

THE TWICE-A-WEEK DISPATCH

A PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, N. C., MARCH 31, 1914

PROGRESSIVES MEET.

Favor Roosevelt for President in 1916 and Will Nominate Candidates for the Senate.

Enthusiastic Meeting.

Greensboro, March 27.—At the meeting here yesterday of the executive committee of the Progressive party a cable message to Theodore Roosevelt was prepared extending cordial greetings from North Carolina Progressives, and expressing the belief that existing conditions demand his nomination and election as President of the United States in 1916.

The clabogram to Col. Roosevelt reads as follows: "We hereby extend our cordial greetings and believe that existing conditions demand your nomination and election as President of the United States in 1916."

Chairman Zeb V. Walsler and National Committeeman Jas. N. Williamson, Jr., were designated to call the State convention and to state the time and place for the convention. Among other matters to be considered will be the nomination of candidates for the United States Senate, and for cooperation commissioner. Several names have been suggested as possible candidates for the senatorship, among them being Committeeman Williamson, of Burlington; Clyde Eby, of New Bern; D. L. Gore, of Wilmington; Z. V. Walsler, of Lexington, and Major W. A. Guthrie, of Durham.

It is proposed that a campaign of education be carried out. A great number of suggestions were made for progressive measures in the way of health improvement, better conditions of farm life, etc.

A resolution was adopted by the committee reading as follows:

"1. We hereby reaffirm our allegiance to and faith in the Progressive State and National platform."

"2. We oppose any entangling alliances with any other political party or parties."

"3. We hereby extend a cordial invitation to the Progressives voters of all existing political parties to join us."

"4. There is little hope of relief from the two old parties bossed and controlled as they are and have been heretofore. We view with alarm and hearty condemn the action of President Wilson in demanding at the hands of Congress the repeal of the former act of Congress exempting coastwise shipping from the payment of Panama canal tolls, exempting was demanded in the national platforms of the Progressive, Democratic and Republican parties in 1912."

There were 15 members of the committee present and the others were represented by proxy. From the State at large were J. N. Williamson, Jr., Burlington; W. A. Guthrie, Durham; Clyde Eby, New Bern; H. B. Worth, Greensboro; Dr. J. W. Penlock, Thomasville; R. A. Burch, Roxboro; G. A. Conner, Belhaven. From the districts were: First, W. J. Holthead, South Mills; third, E. W. Hill, Goldsboro; fourth, W. S. Bailey, Spring Hope; fifth, N. W. Brown, Hillsboro; W. W. Brown, Burlington; sixth, J. B. Sumner, Arden.

Ben, Like Cats, Need Careses, She Says

Philadelphia, Mar. 28.—"The tight corset, said Dr. Maude Dunn in a talk here, "takes all the smiling sunshine out of you. Husbands are like cats—they need lots of petting, and if they don't get it at home they will go elsewhere. You may be sure they will seek out a woman who has no tight corset pressing against her to make her uncomfortable."

Graham Social News.

Friday night the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson was the scene of an unusually interesting reception when the members of the different societies of the Graham Graded School, entertained in honor of the local and visiting debaters, the members of the Burlington Graded School that were present and a few specially invited guests. Immediately after the debate which took place in the auditorium of the graded school building, those invited to the reception went direct to the Thompson home where they were met at the front door by little Miss Nell Thompson.

The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion with ferns, jonquils and the society colors, which are red and black. In the reception hall Mr. and Mrs. Thompson welcomed the guests, and at the foot of the stairs Misses Lucile Holmes and Annie Ben Long directed them to the second floor, where they were met by Miss Marie Griffin and shown to the cloak room. During the evening music was furnished by Misses Florence Murray and Conley Albright.

Refreshments were served consisting of ices and cake carried out in the colors of the occasion with plate decorations of jonquils.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Kathleen Long entertained the Bridge Club exclusively. After an interesting game of bridge, at which Miss Long made the highest score, a salad course was served. The decorations were ferns and jonquils, and the green and yellow effect was prominent in the service.

Recital at Elon College.

Elon College, March 27.—The pupils of Miss Clements, teacher of expression and assistant in voice culture, gave their annual Spring Recital last evening to a large and appreciative audience.

Miss Sadie Foster, of Burlington; Cornelia Rutherford, of Winchester, Va.; Nannie Haskins, of Virgilia, Va.; Annie Laurie Wicker, of Elon College, and Lorena Garrett, of Snow Camp, gave readings from Longfellow, Willis, Riley, Russell and Davidson. S. S. Myrick, of Newsom, Va., gave a humorous selection.

There were three solos: Mr. J. F. Morgan, of Spies, sang as tenor Liddle's "In My Garden"; Mr. H. S. Smith gave a baritone interpretation of Hawley's "Daisies," and Miss Mary Barbour, sang Saiter's "The Chrysanthemum."

Adding the figures obtained by some people to the figures obtained by others, we figure out that in North Carolina politics both ends are about to be played against the middle.—The Greensboro News.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, Our dear Heavenly Father, in His all-wise providence has seen fit to remove from earth to reward, our beloved classmate, Mrs. Ida Meacham, therefore, be it resolved:

1. That we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

2. That while we have lost one of our most faithful members, we feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

3. That we assure the bereaved husband and grief-stricken parents of our most sincere sympathy and prayers in this trying hour.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of our class, a copy be sent to the husband and parents and copies to each of our city papers and the Baraca-Philathea Herald for publication.

Dismissal of 25,000 Men Not Arbitrary.

New York, March 28.—Dismissal of 25,000 men by the New York Central railroad since December 1, said A. T. Hardin, vice president of that road, today, is only a barometer of the company's business. "The reduction of forces was not arbitrary," he added. "It came about gradually as traffic mainly freight, declined; and while I don't want to be a pessimist, I cannot see any immediate prospect that business will pick up and these men come back to work."

Mr. Hardin said this condition affected most of the eastern railroads. Of the 25,000 men dismissed by the New York Central about 15,000 were laid off on lines east of Buffalo and 10,000 west of there. Although the reduction affected all branches of the service the employees of the construction, the operating and the maintenance of way departments suffered most.

"Compared with 1913," said Mr. Hardin, "the business of this year on the New York Central suffered a reduction of from eight to ten per cent. The reduction of the working force has been on the same ratio."

Graham, March 27.—At a joint meeting of the town commissioners and street commission Thursday night the $50,000 bonds issued at an election held last May, were sold to Messrs. Sidney, Spitzer & Co., Toledo, O., for par and accrued interest. These bonds which are for 50 years, are for the purpose of street and sidewalk improvement, and the street commission will proceed at once to secure engineer and let contract for the work. Mayor Ward has been very diligent about the sale of these bonds and is to be commended for the satisfactory way in which they have been disposed of.

A good many other improvements are being made in Graham. Some of the old "land marks" of the town are being torn down and will be replaced with up-to-date brick buildings that will be occupied by general merchandise firms, moving picture and vaudeville shows, and probably business offices.

Mr. William Mann and Miss Pearl Wagoner were united in marriage Sunday morning at eight o'clock at the Methodist Protestant Church, Rev. Curry officiating. Baseball News.

Friday evening the Burlington High School baseball team played Durham at Durham, with a score of eight to one in favor of Durham.

Thursday they will play Liberty-Piedmont at the Piedmont Park. Saturday the team will play Raleigh High School at the same place.

People are beginning to feel the baseball fever and we believe the boys will have a good crowd at each of the games.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Tate, of near Stainback, was burned Friday morning.

The new cabinets for Freeman's Drug Store have arrived and are being erected.

Tracked Buggy Tea Miles.

George Pinnix, colored, who lives near Gibsonville, found one morning last week that four of his fine country hame and two maddings had been stolen during the night. George, assisted by a Mr. Sockwell and Mr. J. R. Anderson, tracked the buggy that the meat had been hauled in to a hay stack at Glen Raven. The hay stack had been moved that same day by Mr. Pearl Jones, a merchant at Glen Raven, and the meat carried to his store, to await the arrival of its owner. The hame and maddings were returned to the owner, but the thief had taken his departure.

Beautiful Millinery Openings.

The millinery openings of the town were attended by ladies, women and children who viewed the beautiful hats with intense interest. All the millinery showings brought to mind the arrival of Spring in all her beauty and divinity. The milliners had been extremely busy making preparations for the openings and that this feature of the season is over does not mean that their work has ceased. Many people from other towns were present to look at the beautiful hats.

ARRESTED FOR GAMBLING.

Eight Young Men Are Arrested at Chapel Hill for Gambling—Both Students and Outsiders.

Students Dismissed.

Chapel Hill, March 25.—Betrayal of confidence between two professed gamblers, growing out of the refusal of the one to redeem a check for $20 passed in a "crap" game, led to an exposure here today of gambling operations between some students of the University and citizens of the village.

The town authorities authorized 11 arrests and prosecutions were extended to the placing of eight of that number under a bond of $25 each, waiting their appearance at the Orange County Superior Court.

The names of the parties implicated in the gambling operations were: "Jack" Sparrow, a citizen of the village.

W. J. Patterson, a druggist. Nat J. Cartmell, trainer of Carolina's track team.

Floyd Booker, who operates an automobile between Chapel Hill and Durham.

J. D. Kernodle, of Graham, a member of the freshman class.

Julius Johnston, Jr., of Yanceyville, a law student.

F. C. Jones, of Plymouth, a law student.

G. B. Carroll, a freshman, of Lincolnton.

J. E. Ware, a freshman, of Charlotte.

M. B. Warren, an automobile driver, of Chapel Hill.

Ralph Andrews, of Chapel Hill, a pharmacy student.

Crowell and Andrews, according to a statement of the policeman of the village, were implicated in this "crap" game, but testified in behalf of the State.

Both Jones and Johnson were placed under a bond of $15 each and the others were summoned to appear in court under the sum of $25 each.

MEMBER OF GANG GIVES CLUE.

The key to their arrest was furnished by a member of their own gang, thus further testifying to the strength of the old story that even when gamblers quarrel and fall out, well, there is an airing.

Their operations reached a crisis last Saturday night, and in the course of the early Sunday morning hours. "Jack" Sparrow, whom the town authorities identify as the ring leader, passed a check to M. B. Warren, as won by right and title in the game of chance. The following Monday Warren goes to the bank to recover cash payment for the check of $20. The bank promptly notifies him that Sparrow has ordered them not to recognize the check. Warren seeks retaliation and the method that he employs is to look up the Chapel Hill policeman and unfold the nefarious operation of the fellow-members of his gang.

WARREN RETURNS TO TESTIFY.

Arrests followed and in the meantime Warren was recognized in the sum of $100 for his appearance before Mayor W. S. Roberson to testify. He skipped out, only to return on Friday to testify against the parties heretofore named. Recognizing its full duty toward the suppression of the evils of gambling, the University authorities join hands with the town authorities in stamping out the flagrant conduct.

STUDENTS TO BE EXPELLED.

The faculty was in session this afternoon and expulsion and suspensions will follow. Others than those recognized by the town as engaged in gambling may be suspended from the college community. The University council has been active of late in doing whatever it could to suppress the "crap" shooting, but since this body is not clothed with the power of a monitor, its hands are practically tied.

CHASE HAS BEEN LONG.

The operations of the "crap" shooters, constituting citizens of the town and college students, have been known of by the town authorities for many months. The cleverness of their operations, however, under the cover of night in remote sections of the village and in students' rooms made their detection well nigh impractical. The policeman, when hot on their trail would cause the transfer of the scene of their operations to Durham. Chief of Police W. S. Long stated tonight that he was positive that many of the ring leaders in the student body were still plying their flagrant trade.

UNDESIRABLE AT UNIVERSITY.

The combined efforts of the college community and the town authorities promise a clearance of the atmosphere. The recognition of the fact that gamblers are an undesirable element in a University community is a long forward step towards the accomplishment of that end.

RUMORED CARTMELL WILL WITHDRAW.

The overshadowing incident of the wholesale arrest was the implication of Nat Cartmell, Carolina's track coach. The news of his mixup in the affair was received with surprise. Cartmell is nearing the end of his three year contract with the athletic authorities of the University. It is rumored on the campus tonight that Cartmell will withdraw from the institution at once.

Mayor W. S. Roberson in a conversation this afternoon expressed satisfaction that the town had succeeded in drawing the net around the citizen gamblers that had been so active of late. Sophomores and freshmen have fallen prey to these professional gamblers, thus depriving the college community atmosphere.

Assurance is apparent that vigorous efforts will be pursued to rid the community of the citizenship that a member of the faculty terms "vultures" on society.

WRITER OF GAMBLING STORY WAS ATTACKED.

Chapel Hill, March 29.—An outbreak of mob-like spirit, crystallized by the parties implicated in the gambling raid and their student sympathizers, was the reception which met the news story in this morning's News of Greensboro, exploiting the gambling operations at Chapel Hill. Floyd Booker, whose name was included in the list of professional gamblers and whom the town has recognized under the bond of $25 for his appearance at court, it is alleged, incited his cohorts to make a personal attack on the writer of the article.

Floyd Booker, J. D. Kernodle, a member of the freshman class, and Ralph Andrews, a member of the freshman class, gathered at the postoffice, it is said to attack the writer. Booker was overheard to say "I am going to beat h— out of him," and the other members of the party mentioned station themselves just outside the postoffice door.

They laid their "trap" for the author of the news story, waiting his departure from the postoffice. Friends advised the correspondent not to leave the postoffice lobby, other than by the back door, that the fellows had threatened they would beat him into a jelly. The threatenings of Booker and his cohorts were met with a hearty reception by a few student sympathizers. They, too, had sworn allegiance to members of their clan and kind.

In the meantime J. D. Kernodle, of Graham, a member of Carolina's football squad, had made his way into the postoffice lobby and pounced on the writer of the article. "Why in the h— did you write the article?" was his question. Immediately the crowd that had gathered in the lobby interfered. In the interim some students went in search of a policeman, anticipating further trouble outside the door where Booker and others were.

The faculty of the university and the authorities of Chapel Hill are on a campaign to break up gambling at the university and in the town. The chief of police of Chapel Hill in a statement tonight says that with what evidence in hand he will be able to round up the ringleaders in gambling in the university.

STATEMENT FROM THE UNIVERSITY.

The following telegram was sent by The News and Observer on Saturday afternoon, March 30: "Raleigh, N. C., Mar. 30, '14. "E. K. Graham,

"Acting President State University, Chapel Hill, N. C.

"The News and Observer protests against the mob spirit of men at the University towards its correspondent, E. R. Winters, because of his report of gambling. He deserves full protection. Please wire full statement as acting president as to this matter and gambling. Reported here that faculty about a month ago investigated matters of gambling among students.

"Edward E. Britton, "Editor News and Observer." Acting President Graham replied over the telephone and in the course of his conversation stated that he would make a statement to the students of the State University at Chapel on Monday morning which correspondent could send out.

THE UNIVERSITY STATEMENT.

Chapel Hill, March 30.—In response to a telegram from the Charlotte Observer requesting the real facts for its news columns, we make the following statement for the press of the State:

"The University, as is clearly obvious, doesn't stand for the suppression of a single detail of the real facts in the case and its policy has been repeatedly set forth during the year as a co-operative program of letting the people know what their University is.

"The account of the 'crap game' in Sunday's Observer is substantially correct. The four freshmen and two law students involved in the game were immediately dismissed on Saturday. Mr. Cartmell severed his connection with the University."

STORY "SENSATIONALLY EXAGGERATED."

The story in Monday's paper was sensationally exaggerated and grossly distorted. The students gathered at the postoffice to get the afternoon mail. When one of the students who had been dismissed saw his name had been published in the State papers for participating in a crap game he became angry and put his hand on your correspondent's shoulder. The students standing by pulled him away from the correspondent. Not a single blow was passed. Nor was there any mob outside waiting to attack the correspondent.

"So much for the mob spirit of the student body."

TWO QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

"The two points in which the public is interested are these: "What is the attitude of the students in regard to gambling and what is the present moral life of the University? We answer these questions emphatically, without reserve, and with knowledge of the conditions in the University.

STUDENTS AGAINST GAMBLING.

"When the students in general faced the question of gambling the overwhelming sentiment of the student body immediately crystallized against it. At meetings in the Y. M. C. A. two weeks ago, every man present expressed the determination to put an end to the evil. At the invitation of the president of the student body week before last twenty-five leaders in University life met in the Phi Society hall and came to the definite decision that they would report any case of gambling which they would learn of and that they would do everything in their power to stamp it out.

"The faculty has always set the face of the University against gambling in any form.

"THE COMMUNITY CONSCIENCE."

"The community conscience which has not tolerated drinking or a return of hazing this year became very sensitive to the gambling among a comparatively small number of the students. It was, and is the confident hope of the whole University that gambling will be eradicated from our life.

"To the knowledge of every one of us it is an absolute fact that this is the healthiest, cleanest and sweetest spirited year in this college generation.

Loss Dyspepsia Now—Here's The Reason.

The fact that there is less dyspepsia and indigestion in this community than there used to be is largely due to the extensive use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, hundreds of packages of which we have sold. No wonder we have faith in them. No wonder we are willing to offer them to you for trial entirely at our risk.

Among other things, they contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive acids known to medical science. They soothe the inflamed stomach, ally pain, check heartburn and distress, help to digest the food, and tend to quickly restore the stomach to its natural comfortable healthy state.

There is no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. Your word is enough for us. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion easy and comfortable, we want you to come back for your money. They are sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at us. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1. Freeman Drug Co., Burlington, N. C.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers.

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years with severe pains caused by kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours,

Heartily in Favor of Beards.
 Hazel, 4 years old, had been cautioned by her mother about leaving the house and wearing her beads. Her mother after missing her and calling her found her at Aunt Sue's home, and when she had reached home found that her beads had been lost. "I told you not to go out of the yard, and also not to wear those beads—and now you have left home and lost your beads too. I will have to whip you for it."

After receiving a good, old time spanking (the kind mother used to give) and crying for a while, Hazel met her grandmother on the front porch who handed her the lost beads. Hazel at once went to her mother and said:
 "Mother, grandma has brought my beads back, now won't you please take that spanking off of me?"

Jailed, Charged with Murder.
 Douglas, Ga., March 23.—Charles Graham was brought to Douglas today and locked up on the charge of shooting and killing Lawrence Newbern, town marshal of Broxton, Ga. He was arrested late yesterday near Hazelhurst, Ga., by authorities from this place.

Graham is alleged to have killed Marshal Newbern yesterday, when the latter attempted to arrest him in Broxton for disorderly conduct. The prisoner is also charged with slightly wounding his brother, I. T. Graham, who was hit by a stray bullet said to have been fired at a constable aiding Newbern.

Was Italian Educator Murdered?
 Naples, March 23.—The police believe that Prof. Giuseppe Mercalli, director of the Vesuvian Observatory, who was thought to have been burned to death March 19, was murdered. A sum of $1,400, which he had in his possession is missing. It is believed thieves broke into his residence and took the money, trampled the professor, saturated the body with petroleum and then set fire to it.

Contempt of Court Probable.
 Washington, March 26.—Attorney General McReynolds received word today of the conference between District Attorney Marshall, of New York, and representatives of the Metropolitan and other tobacco companies which are seeking to avoid suit under the Sherman anti-trust act.

Although it is possible that these companies may avoid prosecution by meeting demands of the department designed to restore competition to the New York field, it was said tonight that proceedings for contempt of court against four companies have been seriously contemplated.

Have Ample Funds.
 Jacksonville, Fla., Mar. 26.—The finance committee of the Confederate Reunion Organization announces today that ample funds to carry out the reunion plans and festivities on an elaborate scale have been obtained. Twenty-three thousand dollars have been paid in, with $7,000 more pledged and fully $15,000 in sight. It looks as if more than $50,000 will be raised if that amount is needed, declared Chairman Chase of the campaign soliciting committee. Today is "button day" and the women are selling them on the streets at $1 each and meeting with great success. Adjutant General Forrest declares the reunion will be one of the most successful ever held.

New Currency Law Explained at Durham by Hon. Carter Glass.

Durham, March 26.—Hon. Carter Glass, chairman of the Currency Committee of the House of Representatives, tonight explained the currency bill to the leading business men of Durham, more than 500 people taking advantage of the opportunity to listen to his conversational explanation.

Going into only the fundamental features of the new law, he said new currency legislation ought to remedy two defects in present currency system: First, lack of elasticity; second, reserve system. He explained that in the working of the old system at very time money was needed most of it was hardest to get. Panics occurred when there was greatest demand for money, or in times of greatest prosperity. The country banks handled the money when Wall Street needed it and the result was that it was impossible for New York bankers to supply the demand of country banks without causing rates of interest to advance and produce lack of confidence.

The old law required deposit of 85 per cent. deposits in reserve banks, which tended to concentrate money in great cities, and out in those parts of the country where it was needed for moving crops or taking care of the business of the whole country in times of commercial activity.

Regional reserve banks established in eight or twelve cities of the country would take care of this, in that the money of the local banks would not be sent to big centers of finance but to regional reserve banks, where it can be quickly got at. It will do a banking business with banks and not with individuals. They will redistrict county papers for banks, just as the banks do for individuals. He said paper issued by these regional banks will be backed first by 40 per cent. gold, and 10 per cent. reserve paper, so that for every dollar issued there will be a backing of $1.40. These banks have a board of directors of nine, three of whom will be elected by banks of the community, three from commercial and industrial people, and three appointed by the Federal Reserve Board. The Reserve Board will be composed of two ex-officio members and five men appointed by the President.

Mr. Glass, in closing, gave credit to President Wilson and his masterful leadership for the new currency laws, which he said would do much to make bankers of country feel secure and not dread prosperity.

"Spurious" Nickles Are All Good Money.
 A letter which effectively kills all rumors anent the circulation of spurious Buffalo nickles in Greensboro and several other cities, was received yesterday by Policeman T. C. Bray from a secret service man. Two coins had been sent off for examination. The answer stated that both coins were absolutely genuine. It explained that the difference between these particular coins and those issued earlier was accounted for by a change in the die, made necessary because of complaints that in the first issue the words "Five Cents" which appear immediately below the buffalo was not sufficiently distinct. —Greensboro News.

RENDER ACCOUNT OF STEWARDSHIP.

Busy Typewriters in Washington Are Clacking Out Records of Work Done by Congressmen.

Washington, March 26.—There is no doubt about the approach of Spring and campaign time. One can feel them in the air in Washington. Without ever getting the news by word of mouth or from the newspapers one can tell just what congressman has a contest and what one has not.

In the offices of Congressmen who have no real fight the even tenor of the way is the rule, but where there is something doing back home scribes and folders are busy as bees. For almost two years now, Secretary Drake alone has held Representative Gudge's office, taking care of all comers and all correspondence, but ever since bright and early Monday morning Mr. Gudge's office looked like one wing of the Census Bureau. Seven persons with pens in their hands, are going it, addressing literature—hot campaign stuff, something that tells how active and how successful "Jim" Gudge has been. The member from the Tenth is telling his constituents just how faithful he has been these many moons. It is like wheat-cutting time on the farm.

Drop down a floor from Mr. Gudge's, turn to the left and you come to the office of Representative Webb, and there you find two young ladies, Secretary Plonk, and Master Horton and sometimes Lige Bennett, bending to it, as if they were in a writing school. Mail bags, full of good news for the boys in the Ninth, pass out the door and into the mail cars where the two colored mail clerks between here and Hamlet have to handle some of the "bunder that may mean their undoing. So it goes, all day, and all week. There is trouble in the Ninth. "Ren" Preston is going about corraling votes. Mr. Webb is trying to nip his game in the bud with information about the Webb liquor bill and other substantial things from The Congressional Record.

AND IN THE SEVENTH.

Go back to the second floor, turn to the right after leaving the elevator and you come to Representative Page's office, where you find Thad Page, rattling his typewriter, telling the folks about some of Henry Branson Varner's activities. Mr. Page, the Congressman in a cuddy hole in the rear, is busy "watchfully waiting." He is wondering just where it is going to break loose next time, and who is going to do it. He is not much worried, but knows that he cannot afford to go to sleep.

Move on to the south elevator, go up two flights, and you see Major Charles M. Steadman, the handsomest man in Congress and the politest, with a spyglass, looking for an opponent. An hour before Mr. Steadman heard rumblings, as of distant thunder, but he can see nothing threatening on the horizon with his glass.

KITCHEN DELIGHTED.

Across the way is Claude Kitchen, smiling from ear to ear, reading the call of the "Democratic progressives."

"Much of that seems familiar to me. Bill and I preached it years ago," he thinks to himself. He is charmed, delighted.

In another section of the House Office Building Representative Small is dictating to his dictaphone, while Miss Bess Boyd, his secretary, is fitting nice things that have been said about the good work of the Congressman from the First District. In the Small office documents and newspapers take up much space. Mr. Small congratulates himself every morning on not having to worry about opponents.

EARLY BIRD GODWIN.

In the Capitol, back in one corner, Representative Godwin imagines that he is the early bird. Long ago he mailed out to the Sixth District everything that bore his name except the towels that Uncle Sam furnishes for his room. Ten days or two weeks ago he had a force of eight at work. He could not say that he got the scalp of Doctor Smith, Commissioner of Fisheries, but he had grounds for boasting that he tried to get it. He has not uncovered anybody that can be dismissed from the Civil Service rolls, but he tried. He has not reformed the "Government Blue Book" but he did his best.

If the visitor does not find Representative Doughton at his office he will meet him on the avenue, near the Post Office Department, walking as he used to walk when rounding up beef cattle in the mountains.

We should say that the State of New York did a very good stroke of business when it employed Jerome by the job to look after the Thaw case, stead of by the day.—Greensboro News.

CHILDREN'S COLDS TREATED EXTERNALLY

Dr. Henry Louis Smith, Pres. of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., says: "In the last few years we have used VICK'S Croup and SALVE constantly, and our belief in its efficiency has grown with continued use until in such cases we now rely entirely upon it, and have discarded the use of vapor lamps, inhalations, and everything of the kind." THE REASON FEWER PEOPLE TAKE "SALTS"

We find the use of salts and other harsh physics is becoming less every year because more and more people are using Rexall Orderlies, which we and they firmly believe to be the best bowel remedy ever made. They taste so much like candy that even the children like them. At the same time they act so easily and naturally that there is no purging, griping or pain. They promptly remove the constipation and, by soothing and strengthening the bowels, make it less liable to occur again. We have the utmost faith in them. We know what they are made of and the pleasant, beneficial results that always follow their use.

You needn't take our word for it. If Rexall Orderlies don't help you—if they don't entirely relieve all your bowel troubles—come back and tell us and we'll give back your money. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us. —Freeman Drug Company

FOR THE GRIP

Peruna is Sometimes Used With Good Results

A great many people use Peruna for the grip. Some use it as soon as the grip begins to take, it during the acute stage of the disease, claiming for it great efficacy in shortening the disease, and especially in shortening the after stages.

Many people take it after they have had the grip. Their convalescence is slow. They have suffered along for a month or two, without any signs of complete recovery. Then they resort to Peruna as a tonic, with splendid results.

Mrs. Jane Gift, R. F. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, whose portrait appears above, writes: "I think I would have been cured of grip by Peruna. I took my first dose six years ago. I had the grip very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon."

"One day I picked up the newspaper and accidentally found a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. I told my husband I wanted to try it. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time and was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

Mr. Victor Patenaude, 525 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work."

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again. This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider it a household remedy."

These who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

16-Year-Old Boy Charged With Murder of Teacher.

Little Falls, N. Y., March 29.—Jean Gianini, who has been held as a suspect for the murder of Lydia Beecher, the young Poland, N. Y., school teacher, whose body was found in a clump of woods, near that town was arrested today on a warrant charging him with the crime. Alleged admissions made by Gianini, who is 16 years old and a former pupil of Miss Beecher, are held by the authorities as tantamount to a confession.

In support of the youth's reputed statements, an affidavit was made today by Brainard Will, a companion of Gianini and a year his senior, to the effect that the accused boy several days ago asked Will to assist in murdering Miss Beecher and robbing the safe in the second largest business house in Poland. Will said he did not think Gianini was in earnest.

The weapons which are alleged to have been used to commit the crime are in the possession of the authorities. They are a wrench and a hunting knife.

The wrench was recovered near the scene of the tragedy and the knife was taken from a pantry at the Gianini home. The coat which the boy wore was stained with red spots which he said were paint marks. The garment has been sent to a chemist for examination.

The holding of an autopsy has been delayed because the authorities have encountered difficulty in finding a physician unwilling to perform it. The Herkimer County physicians and the supervisors recently disagreed over the scale of prices for medical work.

North Carolina Needs a New Seal.

Raleigh, March 20.—Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes and Governor Craig are co-operating in the purchase of a new great seal of the State for the Governor's Office. The seal now in use is badly worn and the mechanism by which it is operated in attaching the seal to documents of State is badly out of "whack." The instrument was broken during the administration of Governor Russell and was somewhat crudely repaired. Also some of the letters have become so badly worn as to show up poorly in the imprints.

The present seal has been in use since 1833. The seal that was in use prior to that time was made in 1836 and the one prior to that in 1794. Then there were a number of colonial seals. Drawings of new seals have been received from a number of manufacturers. The general design of the seal is being considerably changed in those designs being offered.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young is anxious to ascertain the whereabouts of G. E. Graves, who has been soliciting business and collecting the fees for the General Accident Insurance Company without State license and without the knowledge or authority of the company. He has been operating principally in Raleigh and vicinity.

Commissioner Young has procured judgment against the bondsmen of W. T. Brooks, at Monroe, who is under charge of burning a cotton storage house for the insurance on the cotton and has forfeited his $200,000 bond. At the same time a general search is being made for the fugitive with the intention of bringing him to trial.

Warning is sent out by the State Department of Insurance against the North American Home Insurance Co., operating from Roanoke, Va., which the commissioner says is not licensed to do business in this State and for this reason its contracts are null and void under the North Carolina laws.

N. C. Pine Association in Session at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., March 26.—The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the North Carolina Pine Association, composed of lumber manufacturers in Virginia and in North and South Carolina, began here today with a large attendance. President Horton Corwin, Jr., of Edenton, N. C., touching in his annual address upon the Federal and State Anti-Trust Laws, declared that there were not intended to "repress enterprise or to close the avenue of useful information," but to "suppress monopoly and unlawful combinations in restraint of trade."

Secretary W. B. Roper called attention to the "ever recurring subject of workmen's compensation or employers liability." He declared that a bill on this subject recently before the Virginia Legislature while opposed by the employing interests of the State, "had many good points and could be used as a basis for satisfactory legislation."

WE SHOULD RAISE MORE HAY.

Costs Less to Raise Than to Buy. Sow Peas or Beans to Prepare for Fall Grass.

All up and down the hill country during the winter farmers have been buying timothy hay, shipped in from other sections. There is not as much of this work going on as there was a few years ago, but many a thousand dollars that should be kept at home is yet going from our section. Just as good crops of hay may be grown anywhere in the hill section as can be produced anywhere in America, and by right methods this hay may be produced at a greater net profit than can either cotton or tobacco.

The writer's home section was fifteen years ago a hay-buying section. Today there are more than 3,000 tons of hay produced within a radius of three miles of four homes.

CAN GROW HAY FOR $5; BUY IT FOR $18 A TON.

The actual cost of growing and harvesting this hay, aside from the interest charge on land value, is less than $5 per ton. Only once during the past twelve years has any hay sold in our community for less than $18 per ton. Much of this hay is being produced on ordinary gray tobacco land, land on which it was thought fifteen years ago that hay could not be produced. And yet, while this is not as good hay land naturally as the red or brown soils, it is seldom indeed that less than one ton per acre is harvested, and much more often two tons to two and one-half tons is produced per acre.

On our best hay soils the crop does very well when the grass seed is sown in the fall with fall grain, and the clover sown about the middle of the following February, when the land is honey-combed with frost or dry cracked during dry winters. After the grain crop is harvested the stubble is usually clipped with the mowing machine and left lying on the ground for a mulch—if the land is not the best—while from the best soils a crop of hay is usually harvested during September.

BEGIN PREPARATION THIS SPRING.

The surest way to secure a good stand and crop, however, is to sow the land intended for hay to peas or soy beans early in June, using liberal quantities of acid phosphate to insure a rank growth of the legumes. The legumes are harvested for hay during early September, and the land finely prepared immediately for the seeding of the grass and clover.

This preparation of seedbed should be very thorough, indeed, a very fine and compact soil being ideal for the reception of such very small seeds as timothy, herdgrass and clover.

When this preparation is very thorough there will generally be found plenty of moisture for the sprouting of the grass seeds.

The next move is to hitch to the fertilizer drill and sow from 300 to 400 pounds of acid phosphate per acre, and in the grass seed box have a mixture of six pounds of timothy, four pounds of herdgrass and four to five pounds of sowing clover seed; this amount to be seeded on each acre. The seed should be distributed in front of the drill, that are run only from one and one-half to two inches deep. Should the weather be quite dry when the seeding is done a weeder follows the drill immediately, leveling and firming the top inch of soil.

If there are very poor spots in the fields and a little stable manure is available these are given a light dressing of this soil elixir and there is a very even crop assured. On the poorest soils a spring application of nitrate of soda, at the rate of 75 pounds per acre will pay. This should be sown broadcast when the plants are dry, just as the spring growth is well under way. Its need may be determined by the appearance of the plants. Should they look red and stunted, make the application, and should they look green and indicate strong growth, leave the nitrate off.

WHAT SOME FIELDS HAVE DONE.

With this treatment two to two and one-half tons of first class hay will almost surely be harvested the first season, and usually the crop will stand for three or four years by giving one or two dressings of acid phosphate during that time. A ten acre field in the summer of 1912, in my neighborhood, that had been in hay six years, produced more than two and one-half tons per acre.

A small field on our farm seeded in the fall of 1912 produced more than two tons per acre first eight months from the time the seed went into the ground, and then produced a lot of fall pasture. This piece is now receiving a light dressing of stable manure, and under ordinary conditions of weather will produce $50 worth of hay per acre the coming summer. This crop the past year occupied the land for no longer time than would a crop of cotton or tobacco; required absolutely no cultivation, and the harvesting cost was exactly $1.27 per acre. The hay was sold at $20 per ton in the barn.

There is growing on our place today eighty-five acres of mixed hay that is quite sure to produce 150 tons, and fifty acres is plowed ready for soy beans, a crop that usually produces two tons per acre for us. The 240-acre farm produced one and one-half tons of weedy hay the year before it came into our possession. I have induced more than 200 Piedmont farmers that I have knowledge of to try from one to five acres of hay during the past three years, and none of them expect to buy any more hay. Let us make the number 2,000 this year.—A. L. French, Rockingham County, N. C.

OUR FASHION LETTER

Capes and Cape Effects on the Coats
And Jackets Are Highly Favored.

Flower Muffs in Vogue

New York, March 30.—Following closely upon the heels of the wonderful Paquin exhibition are the spring openings of the large stores. In years gone by this was announced by cards sent to different patrons who came to view models displayed on forms, or at the most upon wax figures. But now people are demanding more, and the stores are rising to the occasion and striving to appeal to their customers in a theatrical display of their gowns on living models, and in a setting befitting the exquisite and gorgeous costumes.

One store had for its recent display a setting in the garden of the Palais Royal, as suggested by a scene in "Les Merveilleuses," a play now being given at the Theatre des Varieties in Paris.

There has probably been no time when there has been greater doubt as to what may be the next turn in Fashion's wheel, and this was shown in the choosing of the gowns exhibited. The Director type mingled freely with the crinoline styles of the early Victorian period; the straight lines of the former style, with its coats short in front and long behind, contrasting forcibly with beffitted skirts needed to stand away from the body, and with one example of the daintiest of chiffon and organdy pantalettes exposed at every movement.

Among the coats and wraps were many capes. They were very full at the back, and sometimes fastened to a loose-fitting sleeveless vest. Taffeta and moire were used for those for evening wear, while broadcloth and duvetyn were used for street and afternoon wraps. A handsome coat of taffeta was shown. It was very full in the back, blousing over an exaggeratedly low waistline, below which hung a plain circular pu-plum. Several jackets had a cape of the same material fastened to the shoulders and hanging to the waist.
One had double circular capes which came just below the shoulders.

A smart tailored suit of tan ladies' cloth had a short jacket with body and sleeves in one. It was short in front; but in the back was cut with a panel rounding at the bottom, which extended well below the waist. A Japanese collar and cuffs trimmed the waist of checked tan, green and yellow cloth. The skirt had two pleated ruffles of the checked goods about eight inches wide, each headed with a bias band of the tan. A crushed girdle of the checked material ended in long ends, which were attached in the back below the line of the lower ruffle.

Among the jackets the kimono cut was the most prominent, by far exceeding the raglan or set-in sleeves.
This certainly should please the woman who makes her own clothes. A tan jacket, made in this manner was very short in front and longer in the back. A circular piece was attached just below the bustline, about three inches wide, fitting plainly in front and graduating to eight inches in the back, where it was very full and ripply. The skirt had a tunic which bloused over in the back.

Tunics and panniers were on all skirts except the ruffled crinoline ones. They were plain, draped and puffed, short and long, until it is safe to say that the length may be governed by the most becoming line to the figure. Some reached across the front only; others crossed the back, while still another mode had gathered pieces at either side not meeting in front or back.

Striped skirts are worn with plain jackets. A black and white striped taffeta skirt was scalloped on the bottom and bound with ribbon. The coatee worn with it was of black taffeta.

McCALL

Indian Trimming Aids This Frock of Deep Red Ladies' Cloth to be Especially Smart.

Beaded bands are being used for trimmings; sometimes in brilliants, and again in Indian designs, with rich, crude colors. The gown I have chosen for my illustration is especially suited to the spring season. It is of deep red, one of the fashionable colors this spring. The waist is kimono cut, with extra fullness added by two tucks caught under a band of Indian beading, whose colors blend richly with the red of the gown, and fastened on either side of the belt. A frill of finely pleated net finishes the neck. The skirt is made with an inverted pleat in the front and double tunics, both longer in the front than in the back. With this was worn a hat of milan braid, with a novelty feather standing stiffly on one side.
The style of this hat depends upon its being placed upon the head at the proper angle.

A dainty little frock of delicately

Henderson Fire Burns 35 Horses.
Henderson, March 29.—Thirty-five horses belonging to the Parham Supply Company were roasted to death tonight in a fire that destroyed the company's stable and all contents.

The fire was discovered about 9:30 o'clock and the firemen worked hard to save something. The stables filled with five car loads of hay furnished an exceedingly inflammable material and the horses were burned before the firemen could give any help. The excitement was intense for a time.
The company's stables were in the heart of the city and it looked as if the firemen would have trouble holding the blaze within the walls of the burned building.

The Parham Company ran its business between the walls of two other big firms and the substantial material prevented a spread. One small frame house was almost destroyed, but the damage was not great. No cause is assigned for the fire. It damaged but little of the adjoining property.

President to Inquire Into Miss Tyler's Case.

Washington, March 30.—President Wilson today promised to inquire personally into the case of Miss Mattie Tyler, granddaughter of President Tyler, who appealed to him to continue her as postmistress at Courtland, Va.
Postmaster General Burleson recently appointed B. A. Williams, who has his commission but has not taken charge.

Miss Tyler charged that a "clique of Virginia politicians" had displaced her and that if civil service were to be applied Miss Sadie Cole, her assistant, who, she said, headed the list on examinations, should be appointed.

The President promised to do what he could. Miss Tyler was confident, as she left the White House, that she would not be displaced.

The Postmaster General acted on the recommendation of Representative Holland. Once, in the Roosevelt administration, a successor to Miss Tyler had been appointed, but Mr.
Roosevelt intervened, continuing her in office.

thanks to our many neighbors and

Associated Press Wire Chief is Dead.

Washington, March 29.—Ernest W.
Emery, chief of wire traffic in the Washington bureau of the Associated Press, died suddenly here today of heart failure. He had been in weak health in recent years and was subject to heart attack.

Besides being one of the early press operators in this country, Mr. Emery was one of the oldest employees of the Associated Press and was widely known in telegraph and newspaper circles. He began telegraphy when he was 12 years old and was one of the first operators to man a leased wire for the transmission of news.
He was an expert telegrapher, and was selected by the Associated Press to send the news of first importance at many national political conventions. At one time he was day manager of the editorial staff of the Washington bureau and he was a past exalted ruler of the local lodge of Elks.

American Husband's Best, Says the Countess.

Washington, March 28.—American husbands are the best in the world, in the opinion of Countess Erdody, a charming Austrian, who is a visitor at the Austrian Embassy. These are the points the Countess brings out for the American husband:

He is a thoughtful person. He tries to make his wife happy. He sacrifices his own comfort. He takes responsibility on his own shoulders. He makes his wife a chum.

Countess Erdody, when she was in the city, was the guest of Mrs. J. B. Jones at the Rauhut Building. She was seen at the Rauhut Building on Friday, March 28, at 10 o'clock.

There was once a pretty chicken,
 But his friends were very few,
 For he thought that there was nothing
 In the world but what he knew.
 So he always in the farm-yard
 Had a very forward way,
 Telling all the hens and turkeys
 What they ought to do and say.
 "Mrs. Goose," he said, I wonder That your goslings you should let Go out paddling in the water;
 It will kill them to get wet."

"And I wish my old Aunt Dorking,"
 He began to her one day
 "That you wouldn't sit all summer
 In your nest upon the hay;
 Won't you come out to the meadow
 Where the grass with seeds is filled?"

"If I should," said Mrs. Dorking
 "Then my eggs would all get chilled."

"No they won't," replied the chicken;
 "And no matter if they do,
 Eggs are really good for nothing;
 What's an egg to me or you?"

"What's an egg?" said Mrs. Dorking;
 "Can it be you do not know
 You, yourself, were in an egg shell
 Just one little year ago?
 And if kind wings had not warmed
 you
 You would not be out to-day,
 Telling hens and geese and turkeys
 What they ought to do and say!
 To be very wise and show it,
 Is a pleasant thing, no doubt,
 But when young folks talk to old folks
 They should know what they're about."

Sweethearts Three.
 Sweethearts come and sweethearts go,
 According to the weather,
 But three there be as true as steel
 And loyal altogether.
 I fell in love, the first I loved—
 In fact we loved each other,
 In holiest of sacred ties—
 My own dear gentle mother.

Sweethearts come and sweethearts go,
 According to the season,
 But I know one who changes not,
 Who loves beyond all reason.
 When first I saw her face, I found (And only love discovers),
 The sweetest wife that ever lived,
 And she and I are lovers.

Sweethearts come and sweethearts go,
 According to the notion,
 But one there is whose little heart
 Is deeper than the ocean.
 And o'er her little golden head
 God's angels surely hover,
 The truest sweetheart in the world,
 My own wee baby-lover.

There's a place in my heart for my old true love,
 For the mother who first loved me,
 And a throne of pure white for my heart's delight,
 For the Queen of my life is she,
 And a wee little niche for the rosy-cheeked witch
 Who is dearer than life can be;
 I'm in love, I'm in love, and ever shall be,
 And I'm happy, so happy with sweethearts three.
 —Charles Irvin Junkin.

A Supposition.
 Suppose—sup-p-o-s-e
 Well, just suppose
 Some day my mother'd say:
 "You needn't go to school my dear,
 Just stay at home and play.
 And here's a box of choc'late creams."
 (Or something quite as good)
 "Eat all you want!"—Oh just suppose, Suppose my mother should.
 —E. L. Sylvester.

Going for the Doctor.
 Wait a bit, my little miss,
 What makes you walk so fast?
 You've got the day before you;
 The sky is not o'ercast.

I'm going to the doctor, sir,
 For my doll is very ill;
 She's got an awful fever, sir,
 I guess she took a chill.

"Put a bandage round her head,
 And mustard to her feet;
 Give her cambric tea to drink
 And not anything to eat."

"I tried all that two hours ago,
 The fever didn't abate;
 I lay all the trouble, sir,
 To pudding, which she ate."

"What if the doctor isn't in?
 Or doesn't care to come?
 Or charges—as he often does—
 A most outrageous sum?"

"If he isn't in, I'll wait;
 What if his charge be high?
 Do you think, because of that,
 I'd let my dollie die?"

 Washington, March 30.—Geo. W. Hill, of many years a prominent official of the Agricultural Department, died today after a protracted illness at Franklin, Va. When the secretary of agriculture first became a member of the cabinet, Mr. Hill organized the editorial branch and developed the plan of widespread circulation of agricultural literature to farmers and the press. His knowledge of department affairs led Mr. Roosevelt, when civil service commissioner, to urge Mr. Hill's selection for that board. He was born in England, educated at Paris and Montreal and was formerly on the editorial staff of the Montre-

Schooner and Six Sailors Go Down.
 Washington, March 26.—Loss at sea of the American schooner Hattie P. Simpson, of Boston, with her captain and five other members of the crew, was reported to the Navy Department tonight in a relayed wireless message from the steamship Caracas, which has on board four survivors of the schooner.

The dispatch said the Simpson sank Saturday morning, March 21, but gave no details. It came from the Caracas, presumably the American steamer of that name bound from San Juan, Porto Rico, and was picked up by the battleship Kansas at target practice off the Virginia Capes. Captain Fletcher, of the Kansas, relayed them message to Rear Admiral Badger, of the Michigan in Hampton Roads, who in turn sent it to the Department.

The message reads: "Just received from Kansas, now well off shore from Cape Henry for direct firing:

"Received from Caracas—F. H. H. sham, second mate; John Turner, seaman; John Maria, engineer; Charles Brown, seaman; of schooner Hattie P. Simpson, of Boston, Philadelphia, for Galveston, March 10, abandoned and sunk morning 21. All remainder of crew, captain, first mate, steward and three seamen lost."

Naval officers were at loss to explain the loss of the schooner, as they had heard of no heavy weather along the coast during the latter part of last week.

New York, Mar. 26.—The schooner Hattie P. Simpson, a 1,265-ton vessel, was built at Waldoboro, Maine, in 1891, and was owned by A. R. Reed, of Boston, which was the home port of the schooner. The shipping records show her as having sailed from Philadelphia March 10 for Galveston in command of Captain Strong.

According to wireless messages received here from the Caracas, Captain Strong, of the Simpson, and five men of a total crew of 10, were drowned.

The schooner was loaded with anthracite coal and went down so quickly, it appears, that Captain Strong and those lost with him did not have time to make the yawl, which was hauled up to the davits astern.

The position where the yawl was overhauled by the Caracas was latitude 36.42 and longitude 72.25. No information as to the cause of the schooner's loss was contained in the message received here up to midnight.

Buy Cotton From Uncle Sam.
 Washington, D. C., March 26.—British East Africa bought $674,891 worth of unbleached cotton goods from the United States in 1913, the Department of Commerce announced today. All told, in 1913, British East Africa bought $1,208,777 worth of unbleached cotton and the share which came from the United States was considered gratifying to Department officials in view of many trade obstacles.

Four Battleships Return to Hampton Roads.

Norfolk, Va., Mar. 26.—The battleships Wyoming, Rhode Island, Virginia and Nebraska returned today to Hampton Roads from the Southern drill grounds off the Virginia capes following target practice. The trophy is declared to lie between the Rhode Island and Wyoming with the Utah still on the drill grounds. The latter is expected here tomorrow.

Debate on April 13.
 Macon, Ga., March 26.—Debating teams of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, and Wake Forest University, Wake Forest, N. C., will meet here for their annual debate on April 13, at the same time that the debating teams of Mercer University, Macon, Ga., and Furman University, Greenville, S. C., hold their yearly contest. Announcement that Baylor and Wake Forest had selected Macon as neutral ground was made here tonight.

Both Are Suffering.
 Washington, March 26.—Not only the planter, but the manufacturer is suffering from the present methods of doing business on the New York Cotton Exchange, declared Senator Smith, of South Carolina, today urging the passage of his cotton grading bill. He said the custom of the exchange making a fixed difference between grades, irrespective of the commercial difference, was the main evil of its operation.

Murder and Suicide.
 New Orleans, L. A., March 26.—The bodies of a woman and a man, identified as Mamie Dodd and R. D. Sanchez, today were found in a secluded portion of the city park here. The man had been shot in the mouth and the woman in the left temple. A pistol was found nearby and the police believe it a case of murder and suicide.

Discourage Duelling.
 Berlin, Mar. 26.—The imperial parliament today unanimously passed a bill providing that where a duel or challenge has been provoked by dishonorable conduct, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment in a penitentiary instead of a fortress. This is the first occasion on which all the parties have been united on a measure to discourage duelling.

Many Hurt in Collision.
 Fort Smith, Ark., March 26.—Between 25 and 30 persons were hurt, none fatally, in a collision between two Frisco passenger trains west of here today. Physicians were sent from here.

NEW TEXTILE BUILDING BY AUGUST 1.

Board of Trustees of the A. & M. College Let Contract for Rebuilding Burned Structure.

Raleigh, March 26.—The executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the A. & M. College, in session here this afternoon, let a contract to S. S. Toller, of Rocky Mount, for rebuilding the Textile Building burned Wednesday morning and having it ready for equipment by August 1st. The work is to be done on a percentage basis under the direction of President D. H. Hill and Prof. H. E. Satterfield.

The remains of the former building are to be used as far as possible in the reconstruction, although there may be changes in the plans and also enlargement. A call is made on the manufacturers of textile machinery in all parts of the country to contribute machinery for the equipment, as was done in the original opening of the building.

The executive committee also approved a plan for a Summer School of instruction for the rural schools of the State to be in progress June 3 to July 1, this to include all teachers in the rural high schools who are engaged in teaching agriculture and nature study. A four-year course in this Summer School will entitle the holders of certificates to teach in the schools without re-examination. There are 313 teachers of this class in the State and a large per cent. of them are expected to attend this Summer School.

Here for the meeting of the executive committee were W. H. Ragan, chairman; O. L. Clark, Bladen; R. H. Ricks, Edgecombe, and N. E. Broughton, Raleigh, with President D. H. Hill of the college.

The executive committee of the State Board of Agriculture arranged today for the farm demonstration workers from the United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with the State Department under C. R. Hudson, to have their offices in the present building of the State Department of Agriculture, also for offices for the workers of the Government co-operating in the Animal Husbandry Division under Mr. Gray to have offices in the agricultural building at the A. & M. College.

This adjusts a serious condition that was about to cause the State to lose the Government forces in these divisions of work, on account of inability to provide office quarters.

Then, there may be another reason why Woodrow Wilson resists the temptation to disguise himself; Mephistopheles may be able to appear as an angel of light, but we doubt that the President is.—Greensboro News.

TANGO AS FACTOR IN RELIGIOUS LIFE

How Many Souls Are Saved by It? Demands Bishop John C. Kilgo.

In the face of more than two score conversions at what was expected to be the last service at Trinity Church in the city-wide Methodist revival, and appealed to in the midst of a stirring after service by ministers and laymen, Bishop John C. Kilgo before the close of the meeting agreed to remain over for another week. The inquiry meeting last night was the most largely attended of the revival and the altar was repeatedly filled with penitents. Mr. D. Ward Miliam, who has so capably and successfully directed the music, will also remain. There will be no services today, which will be observed at a later day.

Because of the decision of the bishop to remain over for next week, Mr. Durham announced at the close of the service that instead of the union service that had been planned at Tryon Street Church Sunday night the revival service will be conducted at Trinity at the usual hour and Tryon Street Church will unite with Trinity.

Preaching with fervency to a large audience at Trinity Methodist Church last night, Bishop Kilgo declared that the title of Son of God was no more honorary bestowal on Jesus Christ, but in a fact which grew out of the fundamental nature of the God-consciousness. The bishop riddled in a heresy the widespread belief in latter days that all men are sons of God by birth and nature. He quoted passages of Scripture proving that this proud estate comes to a man only through the specific bestowal of Jesus Christ, after one has believed on Him and has renounced the world.

In his opening remarks Bishop Kilgo expressed his deep gratification and personal appreciation of the fine spirit that had prevailed throughout the meeting, and for the effective work done by ministers and laymen alike. He mentioned too, in this connection the press of the city as an agency by means of which, "I have spoken to more people probably in the past three weeks than ever before in my life in a similar period." "I have always been told that for some reason or other I was an extremely difficult man to report," he said, "but the accounts in The Observer from day to day have been better outlines, I suspect, than I could have made myself, if I had been making outlines.

The bishop urged his hearers to remember that the Church is God's Church; it was not made by man; that it is the body of the Master; the only agency that operates in it is the Spirit of God, and if the presence of the Spirit is desired, it must be kept a clean Church.

In his concluding remarks Bishop Kilgo said he had attended a total of a hundred meetings and the sum total of his talks were divided by 25 minutes—the average sermon length—he has preached not less than 150 sermons, or more than a year's work in three weeks.

The text was composed of the 11th, 12th and 13th verses of the first chapter of St. John's Gospel:

"He came unto His own, and his own received Him not.

"But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name.

"Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God."

AN ETERNAL BASIS.

"This doctrine of Christ's Sonship of God and with God is a doctrine resting on an eternal relationship of reality in the Godhead," said the bishop. "Jesus is not the Son of God by virtue of a mere turn of speech. It is not a mere title which it was accounted worth while to bestow on Him. Neither is it a figure of speech under which we group the high order of His character, and the splendid record of His life, and the other unique qualities which He has manifested among us. On the contrary, He is in the fullest, the most real and the most essential sense the Son of God. It is no matter whether you or I understand how this came about. The truth of the business is that when we get down to the center of any subject our human comprehension fails. We cannot fathom the mysteries of the Godhead. We cannot understand the great activities that have gone on in the infinite circle of the God-consciousness. But we know that the first activity was a generation, and the generative activity of God is represented in His eternal Son, and therefore He is always revealed to men as the only begotten Son of God.

"This relationship in its special sense can never be shared or divided. It must always remain peculiar to Him. You will notice that Christ speaks of Him as 'My Father,' and yet teaches us to say, 'Our Father, which art in Heaven.' I must identify myself with all the sons of God.

By the very language I am permitted to employ I am compelled to recognize a common unity in which I am just an individual and my rights are those of all the other individuals. But Christ is equal with God by virtue of the processes of His being. Whatever is born of any order is always equal to that order. That is the only law of co-equality in the universe. We can create only things that are inferior to the creator but that which is born in equal to that which gives it life. So Jesus Christ, being born of God, is God, co-equal with the Father, partaker of the whole constitution of the Father's character, and He takes in all the rights, all the prerogatives, all the powers that belong inherently to God.

THROUGH SONSHIP.

"This fact becomes the basis of all God's redemptive movements. He moves on the world not in fatherhood but through sonship and through the filial consciousness. I wish some of the gentlemen who are trying to explain God out of astronomy, and botany and biology, would learn that you cannot understand God by your intellect. There is but one type of consciousness, there is but one set of faculties that can apprehend God and come into fellowship with Him, and that is the filial consciousness. It is through this that mercy finds its way into the lives of men.

"There is a popular conception that men are by nature sons of God. There is not a word in the Scripture to justify such a belief. It is utterly and absolutely untrue. Men are not sons of God by nature, they attain that relationship through Him alone."

The bishop said that the fact that some people quote the parable of the prodigal son to justify this view is an illustration of the carelessness of some people in interpreting the Scriptures. They violate two fundamental rules of Scriptural interpretation. In the first place you have no right to put a mere inference in place of positive and unmistakable statements. Secondly, you have no right to interpret a parable from any viewpoint except that of the special purpose of the parable, otherwise you could evolve a nonsensical hodgepodge from any of them by attempting to read an allegorical meaning into every word and phrase. This parable was never intended to set forth any doctrine with relation to God. The whole idea is the pardoning mercy of God for the lost and the justification of Christ for the lost who need a Savior.

"But you have placed this construction on it and you have done immeasurable harm. The result is to humiliate and almost to insult Deity. There is such a tendency today to exalt humanity that we defy it by debasing God."

Asserting the incongruity of the idea that the worthless gambler, the abandoned woman in her life of shame, the drunkard, are sons and daughters of God, the bishop quoted, "As many as are led of the Spirit of God are the sons of God" and again that "Ye are the children of God by faith in Jesus Christ," and "That which is born of the flesh is flesh but that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

GIVES JOY TO ETHICS.

Man's sonship of God by virtue of the new birth is the basis of all the Christian life and of all Christian ethics—the highest and finest system in the world. Christ laid out a tremendous scale of life and then lived it with a courage and distinction which an archangel could not approach. He gave the concluding injunction, "Be ye perfect as your Father in heaven is perfect." The Christian life is impossible if one seeks it in his own strength and the sooner he finds it out the better.

"If our Gospel were a Gospel of ideals only, it would be a Gospel of torture. If Jesus Christ had nothing to do except to lay out this scale of life and then go away and leave us, instead of being the Savior of the world He is the disappointed of the world—He is the source of the world's despair. He is the world's destroyer. But there enters the fact of the conscious sonship of God and that back of us are all resources of God and with us is the inner sense of fellowship. Therefore we have the distinctive fact Christianity is the only system of ethics in the world that has ever been faced with any sense of joyous allegiance. Where is the secret? The secret is that we serve God as sons of God and not as slaves of God, and there's all the difference in the world!

WRONG VIEWPOINT.

"Every now and then I meet somebody who says to me, 'Do you really think it is any harm to go to the theater or to play a little game of cards, or to have a nice parlor dance in your own home? Do you really think it is any harm to Tango?' (Laughter) Well, thank God I have not thought on that low plane since my mother took knickerbockers off me. Every now and then I meet a young Miss who has more impertinence than brains, who says, 'I don't believe there is any harm in dancing. I don't approve of any such narrowness as that. Well, to tell you the truth, I don't believe it will harm you, young woman. The crowd I see Tangoing, I don't believe that the tango or anything else will hurt them very much, but I will say that when they die I don't think the intellectual life of the community will suffer any great loss or the moral wealth of the city will take a slump. I am not in this world trying to see how little harm I can do I demand of you, 'What good is there in these things?' How many souls are saved by your tangoes or your bridge parties, how much spiritual inspiration do you derive from them, how many widows are comforted by them? 'Oh, but,' you say, 'every now and then we have a charity ball.' Yes, and I'll tell you that every dollar you give to that kind of thing is tainted, yes and worse than tainted. I demand of you, 'What good is accomplished by your bridge parties? How many missionaries are sent abroad as a result of them, to what degree do they stimulate your interest in Bible study? How much good is there in it? Jesus Christ was not here to build a great regaining consciousness as they were being borne away in litters, cursed they would be rescuers and joined the scattered procession following in the train of the general.

"Viva Villa! Viva Madero! Viva El Constitution!" they cried.

ENDURANCE REMARKABLE.

The remarkable endurance of these peons and their mad obsession to return to the front greatly impressed the Americans in the train of Gen. Villa. There were men with deep gashes across their cheeks, men with great masses of flesh torn from their backs or sides, in uniforms literally soaked in blood; with arms and legs torn and lacerated and blood matted hair pasted over their eyes.

WOUNDED RECEIVE ASSISTANCE.

The wounded in the outskirts of the city were the first to receive assistance, but the small hospital corps, although working heroically, was totally inadequate. The dead who fell early in the assaults, or had been slain by the Federal shells, were buried first.

At every water car station there were groups of wounded. In plain sight of the dying the bodies of the dead were dragged into shallow trenches. It will be necessary to incinerate many of the bodies piled in the streets, as decomposition sets in rapidly here and the business of fighting requires every available man. General Villa is anxious that the dead shall be disposed of immediately to avoid pestilence.

MANY OFFICERS KILLED.

In the course of the battle there were instances of detachments, all of whose officers had been lost, running wildly about calling for new officers to lead them, or joining other commands. Other detachments in the excitement of the fight failed to hear, or deliberately disregarded orders to fall back, or seek shelter. They dashed unheeding into barber wire entanglements or the enemy's intrenchments and were mowed down in heaps by Federal rapid fire guns. An unusual incident of yesterday's battle was the meeting of two armored trains at long range. They exchanged shots like two warships, but with little damage, and the Federal train retired around a curve. Gomez lacio is a railroad town and is a network of tracks.

VILLA PRAISES FEDERALS.

General Villa today said that his hat was off to General Velasco for his defense of the town. The conduct of the Federals was a credit to them as soldiers, General Villa said, and General Velasco had proved himself a man of resources as well as of courage.

Three of Velasco's generals, it was reported, gave their lives in defense of the town—Generals Pena, Reyna and Anaya. It was reported also that General Ocaranza was seriously injured.

How Better Methods of Buying and Selling Help.

I have been farming all my life, and am now 40 years old, and I have just awakened to the necessity of selling my produce, and of buying household and farm supplies more economically.

During all these years I have been shipping my surplus produce to commission men in the cities or taking it in to the nearby markets and dumping it off on the retail men, at any price they offered. While I would be unloading, I noticed the middlemen would be selling the product just bought of me at almost double the amount I received for it, so I decided it would pay me to sell to the consumer. By spending from three to five hours more in driving through the city I find I increase the amount of cash taken in from each load from $4 to $6. I find this plan has another bright side to it. I can market off perishable fruits and vegetables that the middleman could not handle because he would be overstocked. For instance, last summer there was an extra crop of peaches in this section. I had no trouble in selling mine to the consumer for 15 cents per peck. I know I can realize from 25 to 100 per cent. more for my produce by this method than I have been doing heretofore. It is the same with hogs and chickens. Sell to the consumer every time possible.

There is a saving of from 10 to 20 per cent. by buying groceries in bulk, which I do as far as practical. We can also save 20 per cent. on farm supplies by paying cash, and not buying on credit to be paid for in the fall, as most farmers do.—C. G. Tunstall, in Progressive Farmer.

The preaching service was followed by an after service which was attended by hundreds and which was marked by numerous conversions. Bishop Kilgo estimated that 500 had been converted and reclaimed during the revival.

Will Give Roosevelt Pistol With Which He Was Shot.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—The revolver with which John Schrank attempted to kill Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee, in October, 1912, will be presented to Mr. Roosevelt together with five cartridges which remained in the weapon when it was seized.

E. E. Minter, who claims to have wrested the revolver from Schrank, today asked Judge A. C. Backus, before whom Schrank was tried, for the weapon.

Judge Backus granted the request after obtaining a promise from Minter that he would hand the weapon and cartridges to Mr. Roosevelt when he returned from his South American trip.

Rains This Week Will Be General.

Washington, March 29.—Unsettled weather this week with frequent rains over nearly all parts of the country was predicted by the Weather Bureau tonight.

"The temperatures during the next several days," says the bulletin, "will be several days," says the bulletin, "will be several days." A disturbance central Sunday morning over the Southern plains States will move slowly northeastward and be attended by general rains the first part of the week in the Mississippi Valley, and the districts east thereof.

"Another disturbance will cross the great Central Valleys Tuesday or Wednesday or the Eastern States on Thursday or Friday; this disturbance will be attended by rains and will be followed by a change to considerably colder weather in Northern and Central States."

Paper Drinking Cups Aid Canteloupe Crop.

San Francisco, March 28.—Paper drinking cups have their uses after all. The discovery by a farmer that such cups placed over young canteloupe plants furnished admirable protection from severe weather is said to be largely responsible for the bumper crop the Imperial Valley expects to produce this season.

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 30.

To make the public believe that a band of bootleg gamblers has been unearthed. He is either purposely mixing the facts, or simply does not care. I am charitable enough to believe that he has been highbrowed and under the excitement mixed up his reports. He says in his first report that Ralph Andrews, a pharmacy student, was one of the parties. In his second report he says that Ralph Andrews was one of the assaulting party, when Ralph Andrews was out of town, and did not even see him on Sunday. Now, the facts are: R. Homer Andrews is the pharmacy student and was not in the affair in any form, until the report was read here, and knowing that it would injure him, as people knowing he was a pharmacy student, would think he was the man. He did ask Mr. Winters to correct the same in the Monday edition, which he refused to do. But there is positive evidence that he did not attempt to assault him. As the father of both boys, R. Homer and Ralph Andrews, I claim that a great injustice has been done Homer Andrews, as well as the other students, in seeking to convey the idea that they were really crap gamblers, when the true facts are that in a student's room on the night of March 21, a game of crap was played, and Ralph Andrews, and I am informed other young students were persuaded to engage in the game, but were not in the game on Sunday as alleged. Ralph says, and it is so far undisputed, that it was his first game, and shall be his last; so he is not the notorious professional your correspondent would have you believe. The University authorities carefully examined into the facts, and did not expel either of the boys, but did suspend all of them for the remainder of this term, and they go back in September, but not to play crap. I feel that the public know how excited a crowd of 800 students will become over such affairs, and how such things get mixed up, and I ask my friends in North Carolina and elsewhere who have read the two reports to be charitable enough to give the unfortunate boys justice in public opinion, inasmuch as the reporter says in his first report that one of the principals was a pharmacy student when he was a freshman in the A. B. course, and in his second report foams at the mouth about an assault being made on him by Freshman Ralph Andrews, who was not in Chapel Hill, and who did not even see him during the day. I do not seek to clear or shield my son of any fault he may be guilty of, but I do resent any such reports, which goes broadcast over the land, calculated to injure an innocent son, who will graduate in pharmacy in June, who knew nothing about the affair. And I have a perfect contempt for the reporter or editor who colors or seeks to cast unjust reflection on any man or woman just to satisfy the clamor in this fast age for slush, sensational news.

Respectfully,
S. W. ANDREWS,
Ex-Sheriff Orange County.
Please publish in full.
Chapel Hill, N. C., March 30.

[The News and Observer has received undisputed information that gambling by many has been going on at the State University during the winter months, and it unreservedly condemns this, calling upon the authorities of the University and the officials of Chapel Hill to use every effort to have punishment inflicted upon those guilty. It is a disgrace to the University, to Chapel Hill and to the State of North Carolina that such conduct goes on in the University for which the people are taxed, and that it is aided and abetted by citizens of Chapel Hill. It ought to be stamped out, the parties responsible for the gambling should be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

As to any error in names as to which of the Andrews is implicated in the gambling case or connected with the assault upon Mr. Winters we believe he will make any correction which will set the matter straight. Any error as to name is regretted by the paper, but it contains no reservation these reports in the gambling case, and in the threatening attitude toward its correction. North Carolina, it may as well be clearly understood, will not submit to either gambling or thuggery at the State University.—Editor.]

Since the above was written a telegram has been received from Mr. S. R. Winters, in which he corrects his statement that Ralph Andrews was a pharmacy student, and pays a high tribute to Homer Andrews. His telegram received last night reads:

Chapel Hill, March 30.—In the original list of names published of students gambling it was stated that Ralph Andrews was a pharmacy student, when as a matter of fact, he is a member of the freshman class. This correction is made to avoid any confusion of connecting his brother, Homer Andrews, who is a pharmacy student. Homer is a splendid type of young man and to avoid any confusion of the two, this correction is due him.

Altamahaw Route 1 Items.

We have been having some real Spring days for several days. Hope that we may continue to have them. The farmers are behind with their work on account of the rough weather continuing so long.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gwynn and daughter, Bertha, visited Mrs. Gwynn's father, Sunday, J. W. Faucette.

There was no preaching at Shiloh Sunday. There were several there but the preacher was absent. Guess he thought it to rainy.

Mr. W. R. Lewis, who has been right sick with pneumonia, is much improved, we are glad to note.

Miss Lora Walker, who taught at Oakwood School this winter, has taken one of Altamahaw's teacher's place at Altamahaw school.

Those who had the pleasure of visiting Uncle Buck Faucette Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Walker and three boys, Bessie and Louie Smith, Joe Matkins, J. R. Smith and Kathleen Faucette. Call again friends.

Miss Kathleen spent Sunday with Miss Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Faucette went to Burlington today to visit Mrs. Faucette's people.

We have not seen Zannie Matkins for some time—guess he is afraid he will see his shadow and it will be bad weather.

Katie Faucette spent Saturday night with her sister, Mrs. Lofton Saunders.

John Faucette, Jr., will start to building his house in a few days. Think there is business ahead as he goes to Durham occasionally.

Simpson School closed Friday night with a debate. The speakers were Messrs. Roy and Henry Simpson, Lofton Lambeth, Arthur Smith, Vance Swift and Broughton Underwood. There was a good crowd present.

Miss Annie Matkins was a pleasant caller at Miss Annie Ross's Sunday.

We are sorry to hear of the death of our friend, Mr. Richard Williams, of Stokes County. We knew him well. He lived near us about a year. He worked at a saw mill in this neighborhood two or three years ago. We extend our sympathy to the family.

Captain Faucette, we are glad to say, is able to be out at this writing.

We will let you hear from us again next week.

Boil an Egg on Ice? 'Tis a Simple Thing.

Cambridge, Mass., Mar. 26.—Can you boil an egg on a cake of ice—

Certainly. All you need to know is how to manipulate ultra violet rays of proper angstrom unite on the egg. Be sure and have your violet rays ultra, though.

Dr. W. L. Bowie did it today at the laboratory of the Harvard Center commission. He exposed a regular egg and a chunk of ice to waves of a length of about 2,750 angstrom units. After a time the egg was hard boiled sure enough, and the ice was not melted.
