scrubs and they "got there." Our big boys will have to practice up with Pagetown or some other crowd or our "scrubs" will beat them again.

Will Brannock has a fine farm on No. 8. Lasses corn so large that they have to cut it down with an axe.

There will be no meetin' at Stony Creek next Sunday, Sept. 3. But Mr. Temple will preach at Union. Those good people having tendered the Stony Creek folks the use of their church till our church is completed.

Miss Anan Murray visited at home last week.

C. H. Bright is rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby girl or boy; we forget which.

Uncle Nath Garrison was the worst disappointed man at our picnic. He thought we were going to kill a sheep. He would go forty miles for a mess of mutton Uncle Nath is all right tho.

NOT IN THE TRUST. OYSTER FACTORIES PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

The Mighty Haag Railroad Shows
Which will exhibit at Graham on September 13th are not in the show trust. Several inducements were made to Mr. Haag to join the show trust, but he refused all offers, and will continue to give the public the same high class shows only this season will be enlarged in every department as the show now travels on its own special trains of cars.

The trust magnates advised Mr. Haag to obliterate the street parade but he refused positively and this year has enlarged his street pageant so as to make it two miles in length, with plenty of music pretty ladies fine horses funny clowns and massive open cages of animals and takes place daily on the public streets free.

Changing Taste In Hymns.

One of our churches in New York city having taken a poll of the congregation in order to determine the ten favorite hymns announces that the following received the requisite number of ballots: "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Abide with Me," "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "I Love to Tell the Story," "Lead Kindly Light," "Rescue the Perishing," "Rock of Ages," "Onward Christian Soldiers," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Four others were tied for tenth place: "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," "Just as I am," "Faith of Our Fathers, Living Still," and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Nothing could illustrate better the change that has come over our religious thinking. In the list there is not one hymn about heaven. Ten years ago no congregation would have omitted "Jerusalem the Golden" or "There is a Land of Pure Delight" and twenty-five years ago half the list would have been given to such hymns.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Fight Stops a Baptizing.

A baptizing service held at Ferrel's pond in Carr township Monday morning was interrupted by a row between some of the members of the congregation. The difficulty was between the masculine members of the Chandler and Keith families. Some of the young men of the family became involved in a difficulty and the heads of the families took it up. Rocks were thrown and a general ditched battle was engaged in for awhile. The services were broken up and the baptizing had to be postponed until those who attended were more peacefully inclined. Arrests will likely follow.—Raleigh Times.

WANTED—Carload of Jersey heifers. If you have any for sale, see J. C. Squires.

Charleston, Sept. 1.—Futher reported damage to shipping by the hurricane Sunday is anxiously awaited. The revenue cutter Yamacraw which rescued the Lexington's passengers and the people of the schooner Bessie Whiting, is intent upon ascertaining if other vessels are in distress off the coast. Upon every hand there is evidence of quick rebuilding of destroyed structures. It is thought the oyster factories here and at Beaufort will be out of commission this season. The plants were wrecked and the oyster boats badly smashed. Additional reports do not change the damage estimate of one million dollars.

Overalls for Schoolgirls.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis, of Clark University, who is one of the most active workers in the Playgrounds Association of America, has offered a suggestion that should appeal to mothers of young girls and one which, if adopted, will probably cause the girls to rise up in future years and call him blessed. Dr. Curtis, appreciating the handicap that girls have in play and outdoor athletics, suggests that girls up to the age of 13 or 14 years be allowed to wear trousers or overalls and thus meet their boy playmates on an equality.

The suggestion appears wholly commendable so long as thought is had only of the larger opportunities that would be offered to the girls thus relieved of the impediment to athletic work and outdoor exercise. From a purely economy standpoint, too, it would make possible a big saving in the clothing and laundry accounts of the girls, but there is another phase of the question. Man's monopoly of trousers has been a source of envy among women for many years, but the women have been trained to skirts and petticoats from the cradle and it is apparently impossible for them to make an open break-away and demand the right and privilege of donning pantaloons. If the girls start with overalls and have a dozen years or so in such freedom habit is likely to be formed which will make them fight before surrendering their style of dress.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Champ Clark is sure that the Democrats will come back in 1912. Still it might be a good plan for him to take out accident insurance on his sureness.

Harry Thaw declares that he is now sane. But there is also a decided public opinion to the effect that he is by no means safe.

BRAKEMAN AND FIREMAN BURNED ON LOCOMOTIVE

Friday morning near McLeansville at 3:40 o'clock, Brakeman Rimmer and Fireman Cohn, on a special freight train, were painfully burned when the crown sheet of Locomotive No. 860 blew out. Both men were residents of Greensboro and were taken there Friday morning at 7 o'clock.

Necessity of Organic Matter in the Soil.—IV.

Souring the Land.

On one occasion a good farmer came to me and said: "Last spring I plowed under a heavy crop of crimson clover, planted my corn and got nothing. My land was soured and my crop was killed." Another said he had plowed under a heavy crop of peavines late in the summer, sowed wheat, and got no stand. The land soured and the wheat failed to germinate. Still another said he plowed under a heavy crop of vines and weeds which rendered the soil so acid he was unable to grow a crop for three or four years afterward. We could give a long list of names of men who by their own practical experience have proven to themselves conclusively that the use of green manure positively does sour the land and renders it infertile for a long time. Now, if one is out for a difficult job, just let him attempt to dissuade these men from the belief that their land has been soured by the use of green manure. They stick to the old idea as tenaciously as to their right arms. They feel that their theory is based on practical experience (and what is better in the substantiation of and theory than practical experience? Nothing, to be sure).

Now, we have all had experiences. We know that certain effects follow certain causes. Moreover, we instinctively assign some cause for every effect. Frequently without taking the trouble to investigate the fact on which our conclusions are based. Admitting that all facts are covered by some theory, one should always check his theory by his facts and strive to bring his facts in line with the correct theory. We often sustain loss by assigning the wrong cause to an observed effect.

The farmers referred to above plowed the green manure under, planted the crop and received no return. There was some cause, to be sure, for the failure of the crop. Someone guessed the green stuff soured the soil and further investigation was generally thought useless. Some advised the use of lime to correct this acid condition. Few farmers, however, were disposed to buy enough lime to correct the large amount of acid they could imagine would be developed in the decay of so large an amount of green manure plowed under. The result was that they did not use the green manure, fearing the detrimental effects on the soil, and the land has remained poor for lack of humus to this day.

Now, what really happens when a heavy crop of green manure is turned into the land? In order to make the explanation clear we will have to bring to our aid a few terms and fundamental principles of physics but these are simple and easily understood.

Fill a lamp full of oil, put the wick in it and note what happens. The oil begins to rise in the wick and finally reaches the top. The oil will continue to rise in the wick till every drop is taken out of the bowl of the lamp. The oil in the lamp bowl is called gravitation oil; that in the wick is called capillary oil. The rain falls on the land and gravitation pulls it down several feet below the surface. This is called gravitation water. When the sun shines this same water begins to climb up between the fine particles of soil just as the oil climbs the wick, and continues to climb until it reaches the surface where it is dried up by the sun just as the oil is burned away by the flame. This is called capillary water. This capillary water continues to rise to the surface of the soil until every drop is taken out of the subsoil and dispensed into the air as vapor.

No farmer would hope to grow a crop with the water in the first six inches of soil only. He expects the moisture to rise to the surface from depths ranging from three to five feet below.

Now, let us cut the lamp wick in two and let the two pieces come within 1-16 inch of each other. At the same time we will put a wide thin board six inches below the surface of the soil. Let the lamp burn and let the sun shine on the soil and see what happens. You have found that your oil did not raise above the cut place in the wick and your lamp has gone out while there was an abundance of oil in the bowl. You have found also that the six inches of soil above the board is dry as dust while that is quite moist under the board. Why? Because the air space cut off the rise of oil in the wick and the solid board cut off the rise of moisture from the great reservoir below to the six inches of soil above it.

But what has this to do with the "souring" of the land? Nearly everything. The phenomenon called the "souring of the soil" is nearly always based on the principles outlined above. Instead of using the board let us plow under a six or eight ton crop green clover or cowpeas, eight or ten inches deep. Let this mass of vegetation lie during the month of August, say, then examine it after a hot, dry period of ten days or two weeks and see what has occurred. You might use some blue litmus paper and test for acid. If there is an appreciable amount of acid present you will get a red color in the litmus paper, but be sure to tear up the vines and examine the soil just below, also examine carefully the eight or ten inches of soil just above the mass of vines. Your litmus will not likely be colored at all because you are not likely to find any acid but you will find the soil just below the vines as wet as mud, perhaps, while the eight or ten inches on top of the vines will be dry as dust. Here you have the explanation of the "souring" effect of green manure on well drained lands.

SOCIETY GIRL ACCUSED OF ANONYMOUS LETTER

Easton, Pa., Aug. 30.—Charged with having written hundreds of anonymous letters of a scurrilous and defamatory character, and sending them through the mails to more than a score of residents of this city, including clergymen, business men and women, Miss Harriet Dewitt, member of a prominent family here, has been arrested and is held in jail for a hearing Friday before United States Commissioner Turner.

In nearly all of the letters, the anonymous writer attacks either the character of the person to whom the letter is addressed or that of some near relative or friend. In several instances there are charges of criminal conduct.

For nine years these offensive, annoying letters have been received and many complaints have been sent to the postal department. Several inspectors and Secret Service men assigned to fathom the case failed. Inspector Sheneberger ran down the writer and the evidence he secured during the last two months caused him to make the complaint that resulted in Miss Dewitt's arrest. She declares she is innocent.

To Demonstrate Cotton Picker.

Charlotte.—A demonstration will be made September 10 of the Price Campbell cotton picking machine. It is claimed that the mechanism has proved itself a practical success in Texas, where several are in operation under the supervision of Theodore H. Price, the inventor who will conduct the Charlotte demonstration.

GOV. DICK OF NEW YORK THE PRESIDENCY

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Chairman Norman E. Mack, of the Democratic national committee, in the September number of his Democratic magazine, Nation Monthly, presents Gov. John A. Dix of New York as a Democratic presidential possibility.

Governor Dix is the fifth prominent Democrat to be brought forward by Chairman Mack in a series of articles on Democratic presidential possibilities. The others are Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio; Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey; Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, and Governor Eugene N. Foss, of Massachusetts.

If the President's veto of that wool bill cuts us out of a cheap winter suit, we're going to vote for a suffragette in 1912.

Many Congressmen are getting their index fingers ready to point with pride to their records in the extra session.

It will cost $900,000 to raise the Main when the job is completed. Maybe this will help us to remember.

The chief center of discussion, Beattie.

Fall fashions decree, petticoats must go, not a scrap of room left for them.

That somebody prevaricated from the paths of truthfulness in the Beattie trial can be easily seen.

Wonder what transportation costs the citizens on Front Street since the recent showers?

We suppose just one sidewalk of sand clay or concrete either would be greatly appreciated on Front Street.

The "Lafolly-Underwood free trade-tare-off bill" is the best name we have heard yet for the bill that meant ruin to our manufacturing industry, had not President Taft vetoed the Democratic measure, and yet there are people who still insist that the Democratic party is capable of running this great government of ours.

Why, if free trade is such a bloomin' good thing for mankind, has it been possible under protection to build the greatest country in the world in the shortest period of time noted by history? Don't let all the Dimmycrats who wipe their noses on their coat sleeves speak at once—but just let one stand up and tell us W-H-Y.

Democracy always stood for things that were non-progressive. Take the history of the party and you can't find a blamed thing or a thing not blamed that Democracy ever did for the good of the common country. Put it down—'tis a fact, Bud, and you can get around it.—Yellow Jacket.

A recent visitor to Asheville reports that "you can buy anything from a soft drink to a silk dress on Sunday about as easily as on any other day." Still we have an idea that there is about as little "Sabbath-breaking" there as in the average town of its size, even though it makes no pretense to puritanic severity.—Charlotte Observer.

The passing of strict laws and rules to govern a town is an easy matter. But their enforcement, well the fellow who has that to do has our sympathy. We are in the midst of this very thing in our town.

You often hear people declaring that we need a new political party to save the country. We need nothing of the kind. A new party would cut about as much ice in saving the country, unless it was to get back to old principles, as a blind jackass in a horse race. What the country needs and needs badly, and what it must have to save it from the bow-wow, is for the people to turn their backs on so much political tom-foolry and new fangled brass-plated "reform" and get back to old-school Republicanism—forsake and renounce the golden calf of political idolatry and embrace the teachings of the political patriarchs—that, beloved, is the kind of a new party we need, and THE STATE DISPATCH urges its readers everywhere to take a hand in bringing this change about.

White Oak and Proximity Cotton Mills closed down Saturday for a period of one week. This is the second time during the summer that these factories have suspended operations, both times because of depression of the cotton market.—Greensboro Record.

And yet with these naturally depressing conditions, a Democratic Congress would tinker with the Tariff on this staple which tends to matters worse, rather than better. Still these Southern cotton mill men, it the main, line up with the Democratic party, whose policies are such as would virtually destroy their business. Like Ephraim, of old, they are wedded to their political idol, regardless of the consequences.—Union Republican.

Square Deal to All.

We commend the Board of Aldermen and citizens committee on their resolutions to divide the remaining $35,000 of the bond issue equally among the four wards of the city. "The bids for this work will be opened Thursday, September 28th, at which time the contract for the work will be let.

Hon. Jacob A. Long for Judge.

We notice the name of our genial friend, Hon. Jacob A. Long of Graham, being mentioned for the judgeship made vacant by the resignation of Hon. J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham.

Mr. Long is well fitted for this or any other judicial position to which he may aspire, and we would be glad to see him thus honored.

Why is it that Alamance never gets the recognition in the way of appointive or elective positions that she is entitled to? We have not had a judgeship within our recollection, or a solicitor, since Capt. E. S. Parker held this position. It is time for our people to demand some of the honors that are being bestowed upon others, no more deserving and no more efficient than those of our county.

Let the friends of Mr. Long get busy and land him the appointment. There should be no politics in the judgeship, and we all can afford to work together to land our man.

WARNING

Delinquent Tax Payers

All who are delinquent in their taxes will take notice: I have met every requirement of the law as to township rounds for the collection of taxes; more than that, I have made several special rounds, and a number of special appointments at different places for the convenience of the people. My office at the court house is kept open all the time, I have made every possible appeal, general and personal, and have tried in the most courteous way to bring this matter to the attention of every one, at the same time exercising extreme patience and indulgence, giving every one the privilege of paying at their own convenience.

All this should not be necessary. It would be much nicer if everybody would discharge their duty in this matter voluntarily, promptly, and cheerfully; and not wait to be dunned, dogged at and compelled. It really seems that in the matter of taxes patience has ceased to be a virtue.

Now these taxes are charged up to me and I am bound to settle. I must collect before I can settle. This is fair notice to all. In a few days from now I expect to put these books in the hands of my deputy with instructions to collect as the law provides. This is a matter of business and a matter of duty. Give this your immediate attention and save the costs.

Respectfully,
R. N. Cook, Sheriff.

TO CURE SORE BUNIONS

Treatment Marvelously Quick for This and All Foot Troubles.

"Dissolve two tablepoonfuls of Calo side compound in a basin of hot water, soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) Repeat this each night until cure is permanent." All pain and inflammation is drawn out instantly and the bunion soon is reduced to normal size. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off and will stay off.

Sore, tender feet and smelly, sweaty feet need but a few treatments. A twenty-five cent package of Calocide is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Calocide is no longer confined to only the doctors use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. This will prove a welcome item to persons who have been vainly trying to cure their foot troubles with ineffective tablets and foot powders.

Sunday Recreations

It is a shame to the city and the state to have Sunday a day for sharpshooting for wrong doers when it should be made, and could be, a day for unobjectionable recreation and physical and mental invigoration without doing violence to the religious sensibilities of those who wish to devote the day wholly to worship. The spectacle of crimination and recrimination, of grand jury presentments and prosecutions, of half-hearted carrying out of the letter of the law, is not a wholesome spectacle by any means. It is not conducive to the settled order of the state, to the protection of the welfare of citizens and respect for individual rights. The situation surely could not be bettered. Either the Sunday observance law should be upheld or it should be amended. The people have rights the law should respect. They would not tolerate the enforcement of the law as it stands, with its strict and ridiculous prohibition of any kind of occupation on Sunday even the most trivial.

The Republican party has political responsibility for much of the foreign element, particularly the thrifty Germans and their descendants. This is the element that feels the enormity of the present law. Yet as soon as anyone proposes sensible changes in the Sunday law there are persons who regard it as a bid for Sunday license, for universal freedom of conduct for the unleashing of vice. As a matter of fact, the laws relating to Sunday vice might be made more stringent than what they are. The man who gets drunk ought to be sent to jail, lacking a better disposition to be made of him, and the man who makes him drunk should have his license revoked. It is these characters who keep the blue laws upon the statute books. The man who wants to enjoy Sunday with moderation and to take his family to a quiet resort is prevented from lawfully having this enjoyment because of the excesses to which others run and because the sellers of liquor often have no conscience with regard to dispensing drink until the individual is besotted. Selling to minors should be made even more serious a crime than it is for the protection particularly of young persons of both sexes, in whose trade the vicious element of liquor sellers cater.

The point at issue is to destroy the two menaces to a sane Sunday—the debauchery that now characterizes it at many of the resorts and the blue law that prevent the people from having the enjoyment of the only day in the week when they can find time for social intercourse.

All kinds of Sunday vice must be suppressed. The inducement

Winter Cover Crops

The unprecedented drought which prevails in some sections of the State is an object lesson as to the value of organic matter or humus in the soil, as it is a well known fact that in addition to other desirable qualities decaying organic matter or humus increases the water holding capacity of all soils.

For the protection of the soil and to provide against the disastrous effects of a possible drought next summer farmers should put in winter-cover crops. The best crops for this purpose are the clovers, vetches, and small grain crops. On land where the clovers and vetches will grow successfully they are better than rye or other small grain crops but where they will not grow it will be advisable to sow rye.

For the best results these crops should be put in as quickly as possible, especially in the western part of the State. Prepare the land by disking and harrowing and sow 15 pounds clean crimson clover seed per acre, and if convenient, sow also 300 pounds Acid Phosphate per acre, as it will help to insure a stand of clover. Some sow addition to this one pound of turnip seed per acre, preferably the Cowhorn variety, claiming that the turnip leaves protect the young clover plants in their early stages. It can do no harm to sow the turnip seed as these crops are intended to plow under next spring to improve the soil.

The seed should be covered with a cultivator or with a harrow about inch deep. In the western part of the State these should be put in at once so as to make sufficient growth to withstand the winter. In the central part of the State they should be put in not later than the last of September, while in the eastern and warmer sections of the State they can be put in as late as the middle of October.

In the Coastal Plain section Bur Clover is also fine for a winter-cover crop. The seed of this is usually purchased in thorough or bur and should be planted at the rate of from three to four bushels of the burs per acre, and covered about one inch deep. These should go in at once. Acid phosphate can be used with these to advantage.

Hairy vetch also makes a fine winter-cover crop, and will succeed in almost any part of the State on well drained land especially where Partridge or Mountain peas grow. If sown alone sow at the rate of 30 pounds of seed per acre, and if with rye or other small grain, one bushel of small grain and 20 pound of vetch per acre. They should be sown at about the same time as crimson clover and covered from one to two inches deep.

Where none of these crops will grow successfully sow them at the rate of one and a half bushels per acre. You want a heavy growth to protect the land and to add a great quantity of vegetable matter when turned under next spring.

Turn under two or three weeks before you wish to plant the crop which is to follow. Rye especially should not be permitted to get woody before turning under. Better turn it under as soon as the heads begin to appear than to wait until it is grown. If it gets full grown and dry weather follows it would leave the land so open and loose that the crop following it would suffer more than if no rye was put on the land.

All these crops should be disked well and thoroughly cut up before plowing under next spring. Good results may be expected on ly when they are well mixed with the soil before the crop is planted.

If any one doubts the benefits to be had from these winter-cover crops let him prepare one acre of average land and treat it as described above. Next spring plant another acre by the side of it that has had no winter-cover crop and cultivate both alike. One demonstration like this will usually convince a person of the value of winter-cover crops.

Seed for any of the above mentioned crops can be had from almost any reputable seedman, but buy only the best and freest from impurities. The best are none too good.

Re-Sale of Valuable Flour-Milling Property.

Under and by virtue of an order of the Superior Court of Alamance County made in a special proceeding therein pending entitled "Alamance Loan & Trust Company, Administrator, v. Carl Hornaday et als.," the undersigned, Commissioner, will on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, '11 at 12 o'clock, noon, at the Court House door in Graham, Alamance County, North Carolina, offer for sale to the highest bidder that real property in the City of Burlington, Alamance County, North Carolina, known as the Dixie Mill Property, described as follows:

A tract or parcel of land in the county of Alamance and State of North Carolina, in Burlington Township, adjoining the lands of the North Carolina Railroad Company and others, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at a rock, corner of Graves Street, on the North Carolina Railroad Company's land and at the southwest corner of a roller mill formerly belonging to Samuel R. Ireland and Company, and running thence with the southeast side of Graves Street, N. 53 degrees 24 chs. E. 170 feet to an iron bolt on the southeast side of said street; thence S. 36 degrees 36 chs. E. 140 feet to an iron bolt on the line of the North Carolina Railroad Company's land; thence S. 53 degrees 24 chs. W. 140 feet to an iron bolt 100 feet from center of the said Railroad Company's right-of-way; thence N. 36 degrees 36 chs. W. 140 feet to the beginning, containing 23,800 square feet, but to be the same be there more or less, upon which there is situated a roller mill.

This is a very valuable piece of property, and will be sold as a complete roller mill property, and the purchaser will get a property that can be immediately operated as a roller flour mill. Upon this real property is the building, machinery and appliances necessary for the proper conducting of a roller mill business and all of this property is sold as a flour milling plant.

Said property will be sold at public outcry to the highest bidder upon the following terms, to-wit: One-third of the bid to be paid in money down and the other two-thirds to be secured by notes in equal amounts at six and twelve months, and said notes to carry interest from day of sale until paid, and title to be reserved until payment of purchase money is complete.

This property is resold because of an advanced bid, and at this sale the bidding will start at the sum of $5,610.00.

Helps the Farmer to Sell

THE FARMER was worried over the market reports. Cotton was rising. When it reached a certain figure he proposed to sell. The day before it had almost reached his price. What would it bring today?

The farmer needed first-hand information at once. He stepped to his Bell Telephone. The Long Distance connection with the buyer in a distant city informed him that cotton had reached the top figure, and he sold his crop at a handsome profit.

The Universal Bell System enables the producer in remote rural districts to keep in touch with market conditions without the necessity of leaving home.

Cry Aloud and Spare Not.

If the world will go to hell and you can not help it, then let it go, but you have not fulfilled your mission, you have not done the work you have undertaken until you cry aloud and spare not. The pulpit is no place to use hush money, nor are poor people its objects alone for the wrath and condemnation of the minister.

Less than two centuries ago the people were taught they could purchase immunity from the threatened penalty for a violation of divine law, might give something as an oblation to appease divine wrath, and the price was fixed by the hypocritical priest, and thus catholicism, grew rich and rioted in the ill got gains by imposing upon the ignorance and superstition of the laity.

To-day the wail of the minister of the orthodox church is that God loves a cheerful giver, and in obedience to this injunction many an old pious fraud goes up and lays his oblation upon the divine altar believing God loves him and that after he has finished serving self on earth he will be whisked home to heaven in a golden automobile. The fact that he is enabled to be a cheerful giver because of sharp practices, by grinding the faces of the poor and taking questionable toll from his neighbor has never occurred to him as wrong or out of place, he is a cheerful giver and has thus pushed all of the obstacles out of the path that he expects to travel up to heaven. He has been a cheerful giver on Sunday, but every day in the week he has with held the cup of cold water from famishing lips, he has given himself no concern about the suffering around him. If you have not charity. "Though I speak with the tongue of men and of angels and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing, charity suffereth long and is kind, charity envieth not, vaunteth not its self is not puffed up. Beareth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things. But the cheerful giver the burden of the latter day religion is not mentioned.

Oh! yee preacher of Gods gospel why do you not get back to the original idea. God never sent you in search of the cheerful giver. He sent you to preach His gospel of truth, and if you did that right and got the hearts of your congregation right, they would take care of the church, take care of the barbarian, and take care of the preacher. "If God loves the cheerful giver, it is inconsistent with his benignant spirit to believe he loves the selfish, thieving, hypocrit, who simply gives a portion of his ill got gains. It is nothing more or less than to accept penalties paid in money.

While you condemn gambling if brother Smith plays a game of poker occasionally, he is a cheerful giver who expects his greenbacks to operate as his genuflection, and so it is with brother Jones who takes entirely too sharp turns in a trade, or brother Brown who thinks the cannons of his church permits him an other mans wife as his affinity especially if he sets "em" up and takes care of her child, and she pays the preacher, and so it is with that filthy mouth liar in your choir, who talks a lot beyond decency and truth. No sir the cheerful giver who unlooses his purse strings to build a temple to the worship of the living God whose golden spire pierces the storm clouds rears and edifice that gets no closer to heaven than does the humble single roof church in which the poor worship in. —Mebane Leader.

Gov. Deneen A Hero.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3.—In an attempt to prevent a collision between his automobile and a two wheeled conveyance near Glen arm, about fifteen miles from this city, Gov. Charles S. Deneen was seriously injured today when he fell, breaking both bones of his left ankle.

The Governor, seeing that a collision was unavoidable sprang on the running board of the machine in which he was riding to grasp the bridle of the horses. He was hurried to this city and is confined to his room in the executive mansion. Doctors Taylor and Patton, who were called, said the Governor would be unable to leave the room for five or six weeks.

Elon College Items.

The young flood this week has materially interfered with the prosecution of the extension of the College sewer line over the property of the Christian Orphanage. The completion of this work, it is hoped, will be realized before the opening, but whether it is completed or not the College sewer system will still be in commission, because the connection will not be made until the entire ditch is completed and the pipe laid.

Mr. O. B. Williams will conduct a high-class club for young men in the Lawrence property on E. College Avenue. For the accommodation of the Club, Prof. Lawrence is now constructing a fine large Dining Room as an addition to this house. This Club will furnish table board at cost and will begin expecting to furnish substantial board at six dollars per month.

On the first of Mrs. Holland, the Treasurers, Mrs. Machan, the Housekeeper, Mr. Doak, the Athletic Director, will all arrive so as to get their respective departments in order for the opening.

Capt. and Mrs. Willis J. Lee, Bennett's Creek, Va., are visiting in the home of Prof. J. O. Atkinson, of the chair of Political and Social Science. Mr. and Mrs. Lee are among the most loyal and liberal supporters of the College, Mr. Lee having served on the Board of Trustees since the College was chartered, and both of them having contributed largely of their means and enterprises.

Prof. Amick has moved into his new house on the corner of Main and Haggard Streets. This is a model home and equipped with all modern conveniences.

Power Plant, Campus, Administration Building, Dormitories, and all the College property are putting on their opening dress this week and will be in readiness for the arrival of the students next Tuesday. Many students from distant States will arrive this week.

The Alamance County Sunday-school Association will hold its next Convention with the College. The date is the fifth Sunday and Saturday before in next March. The County officers of the Association are planning now for a great gathering at that time.

The vacation edition of the Elon College Weekly, which has just come from press, is a peach. It has been mailed to all students and prospects as well as the regular subscription list.

The Infirmary, which the trustees provided for by the generosity of Dr. J. E. Lincoln, Lacey Springs, Va., and his brother, Mr. E. W. Lincoln, Broadway, Va., is nearing completion. The President was in High Point recently buying equipment for it and for the other departments of the College plant calling for new and increased furniture.

The two new music studios and the art studio in the West Dormitory are practically completed.

Caught in a Rain.

Douglasville, Tex. — "Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help and had four doctors, but got no relief. I took Cardui, the woman's tonic. Now, I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. Try Cardui.

Terrible Picture of Suffering

Clinton, Ky. — Mrs. M. C. Mc Elroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. I had lost hope. After using Cardui a week, I began to improve. Now I feel better than in six years." Fifty years of success in actual practice, is positive proof, furnished by those who have used it, that Cardui can always be relied on for relieving female weakness and disease. Try Cardui, today, now!

Forced To Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calomine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free at Freeman Drug Co.

One Day Only

Consultation and Examination

Confidential, Invited and FREE.

ONE DAY ONLY.

From a Late Snapshot

To see all of his regular Patients and such new Cases, as may wish to consult him, Dr. Packard enjoys a wide reputation, among the profession and the Public of North Carolina, where for more than 25 years he has devoted his entire time to the Study, Treatment and Cure of Chronic Diseases. The Doctor has had wonderful success in his chosen work, that of curing chronic sufferers, Men, Women and Children. The Patients he has restored to Health after they had given up all hope of being Cured are numbered by the Thousands. He is a kind, generous, democratic gentleman to meet, of high scholarly attainments, and dignified personality. Coupled with a brotherly interest in all who seek his advice, he does not take a Patient for Treatment unless he can foresee a Cure of the Case. The most commendable feature of his work, and one that appeals to the ordinary sick person, is the fact of his charges being so reasonable and moderate as to make it within the reach of even the very poor. At no time do the charges amount to more than $7.00 a month or about $1.50 a week. He gives his own medicines, and there are no extra Charges. It takes him never more than from four to six Months to Cure a Case under Treatment. All Cases, even those who have been given up as incurable or hopeless, have been Cured and restored to perfect health by this Brilliant Physician and the wonderful methods he employs.

If you want to meet him and have him examine you, go to see him, and talk the matter over with him. It will cost you nothing if he does not put you under treatment. If he takes your case, it will cost you a very small sum to get well.

Remember the Date and come early.

THE BIG ONE

Alamance has never played second fiddle to anybody in any section, in any matter of Progressiveness.

This year's Alamance Fair is no exception to this well fixed fact. Of all the Fairs ever held here and of all the Fairs held in North Carolina this year, our Fair for will out-strip them all. Never before has the promotion and expectation of the Fair required the use of an extra typewriter. This is the case now.

The Midway will be made up largely, so far as the shows and features thereon are concerned, with attractions that come here direct from Coney Island. The present management of the Fair has secured the services of Mr. Harry Zejans, of the Theatrical firm of Wilson, Zejans & Ebarts, Zensington Walk, Coney Island, N. Y., to amalgamate these attractions and make one direct movement from Zensington Walk to the Alamance Fair Grounds.

The free absolutely free in front of the Grand Stand each day, will open with Millie Adrie and her performing lions of the Jungle. She will give two distinct acts, requiring five drops, concluding with "The Dance of Death Among the Lions." This act alone will be worth the price of admission. It will require an enormous platform and Tremendous steel arena for this sensational feature.

The next series of free acts will be given upon another platform by the Four Ghrovidies, the world's most celebrated acrobats and contortionists. This is the handsomest dressed and most finished act of its character now on the stage.

The next series of free performances will be given by the Flying Bartletts. These people are good enough as trapeze artists that they have put on this feature of the show at the New York Hippodrome. In fact all of these Acts are booked direct out of New York and they are having played only a few engagements in our very largest cities.

Adgie has a den of baby Lion Cubs, with which she amuses the ladies and children in the open.

On the midway will be daily demonstrations of Wireless Telegraphy.

Hines, A. A. — In a letter from this place, Mrs. Fula Mae Bradley says: "I used to snore all I ate. I was tired and sleepy all the time. My head ached, and I could hardly drag around." Since taking Cardui, this has entirely quit, and now I feel quite fit." Mrs. Bradley suffered from nervous indigestion. Cardui builds up the nervous system, and strengthens the womanly constitution. That's why Cardui helped Mrs. Bradley and why it will help you. Try it.

Paint Lick Sick Laby

Paint Lick, Ky. — Mrs. Mary Freeman, of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly trouble, I was so weak that I was down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life." You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. Composed of gentle-acting, herb ingredients, it has been found to safely relieve headache, backache and similar female troubles. Try it for your troubles.

TRIAL OF HENRY CLAY BEATTIE, JR.

young husband to his dead wife. The defense introduced a score of witnesses to attack various other details in the evidence of the prosecution and tomorrow it is expected the prisoner will make emphatic contradiction of his cousin Paul's entire testimony, clinging to his story at the coroner's inquest that a bearded highwayman murdered his wife and that he took no part in a transaction concerning the purchase of the shotgun.

W. F. Gordon, an automobile expert, testified that he had examined the Beattie car and that the blood on the seat went down to the front and side of the gasoline tank, a great deal had dripped into the brakeband and finally went to the ground.

A sensation was created in court by news that in the examination of the car by the prosecution's witnesses immediately following a similar examination by witnesses for the defense, an expert discovered a few strands of hair thought to be from the head of Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie. The hair was clotted in the blood in the lower part of the car. Detectives for the prosecution immediately went to confirm the find.

Detective Scherer said the finding of the hair under a seat cushion indicated the cushion was up and in line with the prosecution's theory that the woman's head was concealed under the seat on the prisoner's trip to the Owen home immediately after the tragedy.

When Douglas Beattie took the stand early today he admitted when cross-examined by Prosecutor Wendenburg that he would not have rendered the assistance he did to the detectives in running the ill-fated automobile to and from and about the scene of the crime if he had known they would lay the crime against my brother."

The witness also said he would have washed and cleaned the car that very night.

The prosecution drew forth on cross-examination and by its questions sought to lay a charge of destroying evidence upon Douglass for having some blood washed from the machine before the authorities seized it.

Only two important witnesses faced the jury Saturday, Charles H. Kestleberry and William H. Sampson, and with the exception of their testimony the day's proceedings were quite featureless. A sharp exchange between the opposing council toward the end of the day revealed that Beulah Binford, the so-called girl in the case, might go on the witness stand before the trial ended.

It came after a sarcastic remark by one of the defense's council, when Sampson had testified concerning the prisoner's relations with the Binford girl.

"You were summoned by the prosecution, too, were you not?" asked Harry M. Smith, Jr., of the defense, addressing Sampson.

"Yes, but never called to the stand by them," was the reply. "That makes no difference," interjected Prosecutor Wendenburg.

"Oh, yes, it does," snapped Mr. Smith. "You have kept Beulah Binford in jail now for a month and did not put her on the stand."

"Well, we'll see about that," said Mr. Wendenburg with a smile, intimating that the Binford girl might be put on the stand in rebuttal next week.

You didn't dare to put her on in the examination in chief, however," said Mr. Smith quickly, before Judge Watson interfered and put an end to the discussion.

It has become evident that the purpose of the Commonwealth in withholding the Binford girl from the stand has been to await the testimony of the prisoner himself regarding the girl whom the prosecution points to as the motive for the murder of Mrs. Beattie.

The intention of the Commonwealth, it was admitted tonight, is to confront the accused sometime next week with the Binford girl to contradict certain statements which it is expected Beattie will make when he is on the stand, if he clings to the story he told at the coroner's inquest. The most dramatic moment of the trial, however, is expected to be reached when the Commonwealth confronts the two cousins, Paul and Henry, with one another and the prosecution puts forth its questions concerning the alleged purchase of the gun by Paul and its supposed transfer to Henry.

Just Perhaps.

The late Bill Barlow, editor of the Laramie Boomerang, believed no less in accurate than in humorous journalism.

"You can't achieve an effect," Barlow once said in an address in Douglas, Wyo., "unless you're accurate. Uncertainty and inaccuracy will spoil the finest effect, whether it be comic or whether it be pathetic."

"I remember a funeral in Tin Can. The Widow Wagg had lost her third in a poker dive. Geo. Jones, D. D., delivered the funeral address, and an eloquent and moving address it was, but George, in his accurate way, hadn't made sure whether it was her third or her fourth that the Widow Wagg was burying."

"Hence he spoiled a good oration with these concluding words: 'And now we commend to the divine mercy this widowed handmaid who hath been bereaved again and again and again—' George hesitated, frowned and added:

"And perhaps again."—Human Life.

Matter of Breed.

"Them fellers in the office of the Bee are what I call fresh," Deacon Ezra Bullock remarked to his wife at the supper table on his return from his monthly visit to the town of Briston.

"How so, father?" Mrs. Bullock inquired.

"Well," Mr. Bullock said, "one o' my errands was from Saba Mabel Briggs. She wanted I should find out why they had not punctuated her last poem. They sent her a copy an' she said it made her most sick the way they'd spoiled her beautiful ideas."

"Well, when I got loaded up to come home I drove around to the Bee office an' composin room an' beckoned to a young feller in his shirt sleeves to come out."

"Now," I sez, 'You'll do her a favor if you'll tell me why you didn't punctuate Saba Mabel Briggs last poem.'

"Cert'nly, I'm a setter."—Youth's Companion.

Little Willie Again

"Pa?" came little Willie's voice from the darkness of the nursery.

Pa gave a bad imitation of a snore. He was tired and did not wish to be disturbed.

"Pa!" came the little voice again.

"What is it, Willie?" replied his father sleepily.

"Tum in here; I want to ast you sumpin'," said the little voice.

So pa rose up from his downy bed and, putting on his bath-robe and slippers, marched into the nursery.

"Well, what is it now?" he asked.

"Say, pa," said little Willie, "if you was to feed the cow on soap would she give shaving-cream?"—Harper's Weekly.
