

DEMANDS AN APOLOGY

The Editor of the News feigns to be grossly insulted, at our article which appeared in last week's issue of the Dispatch headed: TAKING HIS FIRST LESSON, and has written us demanding a retraction. And if we fail to retract he demands proof. Now we emphatically refuse to retract, unless he or some one acting for him will point out wherein we have libeled him or his paper. There were two whole columns of the article every word of which we believe to be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, mildly stated at that. We have the proof for every statement made, and if the Editor of the News will enter a general or specific denial of any of the allegations, the proof will be forth coming. But we will not be bluffed or bull dozed into making a retraction by any veiled threat of recourse to law, or personal chastisement. When in the right we have no fear of the law, and the threat of personal chastisement does not strike us dumb with terror. We reproduce the News Editor's letter in full with our answer, and will let the public decide who is entitled to an apology, the Dispatch or the News.

Burlington, N. C.,
April 12th, 1912.

The State Dispatch,
Burlington, N. C.

Dear Sir:

In your issue of last week you attack the reputation of the Editor of the News for truth in a manner that was unfair and unworthy of a decent paper. You both by insinuation and intimidation sought to create the impression that the Editor of the News lied. Now as we regard truth to be the central virtue of manhood without which there is no real character, we shall not suffer such an attack to go unchallenged. Therefore we are demanding that you retract what you said relating to this or bring forth your proofs at once. Hereafter, when you want to make a personal attack do it in person, without having any connections with a political issue. You will therefore do me the kindness to prove what you have charged by implication or retract, if you believe at all in fair play.

I am Sirs, yours truly,
R. M. Andrews,
Editor.

Now Mr. Editor, you state we attacked your reputation for truth in a manner that was unfair and unworthy of a decent paper. Now we are not surprised at your saying this, because no Republican paper is a decent paper in the eyes of a democratic politician. But will you state for the benefit of those thousands of democrats who are not politicians, and who believe that a reputable republican newspaper which is trying to show up democratic incompetency and mismanagement of the tax payers' money, is a decent paper, wherein your reputation for truth has been attacked. We stated in our article that we believed the Editor of the News to be a high-toned God-fearing christian man, is this the attack that you refer to as being unfair and unworthy of a decent paper, if so you probably know better what you are talking about than we do, and we are willing to take your word for it. You state that we sought by insinuation and intimidation to create the impression that the Editor of the News lied. BUT WE USED THIS LANGUAGE, Knowing you as we do, it would be more charitable to say that you were imposed upon, and that you would hasten to set yourself right, not only in justice to us, but in justice to your readers a majority of whom are honest fairminded men, even if they are partisans. Is this what you construe to be an attack upon your reputation as unfair and unworthy of a decent paper? Of course you know whether our suggestion, that you had been imposed upon or not is true, and if you were not imposed upon, and published the statements that you did of your own volition, not knowing or caring whether they were true or not, then we have been too charitable already and you deserve all and more than was said about you, of this we have no way of knowing, possibly you will enlighten us at some future time. Again you say, Hereafter when you want to make a personal attack, do it in person. WHO STARTED THIS ATTACKING BUSINESS AS YOU CALL IT ANYWAY. IN YOUR ISSUE OF APRIL 3rd. UNDER THE CAPTION, THAT SEVENTEN THOUSAND DOLLARS. You used these words, The way of the ward politician is like the transgressor, it's hard. He must vent his spleen, spit gall and sling mud whether he feels like it or not because his living depends upon it; so whenever his ravelings get low or the prospects of his party get dim, he hies himself back to his old avocation, like the hog that returns to the wallow he returns to his political tricks and terms. Now who were you talking about when you wrote and published this political dope of the average democratic spellbinder. From this it would seem that you are somewhat of an attacker of men's characters yourself, are you not? But just as soon as we lay it on McDuff, you cry aloud, hold enough. And once again in the same issue of April 3rd and in the same article you say: Now what about this flaring headline of insinuations; there is just this and it ought to be known to the remotest corner of the county, speak it out upon the house-tops, declare it upon the street corners, This party that is out, whose leader made this attack in their county paper, is after pie more than your or my good. Now who told you to say this? You could not have done it by yourself, but when backed up by your political counselors you are an attacker of men's characters that the democratic party should be proud of, and we have no doubt but that you will be suitably rewarded, should the opportunity ever present itself. Now when you have thoroughly digested this, and again feel that you have been attacked in a manner unfair and unworthy of a decent newspaper we will be glad to have you again demand retraction, which of course will be forthcoming just like this one. This article like the others was prepared by our contributing Editor, J. Zeb Waller, But the Dispatch assumes full responsibility therefor. And should you desire to carry out your implied threat of recourse to law, the Dispatch will be only too glad to meet you in the temple of Justice, But should you prefer personal satisfaction Mr. Waller stands ready to meet all comers.

A Frame Up.

The Present Editor of the News, and the former Editor of the same sheet, having been caught in a questionable conversation regarding the best method of keeping the tax payers hoodwinked in regard to the exposure by the Dispatch of the reckless expenditure of the people's money by the democratic county officials. Have put their cunning heads together, to devise ways and means to shift the subject from a political to a personal one, by attacking the character and standing of a certain federal official who is a stockholder in the Dispatch Publishing Co. But the ruse won't work, the people are on to their game, and will not be fooled or led astray by these personal assaults upon a man whose veracity has never been questioned by any one who possessed any standing and character themselves. The present Editor of the News having waded into deep water, the sea of democratic politics in Alamance county, and becoming engulfed by the overwhelming proof and logic of the Dispatch as regards the county's financial condition, hies himself into the August presence of that veteran Dodger, Stradler, and sidestepper, the former Editor of the News, and loudly exclaims, What must we do to be saved. And straightway comes the answer, Lie like h—l and stick to it, and then he adds under his breath, so low the little mail carrier could not hear it, if he unconsciously places the little this like I have been doing it, abuse him, abuse him, but do it in a way that the people will know who you are abusing, and if you cannot do it in the good old fashioned democratic way, why just let me at him. I am an old offender, I have had years of experience, I have received the blows of his sledgehammer truths in the past, but I am out of his reach now, and the venom, hatred, and prejudice upon which my democracy exists is aroused, let me at him, let me at him, and he opens up the putrid chambers of his political chess poll and belches forth nearly a column of abuse and personalities, in an effort to convince the tax payers and his former readers that he has been lying to them for twenty years. Don't worry neighbor, don't worry, the people as well as the tax payers have had you correctly sized up for nineteen years three hundred and sixty-four days. This accounts for your not being here now, but if you will come forward like a man that you ought to be, and make a clean breast of why you butted in. That having said the present Editor of the News a gold brick, when you transferred to him the News, and wishing to pacify his injured feelings as far as possible, that you might escape his wrathful indignation for driving a hard bargain, and wishing to do him a good turn to ease your lashing conscience, if for this reason you espoused his lost cause, all will be forgiven, to use your own recent language, While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return.

In Self Defense

Editor of The Burlington News,
Dear Sir:—

In the last issue of your paper there appeared in the first column of the first page an article signed by the former Editor of the News Mr. O. E. Crowson concerning a certain incident in the controversy between The News and The State Dispatch with reference to the financial condition of the country. In this article Mr. Crowson contemptuously refers to "The Little Mail Carrier" who overheard the conversation and hastened to headquarters with the news.

As I was present not as an eavesdropper, as Mr. Crowson intimates when the conversation referred to in Mr. Crowson's article was had, and as I have been informed since by the present Editor of The News that I am the little mail carrier alluded to by Mr. Crowson I wish to say in self defense that The Big Editor of The Durham Sun well knows that my attention was attracted to the conversation by a criticism of the service by the local Rural carriers in regard to the delivery of the Burlington News. The Big Editor of The Durham Sun and The Editor of The News know full well that the conversation was had in my immediate presence and that it required no stress of the auditory nerves to hear what was said and that no breach of news paper etiquette or of propriety as between man to man to report and publish such a conversation.

I was charitable enough to regard the conversation as to the "Lying" as a sort of good humored joke and spoke of it in the presence of Mr. Waller as a burlesque on him. But it would seem from a perusal of the article of the aforesaid Big Editor of The Sun that he had been serious in the business for twenty years. When the Big Editor refers to me as the "Little Mail Carrier" I do not know whether he refers to my physical stature, my mental capacity, or my official position. If he refers to my physique I do not mind that from him. If he refers to my mental capacity, we are told by the holy writ that the weak often confound the mighty. If he refers to my official position then he offers insult to no less than forty thousand of his fellow countrymen who regard themselves as much entitled to consideration as he.

The Big Editor of The Durham Daily further charges I repeated the conversation with variation. We have seen that he confessed that he had been in the variation business for twenty years and so he unconsciously places the little mail carrier, in a class with the Big Editor of the Durham Sun. I repeated in substance what I heard not thinking of being drawn into a three cornered news paper controversy and I write this only in self defense.

This article was offered to the Editor of The Burlington News who refused publication. But in as much as he published the attack he should have extended me the courtesy to have printed my reply. I presume this is what he calls fair play.

Senator Dixon Gave $200 to School At Snow Camp.

Greensboro, N. C., April 24.—Senator Joseph M. Dixon, while in the city Monday, showed the appreciation of the esteem of the people of his birthplace by making a gift of $200 to a school building, now being erected at Snow Camp, Alamance county. This is known as the Hammer memorial school, being constructed at a cost of $30,000. The larger part of this fund was given by Mr. Hammer. It is planned to make this a demonstration school, where agriculture and other things of practical value may be taught. The trustees of the fund have purchased a farm surrounding the school.

The trustees of the Hammer fund are Jeremiah Cox, N. C. Stuart, W. P. Stout, T. H. Hornaday, J. A. Hornaday and Lydia Stuart.

New York, April 15.—The White Star Liner Titanic, the world's greatest steamship, has gone down some 500 miles off Cape Race with 630 of her 1300 passengers and her full crew of 860 men on board.

That the greatest catastrophe in maritime history has occurred to a vessel of their line, is admitted late tonight by the officials of the White Star Steamship Company in New York.

The liner Carpathia, the first vessel to come within sight of the Titanic, rescued all Titanic's lifeboats, in which were 670 persons, most of women and children. Many women and children, however have perished.

When the Carpathia reached the ill-fated vessel no sign of life was to be seen anywhere, the mountainous swells giving mute evidence to the stupendous disaster.

Early reports stated that all passengers and crew of the Titanic had been taken off by the Allen liners, Virginian, the Parisian, and the Carpathia, but wireless messages received tonight discredit these reports in every detail.

That the sinking of the Titanic was witnessed from the bridge of the Carpathia, which was leading the Parisian and the Virginian to the rescue is believed here tonight. That the vessel was seen through the glasses of the Carpathia's captain, to be afloat is regarded as the source of these early encouraging reports.

No hope is held out at the offices of the White Star Line that any man on board has survived to tell the story of the final sinking of the leviathan, although some of the women in the boats may have witnessed the sinking. Only by a miracle it is pointed out could any person who stood by the ship escape the great vessel's powerful suction as she sank to the bottom.

The Titanic carried the most notable list of passengers ever borne across the Atlantic by one vessel. Homecoming American tourists arranged their sailings weeks ago so as to ride the new wonder of the seas on her maiden voyage.

Tonight's dispatches state that the Titanic went down at 2:20 o'clock this morning. The delay in the transmission of the news is attributed to the fact that all dispatches have been subject to difficult relays.

The collision of the Titanic with an iceberg is now known to have been a head-on crash that occurred while the liner was proceeding at little less than her best speed. She was a day ahead of her schedule, and it is considered probable that an attempt to have a record-breaking voyage was the sole ambition of her crew.

Her forward plates were completely wrecked, a gaging wound opening below her water line and letting the water into her forward compartments. In the meantime the lifeboats were manned and into them were placed as many of the women and children as they could hold. Three boats were put off while there was yet some hope of holding the leviathan afloat until her wireless messages could bring help.

Later and more comprehensive messages tell of great bravery on the part of the men passengers. There was a minimum of disorder.

John J. Astor who, with his bride, was returning from their long honeymoon abroad, saw his bride placed on a lifeboat and safely away. Colonel Astor was drowned.

The work of getting the lifeboats away, the work of allaying the fears of the great crowd of passengers as much as possible, the work of keeping the pumps in operation and the engines throbbing—these tasks and countless others were directed by Captain Smith, the venerable commander of the Titanic, and before her advent the commander of the Olympic, who displayed almost superhuman power of mind and body as the world's most horrible sea disaster crowned his long and honorable career on the high seas.

A wireless message from the Victoria says that the occupants of the lifeboats which she picked up have been transferred to the Carpathia, which is proceeding to New York.

The Titanic struck the berg at 10:25 last night and foundered at 2:20 this morning. At daybreak the Carpathia arrived on the scene and her passengers and crew beheld only the small boats with their precious human cargoes and a dismal scene of wreckage.

"Sinking by the head, and the women are being rushed into the lifeboats" were the last words that spluttered into the wireless room of the Virginian from the Titanic. All through the night and until her Wireless station was silenced, over hundreds of miles of sea from the antennae of the giant liner flashed the mystic and magic "S. O. S." the world-wide cry of distress on the occasion. Every wireless operator within range of the named vessel dropped her other messages to locate her, and meantime received the fatal three dots, three dashes, and three dots to the world.

The collision occurred in latitude 41.46 north and longitude 50.14 west, 1,150 miles east of New York and 450 miles south of Cape Race, the most westerly point of New Foundland.

Contrary to early surmises, there was no fog when the vessel struck—the weather was clear and the sea was calm.

Almost as soon as the Virginian picked up the distress signal it was recorded by the operator on the Olympic, the Titanic's sister ship, and next to her the largest vessel afloat. That was at midnight. At that hour the Olympic was 200 miles from New York en route to Southampton.

The Olympic forged ahead under full steam, but tonight's wireless dispatches indicate that she reached the scene too late to be of any assistance.

The Baltic—famous for her rescue of the passengers of the steamer Republic and for Jack Binns, who sat afloat and braved death to summon help—was the next ship to pick up the brief story of the Titanic's plight. She was on her way from New York to Liverpool, but turned about and put on full speed towards the Titanic's position.

The Parsian, according to her messages, reached flotilla of rescuers soon after the Baltic.

A wireless message from Captain Haddock tonight confirmed the fears of The White Star Line officials—that all but the 670 women and children who escaped in the small boats from the $10,000,000 ship had perished. A part of this message was withheld, but enough was divulged to the newspapers to make certain the appalling extent of the catastrophe.

Not until Captain Haddock flashed "Horrible Disaster—all but 670 lost," would the White Star officials believe that the mightiest ship ever launched had gone down on her maiden voyage.

The scene in the White Star offices tonight was pitiful. Brought to a realization of the stupendous wreck—the complete destruction of the fruit of their dreams—grayhaired men, many of them veteran seamen, wept.

Washington, April 22.—With succor only 5 miles away, the Titanic slid into its watery grave, carrying with it more than 1,600 of its passengers and crew, while an unidentified steamer, that might have saved all, failed or refused to see the frantic signals flashed to it for aid.

This phase of the tragic disaster was brought out today, before the Senate investigating commi-

FULL STORY OF HOW TITANIC SANK

New York, April 19.—The living cared for the dead beyond recall, survivors of the Titanic disaster were able for the first time today to see in calmer retrospect Monday's tragedy of the North Atlantic, and from their more normal utterances there is slowly unfolding the full story of how the great White Star liner, her hand playing to the last, sank off the Grand Banks with more than 1,500 souls aboard.

From the Countess of Bothes, now quartered luxuriously in a New York hotel, to the six Chinese coolies who escaped by hiding under the lifeboat seats, all of the 705 have been provided with food and clothing. Others—some immigrant and a millionaire are on their way home—to England, the continent, or distant parts of the United States. Many, however, and of these the hospitals shelter scores, still remain in New York, where the Cunard liner Carpathia brought them last night.

Even after all that has been told of the disaster, the death list remains approximate. Last night's total estimate was 1,595; today the White Star liner issued a statement placing the total at 1,635. Exactly how many died will never be known. It has been established officially, however, that the Titanic was traveling 21 knots an hour when she struck the iceberg. Notwithstanding this, however, none of the survivors, from steerage to saloon, has as yet condemned Captain Smith, who went down with his ship.

The Titanic's rate of speed, which was approximately 26 1-2 land miles, was out today from the lips of J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine, and managing director of the White Star Line, who appeared as a witness before the United States senate committee which is investigating the disaster. Nervous, but not in tears, as was Captain Rostron, of the Carpathia, who followed him on the stand, Mr. Ismay told in whispers of his escape from the sinking liner, from the time he pushed away in a boat with the women, until he found himself, clad in his pajamas, aboard the Carpathia.

He was not sure in just what boat he left the Titanic, nor was he sure how long he remained on the liner after she struck. He added, however, that before he entered a lifeboat, he had been told that there were no more women on the deck; and he denied that there had been any censoring of messages from the Carpathia.

Other witnesses, including Captain Rostron, bore him out in this, with the explanation that the lone wireless operator on the rescue ship, swamped with personal messages, was unable to send matter for the press.

Interest, second only to the tales of the survivors, centered upon Mr. Ismay's recital. In Washington, Senator Rayner, of Maryland, bitterly arraigned him before the senate, and expressed the hope that this country might rely upon British justice to bring to bay the guilty directorate of this company.

From Washington also came the opinion of expert naval hydrographers that no blame should attach to Captain Smith because, as they contend, analysis of ocean charts has shown that the skipper, warned of the presence of icebergs, had steered the Titanic fully 60 miles southward from the regular course. In spite of this caution the mass of ice was struck, and as a preventer of similar disasters, the hydrographic office in New York tonight issued an order shifting the lanes of trans-Atlantic liners 180 miles southward from the path which the Titanic followed.

Honor Roll of the Schools of the County.

The following students have neither been absent nor tardy during the school term 1911 and 1912. There are some schools that have not yet closed and hence the names of students in those schools do not appear in this list. It may be that there are students of schools already closed whose names should appear in this list and do not. The Supt. of schools asks for any correction that may appear necessary. These students and others whose names are not in hand will receive a certificate of attendance on April 27th at the County Commencement.

Table with columns: NAME, School, and Location. Lists students from various schools like Arthur Hall, Cornia Fonville, Ruth Simpson, etc.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED.

Baldness is Too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age. A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age.

Probably 65% of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test. We want every one who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "99" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until they see the hair begin to grow and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store FREEMAN DRUG CO.

Wednesday, April 24, 1912.

We are told a sure sign of an uncompromising Socialist is he lives where there is neither bath tub nor soap.

If you have paid your poll tax, ask your republican neighbor if he has paid his, and if not, urge him to do so at once.

As the Titanic sank, so will go the Democratic nominee for the Presidency on election day. The one was the impossible which happened, the other is known by all men. The one brings great sorrow to many, the other great joy to all.

Get in the contest, it is time enough yet, a hustler can win now, join the hustlers and get busy. It will take less than forty yearly subscribers to beat the highest contestant. You can get this number in a few days work. Get busy and see what you can do.

Unless you pay your poll tax on or before the first day of May of this year you cannot vote in the coming election. Do you want to be disfranchised so that you cannot exercise the rights of citizenship? If not, pay your tax today, tomorrow may be too late.

Quite a crowd from this and adjoining counties, went up to Greensboro Monday to see and hear Col. Roosevelt. They say the Colonel, or Teddy, as he is familiarly called, was at his best, and that he swatted everything in sight.

It is estimated that there was about five thousand people in Greensboro Monday to see and hear Col. Roosevelt. People of all parties like and admire him, and always flock to hear him, whether they vote for him or not.

Only one more week in which to pay your poll tax in order to qualify yourself to vote. No matter who receives the nomination for President, unless you are qualified to vote you cannot aid in his election. Why pull so hard to have your man nominated, and then be unable to help him get elected. Pay your poll tax today and see that your republican neighbor does likewise.

Has anything been done to the Roads in Cables and Pattersons townships? The roads in these two townships need working very, very bad. The towns of Graham and Burlington both lose trade owing to the bad condition of the roads in these two townships. The people rather than travel so far upon bad roads are going to Siler City and Liberty to do their trading. Our own towns should have this trade, and they would get it too if it were not for the condition of the roads. Our county officials should get busy at once and improve these highways. We are losing and that badly for this neglect.

Col. Roosevelt's Speech Next Week

In the next issue of THE STATE DISPATCH we will publish the speech of Col. Roosevelt delivered at Greensboro, Monday, April 22. In this same issue will appear an article from the North American headed: "Shows Pilate was a Judge ruled by Privilege." Both articles are very fine and any man, woman or child who admires Col. Roosevelt should become a subscriber to the Dispatch in order to secure this issue.

Although but a small weekly do you realize how we endeavor to give our readers the very best news going. Do you remember during the Beattie sensation how we gave almost everything that came out in the dailies from beginning to end, having columns each week. Have you noticed how nearly the Dispatch has been publishing a complete report of the Hillsville tragedy giving even the picture of the leader of the gang.

In this issue we are publishing a full report of the sinking of the Titanic giving to a great extent the report of the Senate's committee who are probing into the merits of the case. This to say nothing of the local issues which are being waged from week to week are worth many times the price of the Dispatch. If you are a subscriber to a paper which does not furnish you the news we extend you a most cordial invitation to join our large and rapidly increasing subscription list. Give us a trial and see if you are not pleased.

Editorial Courtesy.

Certain recent editorials in our town papers have had rather a vitriolic flavor. In behalf of a long-suffering public, I protest against it. I speak, not as a minister, but as a citizen, with the same right to be heard as any other citizen. I protest that editorial abuse and invective is out of date in the twentieth century. A self-respecting public will not tolerate it. Our local editors in the past afflicted Burlington people enough; the people have the right to demand that this affliction shall not continue. If our editors see fit to call each other names, or even to fight, that is their affair, not ours. Let them settle their private differences privately. When they impeach the honesty or impugn the motives of each other in public print, they are insulting our intelligence and self-respect. Such ammunition does not reach the mark. For one editor to say another is dishonest or a scamp is no argument; it is an appeal to base personal or party prejudice. It does not convince us, but it disgusts us; and the Burlington people will not long tolerate in an editor such a breach of public trust. A paper that persists in shooting spleen at its rival will soon be outlawed and driven from the field—or else the community has no self-respect.

Let our editors respect our intelligence, and try the appeal of facts. Let them trust our fair-mindedness, and count on us to render a fair verdict without any appeal to prejudice against a paper or party. We are no longer semi-savage, that it requires the beating of tin cans and the throwing of dust into the face of an opponent to convince us that he is a gentleman or a scoundrel, or that an issue is right or wrong. Let us have facts without cheap abuse of paper or party. Burlington people are intelligent enough to weigh facts, and they are self-respecting enough to demand of our papers better reading than personal invective.

If either editor wishes to tell me that this is none of my business, and wishes to charge me to attend to my business and "preach the gaws-pel," let him do it. In the absence of argument he wishes to advance the trite commonplace that the preacher must not busy himself about politics and public affairs, very well. I will retort that no other man is more a citizen than I, and that as a citizen no other man shall excel me in asserting my rights as a citizen. Finally, Burlington people value both our papers too much as public assets to permit them to stoop to a policy of vituperation and cheap mud-throwing. In behalf of the friendly public I beg that our worthy papers will simply state issues, present facts, be courteous, and keep sweet.

(Editor's Note).—The Above meets our views exactly, and we are heartily in accord with every sentence and suggestion contained therein, but the Dispatch is a victim of circumstances just at this time, and for the next issue or two we must beg the indulgence of our friends and readers. The provocation under which we are laboring just now, in our opinion does not justify a personal encounter, and yet it would be cowardice to let it pass unnoticed. The Dispatch has tried ever since its existence began, to discuss parties, principles, town, county, state, and national politics from the standpoint of argument based upon facts, but every time we have attempted it, our opponents have opened fire with a broadside of personalities, in an effort to bluff or bulldoze us into silence, and finally falling in this, they have used such language, terms and insinuations as to try to convince the tax payers that we are a set of political pirates, without truth, without honor and without standing in community. That we are not sincere and that our arguments are not true, and that they are made not for the enlightenment and information of the voters and tax payers, but that they are made to sinecure some job, or as they term it for pie, that our living depends upon it, and therefore it is a necessity, and must needs to be done, even going out of their way to try to fasten it upon some person not even connected with the paper. What is to be done with opponents, political or otherwise, who employ such unfair, unmanly and undemocratic tactics to prevent a full, free and honest discussion of our affairs, either local or National in their scope. We have thought over these matters just as seriously as the good and worthy Citizen whose name is attached to the above communication, and we have arrived at one conclusion, and one only, and that is to show them up to the self respecting citizenship in their true light, that they may pass for their true worth, and be respected accordingly. We believe that recent events have accomplished this and we are willing to let an enlightened and intelligent public pass sentence. We thank Mr. Morgan for this article. It is certainly timely and to the point. The columns of the Dispatch are open to all who hold views similar to those expressed by him.

Death of Margaret C. Lowe.

Margaret C. Lowe, aged 65 years, 10 months and 1 day, died Apr. 16, 1912. She was a lifelong member of Freedom's Lutheran church except the past 10 years at Peace. She was one of 11 children, only 2 survived, Mrs. Julius B. Summers and D. R. Lowe of Mississippi. She suffered 5 weeks of cancer on the liver and other complications. She died with confident hope of meeting her Savior in peace. The funeral was conducted at Frieden's by Rev. C. I. Morgan.

Was Impolite To Officers

Greensboro, April 14—Some excitement was created in Pomona cotton mill village by a white man named Kirby Moffitt last night. It seems that Moffitt, who, it is alleged, was drinking, became angered at a 12 year old boy, chased the child around for a time and threatened to kill him. A citizen of the town was deputized to help arrest Moffitt and after the man had been taken into custody he requested that he be allowed to go home and change clothes before going to jail. The request was granted, the man entered the house and has not been seen to heard of since. The town was sharply aroused over the incident for a time.

About Aycock

Goldsboro, N. C., Dec., 23, 1911. My dear Brother Editor:— May I claim a moment of your time, in your busy work, to ask that you give place in your columns to the recent interview of Ex-Congressman Crawford by the Raleigh News and Observer, a copy of which I enclose? Charles B. Aycock deserves more of the press of North Carolina than any man the State has ever produced, for he has, from his earliest manhood, stood for and bravely and effectually advocated the education of the masses; and in an educated public the prosperity and power of the press and the safety and perpetuity of the commonwealth.

Before Aycock came upon the hustings—more than a quarter of century ago, before he began to speak to the people in political campaigns up and down and athwart the State, which he has done continuously and eloquently through the intervening years, no newspaper in North Carolina was prosperous, few, if any, were profitable, and the "paid circulation" of all combined would hardly have made any one of the State's journals of today feel comfortably sure of meeting its running expenses. Surely, therefore, in his great fight and brilliant triumph for the education of the masses, he has proved even a greater benefactor to the press of the State!

It seems to me that it would approach close to ingratitude for the people of North Carolina to ever forget Charles B. Aycock, or to fail to give him their hearty support in his desire to crown his life's work with representing them in the Senate of the United States.

It would be a graceful, as well as a merited recognition, for the press of the State, as a whole, to give him their loyal support. But aside from all these considerations—including those so forcefully presented by Ex-Congressman Crawford, if we wish the young men of the State to hearken to the Democratic party and hold their fealty to its ideals, we must show them that the men who have stood for these ideals and have made the party powerful shall not fail of honor in the fullness of their years of service.

Sincerely,
Jos. E. Robinson.

Keeping the Hands Smooth.

In the May Woman's Home Companion appears the following:
"It is possible to have smooth hands, even if one is a house-keeper and dishwasher. Obtain from the druggist five cents' worth of trageacanth, which is enough for a year's use. Dissolve a spoonful of this in three times as much water. Let stand in a covered teacup for twelve hours, then fill the cup with water, and you may apply the thin jelly which is made freely to your hands after each washing. A few drops of your favorite perfume and a little glycerin added to the jelly improve the lotion."

Col. Roosevelt does not want to be king, he says. He wants "a full sized man's job." And in trying to defeat Taft he seems to have his heart's desire.

Notice of Re-Sale of "Richmond Hill" Property.

Caught in a Rain.

Douglasville, Tex. — "Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four doctors, but got no relief. I took Cardui, the woman's tonic. Now, I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. Try Cardui.

Terrible Picture of Suffering

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. Mc Elroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. I had lost hope. After using Cardui a week, I began to improve. Now I feel better than in six years." Fifty years of success in actual practice, is positive proof, furnished by those who have used it, that Cardui can always be relied on for relieving female weakness and disease. Try Cardui, today, now!

TRIED SEVEN DOCTORS

My Life Saved by Pe-ru-na.

Mr. S. S. Johnson, Greenville, Ill., writes: "I was for five years troubled with catarrh. Two years ago I had one foot in the grave. I had tried seven doctors and all went to a catarrh specialist in St. Louis, and took several kinds of medicine a day. I could not walk more than a hundred yards without resting. 'My friends told me to take Peru-na, and I did so. I now feel that Peru-na has saved my life. It is the best medicine on earth, and I would not be without it.'"

Saves Leg Of Boy.

"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. P. Howard, Agnon, N. C. "All remedies and doctors' treatment failed till we used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and saved him with one box." Burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25c at Freeman Drug Co.

Willing to Oblige.

(Everybody's Magazine)
A farmer boy and his best girl were seated in a buggy one evening in town, watching the people pass. Nearby was a popcorn vender's stand.
Presently the lady remarked: "My! that popcorn smells good!"
"That's right," said the gallant. "I'll drive up a little closer so you can smell it better."

Pain Lick Sick Lady

Pain Lick, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Freeman, of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly trouble, I was so weak that I was down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life." You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. Composed of gentle-acting, herb ingredients, it has been found to safely relieve headache, backache and similar female troubles. Try it for your troubles.

Supreme Court Decisions

Mrs. Cook of Alamance, Gets Divorce And $40 Alimony

Raleigh, April 17.—In a batch of opinions handed down by the Supreme court this evening, the case of Mrs. Irene Johnson Cook, a prominent Raleigh woman against her husband, John M. Cook, of Alamance county, is probably the most interesting. The higher court affirming the judgment of the lower court in granting her divorce from bed and board and awarding her alimony in the sum of $40 a month. Chief Justice Clark and Justice Walker filled dissenting opinions, their position being that inasmuch as the husband had made suit for absolute divorce in Alamance county more than a year before Mrs. Cook's action, she should have made her defense and claims in that court. Mr. Cook's action for divorce was on the grounds of living apart for ten years, and Mrs. Cook's on the ground of abandonment.

Still Hunting for Outlaws

Bristol, Va., April 17.—Judge P. Oglesby, attorney for the members of the Allen gang now in jail at Roanoke, returned last night from Hillsville, where he has been for several days making investigations preparatory to the trials of the outlaws. He says the detectives are still in the mountains about Hillsville, prosecuting an aggressive search for Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards. The detectives are firm in the belief that the outlaws are still in the mountains near Hillsville.

Believed That O. S. Moody of Roxboro Was on Ill-Fated Ship

Roxboro, April 17.—It is highly probable that Roxboro furnished one of the victims of the Titanic disaster. A message from Superintendent Cacliran of the Postoffice Department at Washington confirmed the fears of his mother, that Mr. O. S. Woody, who was in the postal sea service was on board the Titanic. He had written his mother, when he last sailed from New York that he would return on the Titanic. The mother is almost crazed with grief and suspense, since hearing that the ship went down, and of course she has little hope that he was saved. Mr. Woody was an excellent young man.

Elon College Bulletin.

We note with pleasure the Special Fund Number of the Elon College and we are glad that any reader of this paper may have a copy of this publication free by addressing The President, Elon College, N. C.

This Special Fund Bulletin gives a complete history of the necessity for and raising of the Special Fund of $50000 for Elon, which was completed last January. It also gives a full list of the contributors to the fund.

among whom we note General Julian S. Carr as the donor of $1000. There is also a fine list of press notices of the raising of the fund, showing how the public estimates this College.

Another interesting feature of this Bulletin is the cuts which it carries of the buildings and improvements made by the expenditure of this $50000.

We will thank our readers in writing for this valuable and interesting document to mention this paper.

Ten Thousand People Treated In State For Hookworm Disease In Three Months.

During the first three months of 1912, in spite of the terribly cold weather, ten thousand sufferers in the State from hookworm disease have been treated. Ten thousand North Carolinians have already during the present year been improved in health, made more comfortable, happier and better fitted to become producers. All of them received free treatment in the county dispensaries. They represent men, women, and especially children of the following counties: Johnston, Craven, Cartaret, New Hanover, Beaufort, Bertie, Edgecombe, Chowan, Gates and Martin.

The County Dispensaries for Free Examination and treatment of hookworm disease are in progress in the counties of Wake, Greene, Edgecomb and Martin.

The counties have been so enthusiastic about the hookworm Commission, Raleigh, N. C., usually has a number of counties on the waiting list. Among those which have already made the provision to have the dispensaries are Duplin, Vance, Person, Nash, Wilkes, Richmond.

Dr. George F. Leonard will enter the hookworm campaign in North Carolina May 1. He is a graduate of the State University, medical graduate of George Washington University, and has been in the service of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service for five years.

A foreigner in New York applying for citizenship answered to questions that Roosevelt was governor of New York, president of the United States, mayor of the city of New York, made up the Congress of the United States and would succeed the present President of the nation if the latter should happen to die. He got his citizenship, which of course, will carry a vote, and it is not hard to guess the intelligence with which he will use it. Even the opponents of native intelligent women who want the suffrage must admit that they have some force on their side of the argument.

A man in New Jersey when his automobile burned up took his wife on his back and carried her six miles without once putting her down. That is the sort of husband who knows how to support a wife.

Helps the Farmer to Sell

THE FARMER was worried over the market reports. Cotton was rising. When it reached a certain figure he proposed to sell. The day before it had almost reached his price. What would it bring today?

The farmer needed first-hand information at once. He stepped to his Bell Telephone. The Long Distance connection with the buyer in a distant city informed him that cotton had reached the top figure, and he sold his crop at a handsome profit.

The Universal Bell System enables the producer in remote rural districts to keep in touch with market conditions without the necessity of leaving home.

Card of Thanks.

We the teachers of the Elmira Graded School take this means of thanking the patrons of the school for their hearty cooperation during the school term just closed, and especially for the handsome and useful presents given us at the close of the term. The gifts themselves are appreciated but the spirit of the school loyalty that prompted the hearts of the givers is the part we appreciate most. It was that spirit manifested during the whole term that made the school a success.

Decoration Day

May the 10th is decoration day, some of our patriotic veterans started the movement a year or two ago, to decorate the graves of the old soldiers, will this custom be observed again this year? It is time that some one was agitating the movement if the custom is to be continued. There is nothing more timely or appropriate than to remember our valiant soldiers in this way. We hope to see it done again this year.

TEN MINUTES SAVED THE LIVES ON TITANIC

New York, April 22.—How the wireless operator on the Carpathia, by putting in an extra ten minutes on duty, was a means of saving 705 lives, was told by Dr. J. F. Kemp, the Carpathia's physician at New York: "Our wireless operator," said Dr. Kemp, "was about to retire Sunday night when he said jokingly: 'I guess I'll wait just 10 minutes, then turn in.' It was in the next ten minutes, that the Titanic's call for help came. Had the wireless man not waited there would have been no survivors." Dr. Kemp described the iceberg which sank the Titanic as at least 500 feet long and 90 feet high. He said one of the boats the Carpathia picked up was filled with stokers from the sunken liner. "It had just two women aboard," he said. The doctor said the Carpathia cruised twice through the ice field near the spot where the Titanic sank, and picked up the bodies of three men and one baby. "On Monday at 8:30 o'clock in the evening we held a funeral service on board the Carpathia," continued Dr. Kemp. "At this service there were 30 widows, 20 of whom were under 23 years of age and most of them brides of a few weeks or months. They did not know their husbands were among the dead of the disaster. The Californian and the Burmah, the last named a Russian steamer, cruised about the scene of the wreck for some time in a futile search for the bodies of the victims. Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the doctor said, "had to be carried aboard. She had to be taken into a cabin and given medical attention. She was more completely attired than many of the women who were rescued."

E. Z. Taylor of Philadelphia, another of the survivors, was impressed by the behavior of the crew. "It seemed to me," said Mr. Taylor, "that the discipline on board was wonderful." He gave a graphic description of his own experiences. "After I had given up hope for my own life and had seen boatload after boatload of women and children taken away," he said, "I thought I would take a chance and I jumped into the sea. I think I must have been picked up within a few minutes. I was unconscious for some time, not regaining consciousness until about 1 o'clock in the morning, when I saw the Titanic blow up. The boat seemed to break in two in the middle as the result of an awful explosion. The noise was terrific. The night was clear and starlit. In my boat were about 20 people. The Carpathia picked us up about 3 o'clock in the morning."

M. W. Beane, a second cabin passenger, was picked up after swimming in the icy water for 20 minutes. He, too, jumped into the sea after the boats were lowered. "I heard a shot fired," said Beane, "just before I jumped. Afterwards I was told a steerage passenger had been shot while trying to leap into a lifeboat filled with women and children."

H. B. Steffanson of New York, another survivor who leaped into the sea and was picked up, declared that he saw the iceberg before the collision. "It seemed to me that the berg, was a mile away, I should say, was about 80 feet out of the water. The ice that showed clear of the water was not what we struck. After the collision I saw ice all over the sea. When we hit the berg we seemed to slide up on it. I could feel the boat jumping and pounding, and I realized that we were on the ice but I thought we would weather it. I only saw the captain once after the collision. He was telling the men to get the women and children into the boats. I thought then that it was only for precaution and it was long after the boats had left that I felt the steamer sinking. I waited on the upper deck until about 2 o'clock. I took a look below then and saw that the Titanic was doomed, then I jumped into the ocean and within five minutes I was picked up." Mr. Steffanson also described the discipline upon the boat as perfect. Many women as well as men, he said, declined to leave the Titanic, believing that she was safe and could not sink.

Miss Cornelia Andrews of Hudson, N. Y., was one of the first to be put into a lifeboat. "I saw the Titanic sink," she said. "I saw her blow up. Our little boat was a mile away when the end came, but the night was clear and the ship loomed up tee when J. B. Boxhall, fourth officer of the Titanic, told of his unsuccessful attempts to attract the stanger's attention.

This ship, according to Boxhall could not have been more than 5 miles away and was steaming towards the Titanic. So close was it that from the bridge Boxhall plainly saw its masthead lights and then its red side light.

Both with rockets and with the Morse electric signal did the young officer hail the stranger. Captain Smith and several others in the vicinity of the bridge declared at the time their belief that the vessel had seen them and was signalling in reply, Boxhall failed to see the replies however, and in any case the steamer kept on its course obliquely past the Titanic without extending aid.

"Were there any drills or any inspection before the Titanic sailed?" asked Senator Smith, the chairman.

"Both," said the witness. "The men were mustered and the lifeboats lowered in the presence of the inspectors from the board of trade."

"How many boats were lowered?"

"Just two sir."

"One on each side of the ship?"

"No, sir. They were both on the same side." The witness said he did not know whether the lowering tackle ran free or not on that occasion.

"In lowering the lifeboats at the test, did the gear work satisfactorily?"

"So far as I know."

At the time of the tests all officers of the Titanic were present.

"Were there any lifeboats on the Titanic not sufficiently fastened and in a position to be lowered?"

"All of them were, fourteen lifeboats, two sea boats and four collapsible boats," said Boxhall.

"Now," repeated Senator Smith, "suppose the weather was clear and the sea unruffled, as it was at the time of the disaster, how many would the boat hold?"

"Really, I don't know. It would depend largely on the people who were to enter. If they did as they were told I believe each boat could accommodate sixty-five persons."

Boxhall testified to the sobriety and good habits of his superior and brother officers.

"You were on watch from 8 o'clock till midnight?"

"Yes."

"Spend all that time at your post?"

"Yes."

"Were you on the bridge all that time?"

"No, but most of it."

"Do you know whether the officers were at their customary posts at the forward end during that watch?"

"Yes, Lightoller was on the bridge when I came on at 8 o'clock. He was relieved at 10 o'clock by Mr. Murdoch, who remained until the accident happened."

"Who else was on the lookout?"

"The bridge officer, Mr. Murdoch."

"Was the ordinary complement of officers at their posts?"

"Yes sir."

"Did you know of the proximity of icebergs?"

"No sir."

Under questioning, however, Boxhall said, Captain Smith had told him of the positions of certain icebergs which he had marked on the chart.

"Were there any additional officers or members of the crew stationed on the bow or on deck after you went on deck Sunday night?"

"I don't know that there were any additional officers or men on the forward deck. Just the regular force."

"Did you see the Captain frequently Sunday night?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes sir, sometimes on the upper deck, sometimes in the chart-room, sometimes on the bridge and sometimes in the wheel house."

"Was the Captain on the bridge on any of the other places, when you went on watch at 8 o'clock?"

"No, I first saw the captain about 9 o'clock."

plainly even at that distance. As our boat put off I saw Mr. and Mrs. Astor standing on the deck. As we pulled away they waved their hands and smiled at us. We were in the open boat about four hours before we were picked up."
