

THE STATE DISPATCH.

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, N. C., JUNE 25, 1913.

NO. 6

Piedmont Park For Me.

There is a clump of bushes on a hill of sandy soil, in a shady grove of oak trees, where the folks who have to toil, find a place for recreation, to spend an afternoon evening or a morning, in the merry month of June. Piedmont Park with all amusements, and a great long row of swings, is free to everybody, the delights in just such things, when the day is hot and sultry, there is nothing I can see, to get aboard the street car, for Piedmont Park for me.

There is only place I know of where a fellow feels at ease and swing with leisure in the cooling summer breeze. The birds are ever singing, and you learn to understand the things they did in ages past, and they sang throughout the land.

How can you be persuaded to go and spend the day, in the tranquil grove of solitude, you'll never go away. When the burning rays of sunshine, makes me long to be more free, I can find my wishes granted, in Piedmont Park for me. Elmer Albert Riley.

An Interesting Automobile Story.

Messrs. W. W. Brown and W. Bradshaw two of our distinguished citizens related an interesting automobile story to their friends last Wednesday morning. As they tell it, it goes something like this: Tuesday evening the gentlemen had set out on a business trip, accompanied by two of the children of Mr. Bradshaw, while returning they were caught in a storm and sought refuge in the home of a very good natured farmer Mr. Guthrie who lives near Green School house. After the rain and storm they started on their return pulling through the mud and shivery mud to a creek where they found a large tree had blown across the road. While Mr. Bradshaw served as guard caring for the children Mr. Brown waded a mile or more to a neighbors house and secured his services and the services of axes. Handling real estate binders was turned into the handling of axes and after an hour or more the large tree was cut into twice and the car rolled out of the road the party returning to town about midnight with white collars and washed ties ready for the morning.

New Automobile Law.

High Point, June 19.—The new automobile law is being studied by persons here and below is a digest:

The main points of the law are few and plain, through the entire act is lengthy. All automobile owners must have the machines registered by the last day of June and any who have not registered by that time will be violating the law to use them the first day of July or thereafter.

The speed limit is ten miles an hour in business sections of towns and cities, fifteen in residence and twenty-five in country districts, though it must at all times be "reasonable and proper" in connection with particular circumstance and any incorporated towns or cities have the right to make the speed limit less than stipulated but can not allow it to be more.

The tax is five dollars for 25 horsepower cars, $7.50 for forty horsepower, and ten dollars for those over forty horsepower. Eighty per cent of the revenue from this tax goes to the counties which pay it and is to be used for good roads. As it is estimated that there be nine thousand cars to pay the tax in North Carolina, this will be a considerable amount.

No person under sixteen years of age is allowed to drive a car anywhere in the state. The car secretary of state displaying the number of the car so that it may be plainly visible for fifty feet by day or night and at night a red light must be so placed as to shine on this number which must at all times be kept clean.

Other provisions provide for enforcement of the law and for passing to the right and other directors as to general safety under all circumstances. It is made the duty of all police officers, constables, etc., to enforce the law, and if strictly enforced it will injure no one who is riding for real pleasure or for business, but only those who are using the public highways without any regard to the life and pleasure and business of others.

Whole Sale Jail Delivery.

While jailor Moser was away at Saxapahaw and his wife at church Sunday at 12 o'clock five negroes unlocked the Alamance county jail and walked out. Entrance was secured from the jail by pressing one little boy through the door which was partly pushed open this boy got the key which had been left on the outside and unlocked the jail door also the door to the cell. The five who walked out were Tom Cooper and Jim Evans who was placed in jail Saturday night for stealing a cow from Caroline Compton. The negroes having offered to sell the cow to Mr. J. C. Squires. Another of the negroes was Dee Moore placed in jail some weeks ago for shooting the child of Jas. Morton. Another was the boy King Fuller placed in jail a few weeks ago for stealing 26.95. The name of the other we failed to get. After getting out of jail the one Jim Evans is quoted as having said to the other four "Boys if you follow me I'll carry you to the tall timbers where we never will be caught," and we suppose they followed him."

How to Cure Pea Hay.

From Louisiana: "You speak in this week's paper of a method of curing cowpea hay. Please give it?" I have this method annually for years, and probably after awhile will have more asking for it. But as you are in the far South, I give it here again and hope the later farmers will keep it. Now I have practiced this method for years, and many farmers have done it with success while others, for some reason, say they fail. I can only tell what I have done with perfect success.

Begin mowing when the peas turn yellow in the pods. Mow in the mornings till noon; if possible, run a tedder right after mower to keep the hay tossed up and hasten the wilting. Rake into that afternoon. Next morning turn the windrows with the rake while the mowers are running on other parts. That afternoon put this hay into cocks as narrow and tall as will stand well. Then, as soon as you can take a handful of the hay and twist it and can wring no sap to the twist, haul the hay to the barn and let it settle with its own weight without tramping and then let it alone and it will cure all right. If it heats some, let it heat. If you go to stirring it to cool it, you will let in germs of mold from the air and will have moldy hay.

Now, I have used it in this way many years and never made any moldy hay, but had it come out with the leaves on and green in color, and far better feed than the usual assortment of sticks that many make by letting the hay lie in the sun to bleach and the leaves to get dry and crisp. In fact, I have found curing peavine hay as easy as any other hay if you simply let it cure and do not "monkey" with all sorts of scaffolds and contrivances that merely dry the hay and lose the leaves, the best part of the hay.—Progressive Farmer.

The Chamber of Commerce has recently been in communication with the Improved Order of Red Men of Morehead City in regard to holding the next

A Three Sided Fight Over The Burlington Postoffice Warm's Up.

Washington, June 16.—Interest in the fight over the appointment of a postmaster for Burlington was increased today when J. C. Freeman reached Washington and, accompanied by Major Steadman and E. L. Graves, called upon Postmaster General Burleson. Should Williamson fail of appointment Freeman hopes to win.

There are now three active candidates in the field, Findlay Williamson, whom Congressman Steadman has recommended for the place; J. C. Freeman and O. F. Crowson, the Burlington editor, who took his case direct to Mr. Burleson, after Fifth district congressman had recommended Mr. Williamson. Major Steadman explained that he has recommended Mr. Williamson, and that he is going to have him appointed if he can. He will not change his recommendation unless, of course in the event that the postmaster general should refuse absolutely to name Williamson.

Major Steadman said he took Freeman and Graves to see the postoffice department officials merely as constituents, and that he had not changed his mind as to his choice for the Burlington job. Strong pressure has been brought to bear upon the officials here to have Crowson appointed. Many influential men outside of the patrons of the office, it is said, have interested themselves in behalf of Crowson. Williamson has been represented to the postoffice department as a very rich man, while it is contended that Crowson is comparatively poor and needs the job. Furthermore, letters have been received at the department conveying the impression that Williamson was an Underwood man before the Baltimore convention, while Crowson devoted much space in his paper in behalf of Woodrow Wilson. No one has attempted to assail the character or ability of Williamson. All are willing to concede that he is a first class man, and that he would make a good postmaster, but those who are opposing him say Crowson would make equally as good an official and that he needs the money more than Williamson. In the meantime the naming of a postmaster is being held up.

Mebane, June 19. A very pretty June wedding took place yesterday at the home of Taylor Albright in the Hawfield section, when their daughter Miss Carrie was given in marriage to Claude Overman, formerly of this section but more recently of Greensboro. The ceremony took place in the front porch of the residence beneath a beautiful arch, constructed for the occasion, and surrounded by a profusion of cut flowers and potted plants, and was performed by the brides pastor Rev. J. W. Goodman. The guest assembled on the lawn beneath the maples just in front of the bridal party the whole being artistic and pleasing.

Prior to the marriage a luncheon was served the invited guest in the dining room and immediately following delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served on the lawn. A large number of useful and valuable presents consisting of silver cut class, linens and other things too numerous to mention, bore testimony to the love and esteem in which these young people are held. In addition to many of the neighbors, there were present as guests of the occasion friends from Greensboro, Durham, Burlington, Graham, Mebane, Saxapahaw and other places. In the course of a month Mr. and Mrs. Overman will be at home to their friends in their new home in West Greensboro. (Miss Albright is well known in Burlington, she is a niece of Mrs. Jno. W. Sharpe and has visited here numbers of times. The Dispatch joins her many friends in wishing her much happiness in her wedded career) Local Editor.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

A Remington Typewriter == Plus

Here is the machine which will do everything that any typewriter has ever done; which will write straightaway or tabulate, in one or many columns; which will do any tabular work, however intricate, with the speed of ordinary writing; which will write and add, and add when it writes, in one column or in many columns as the paper will hold; which will subtract as easily as it adds, in all or any columns where adding is done; which is a complete billing, tabulating, adding and subtracting machine—all in one; which is also a complete auditor, machine—accurate itself and exacting accuracy from those who use it, which will detect errors and prevent errors as well; which establishes a new standard of time and labor saving in every variety of combined writing and adding work.

high character and unimpeachable credibility, he has satisfied the defendant, the jury also I fully believe; certainly he has convinced the Court, not only that he never was drunk but that he is now and always has been a temperate and abstemious man. . . . The injury to the reputation and feelings of the plaintiff which naturally, proximately and necessarily followed upon the false publication would warrant a verdict in the plaintiff's favor in a substantial amount and would sustain a verdict in any sum up to the amount claimed in the plaintiff's declaration, which is $10,000.

But, as the Court is addressed by the plaintiff, the object of the plaintiff in bringing and prosecuting this action being the vindication of his good name and reputation and not the recovery of a money judgment and he having in open court freely waived his right to the assessment of his actual damages, it only remains for the Court to direct a verdict in his favor for nominal damages, which, under the law of Michigan, is the sum of six cents. You are therefore, gentlemen, directed to render a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for that amount.

The outcome of the trial was much more than a mere personal vindication of Mr. Roosevelt. On following pages there will be found a review of newspaper opinion in various parts of the country, which indicates that all citizens who place the public welfare above partisan advantage recognize that Mr. Roosevelt performed a real service to the country in bringing this libel suit and fighting it to a finish. The general sentiment is typified by the following quotation from a private letter written by a Boston man of distinction, who has been vigorously opposed to Mr. Roosevelt politically. "I rejoice with (and in common with all decent minded men, friends and foes) over Theodore Roosevelt's triumphant victory on the drunkenness charge. He never appeared to better advantage than in that fight from its inception to its close."

Marquette, an unusually attractive and progressive city of fifteen thousand inhabitants, is beautifully situated on the shore of Lake Superior, and its reputation of Mr. Roosevelt and his friends was a most hospital one. George Shiras, 3d, a son of Justice Shiras (who retired recently from the bench of the United States Supreme Court), and eminent as a naturalist as well as a lawyer, took a large number of the Roosevelt party as his personal guests into his summer home at Marquette, which he opened for the purpose. Others of the party were guests in the homes of members of Mr. Shiras's family who lived near by. Thus the witnesses who went out to northern Michigan prepared to endure the discomforts of ordinary travel in their support of their friend, the plaintiff, found themselves members of a most delightful house party, so that the week in Marquette was really a vacation in charming surroundings. The eagerness of friends and acquaintances of Mr. Roosevelt to testify in his behalf was in great contrast to the universal reluctance as testified to by the liquor.

Incident of this character more than once excited some manifestations of amusement or applause of the court-room, which, however, which promptly and strictly suppressed by Judge Flannigan, whose conduct of the case in every particular indicated that he regarded it as one of gravity.

Of course this juryman was at once excused by the Judge on the very proper ground that his fixed opinion would prevent his finding an important verdict and although there was nothing in his examination or his answers to indicate whether his "fixed opinion" was for the plaintiff or the defendant, smiles were noticeable on the faces of many of the men spectators in the court-room. These smiles were explained the next day, when I was informed by a rejoicing Progressive of Marquette, that this Irish miner had achieved an enviable local reputation for knocking down every man in his community who ventured to express the opinion in his presence that Theodore Roosevelt was in the slightest degree addicted to the definite opinion as to the charge against the plaintiff when you read the article?"

Response (in a still more vigorous voice): "I did, sor."

Question: "Have you fixed opinion still?"

Response (with still greater vigor, with a violent nod of head)

lication?"

Response (made in a loud and vigorous voice): "I did, sor."

Question: "Did you form a opinion?"

HUGH A. HALBERT.
Resentment against the libel was freely expressed by citizens of all classes in Marquette. An amusing illustration of this resentment was disclosed in the examination of the men called upon for jury duty. The examination of one man, a miner of Irish parent age, was somewhat as follows:

Question: "Did you read the article of which the plaintiff complains at the time of its publication?"

St. Paul, Minnesota, May 28, 1913.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Marquette, Michigan.

You wrote letter to L. Gutman at Corsicana, Texas, when in camp near San Antonio, Tex., on May 25, 1898, as follows: "You are very kind, and though I am not a drinking man, I shall accept that whiskey, but I sha'n't drink it or let any of our men drink it before battle. If they cannot fight without whiskey and they cannot fight at all and down in Cuba they must not drink unless it is strictly as medicine. Nevertheless I think we shall need a little whiskey in the outfit for just that purpose." This letter is in my possession. Can your attorneys use it? We all admire your courage in fighting this character attack to a finish, defendant of these who were asked to appear in the support of the libelous charge. Scores of letters and telegrams were received during the trial by Mr. Roosevelt's attorneys offering the services of the writers if needed. The following telegram is a sample of these communications:

and public import. So was it regarded by the spectators and so by the city of Marquette. So should it be regarded by the country at large, for liberty is not license; and the irresponsible license which too large a number of newspapers in this country exercise in attacking the personal character, the personal motives and the private life of public men has become one of the most serious evils of American civilization.

L. F. A.

Progressive News.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the sub-committee decided to hold an executive session for the preparation of its report to the full committee.

The attitude of the Democrats in opposition to the publicity for which they have done so much declaiming heretofore is making a good deal of trouble. No Democrat has been more pronounced in his advocacy of publicity than President Wilson. When he has a candidate for the Democratic nomination, Mr. Wilson came to Washington and delivered a ten minute speech before the National Press Club, which gained him many supporters among the adherents of general publicity for governmental affairs.

"We are after facts," he said. "We are going to run the facts out into the open, no matter how long it takes. And then we are going to try to be fair about the facts, to see everybody's interests fairly but to talk about them as if they were our business as well as theirs, and to form our views in the only way in which influential views can be formed—by forming them upon considerations which have no private connection with the interests of the person who is uttering the views."

"I cannot imagine anything legitimate that a man is doing that he need not be afraid to talk about. I cannot imagine any legitimate part of the management of a party or of an organization of a political movement that cannot be talked about to anybody at any time. I cannot imagine any portion of the public business which can be privately and confidentially dealt with. In other words, I cannot imagine any portion of the business with regard to which you can say to one of the partners, 'It is none of your business.'"

"That is the whole present purpose of what we call the popular movement. The popular movement in our country is to change the machinery of our government from privacy to publicity it is to chase it out of committee rooms."

Another Jail Delivery.

We well remember from childhood that it has been a famous saying that it is no trouble for the inmates of the Alamance County jail to make their escape at almost any time, and it is a fact that every few years some prisoner kicks a hole in the wall, breaks down or unlocks the door or crawls out a crack and follows a lead to higher timber. Who is responsible for this we are not in a position to say, but their certainly is a cause, without a cause there could be no effect;
hence there is but one conclusion; that it is the negligent act of some one. A year or more ago the Grand Jury of our County condemned our jail as unsanitary and they should have said not very safe. With every recurrence of an incident like this,
when all the prisoners escape we are impressed more than ever with the fact that Alamance County should have a new jail and it is only a question of time when necessity will drive us to that point.
What the cash is to come from
with which to make this necessary improvements it is impossible to say, because with increased assessments of property, and this year with an increased rate of six cents, now making a total of ninety cents on the hundred for the county and still the floating indebtedness of the county on the increase, we are unable to see very far into the blinding financial present, let alone opening the window and looking into the far distant future. The same distressing conditions exist in Alamance County are on the upward grade in Burlington and the State at large.
Just a few days ago a supposed very wise and successful businessman remarked to us that if present extravagance was continued by the State Legislature and those in charge of state affairs that it is only a question of a short time when there would be a political revolution in North Carolina. This good gentleman is a member of the Upper House of the present Legislature, but we said, for this is the same old story that we heard from the Democrat party since the memory runneth not to the contrary.
In fact many good and honest
Democrats, there are, in our land
during the sessions of the State Legislature and the meeting of the National Congress, and it is well that they come home to the fountain of honesty and truth and get right with men. If they did not there would be no hope whatever. It is no trouble to find many of the Democratic brethers in our land that are now swearing by all that is good and bad, that never again on election, never again will they go and vote a Democratic ticket, but strange to say these same people make the same solemn pledge and take the same binding oath every two years, only to forget for the individual members of the Democrat party because they are nothing more than political,

cattle dumb driven to the industrial slaughter pen, where they see banks industrial institutions,
manufacturing plants, railroads,
steam boat lines and homes totally wrecked as a result of Democratic, wrath, rule and ignorance. How long this shall continue the giver of every good and perfect gift only knows, but we trust, and yet believe, although our faith is fearfully weak for the time is not far distant when protection tariff, sound money planks and sane government will be safe and sane and conservation men will once again regain the reins of government.

Explained.
Down in the Red River valley section of Louisiana there is a planter, a veteran of the Civil war, who is noted for his profane vocabulary.
Not long since, he married,
and everything sailed along nicely for a few days. But the captain was called out early one morning by a negro tenant, who wanted to see him on business.
As soon as the captain saw the darkey, he began to curse him.
His young wife, hearing the violent language, stuck her head out of the window and asked,

wer the darkey apologetically.
"No, ma'am; dat's Cap'n Johnson."—Judge.
Out of His Sphere of Influence.
Father Farrell was addressing a little groupe of boys at the mission one night, and it wasn't long before all but one of them had been moved to tears. The good priest watched this boy closely but he remained perfectly possessed. Finally, pointing a finger at the lad, he called out.
"Why arn't you crying?"
"Oh" says the boy, "I don't belong to this parish."—Judge.

A Dangerous Plan.

"Doctor," said the physician's wife, "why don't you take a good, long rest? Go away somewhere and enjoy yourself. Overwork is sending you to your grave. You haven't been out of town for five years."

"My dear," said the celebrated practitioner "I don't dare to leave if I did so, most of my patients would discover that they could get along just as well without me, and my practice would be ruined!"

Is it Safe to Trust A Trust Company?

That is the first thing you would ask if you thought about appointing us as Executor of your will.

Here are a few reasons why the answer is "YES":

In the State of North Carolina a trust company is under the constant supervision of the North Carolina Corporation Commission.

Four or five times each year, upon call, a full statement of the company is made to the Corporation Commission.

Twice a year a thorough examination of the company is made by the State Bank Examiners, appointed by the State for that work.

The Trust Funds handled by a trust company in this State are required to be kept entirely separate from its other assets, thus insuring absolute safety at all times.

We will give you other reasons next week. In the meantime come in to see us.

THE ROOSEVELT LIBEL SUIT

positions were read in court in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt which had been made by Major General Leonard Wood, Admiral Dewey, Dr. John B. Murphy and Dr. Arthur Beven, of Chicago, who attended Mr. Roosevelt at the Mercy Hospital after he was shot at Milwaukee; Dr. Lyman Abbott, Editor-in-Chief of The Outlook, George B. Cortelyou, formerly Secretary of the Treasury and now President of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York; Dr. Albert Shaw, Editor of the "Review of Reviews;" Lawrence H. Graham, a newspaper correspondent who had known Mr. Roosevelt at Montauk Point after the Rough Riders returned from Cuba; Geo. H. Roosevelt, a cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, who is intimately associated with him at Oyster Bay; James E. Amos, Mr. Roosevelt's butler at Oyster Bay; and William T. Dulancey, formerly barber at the White House.

In a libel suit the burden of proof rests with the party making the alleged libelous statement. It is, therefore, a common practice for the plaintiff to insist upon the defendant's going upon the stand first with his witness and proving his charge. But Mr. Roosevelt was not content to depend upon the mere failure of the defendant, Mr. Newett, to substantiate the truth of the libelous article. He elected to appear upon the stand first himself and to make a complete statement in the minutest detail regarding his use of alcoholic beverages. "It was," says the New York "Times," "a thing that impressed every hearer who had a sense of the dramatic—this spectacle of the ex-President accounting in public with laborious pains the way in which he spent his time while at the head of the Nation, describing his private life, and answering questions about his habits in his own home among his guests."

It took three full days to get through the evidence in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt. His statement as to his own abstemious use of alcoholic beverages was corroborated in every detail by the witness who followed him, and who spoke from the point of view of the physiologist, the personal and attached friend, the political associate, or the observer who had studied Mr. Roosevelt as a prominent personality without favor on the one hand or prejudice on the other. It is doubtful whether in any trial in the history of this country there has ever been such a mass of testimony from men of such position and authority, not only as to the sobriety, but also to the decent, clean wholesome and high-minded conversation and associations of a private or a public individual.

At the beginning of the trial the defendant's attorneys, who are acknowledged to be among the ablest lawyers of the Middle West, endeavored by cross-examination to weaken the force of the testimony of the witness for Mr. Roosevelt. In pursuance of this policy, they insisted upon their legal right to exclude all the Roosevelt witnesses from the court room until they were called in to testify, one by one, by the the bailiff or sheriff who had them under his charge. Perhaps the defendant's attorneys believed that by this method they were preventing collusion or promoting conflicting statements. But it is almost mathematically demonstrable that when thirty men are testifying as to the truth their statements fit into one another, even if they have never seen or talked with one another before. So it was in this case. Before the three days of testimony and cross-examination on Mr. Roosevelt's behalf had elapsed, the defendant's attorneys had visibly weakened and when on Saturday morning they dramatically abandoned their case, and in effect, although not in words, pleaded for mercy, the spectators in the court-room were not surprised.

Mr. Roosevelt's case was completed on Saturday morning, and it then became the turn of the defendant to proceed. Mr. Newett was put on the stand, sworn and began his statement. He had not read many paragraphs the man who had made the charge of drunkenness and blasphemy against Mr. Roosevelt, was in reality the strongest witness on Mr. Roosevelt's behalf; for while the witnesses of the plaintiff could only testify as to their own individual acquaintance with Mr. Roosevelt and their own judgment as to his personal character and sobriety, Mr. Newett under oath on the stand stated that both his attorneys and he himself "went forward with the investigation of all this (the rumors of excessive use of liquors) with great thoroughness in numerous places in various parts of the country," and that as a result they had come to the following conclusion.

We have been unable, however, to locate or produce witnesses who will swear that they have actually seen Mr. Roosevelt drink to excess. Upon this phase of the case, when the statements attributed to such persons have been sifted, it was found in each instance that the witness did not himself know that Mr. Roosevelt had drunk to excess, or that if he had made such a claim he was unwilling to testify. It is fair to the plaintiff to state that I have been unable to find in any section of the country any individual witness who is willing to state that he has personally seen Mr. Roosevelt drink to excess. I have taken the testimony in the form of depositions, of more than forty reputable witnesses, who have expressed the opinion that on those occasions as to which they testify he was intoxicated. I believe all these witnesses were honest in making their statements. I have relied upon these witnesses, but have recognized the lesser opportunities they have had to observe the plaintiff and his habits.

I have been profoundly impressed, during the progress of this trial, by the nature and extent of the evidence produced by the plaintiff that he did not in fact use liquor to excess on any occasion. I am unwilling to believe that these eminent men would purposely misstate the facts, or that, under the circumstances related by them, and their intimate acquaintance with the plaintiff for so many years, they could be mistaken as to his habits. I have therefore been forced to believe that those who have depositions or made the statement that, in their opinion, on the occasion to which they refer, Mr. Roosevelt was intoxicated, had insufficient means and opportunity of correctly observing him, and were mistaken.

Up to the time of this trial I had believed that the statements made in the article which I published were entirely warranted. But in the face of the unqualified testimony of so many distinguished men who have been in position for years to know the truth, I am forced to the conclusion that I was mistaken. I am unwilling to continue to assert that Mr. Roosevelt actually and in fact drank to excess.

At the conclusion of Mr. Newett's statement one of Mr. Roosevelt's attorneys rose and said that the plaintiff, Colonel Roosevelt, with the Court's permission, desired to address the Court. On receiving Judge Flannigan's permission, Mr. Roosevelt stood and spoke as follows:

In view of the statement of the defendant, I shall ask the Court to instruct the jury that I desire only nominal damages. I did not go into this suit for money. I did not go into it with any vindictive purpose. I went into it, as the Court has said, made my reputation an issue, because I wished, once for all, during my lifetime, to deal with these slanders, thoroughly and comprehensively, so that never again will it be possible for any man, in good faith, to repeat them. I have achieved my purpose, and I am content.

After a brief recess, Judge Flannigan read his charge to the jury. Having defined libel, and malice, and having stated that while newspapers may freely discuss the fitness of a person for public office, "Michigan has not granted to any one—whether newspaper man or not—the privilege of writing or speaking of a candidate for an elective office, words which are both defamatory and untrue," he continued his charge as follows:

Unwilling to rest on the presumption of law that the charge was false and call upon the defendant to prove its truth or answer in damages as was the plaintiff's right, the plaintiff proceeded before this Court to show that the charge was false in fact. And by his own and the testimony of a long list of witnesses of Mrs. E. G. Lowdermilk and Miss Stella Nicholson, who have been visiting friends in Guilford county, came home last week.

Mrs. I. T. Petty and twin babies of Gibsonville, N. C. are spending some time with relatives at Belmont.

Mr. C. O. Smith who has had charge of the store at Belmont has formed a partnership with his brother and will leave the 1st. of July for the "Hub" where they will run an up-to-date store filled chock full of the latest goods to be found on the market. We are sorry to see Curvful in his new enterprise.

Mr. J. E. Stroud succeeds Curry in the store and every body knows that "Bode" is all-right and understands how to run a store.

The wheat crop was good and most of it is now under shelter. That "Red River special" seems to have to stay on the car a long time. What's the trouble? Can't raise enough "Kale seed."

Better see "Jones." He pays it. No. 8 made some inquiries about him so we will remark that "Gimlet Head" is a valetudinarian.

Saxapahaw No. 1 Items.

People of this community are busy harvesting. There is prospects for a bountiful wheat crop.

A large crowd attended the children's day service at Concord Sunday, our pastor Rev. Holmes was with us and gave interesting talk on mission work. We wish to congratulate little Misses Bulah, Nina and Josie Guthrie for their nice and interesting part of the exercise they are such nice bright little girls we hope the Lord may bless and keep them as pure and innocent as they are now. There is nothing more lovingly admired than a little child that is interested in such work.

Miss Effie Vincent and Mr. Blane Griffin of Snow Camp attend the children's day Sunday also Messrs Mallie Emmitt and Ernest Curl of Burlington.

Misses Ila and Bert Andrews, Messers J. M. Pickett and C. P. Vincent visited at J. S. McBaness Sunday evening. We are glad to learn the entertainment given by the young people of Sweponville Saturday night at Saxapahaw was quite a success, Mr. Arnold Neese being winner of the contest medal.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Johnson visited at J. E. Rogers Saturday night.

Mr. Thomas Hackney of Arkansas is visiting relatives and friends in Alamance.

Mr. A. N. Robertson had the misfortune to lose a fine horse some days ago.

Master Gervase Love of Burlington is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Guthrie on No 1.

We are sorry to learn that little Evelyn McBane daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McBane who has been ill for sometime is not improving very much.

Mr. Ollie McPherson of Burlington is in the community setting up binders today.

Haw River Items.

Mr. E. C. Sykes and Mr. C. D. Benbow Jr. of Greensboro were the guest of Zeb McClure Max Tieberman and Alt Simpson on a fishing party. We did not learn how many of them fell into the river.

On June 18-19 at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Albright quite a crowd gathered there to witness the marriage of their beautiful and accomplished daughter Miss Carrie to the genial and clever Claude Overman of Greensboro which took place at the home of the bride.

Mr. Overman was fortunate in securing the hand of Miss Albright. Long may they live to labor together to make the world grow better. Rev. J. W. Goodman, in a most impressive way spoke the words that made them man and wife. A token of the esteem in which she was held was shown by the beautiful and costly presents she received.

On last Saturday evening Capt. S. A. Vest accompanied by Mrs. Vest and Master Sam left for Norfolk and other points for recreation and sight seeing and a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Cole have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their little baby. It was laid away tenderly at Haw River Monday evening.

We have waited patiently for the road supt. to open and put in order the road that is to lead from the main to Big Falls. It has been two or three years since the County commissions ordered it to be put in trailing order. It is needed very bad.

Mr. C. B. Wright was in town for a short while Tuesday.

Mrs. W. J. Bridges and children from Raleigh are visiting at J. H. Grahams this week.

Miss Bertha Thompson and Miss Gage left this morning for Greensboro.
