Death of George McBane.

On Thursday evening May 29, our heavenly father in providence saw fit to remove from our midst his heavenly name Mr. George McBane. In the death of our beloved brother we realize that the church and community has lost a faithful member and loving neighbor and the home a loving father. He was unable to attend his church for the last year or two, although he trusted in his God at home and called upon him to help him bear his burdens.

Although we mourn the loss of our dear brother, we are assured that he was prepared to meet his God and we trust that our lost one will serve as a cord to bind us closer to him.

He leaves three sons and one daughter to mourn his death. Mr. McBane.

Alfred McBane and Henry McBane and Elzina Woody also two daughters McBane and Emily McBane.

He was eighty-three years, four months and twenty-two days old.

A precious one from us is gone. A voice well loved is still. A chair is vacant in the home. A heart never can be filled. We extend our heart felt sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

Meeting at Baptist Church.

The meeting at the Baptist church continues. Quite a large number of conversions have been made and much more good is expected before the week ends. The young men have been singing some excellent preaching. Large crowds have been present each night.

Drowned in Mill Pond.

Maxton.—Marvin Maness the 17-year-old son of Mrs. B. T. Maness, a well-known contractor and builder of this place lost his life by drowning Sunday afternoon. In company with a number of other boys young Maness went to McKay's old millpond, one mile from town to go in bathing. He got beyond his depth and drowned before assistance could reach him.

The body was recovered shortly after the accident. The funeral will be held from the home tomorrow morning.

Young Maness was a bright boy, universally liked and the unfortunate and tragic ending of so promising a life has cast a gloom over the entire town and calls for expression of sympathy to the bereaved family.

Killed by Baseball.

Dr. Friedman Ready To Leave The United States

Providence, R. I., May 29.—Dr. F. F. Friedman, suddenly changing his plans, left this city at midnight for New York, and it was announced by one of his assistants that within a few days he would go back to Germany never to return to this country. The announcement came at 11 o'clock tonight. Dr. Friedman had treated several patients at his institute, Reservoir avenue, and planned to go to Woonsocket later in the evening. He declined to discuss the action of the New York board of health.

Hillsboro vs Burlington.

The Hillsboro base ball team beat the Burlington boys at the tune of 5 to 0 at the Piedmont Park Saturday. Cheek and Andrews composed the battery for Hillsboro and Evans and Andrews for the home team. The game was good ball but the home team did not equal the visitors.

Young Orator Discusses College Athletics. Representatives From Literary Societies Speak. Two Young Ladies; Four Young Men.

The feature of the third day of commencement was this year as in previous years the essays and orations of the representatives of the three literary societies, the Philologist, and the Psi-Phi. These representatives are chosen from the Junior Class by their respective societies and their appearance is always a most pleasing event of the annual commencement season.

The first orator was Mr. Kirby William Loftin, Kinston, N. C., who represented the Phi Society, and who spoke with appreciation of the Future Industrialism of the South, maintaining that the South eventually forgo to the front in industrial leadership and basing his conclusion upon the vast natural wealth of the South and the homogeneity of the population, which is distinctly American.

Mr. Gilmer Gustave Holland, Holland Va., also representing the Phi Society, spoke from the theme, Life and Its Possibilities, pleading for idealism as against realism or materialism, but felt also that the ultimate of attainment even in material things had not been reached. He said he had no fear of materialism provided idealism could control it for virtuous rather than sordid ends.

The representatives of the Psi-Phi Society then came, with their charming essays. Miss Nina Pinnix, Kernersville, N. C., who discussed the prevailing educational tendencies of today with sharp discrimination, but without unqualified endorsement, using as her subject, Whither Drifting. Miss Sallie Warren Foster, Burlington, N. C. followed her and took her subject Unknown Heroes, proving that the heroes that are not known are the real architects and producers of the heroes who are known, instancing such illustrious examples as the wash tub mother of Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota, the first Democratic governor of that State.

Mr. Marvin Stanford Revell, Kenly, N. C., representing the Philologist Society, entered for the farmer an eloquent plea, showing that he is the backbone of the various orders of modern life and that he is now coming into his own. His subject was A New, Yet Old Order.—The Farmer.

The concluding speaker was Mr. Clyde Carney Johnson, Siler City, N. C., representative of the Philologist Society, himself and athlete and manager of next year's baseball team, who discussed with full appreciation of all interests concerned, The Relation of Athletics to College Education. Mr. Johnson thinks that athletics when properly managed will contribute not only to the physical man, but to the mental and the moral man as well and gave solid reason for his contention. The subject was presented from a new viewpoint and the oration was thoroughly enjoyed.

Tomorrow morning Dr. Charles W. Kent, of the University of Virginia, will speak on Lincoln and Davis, it being the birthplace of President Davis of the Confederacy. Dr. Kent will be heard gladly. Tomorrow afternoon the Expression Recital will be given and tomorrow evening the annual Concert.

Rev. J. D. Andrew President of Catawba College.

Rev. J. D. Andrew who for the last fifteen years has been pastor of the Reformed Church at this place was elected Tuesday President of Catawba College. Becoming President of a College necessarily means the assuming of great responsibility and is a great honor which we are glad our townsman has been successful in receiving.

Rev. Andrew is a man of a great deal of energy and will doubtless become one of the ablest Presidents this school has ever possessed.

This College is 62 years old and has had but two this being the third President from North Carolina. The two former being Dr. Jacob Clapp, Hon. C. H. Mebane, and the present all having originally been raised in the same community and under the pastorate of the late Dr. G. W. Walker of Guilford County. The pastoral year of Rev. Andrew at this place will expire this month and his resignation will take effect at this time he will probably move about the first of July. Our town will be sorry to have one who has labored so long in our midst to leave.

Carolina Business College Opens With Good Enrollment And Bright Prospects

The business college opened Wednesday over the Holt-Cates Co. with good enrollments for both the day and night schools, with very bright prospects of several other enrollments during the month.

The required number that will be allowed the opening discount will likely be enrolled by the end of the week, so those who contemplate taking a business course should enroll at once and save the discount.

As announced in the last issue of this paper, all the commercial and English branches will be taught in both the day and night schools, and Prof. S. W. Badgett, who has been prominently connected with the Winston college will have charge of the local college. Mr. Badgett is well equipped for the management of the local college both by education and experience.

This institution means much to Burlington, also Graham and Haw River as well, as it will bring money to all three towns that would go elsewhere, also keeps much money at home, and affords those working boys and girls an opportunity to get a business education who in many cases would not be able to leave home to take a course, so let's all boost and make the school a great success and a permanent factor in the upbuilding of our educational and industrial interests.

Whitsett.

A large crowd attended the installation service of Rev. Robert E. Redding as pastor of Springwood and Bethel Churches last Sunday. The sermon was preached by Rev. D. E. McFar of Burlington from Matt. 10-6. The change to the incoming pastor was made by Rev. C. F. Bradshaw of Hillsboro and the charge to the congregation was made by Rev. S. M. Rankins of Greensboro.

His numerous friends regret to learn of the illness of Rev. S. M. Rankin of Greensboro has only been able recently to be out again. He is still weak and far from well. His presence was greatly appreciated for he served as Presbyterian pastor for ten years very acceptable.

Dr. Whitsett spent Tuesday of last week in Greensboro attending the commencement exercises of the State Normal and Industrial College, and also the commencement of the Greensboro College for Women where Dr. S. B. Turrentine has been recently elected to succeed the retiring president, that gifted woman Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson.

Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Joyner will attend the commencement at the University of North Carolina this week. His brother is a member of the graduating class.

Four former Whitsett students graduate at the University this week. Messrs. A. L. Halimton, E. W. Joyner, R. R. Isley and H. A. Tolson.

Mr. L. A. Carmon has recently purchased through a sale by order of court ten acres of the estate of the late J. W. Fount just west of the school ground.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Davenport of Durham are spending some time here the guests of relatives.

Miss Mary Wilson left last Friday for Snow Hill in Greensboro county to spend some time the guest of relatives in that part of the state.

Rev. J. D. Andrew is at Newton this week for the commencement of Catawba College. It is thought to be an assured fact that he will be made president of the college at the meeting of the Trustees this week.

Mr. J. Boyd McLean came home from Chapel Hill last week. He has been in school there the past year.

Bryan Goes Marketing.

Washington, May 28.—Secretary Bryan is not too busily engaged with affairs of state to do the marketing for the Bryan household. Almost any morning the secretary of state may be seen in a local market place with a large basket swinging from his left arm.

Colonel Bryan seems to enjoy marketing to the full. He elbowed the crowd and apparently doesn't mind it any more than he did when making his political campaign tours.

Secretary Bryan's fondness for the radish of the white variety is now generally known among marketmen and they try to keep on hand the kind he likes. The other day, however, much to his disappointment, the favorite vegetable was not to be had.

"You know, I'm just crazy about white radishes," said the secretary to a woman shopping beside him. "No other kind will do."

And he continued his search among the stands.

BATTLE FILES HIS ANSWER TO ACTION

New York, May 28.—George Gordon Battle, formerly of Raleigh, president of the North Carolina Society of New York and attorney for Mrs. J. Temple Gwathmey, wife of former president of the Cotton Exchange, who named as co-respondent in the James Cunningham Bishop divorce case, today, filed his answer to the action which Mrs. Bishop has started against him.

She is suing for $50,000 for alleged damage to her reputation by a letter she alleges Mr. Battle sent to District Attorney Whitman, in which Mr. Battle said, "Mrs. Bishop has been mentally unbalanced for some years." Mr. Battle is also alleged to have said that admittance to Mrs. Gwathmey's apartments in the Hotel Gotham was obtained through a detective forging the name on a card that was sent to Mrs. Gwathmey. He is also accused by Mrs. Bishop of having published a statement to the effect that several years ago commitment papers pronouncing her a fanatic were signed by several physicians.

In his answer Mr. Battle declares that what he said in the letter to Mr. Whitman was true, and submitted affidavits to prove his assertions.

Succeeds Sergeant Cates.

Durham, May 30.—George Proctor was elected second sergeant to take the place of Gill P. Cates, whose tragic death occurred night before last. The new sergeant has been a member of the Durham force for ten years, and is considered one of the most efficient men on the force. The remains of Sergeant Cates were laid to rest in Maplewood cemetery this afternoon and hundreds of people followed the remains of the officer to their last resting place.

Died of Mr. Long.

Peter Anderson Long, son of the late Joseph Anderson Long and Elizabeth Wagoner died near Mebane, N. C. May 27th 1913 at the age of 69, 4 months and 8 days. He was a member of Longs Chapel Christian Church and leaves to mourn his death a widow and two daughters. Interment and burial services at New Providence Christian church conducted by Rev. J. W. Holt assisted by Dr. E. C. Murry, of Mebane, N. C.

Irish Potatoes Crop Has Been Cut 50 Per Cent.

Kinston, May 30.—A conservative estimate based on reports from various sections places the yield of Irish potatoes in this part of the state at about 50 per cent of a normal crop. With the beginning of the digging season it is apparent that not more than half a crop will be harvested in Lenoir, Greene and Wayne counties, slightly less than 50 per cent in Onslow, Jones and Duplin, in Craven and Pamlico around two-fifths of a crop. The same climatic forces that operated so effectively against the strawberry crop were responsible for the short potato crop. Prospects are that potatoes will bring from $2.50 to $3.50 a barrel. About one-quarter to a third of the bean crop will be realized. Prices are low for the initial shipments.

Two well and favorably known men of this section died suddenly yesterday. J. T. Lanier, aged 70, died of heart failure on a train while en route from this city to his home in Pink Hill. Mr. Lanier was a native of Duplin county, and is survived by a wife and several children. Epenetus Hardee, a wealthy farmer, passed away at the home of a son near Snow Hill. He had been a leader in the Methodist church for 60 years and was in his 89th year. He was noted for his exceeding strong constitution and had a wide reputation as a progressive planter.

Died.

Near Glencoe Cotton Mills in Alamance county, May 29th 1913 Annie Florence Garrison at the age of 35 years 7 months and 26 days. She had been a consistent member of the Christain church for 15 years. Her husband two sisters and her mother are sorely bereaved by her death. Funeral service at Union Church conducted by her pastor Rev. J. W. Holt assisted by Rev. C. C. Pell. A noble good woman has been up on high.

Miss Byrde Dailey was the charming hostess to the Embroidery club Thursday afternoon. Refreshments in two courses were served. Beside the club members there were present: Mrs. J. A. Dailey, of Hamlet; Mrs. W. F. Dailey, Mrs. W. S. Reives and Miss Helen Buck.

Mr. Huffman Resigns.

Pres. of State Dispatch Pub. Co.
Burlington, N. C.

Dear Sir:
For what I believe to be the best interest of the paper and myself I hereby tender my resignation as Editor to take effect at your pleasure.

Sincerely yours,
Jno. R. Hoffman.

Democrat salava is running out of the mouth of would be office holders at a rapid rate. If Woodrow does not soon give relief to the hundreds and thousands that are waiting, the ranks will be greatly reduced by exhaustion. Hurry up, Woody for heavens sake, and shake the father pie tree. We are anxious to see a few more of the well fed kind.

Education.

The lovely little school girls have said good night to dear College Professors, and are gently relaxing under the shade of the old apple tree close by the spring.

Many of them have worked like Trojans for victory, and have achieved it, while others like many indulgent school boys have slept in the tents of the idle ancestors.

If you will observe the graduation classes from our graded schools, and note the ratio of girls to boys that are completing their courses you will see and readily understand why women suffrage is so popular at present.

It is high time that the boys of our land arouse themselves to the seriousness and importance of the occasion and begin now to reinsate themselves in their rightful and proper station. It can be done. It must be done. Our nation is to continue to be done when duty demands it.

It is time for the State to act. Freight adjustment cannot be longer delayed. Will the governor take notice?

A little more squabbling, a little more delay, a little more hesitation of our town government will sink entirely. A month of the short two years is gone and nothing done. Gentleman if you wish to do anything except meet and talk you must act and act now. For in a few more months your opportunity is past.

To the work, to the work, we sang, now let us do.

C. E. and Epworth League.

We were glad indeed to have the Christian Endeavor Society meet in our town last week in annual session, and we are as equally as proud of the Epworth League Convention that opens today. These organizations do much good to mankind with which they meet, but more especially do they bless and cheer the people of the town in which they meet.

We thank you for coming to us and we hope your coming was so profitable that you may come often here after. We will greet you best we know how, and always extend to you the glad hand of fellowship on this and on all other occasions.

Roosevelt Vindicated.

Col. Roosevelt waives his right to $10,000.00 for libel in his suit against the Michigan editor, and accepts only six cents in damage. He very clearly vindicated himself that he is not a drunkard in any sense of the word.

Its very dangerous to have such editors as this one loose in the land, for any willful act is dangerous not only to an individual, but to the public at large. However, no sane man ever believed that Mr. Roosevelt is a drunkard. However, the Columbia, (S. C.) State seems to give color to the belief that it may be true.

Its true that many bitter opponents of Col. Roosevelt are willing to employ any means toward the single end of destroying his good and the never ending great and glorious service that he has rendered to all mankind.

Progressive News.

They would not have minded so much in the days before the direct election of Senators but they point out now they are obliged to go before the people and make a public canvass just the same as Mr. Underwood and his colleagues must do. Several of these Senators face the test of re-election next year just as the House Democrats do, and they do not think it is fair to them to be obliged to carry the burden of correcting errors in the bill which were known before it left the House and which the House leaders should have corrected on their own responsibility.

The talk about the Senate now is that some 200 minor changes will be made before the bill is passed. None will be of any importance except possibly the re-adjustment of the pottery schedule which is undertaken at the direct intervention of President Wilson.

The Republicans are preparing to cry calamity and are charging that the bill will surely bring industrial disaster and destruction, with inevitable labor disturbances and general business depression. Mr. Underwood uttered an extremely significant warning to these calamity howlers in his last speech on the bill in the House. He had already pointed out, on several occasions, the fact that the Democrats had created a bureau in the Department of Commerce authorized to make very thorough and complete investigations of industrial conditions.

He now made a deliberate threat of the use of this bureau against any manufacturer or any concern that might attempt to discredit his tariff bill by reducing wages or otherwise assisting to bring on industrial disturbance.

"When a great manufacturing institution," he said, "is ready to threaten its laborers with a reduction of wages because they say there has been adverse action and a legislation in Congress or to reflect on the action of the Government of the United States, that bureau has the power to walk into their offices and ascertain there is real reason for their cutting the rates of wages of labor or whether it is merely a selfish attempt to put money into their own pockets."

"The statement has been that this tariff bill will act on labor and effect the wages of the laboring men. I give you notice now that when the men from whom you bring that message endeavor to grind labor in the interest of Republican politics, there is a bureau of this government that is going to ascertain the reason why."

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, chief of the "near-Progressive" advocates of Republican reorganization, has gone to Chicago to hold a conference with former Governor Hadley, of Missouri, and others of his special political views, concerning their ambitious plan. The impression was spread in Washington that a considerable number of "near-Progressives" in the Senate and the House would attend this conference but much mystery was made about furnishing the names of those who intended or were expected to go.

ference but much mystery was made about furnishing the names of those who intended or were expected to go.

No mystery was made about the sentiments of the old-line Republicans regarding the Cummins proposition. The feelings of the Old Guard were sentimentally expressed by Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, long High Priest of the old organization.

"When the time comes to reorganize the Republican party," he said, "I think we must follow the men who helped build the party and not those who helped to wreck it." Other Regular Republican Senators endorsed this sentiment strongly.

Joys and Sorrows

But what of the young man who pays the fee? Is he to be eliminated in this important matter? He knows, if he knows anything at all, that the girl who has finally consented to share his joys and sorrows, and with unflinching impracticability wield the broomstick about his head and darn the stockings for his feet, is about the best and sweetest thing that ever yet appeared upon this mundane sphere.

In a general way, he understands there have been others, but they all vanish into empty nothingness
as compared with this adorable bundle of exquisite grace and loveliness. Therefore it is that when the minister says the final word; when the thing is cinched to speak in the vernacular of the street he wants to do something.
He may be perilously near to being broke, but come what may
he feels the joy of thanksgiving.
Must he, in the future, be met with a cold and unfeeling, "No,
I thank you," from the domine?

cle.

cently.

We clip the following from the Greensboro Daily News and publish it because of its truthfulness:

FINALLY SETTLED?

Editor Newett frankly admitted, when the showdown came,
that after searching the country
over, he has been unable to find a witness who was willing to swear that he had ever seen Colonel Roosevelt under the influence of liquor. Therefore,
said this editor who was doubly
on the defensive, he could no longer escape the conclusion that he had made a mistake. The publisher of this Michigan weekly, himself wealthy, and the intimate friend of Wealthy men,
has made all the amends possible
after slandering a fellow man.

All that wealth, supplemented by malice could do, had been done to find a witness who might prove of some aid to the defense. At one time it was thought that such a witness had been found in New York, where handy witness can generally be found for any purpose, but before they could get him to Michigan a warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of grand larceny and unfortunately for the defense, he escaped to Canada. With the enforced tour abroad of that witness the bottom dropped out and, thereafter Editor Newett pursued the only course open to him and quit.

But even before the events of Saturday the country had found the offending editor guilty. By the middle of the week even the New York Sun had asked leave to share Colonel Roosevelt's latest success. The Sun was persuaded that the evidence abduced at Marquette had confirmed the observations of Mr.
Roosevelt's friends, and the evidence is confirmed by the record of his multifarious activities and vigorous occupations, and by the specific testimony of his quick recovery from his wound last fall. The testimony of the Sun is no less interesting than that at Marquette.

To the Sun Colonel Roosevelt's
final settling of the falsehoods
concerning his use of stimulants is pecuniary gratifying because these assaults on him have frequently had hitched to them the intimation or statement that the Sun had said or done something that indicated its belief in them.
The number of malicious political sharpshooters who have sought to commit the Sun to discussion of the subject, in affirmation or denial, is large; there expedients have been ingenious
and their persistence remarkable.
Understanding their animus and aware of the respectability their untruths would acquire merely through serious denial, we have avoided them except in one instance, when we gladly printed
a statement made by one of Colonel Roosevelt's friends. Notwithstanding this the character
assassins who tried to injure Colonel Roosevelt with these fabrica-tions persisted in linking the Sun
to their inventions and repetitions.

It is unnecessary to await the jury's verdict Colonel Roosevelt
squelched a lot of liars yesterday,
and in vindicating himself put an end to an annoyance that has frequently irritated us.

But have the falsehoods been finally settled, and have the liars been squelched? There is just as much reason to say now,
after the retraxit of Newett,
that Roosevelt gets drunk, and
"that not infrequently," as there ever was. There is no accounting for these tales. When Roosevelt came to North Carolina during the campaign the story ran from Raleigh to the Tennessee line. It was explained that the candidate failed to get up at Asheville and make a speech because he was drunk. It was a version of his failure to speak
that was accepted by hundreds,
and with most of these people
the conclusion will be final.
Many will believe that Roosevelt was saved at Marquette by reason of his prominence.

It will be recalled that Roosevelt was locked out on the rear platform of his car, half clad and that he got well chilled. That would have driven most people to drink; but it did not have that effect on Roosevelt. He did not drink anything all day;
not even at lunch, we believe
when the opportunity was offered to others. Three of these men who gave testimony at Marquette were with him on the trip.

Stories about the intemperance
of Roosevelt may not again be revived. This will not mean, however, that the findings of the

may not again be a candidate for the presidency.

Mrs. Laura Hinkle Ends Her Own Life.

Lexington, May 29.—Mrs.
Laura Hinkle, wife of D. H.
Hinkle, committed suicide this afternoon by hanging herself
from the banisters on the stairway of her home on Salisbury street. Mrs. Hinkle has been in very poor health for four or five months, and it is believed that despondency over her condition led to the suicide. This morning she visited a neighbor and told her she did not believe that she would ever be any better, and refused to be convinced when her neighbor tried to cheer her up. Later in the day
she paid this neighbor a second visit and told her that she thought she would feel better if she could "get everybody out of the house for the evening and just rest." Later she did arrange to to have the entire home to herself. Her husband went down town and her sister, Mrs. Mattie Penry, who lived with her, also went away, and the suicide must have followed soon after their leaving.

She tied a rope around a banister rail at the head of the stairs
and with an end looped around her neck, dropped to her death.
Her husband, coming home at 6 o'clock, found her. She had dropped down behind the hall curtain and was not visible when he first entered the hall, and went out to inquire of the neighbors as to her whereabouts. A few minutes later he found the body in the hall and gave the alarm. Two physicians were summoned but she was dead
when found.

Mrs. Hinkle was a sister of J. D. and T. J. Grimes, well known citizens of Lexington and she leaves a fine family of boys,
five of whom live here and one in Atlanta, Ga. She was one of Lexington's best beloved women and her tragic death has cast a pall of gloom over the entire town. Her husband, a retired capitalist, has been one of Lexington's foremost business men for many years and he has universal sympathy.

Orphanage Pet Killed.

Saturday, after 16 years of faithful service drawing his load through sunshine and rain, through March winds and December snows, the little donkey that has been a by-word at the Thompson Orphanage since the mind of the average young person in the city runs not to the contrary, was taken out and shot to death.
The little "mule" has been a familiar figure about the orphanage, hauling the little inmates and being petted and worked by them; and they doubtless grew very fond of him and many probably have left the Home for the big outside world with pleasant memories of the faithful little animal. Now he is dead and a faithful little servant and playmate is gone.

Something was the matter with him. He was sick and in short had outlived his usefulness and was therefore not to be kept to be a care and an encumbrance any longer.
A bullet saved the feed for a few more years and put the animal out of all earthly suffering and work. His task finished, his job done and instead of a living, or being retired on a Carnegie pension or a charity pasture—a bullet through his brain.

Drowns at Wrightsville Beach.

Wilmington.—Battling against a heavy sea in the heroic rescue of a surf-bathing companion, Pharmacist Knouse, of the United States Marine Hospital, J. D. Artley, 32 years old, recently of Savannah, Ga., now employed in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line here, disappeared in the surf opposite a hotel at Wrightsville Beach upon the opening of the season there Saturday and was drowned just after he had given over his companion to the hotel life-saver who had gone to the assistance of both. Knouse was saved. Artley's body was recovered and physicians attending decided heart-failure caused his drowning.

Rev. R. L. Davis Is Fined For Assault.

Raleigh, May 30.—For an assault upon Wiley Straughan in the municipal building with a partly filled quart liquor bottle on May 10 Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon league, was this afternoon found guilty in police court and fined $10 and costs. The prohibition leader conducted his own defense, denying the charge.
Four witnesses swore that they saw the minister whack Straughan on the head. Witnesses for Davis testified that Straughan's witnesses were not in position to see blows struck if Davis had made the assault. An appeal to the Superior court was taken.

The prohibition leader was drawn into the general assault made upon Detective Green upon the stairway of the municipal building Memorial day immediately after trial of Drug Clerk Chappel, of Councilman O. G. King's pharmacy, for selling liquor. Davis employing Green to work up the case in the recent city election. For his assault upon Detective Straughan was fined $20 and costs.

Tremendous Snake Story.

The undersigned who lives near Brick Church while out bee hunting last Wednesday in the woods near Daniel Albrights half a mile from D. P. Fousts mill while looking up in search spied a large black snake close to a hole in a black oak tree, realizing the fact that the snake went into the tree he got permission to cut the tree and upon further investigation after the tree had been felled instead of one snake as first supposed three were found measuring consecutively 17 feet, 17 feet 2 inches, and 18 feet with a circumference of 12 inches at largest place.
The tremendous snake finder was C. B. Greeson.

Bryan Had No Seal.

Washington, May 30.—Secretary of State Bryan discovered when he had to sign a treaty the other day that in addition to the seal of the state department it was necessary to affix the private seal of the secretary, of state. He had no private seal but he had two cuff buttons which were made of coins of the reign of Alexander the Great. On one of these he had engraved the initials, "W. J. B." and with this new seal he completed the treaty. All of the other treaties made during his administration are to be emblazoned in the same way with the coin of all warriors, who was sorry that the world wasn't big enough to keep his army in commission all the year round. Because of Bryan's peace advocacy his new seal is causing comment.

Attempt At Arson.

London, May 30.—An attempt was made tonight to set fire to the Royal Academy. Although the usual "votes for women" placards were not found, the police suspect militant suffragettes were responsible for the attempt to destroy the building in which are housed some of the world's greatest works of art.
Shortly after the exhibition closed for the night a watchman discovered in a small room on the ground floor a cardboard box filled with rags and cotton saturated with oil. A number of wax tapers were bound about the box. Four of these were burning when the watchman found the box, which had been so placed that the flames from it easily would have communicated with the walls. The suffragettes resumed their campaign of destruction tonight in the Lewisham branch postoffice, which they had attacked several times previously. They set fire to the letters in the buildings and flames were extinguished only after a number of them had been destroyed.

Bottles containing corrosive mixtures and addressed to Rignald McKenna, Home Secretary, were found today in a mailbox.

Up to the sixteenth century there were no w's in the English language. The Democrat who wanted to wet his whistle had to use two u's the old letter u being the Roman character v which is still used by many printers in job work. An old Scot writing to his neighbor to bring over the oh-be-joyful thorax moistener had to say "bring over the Johnney Barleycorn to vvet our vistles," over the Johnny Barleycorn to vet our vistles," and the hand-typer when he got hold of a sentence like that had to "grasp two v's so often that he got tired of it."

After awhile the v's found that they had to associate together so blamed often that they decided to get married; get spliced by grabs, and they went to the typefounder who joined them in wedlock and they have been living together in peace and harmony ever since.

That is the way the letter got into the English alphabet. Its the only child of Mr. and Mrs. V. a happy family.—Yellow Jacket.

Prof. Withers Discovers Antidote.

Raleigh, N. C., May 31.—One of the most valuable discoveries for made in a great while is that of Prof. W. A. Withers, of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts in the way of a satisfactory antidote for cottonseed feed poisoning in the feeding of cattle and hogs. It is said that by mixing a small part of the very inexpensive antidote just discovered with the feed it can be fed as freely, as constantly and in as large quantities as the stock feed. Agricultural chemists and investigators have been searching for some such antidote for several years, and the news that Mr. Withers has found it and proven its efficiency in a thoroughly satisfactory manner is of great interest to the scientific world. It is now to be tested on a large scale.

BOTTLE FEEDING.

An Earnest Request From the State Health Officer Of Mothers Who Cannot Nurse Their Babies.

When bottle feeding is, of necessity adopted, the mother should fully recognize the risk assumed for her child. Ten times as many bottle fed as breast fed babies die. Many mothers—10 to 15 per cent of North Carolina mothers—take the risk and are justified in doing so; but no mother who can read is justified in adopting bottle feeding for her helpless infant without thorough posting herself as to approved methods of bottle feeding, the dangers incident to bottle feeding and the means of avoiding such danger.

The State Board of Health stands ready, upon receipt of a post card to place without cost, in the hands of any mother the necessary literature that it will not take more than half an hour to read, for instructing her as to the best methods of bottle feeding.

Now the writer is not going to have any thing further to say about this, except to ask you in the name of your baby, to read what Rev. Milton Barber has to say about the sin of presumption in the article following.

Some Ways In Which the Sin Of Presumption Is Being Manifested In The World Today.

Let me give a few practical and concrete illustrations of what I mean:

A young lady whom I knew was suffering from a severe cold and was ordered by her physician to remain indoors until her cold was broken. But she wanted to go to a dance in the country, so she drove through the cold night air four or five miles, danced until a late hour, and returned home. What do you suppose was the result? What result was to be expected?

She contracted pneumonia and died. The devoted mother was heartbroken over the death of her only daughter, and strange to say, seemed to feel bitter towards God for "taking her daughter away from her." Poor, foolish mother! Did she expect God to suspend the laws of the universe and work a special miracle to save her daughter, who had willfully and deliberately invited her own death?

I would not say that it was God's will that that girl should ignore and treat with contempt the laws of health, and against the advice of her physician, contract pneumonia and die. I should say that it was decidedly contrary to His will. Her death was due to the deliberate violation of His wise and merciful laws.

Again, take the disease and suffering which follow as the result of drunkenness and dissolute living—sins which men bring upon themselves. Are these in accordance with or contrary to God's will? In one sense, they are in accordance with His will, and in another sense, they are contrary to His will. They can be in accordance with His will only in the sense that they are the result of His own inexorable law of cause and effect. He certainly can take no pleasure in the sins and suffering of any one. And death came by sin. "I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God."

He warns us at every step. As has been said, "His laws have put lighthouses on every headland, buoys on every shoal." And yet men utterly ignore them.

Do you suppose it was God's will that the men in charge of the Titanic should ignore the warning given against icebergs, drive that splendid ship heedlessly on in the darkness of the night at full speed until it crashed into a great floating mountain of ice and went down with its precious cargo of human lives to the bottom of the sea—I say do you suppose this was God's will? To me much a thought is unworthy of a Christian. That awful disaster was due to the presumption, the pride and arrogance of man.

Once again, here is a city or community smitten with some pestilence or epidemic, like typhoid fever. Many good, pious people will cry out that it is a special visitation of God upon the people because of their sins. Prayer are made to Him in the churches that He will of His goodness remove this affliction from His people. But such epidemics are due in nine cases in ten to a breach of God's physical laws, and frequently a high-handed breach. Contaminated water, filthy streets, foul alleys—these and other unsanitary conditions are not to be changed by prayers in the church, but by busy men outside the church. It is presumption to trample God's sanitary laws under foot, and then expect Him to save us from sickness and suffering. He works according to law and order. It is evident, then, that we have matters largely in our own hands as regards our physical (and I might add our spiritual) condition here and hereafter.

According to this view, want we call physical laws are divine, and disobedience of these laws becomes moral disobedience. What we call natural and supernatural laws are closely linked together, and are expressions of a personal, intelligent will, orderly just and good. And the willful, deliberate violation of revealed law in either the physical or spiritual realm is sin.

To call God to preserve us in the deliberate breach of His physical or spiritual laws, to see how far He will allow us to disobey His laws and yet save us from the consequences of such disobedience—this is to tempt Him. And "It is written," said our Lord, "man shall not tempt the Lord thy God."

Mr. Haskell, Prominent Merchant, Knocked Down by Automobile.

Durham, May 29.—M. Haskell, a prominent Jewish dry goods merchant of Durham, was knocked down and run over about nine o'clock tonight by an automobile driven by C. M. Howard, station agent at Carpenter. The car carried no number, but the driver was identified. It was running about 18 miles an hour and passed a street car standing still on the left-hand side. Mr. Haskell was struck as he stepped off the car, and the front wheel of the machine passed over his body. He was pretty badly shaken up and bruised, but it is not thought that his injured will prove serious.

Column Selector of the Remington Typewriter Visible Model 10

The Column Selector of the Model 10 Remington selects the exact point in each line where the writing is to begin—not by a step to step movement of the carriage—not by tedious hand adjustments—but by the automatic response of the carriage to the pressure of a single key.

In ordinary letter writing, the position for writing the date, the address, the first line of each paragraph, "Yours truly," and addressing the envelopes is reached instantly, the hands of the operator never leaving the keyboard.
