

THE STATE DISPATCH.

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, N. C., JAN. 15, 1913.

NO. 34

Dr. W. A. Coble Dead.

Dr. W. A. Coble was born May 18, 1831 in eastern Guilford County near the old homestead and died January 11, 1913. While a young man he was married to Mrs. Martha E. Adams daughter of Dr. Adams of this county who was called from earth to eternity about seven years ago. To this union was born nine children seven of whom survive. These being: Mr. C. M. Coble and Mrs. M. A. Huffman of this place, Mr. Jno. R. Coble and Mrs. J. O. Shoffner of Greensboro, Mr. Thos. L. Coble who resides at the old home place, Mrs. L. B. Sheppard of Whitsett and Mrs. Mamie Coltrane of Morganton. Dr. Coble secured his first education at an old mill later attending an old field country school and one term at Graham the county free school. In this way he secured education enough to attend the lectures of his chosen profession given at Philadelphia. For seven years he practiced dentistry after that practicing medicine and surgery for the remainder of his life, making a great success out of his chosen profession, having a territory of about fifty miles square. His greatest ambition from youth was to gain knowledge thus he became a student during his entire life, and was well versed in the best of literature. Not only was Dr. W. A. Coble a professional man and a student but a consecrated Christian gentleman, being an active member of Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church for sixty years.

Dr. W. A. Coble was one of the first citizens and stockholders to grasp the Guilford Battle Ground proposition and was always found loyal to this historic scene of which pages have been recorded. The great that might be accomplished from a normal school first sprang up in the mind of this noted physician and later the State Normal was erected. For forty-six years the character of this sketch was a member of the masonic order. We clip the following from The Greensboro News of Tuesday which explains itself. People from Greensboro who attended the funeral yesterday of Dr. W. A. Coble, who was held at Mt. Pleasant church, say that one of the largest processions ever witnessed in Guilford county attended and that only the winter weather prevented an attendance of 2,000 people. It was estimated that 100 hundred carriages were present, while 400 people attended the funeral services. Dr. Coble was widely known in the county, having been a practitioner for 50 years.

County School News.

The County Board of Education, at its regular session last week, apportioned the school fund for the scholastic year 1912-1913. The total fund for the county as calculated and estimated, which includes the regular school taxes, fines and forfeitures, the state appropriation and income from the state, and the three communities in which the state High Schools are located, for High School purposes amounted in all to $3270.00. After reserving the allotment for the three High Schools, the building fund and the contingent, salaries and commissions, there remained $2285.00 for the school term. This amount made a per-capita of $2.20, on 9449 children, the number in the county, besides a residue that was used toward equalizing the school terms. This makes possible about a four months term in the rural districts without the aid of local taxes. The county Supt. sent last week to the State Supt. $27.10, which was the amt. collected from the rural schools for the Aycock memorial fund. The county Supt. has just had published a neat and complete directory for the county. It includes the name of every person in the county by township, the name and address of the school committee members and teachers, the names of the principals of the private schools. It is planned to furnish a copy of the Directory to each and every committee member and teacher in the county, both city and rural, both white and black. Such a distribution will be largely effected at the next teachers meetings.

There have been some plans running through the entire year work, for the county Commencement next spring. At the teachers meeting on Saturday, Feb. the first, the plans will be discussed and made more nearly perfect. It is therefore doubly important that each and every teacher attend the Feb'y meeting.

The Glen Wood school at Alamance Factory, had a box party a few nights ago. The proceeds from the evening's entertainment, including $5.00 given by a friend of the school, who was reared in the community amounted to more than $24.00. They have already invested the money in window shades, black boards and a library.

A conference was held at the Haw Fields School a few days ago, between the teachers and the committeemen, for the purpose of considering plans for the development of the school. It was decided (1) to select some speaker to address the school once each month, till the school closes, (2) to do some repair work on the well; and (3) to appoint some one member of the committee, on whom the teachers may call when they need something done by the com. Dr. Hill, of the A. & M. College, and the County Supt. were chosen to make the first two addresses.

The Oakwood school in Morton Township gave a box party last Saturday night. The weather was somewhat unfavorable, but the effort was a success. The proceeds amounted to more than $17.00. This amount will be spent for school equipment and supplies.

The schools that have oiled their floors, without the past weeks are Friendship, Haw Fields, and Swepsonville. The reports that come from those that have used the oil, run something like this: "This oil is such a help that I only wish I had used it sooner"

"The Rosary"

Those who complain about the decadence of the drama can offer no sound criticism of "The Rosary" which was the sensation of the popular priced houses last season. It is not a religious drama of the heavy sort, lacking in entertaining qualities. On the contrary, it is a delightful story of every day life, in which the plot hinges upon the misery which creeps into a household through circumstances which lead to suspicion and jealousy, and of a part which a priest, Rev. Brian Kelly, plays in bringing about a correct undertaking. A rosary of pearls figures in the unfolding of the plot, and it is final happy denouement.

The play is handsomely staged by the producers, Rowland and Clifford and is enacted by a powerful acting cast, consisting of Harry Nelson, Virginia Lewis, Mabel Thorn, T. J. Barton, Geo. J. Clark, Ritchie Sewal, Harry Walker and others.

"The Rosary" is a play which every lover of clean and entertaining stage productions should see. Six companies, all equally formed as to strength of cast, are touring the country again this season, repeating the tremendous hit that this play made everywhere last year. It will be seen at the Casino Saturday night, January 18th. Prices 50-75-100 seats on sale at Freeman's.

This Catechism was written by Casper Olevianus and Zacarias Ursinus and published by the Elector Fredrick III. of Germany. The first edition was published Jan. 19, 1563. This little book is based strictly upon the word of God with special reference to Rome. 7:54 and 215. The Catechism gives full exposition of the Apostles Creed, the Ten Commandments and the Lords Prayer. Also the Sacraments Baptism and the Lords Supper.

The pastor Rev. J. D. Andrew will preach on the Heidelberg Catechism and Prof. W. T. Whitsett Ph. D., will deliver a special address (20 minutes) on the subject of the Reformation. This is a Jubilee year for the Reformed Church in the United States.

Cotton Mill Development

Washington, D. C., January 9. —President Finley, of the Southern Railway Company, commenting to-day upon the record of cotton mill construction during the calendar year 1912, said:

"The Southern States led all other sections of the country in cotton mill development in 1912. There were 37 new mills built in the United States during the year. Of these 20 were in the Southeastern States. Out of 533,1000 new spindles 427,000, or 80 percent, were in the Southeastern mills, and out of 9,774 new looms, 6,450, or 66 percent, were in the Southeastern mills. These figures refer only to new mills and take no account of the large additions made during the year to existing plants by which the manufacturing capacity of the section was largely increased. The aggregate increase has been so great as practically to insure the maintenance of the record made by the cotton producing states in the year August 31, 1912 when the mills of the South consumed more cotton than those of all other sections of the United States.

Formal Opening of Elon Graded School.

A memorable event in the town and surrounding community was the formal opening of the new $6000.00 brick graded school building this week.

Present were the County Board of Education, County Superintendent Robertson, Dean Newman of the college faculty, Dr. J. O. Atkinson, Editor of the Christian Sun, Rev. L. I. Cox, Chairman of the School District Board, and Prof. W. P. Lawrence, who was chairman of the building committee. All of these gentlemen made appropriate speeches, the exercises being largely attended. From a single room 16 by 20 to this handsome edifice in about fifteen years spells progress in large letters.

Mr. C. W. Montgomery, of Troy, Ohio, the superintendent of the Christian Publishing Association, whose handsome $15,000.00 plant is now nearing completion, arrived today and enters upon his duties at once. He is an all-round printer of thirty years' experience and will bring the gifts of an expert to this industry of the Christian Church.

Dr. Martyn Summerbell, Lakemont, N. Y., will deliver the Summerbell Lectures for 1912-1913, beginning Sunday morning with sermon. The college has prepared a neat folder which announces the six items of the course of lectures as follows:

Sunday, Jan. 12, 1913. 11 o'clock, A. M., Sermon: "God's Free Gift in Jesus," Rom. 8:32. 7 o'clock, p. m.

Address: "Christian Education in our Christian Schools."

Monday, Jan. 13, 1913. 8 o'clock, a. m.,

Lecture: "The Protestant Reformation in England."

7 o'clock p. m.,

Lecture: "Henry VIII. and the Break from Rome."

Tuesday, Jan. 14, 1913. 8 o'clock a. m.,

Lecture: "Henry, Edward VI. and Mary."

7 o'clock, p. m.,

Lecture: Elizabeth Establishing Protestantism."

Dr. Summerbell's recent book, "The Life and Writings of Austin Craig" is receiving a large welcome among students of theological thought in this country and the second volume of this work is now being prepared by him. He is President of Palmer Institute Seminary. One of the few remaining, high-grade, old-time preparatory schools of New England, and of the Francis Asbury Board, which dispenses large sums of money to religious education.

Speaking of the difficulties in the way of Wilson's plans to obliterate sectional lines, we have heard of some of those sweet Dixie girls who are such unconstructed rebels that they won't even wear a union suit.

The Road Superintendent.

Rockingham County is a deadlock over the election of a superintendent of county roads. Three candidates are in the field and after three days the commissioners have adjourned. About one man in a hundred is competent to fill such a position. Truth is a civil service examination should be required of State applicants, in which case Rockingham would probably have about one applicant. —Greensboro Record.

Dr. Charles L. Raper, hard of the department of economics at the University of North Carolina and author of several books in the field of finance, in discussing the present method of taxation and the deficit in the treasury, of North Carolina, says the general property tax, which is the big source of revenue in this state, must either be abandoned or be administered with the utmost ability and justice. Looking to this end of equitable assessment of taxes in this State, Dr. Raper advocates the creation of the office of a state tax commissioner, citing the example of West Virginia, one of the most successful eastern States in the matter of taxation, where such an office is a factor in the taxation machinery. Further the economic professor urges the making of the county as the unit instead of the present unit, the township.

Is Peruna a Laxative?

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

I am in receipt of a letter from a mechanic who is at the head of a prosperous household. Peruna has been used in his family for a good many years. He writes as follows: "As you know, we have used Peruna in our home for a number of years. We find it a reliable household medicine in catarrhal conditions, coughs, colds and grip, and many other ailments to which the family is subject. But since the change in the formula of Peruna I do not find it quite as useful to myself. My bowels are naturally very active. I cannot take a cathartic of any sort. It does me injury to do so. The old Peruna contained no cathartic ingredient and was therefore a very useful medicine to me. But I notice that the new Peruna has a slight laxative action, which almost makes it prohibitory for me to use. I was wondering if there was not some way in which I could obtain the old Peruna as you used to make it." To this letter I made the following reply: "Yes, the new Peruna does contain a laxative element. You should therefore take the old Peruna (Ka-tar-no) which has no laxative quality. While prescribing the old Peruna I found it quite necessary frequently to prescribe the laxative Manalin in connection with it. Therefore Manalin was combined with Peruna, in order to meet those cases that require a laxative. But in case no laxative is required the objection to the new Peruna you speak of arises. Many of the people who used to take the old Peruna found difficulty in taking the new Peruna. To meet those cases I am having manufactured the old Peruna under the name of Katarno, and if you are anxious to get the old Peruna exactly as it used to be made you can do so." PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES. SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

"Worth More Than it Costs"

Lots of farmers declare their telephone service is worth more than it costs. I. W. Harris, a well-known farmer living near Choccolocco, Ala., writes:

"I had occasion to call our doctor not two hours after my telephone was connected with your exchange. My mother, who is very old, fell down the door steps and broke her arm, and I called the doctor. He was at my house before I could have gone to his residence, as he has an automobile.

"We would not be without our telephone for more than it costs and appreciate the assistance you rendered us."

Our free booklet tells how you may have telephone service on your farm at small cost. Write for it today. A postal will do.

Surry Moonshiners Attack Officers In Darkness.

Mt. Airy, Jan. 8—Yesterday Sheriff T. W. Davis, S. K. Harkrader, deputy U. S. Marshall, Deputy Sheriffs R. B. Schuyler and Warren Hayes went into the mountains in the Western part of Surry county to capture a still.

They found a still in a cove of the mountains, several men being present. A pitched battle followed, sticks, rocks and pistols being used. No serious damage was done. They secured the still and captured one man, Mac Todd.

With the prisoner and still the officers started for Dobson. About nine o'clock in the night at a point on the Dobson and Low Gap road known as "Bill's Hill", they were attacked in the darkness by a dozen men.

Sheriff Davis received a blow in his mouth that knocked him from his horse. Harkrader received a blow in the forehead that knocked him from his horse. While down he was kicked in the side.

The prisoner was released from his handcuffs, which were then placed on Harkrader. Handcuffed together the two men were then told to go to Dobson. They gave the key to the cuffs to Davis. After they had gone some distance Harkrader was able to travel no longer. Davis unlocked the handcuffs and went to Emmett Isaac's for help. Harkrader was carried to Isaac's where he was attended by Dr. Stone.

Davis and Harkrader were badly bruised about the head. Harkrader's recovery is doubtful.

It is said that the other two members of the officers' party escaped from the assailants without being injured.

It was learned this afternoon that several revenue officers went to Mt. Airy on the morning train to investigate the assaults made on the officers near Dobson and to find the guilty ones if possible.—Winston Sentinel.

Raleigh, N. C. Jan. 9—To capture the moonshiners of Surry county and their sympathizers in western North Carolina charged with the serious wounding of Sheriff Davis of Surry county and deputy Marshal Harkrader, Tuesday night, Governor Kitchin tonight ordered the Blue Ridge Rifles a military company of Mount Airy to join the official force which now has the outlaws surrounded.

Governor Kitchin took this course following a story from the mountains of Surry county, relating a repulse of the officers this morning. Advices state that the officers have compassed the men and are able to take them with the proper force.

Mack Todd, reputedly the leader of the blockaders, is among the outlaws who have defied the officers. Deputy Marshal Harkrader is reported much improved tonight and Sheriff Davis severely wounded is able to resume the man-hunt.

Parcel Post And The Stamp.

The parcel post has long been in operation in many countries in Europe. With this experience to guide us we ought to get over our troubles with it quickly. Perhaps one of the greatest difficulties lies in the fact that a special parcel post stamp is required. It does not seem that this should be so. It is like having one kind of money to buy dry goods and another kind to buy groceries. It is like cutting one hole in a door for the big cat and another for the kitten. It was probably made this way to suit the book-keeper in the department, but book-keeping should take care of business as it is wished to run it and not as best suits the book-keeper. We are all finding fault with the multitude of mileage books and railroad tickets that are put out by the railroad company. A firm or a household may have plenty of stamps available to send a parcel post package, and yet not have the right kind. To go to the post office to get a stamp would in many cases cost in street car fare, or the trouble of the trip, more than the value of the stamp desired.

One of the first improvements of the system is to make any of the stamps used by the Post-office Department available for a parcel post package, or for a special delivery, or for any kind of mail matter, provided the right quantity of stamps be put on it.

The Need of More Study by the Student.

One of the things, if not the thing we need most to make our schools of more real worth is more study. The value of all school effort is found in two results in practical knowledge gained and in mind development, both are very needful and necessary. We need the knowledge of the fact that five times five are twenty-five because we will want to multiply and make calculations in our business. We need also the developed mind that comes with learnings this fact we may contain it and retain it and that we may grapple with and understand other problems.

If we need more study the question arises what has cut off the supply, if this is learned then we may remove the prevention and get what we should have and need.

Lack of proper grading is certainly one cause of so little study. We cannot be interested in a thing we know nothing about. We do not expect the beginning child to study, because he has not the means, not having knowledge of the thing to be studied. The part we know about a subject is the means of studying the parts not known. In studying and in learning we go and must go from the known to the unknown. Hence the more of the known we have in stock the more means we have. A supply of means encourages the pupil to do the thing. He has the consciousness that he can and he goes about the work. It is a thing that can be done and he undertakes it. It is not a heavy task to be dreaded. He is in his own field and latitude and he goes further, he sees the light, he feels the mastery and he studies. Adaptability of matter to mind so that mind can master matter is proper grading, and proper grading is fundamental in securing proper study.

The next question that arises in a natural sequence is, why then, do we not have proper grading. Let me answer this briefly. It should be answered fully but time and space forbid. The student gets credit for desk mates work. He hands in his parents work of the night before and gets credit for that. If he is weak enough he will secure help on examination and get credit for that. Then it is so nice to have a good report on the report card. Such a report says the student is doing good work, it pleases the student and the parent and then the parent says we have such a good school this year, my boy is learning so fast. He did not get below 95 on anything, and up goes the boy in the grades of the school, that is. Then the boy wants to go on with his grade and crowd. (This is good so far as it goes and goes right.) The parent wants him to go on, (and this is good so far as it goes and goes right). The parent brings the little fellow over to school and tells the new Supt. or new Principle, or new Teacher that last year he was in the fifth grade, and stopped just a little before examinations, but I know he can do 6th grade work when really he quit because he could not do 5th grade work, and has missed part of the 5th grade work besides. These are some of the reasons why the grading is improper and hence why studying is neglected. Another reason why studying is neglected is found in our graded system I am not going to condemn the system, I believe in it. But it has its dangers and here is one of them. In a strictly graded school the teacher has her grade. The students are right before her. The temptation is to tell them. They are here. They came to learn. I am the teacher. I'll tell them. We can get along so much faster, and she uses the pour in method. She thinks she is using that method. But if she was not using the pouring out method, that method sat in as soon as she quit. If the teacher tells us and we are not required to tell her we do not need to study and of course we do not study.

A boy came to me once to take a simple test in public school work. The first subject was arithmetic, simple problems in common fractions and in compound quantities, he could not begin to solve. I gave him the questions in English Grammar. He was again helpless. The boy looked strong, honest and intelligent. After we became acquainted I asked him the trouble. He said I have done High work for three years. I said that is all the more reason you should know this. He said I never did know this not even when I went over it. I said that is an explanation. I asked him why he did not know it when he went over it. He said because on recitation the teacher just talked a while about the lesson and then assigned another lesson. We were not required to do any work, so we did not study. The teacher talked a little, nothing was required of us, so we did not study. The tale was told. I understood. It was a sad story. I asked him if he got good reports in school. He said yes, very good. It is not the number of grades you have been in. It is not the number of high schools and colleges you have attended. It is what you have mastered, and what you have mastered is measured exactly by what you have studied, thoroughly, yourself. We grow fat on what we eat and not on what another eats. We grow fat on what we eat, and not what we were supposed to eat but did not eat.

Another reason why the graded school proper does not lend to study is because the school session is too short in many cases. All or nearly all the time is taken up in recitation. The students recite and are turned loose to study elsewhere and they don't do it. They go play ball, or go up town, or go down town, or go to a party, or go somewhere else. They do not study. Any daily schedule in our elementary schools is a failure that does not provide for study periods. The teacher should not only have study periods, but she should teach the student how to study. This is the fundamental science and the art of arts, that the teacher should teach the student. Teach him to see the parts and then the whole. Teach him to see the cause and then to hunt for the effect. Teach him to distinguish between the important and the non essential. Teach him to know what he is studying about and then set himself to understand it. The writer once was given a class in English Grammar, by another teacher. The teacher said the class was not getting along well. That they were badly tangled. I met the class for the first time and asked them the page of the lesson. They told me. I found the lesson was on the conjugation of the verb "to be". I called the attention of the class to the subject of the lesson. I took up the time of the recitation explaining the subject of the lesson. I tried and seemed to succeed in making them understand that "to be" meant to exist, "to live" "to abide". The book gave "am" and "was", as parts of the verb. I told the class that when I said "I am" I am asserting that I exist. That I am being. That there is such a being as I am in existence. I told them that when I said "I was" I was simply giving being to myself in past time. I explained fully that tense means simply time. I explained the lesson by the fashion indicated. I taught them how to study the lesson. We took the same lesson for the next day. Next day we had a good lesson and we had good lessons from that day on. I taught them how to study.

Interest is the chief forerunner of all study that comes from within and it must come from that source before it is worth while. The teacher who interests her students in their work, has succeeded already. If they are interested they will study. If they study results will follow. To interest any student or any person you must begin where he is. You must make a vital connection between what is in his mind and the book matter to be taught. The proper time for doing this is in assigning the lesson. Tell just enough about the lesson to give the mind a touch of the new. Ask a few vital questions then and there, not to be answered there but to arouse the mind, to make alive, to create interest. Do this very emphatically and very accurately. All interest is lost when the mind doubts and doesn't know what to depend upon. Do this interestingly. Interest begets interest. Do this wide awake and with life. Life begets life and nothing else can.

A lesson taught by the teacher without having been studied by the student is almost a failure. It is much like pouring water on a duck's back. Most of it runs off. By this operation the student may get a little knowledge. But the probabilities are much against him for knowledge and mind development, that important part and lasting part of educational effort, even the probabilities do not exist. Development comes by exercise and where there is no exercise there can be no development. Commodious houses and ample equipment are good and very necessary. We rejoice too that they are coming and more of them. But they are only aids. The final product that we want is the developed mind, and this comes only through study. That teacher who has so aroused her student to want to know and to be and till he goes forth in search of truth" paddling his own canoe", only compassed by the teacher, has gloriously succeeded. The student will succeed because study develops mind and manhood. We often speak of the self made man. Here is a fellow who had poor opportunities but he just worked his way through. There is no other way to get through in the field of letters. We say this fellow just studied at home. He never went to school much. The fact that he studied is counted and it made no difference whether he studied at home or broad, or in a painted school. The studying counted. There are no other men in the world of scholars except self made men. And the way scholars make themselves is by studying themselves. Let us have more study by the student.

National Corn Exposition.

Columbia, S. C. —Jan. 9 Special Arrangements have been perfected whereby the Exposition School for Prize Winners, to be conducted during the first week of the Fifth National Corn Exposition here, will be co-educational. In addition to the 800 or 1000 prize winning corn club boys from all parts of the South, some half a hundred prize winning tomato club girls from nearly a dozen Southern States will also take part in this unique feature of the Exposition. The National Corn Exposition opens January 27th.

The boys who attend this school will be housed in a special building at the Exposition grounds. Arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the girls in some of the best homes in Columbia, and plans are being perfected for social features. The girls will spend practically the entire day at the Exposition grounds, hearing lectures in common with the boys and attending special courses of instruction covering domestic science and arts, canning, cooking, lectures on floral culture, growing of vegetables, poultry raising, and kindred subjects. Special attention will be given to the Exposition exhibits. Mr. J. B. Hodby of Auburn, Alabama is superintendent of this school for prize winners.

Each State will send five prize winning tomato club girls to this Exposition school. The tomato club work is conducted by the Farmers Co-operative Demonstration Work of the Federal department of agriculture, in co-operation with the State agricultural institutions. The special agents in charge of the for the several states are: Virginia, Miss Ella Agnew, Burkeville; South Carolina, Miss Edith L. Parrot, Rock Hill; Mississippi, Miss Susie V. Powell, Jackson; Georgia, Miss Mary Cresswell, Athens; Alabama, Mrs. Bertie I. Robinson, Auburn; Florida, Miss Agnes Ella Harris, Tallahassee; Tennessee, Miss Virginia P. Moore, Nashville; North Carolina, Miss Jane S. McKinnin, Raleigh; Louisiana, Miss Elizabeth B. Kelley, Baton Rouge. In Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma, the girls' work is handled by the authorities in charge of the boys' corn club.

Handsome Gavel For Governor Locke Craig.

Asheville, Jan. 10—A handsome mahogany gavel, made in Porto Rico, silver mounted and set with coins, will be presented to Governor Locke Craig about the time of his inauguration as a gift from Mrs. C. A. Wilson, of this city, who has known him since he was a schoolboy. It was sent her son from the West Indian island and has been inscribed with the name of the future state executive.

The gavel is of good size, heavy and cut from an exceptionally fine piece of wood. Around its drum is a silver band bearing the inscription, "1913 our governor" and on the handle the name "Locke Craig". In one end of the gavel are three 5 cent coins of the Republic of Panama and on the other an American half dollar with the Liberty head out.

Until its presentation the gavel will be on exhibition in the window of H. Redwood and company store on Paton avenue near Park Square.

Elaborate Banquet At Piedmont Hotel

Messrs. Woodson & Young Proprietors of the newly opened Piedmont Hotel gave an elaborate luncheon at the Piedmont Friday night. The occasion was planned as an appreciation of the new hotel locating in our midst. The number of admittance was limited to one hundred and eleven and almost this number was debarred from feasting because room would not permit.

To add to the dignity and brilliance of the event Hon. E. S. Parker of Graham was selected to act as toastmaster. Mr. Parker very good naturedly called on a dozen or more who as gladly responded. Revs. A. B. Kendall and Buck spoke on the relation of the church to business and business men's relation to the church. Mr. J. W. Cates Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce emphasized very forcefully the importance of a Commission form of government. The humor of the event reached its climax when the toastmaster gave a special introduction to the guest and named Jno. M. Cook as the next speaker.

Thus our readers can have an idea of this royal occasion except the eating and only those present can testify to that.

The Whittett Orchestra made music which was equal to the excellent banquet spread.

The citizens of our town most heartily welcome this new hotel with its clever Proprietors into our midst.

Back To Trenton.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—President-elect Wilson left Chicago for Trenton at 12:40 this afternoon. Governor Wilson, true to his announcement on his arrival here yesterday, to make an address before the Commercial Club, abstained from making any statement, formal or informal, on public matters with the exception of the address before the Commercial Club last night. The Governor passed the night at the residence of David P. Jones and breakfasted at the home of Clyde M. Carr, president of the Commercial Club.

Owing to the announcement that Mr. Wilson would not speak, and the fact that few persons were informed of his movements only a small crowd saw him pass through the railway station to his train as he was leaving Chicago.

Work Of Removing The Main Now Completed.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Work of removing the last remnants of the wreck of the old battleship Main, and the accumulations that gathered about it in the bottom of the Havana harbor, is completed. Colonel Balk, of the corps of engineers, who was detailed to carry out the undertaking, has submitted a general report on the subject a detailed account of expenditures which will be forthcoming.

Following the removal of the after portion of the Main, which was floating last February, and towed to sea and buried on March 16 last, it still was necessary to remove the cofferdam which had been built around the wreck, as well as to remove clay, rocks and other accumulations so as to restore the site to the condition it was on that memorable day 15 years ago, when the ship went to the bottom. The foward turret which was discovered after the burial of the ship proper, was sunk deep into the mud at the bottom of the harbor, these means being devised as the easiest from preventing it becoming a menace to navigation.

The Mainmast of the historic ship will be sent to Arlington Cemetery to be embodied in a monument to the Main dead, who were interred there with fitting ceremonies last March. Sufficient funds are left from the appropriation for the raising of the battleship to provide a proper setting for the mast. The after turret and two ten inch guns were given to the Cuban Government. Numerous inquiries are being received by the Navy Department from Military and naval organizations and municipalities desirous of obtaining some of the tables to be struck from metal work and equipment of the wrecked battleship.

Nearly all the big film companies, the buyers of photo-plays, are located in or near New York City. Being right on the spot, and knowing at all times just what sort of plots are wanted by the producers, our Sales Department has a tremendous advantage over agencies situated in distant cities.
We have received many letters from the big film manufacturers, such as Vitagraph, Edison, Essanay, Lubin Solax, Imp, Rex, Reliance, Champion, Comet, Melies, etc., urging us to send photoplays to them. We want more writers and we will gladly teach you the secrets of success.

Couldn't Walk!
"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."
TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic
We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women.
Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.

Our town was saddened Tuesday evening Jan 7th when it was learned Mrs. E. M. Coble was dead.

She was about 76 years old. She leaves a husband two daughters and three sons, also an adopted child to mourn their loss. Now the mothers chair is vacant in that home, her sweet voice is forever hushed. She died as she lived that of a christian. She was a member of the M. P. Church at Mt. Pleasant where she was laid away by loving hands to await the resurrection. We do not hesitate to commend her upright life to her sorrowing friends.

Rev. G. L. Curry conducted the services. She had been in failing health and was not conscious the end was approaching. It did not diminish her nearly a good mother, but it has gone to her Heavenly home. May the Lord bless and comfort the bereaved family and let it be then when life's battles are all fought.
