

Tells How He Found the Tomb of a Pharaoh

London, April 18.—Professor Mariette's recent announcement of the discovery of the tomb of an Egyptian Pharaoh, the Osireion, at Abydos, and the fact that it is a complete and perfect copy of the tomb of Seti I., has caused a great excitement throughout the world.

The length of the inside is 30 meters and the width 20. The enclosed space is divided into three levels parallel of the long side. The middle level made by huge pillars of granite, supported by a block of granite measuring nearly 15 feet in length. The walls are made of granite blocks, which cannot be cut by any tool.

The discovery of the tomb of Seti I. was made by the French explorer, Mariette, in 1850. It was a complete and perfect copy of the tomb of Seti I., and was found in a chamber which was completely sealed.

For Weakness and Loss of Appetite
The Old Standard general strengthening tonic, GAY'S TARTARIC CHALK TONIC, drives out malaria and builds up the system. True tonic. A sure Anker-lyer. For adults and children, 50c.

The Undiscovered Country.
Could we bust know
The land that ends our dark uncertain
travel,
Where lie those happier hills and
meadows low,
Ah, if beyond the spirit's inmost ce-
vil,
Aught of that country could we
surely know,
Who would not go?
Might we but hear
The hovering angels, high imagined
chorus,
Or catch, betimes, with wakeful eye
and clear
One radiant vista of the realm before us,
With one rapt moment given to see
and hear,
Ah, who would fear?
Were we quite sure
To find there some peerless friend
who left us lonely,
Or there, by some celestial stream
as pure,
To gaze in eyes that here were love-
lit only,
This weary mortal coil, were we
quite sure,
Who would endure?
—Edmund Clarence Stedman.

You Can't Sell Goods if You Are Sore at the Boss.
You and the boss must be on good terms. One of the foolish things that some firms tolerate is strained relations between themselves and their men. It's early always the fault of the men themselves. You get sore about some petty thing, and to use the words of the Chicago domine, it becomes a "hurricane in a demitasse."
Without harmony you can't have your heart in your work. To be sore is to be inharmonious, and the manly thing to do is to clean it up.
No employer can help but respect a man that goes into his office and says, "If I'm going to work for you I'm going to put heart interest into that work, but until this discouragement of mine is cleared, I'll be a half failure."
"That's the way to do it. That's the way fellows have fixed it up with me, and I with them, when one or the other was down in the mouth.—Southern Merchant.

The Perfect Prayer.
Dear Lord, kind Lord,
Gracious Lord, I pray
Thou wilt look on all I love,
Tenderly to-day!
Weed their hearts of weariness;
Scatter even care
Down a wake of angels' wings
Winnowing the air.
Bring unto the sorrowing
All release from pain;
Let the lips of laughter
Overflow again;
And with all the needy
O, divide, I pray,
This vast treasure of content
That is mine to-day!
—J. W. Riley.

Roman Catholic Nurses for the State Sanatorium?

"Will it become necessary for the nursing at the State Sanatorium to be done by Catholic Sisters? Is the query introductory of a statement which Superintendent McWayner, of that institution, sends us for publication."
 The nursing at the State Sanatorium is of course a very important department of the work. The institution is now on a self working basis, and the management expects to accomplish great results, and the department of nursing must be kept on a par with the other work, says Dr. McWayner.
 The management at all times has endeavored to employ nursing women capable and of the best of the profession, and part of the time found it necessary to pay out for nursing in order to procure nurses at all times. It is not to be understood by what is said here that the management is planning to employ Catholic Sisters, or that it is in any way contemplating the employment of Sisters in the future.

Her Garter Slipped! New Who Did This?

Lockport, Ill., April 18.—Garter, who unbuttoned the garter? The Rev. Charles H. Eyles, pastor of the Congregational Church didn't. The board of trustees of the church say so.
 Miss Lucile, of the church, who unbuttoned the garter, says her moodings while the owner was wearing it in a similar party. At the time she was sitting near the Rev. Mr. Eyles. The minister is 70, she is 17. A statement to the University of Chicago.
 The incident has spread like wildfire, and the congregation of the church has been divided into two camps. One says that the minister should have checked the minister's garter, and the other says that the minister should have checked the minister's garter.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

The Country Life Club of this place gave a short entertainment last Thursday evening. The program consisted of Orations, Essays and Dialogues. These special literary programs are always especially enjoyed, and we hope that sometime in the future each member of our Club will with the title of Master Countryman.

The delegates elected from the Philaetha Class to attend the Baraca-Philaetha Convention, which meets in Durham, April 24th, are Misses Flora Wingham and Nettie Murray; from the Baraca Class Messrs. J. O. Corbett and W. R. Freshwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roney spent Saturday in Burlington.

Mrs. Charles Pickard and Master Banks and Mrs. E. G. Guthrie spent Saturday afternoon in Burlington shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holt were "At Home" to a number of their friends Saturday evening at their home in South Alamance. Quite a number attended from this place, and all report a very nice time.

Messrs. James E. and Wilson Williams, W. R. Freshwater and J. A. Wingham visited in Burlington Sunday.

Saw 22 Men Hung.
Mr. W. H. Thomason, of this county, called Tuesday and showed a copy of a sermon delivered at Kinston, N. C., during the Civil War and by a Rev. Mr. Parrish as a funeral discourse over the remains of 22 soldiers hung for desertion. Mr. Thomason saw the executions and with his 21st N. C. Regiment formed in a hollow square, listened to the sermon. The text was taken from the betrayal of Christ by Judas. The execution throughout was a horrible sight and was but one of the many experiences of that period which tried men's souls. Many of the present generation are too young to remember the events of those days and only by reading and from our very old citizens can they learn the facts. Mr. Thomason learned the facts. Mr. Thomason enlisted August 11, 1862, and remained in service until July 1, 1865. He was captured at the last fight, that of High Bridge, at Farmville, Va., and was captured April 9th. The surrender was April 9th. He was held in prison at Newport News until the following June. Mr. Thomason is in his 72nd year and physically appears in most excellent condition.

Voice From Stokes County.
Mr. Editor: I read your item about Mr. H. W. Thomason being the 22 men hung at Kinston during the civil war, for the especial reason that I was also present. I enlisted in the 21st N. C. Regiment Co. G, and went out under the conscript law, Aug. 2, 1862 and was one of the guards when the 22 men were executed. I remember, well, the funeral by Rev. Mr. Parrish and the text that he used. Three of the condemned men were baptized in the Neuse river, at Kinston, on a cold, rainy day, and I never saw men shiver so from cold in all my life. A horrible sight does not express the occasion. Two bands of music played "There is a Happy Land, Far, Far Away," and I do believe those three men saw that Happy Land on that day. Among the 22 was a very large man weighing probably 200 pounds, or more, who cursed till the moment the trap door fell from under him. I was captured on the 19th of September, 1864 and was put in prison at Point Lookout. Was paroled and reached home three days before the surrender. I had only $10 in my pocket for my four years' service and it was worthless. I came home to my wife and four children and found them in the same condition as myself, hungry and without even necessary clothing. I went to work on bread and water and made a little something. I have been allowed no pension and do not think I have been treated right. If I had drunk up what I made or had been idle and shiftless I would have been pensioned. If I should live until July 6th, 1914, I will be 86 years old. I enjoy fairly good health and work every day the weather will permit.

W. H. SMITH.
Germantown, N. C.

A Voice from Alamance County.
Mr. Editor: I read in The Republican the articles of Messrs. Thomason and Smith about the Civil War and it recalls to mind what I saw in the streets of Kinston, N. C., during the war when a lot of U. S. prisoners were brought there that were captured down toward Newbern, N. C., and as they were picking out men that had deserted the Confederate Army and were in the United States Army, one man that was going around and showing men he said that had belonged to the Confederate Army and when he got through he was told that he had also belonged to the Confederate Army and as a result was hung with the other two unfortunates. I went to the Army under the conscript act and was in Dixon's Battery, made up in Orange county and was in Kinston that day on business. I cannot express my feelings when I saw the men being picked out as they were to meet their doom. It was a sad sight and with many others I witnessed what I will never forget. I will be 76 years old the 6th day of next June. Have worked hard and do not get any pension.

Ain't It Fine Today.
Sure this world is full of trouble—
I ain't said it aint.
Lord I've had enough and double
Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me;
Shies were often gray,
Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but, said!
Ain't it fine today?
What's the use of always weepin'
Makin' trouble last?
What's the use of always keepin'
Thinkin' of the past?
Each must have his tribulation.
Water with his wine;
Life, it ain't no celebration.
Trouble? I've had mine—
But today is fine.
It's today that I am livin'
Not a month ago;
Havin' losin', takin', givin'.
As time wills it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow,
Fell across the way;
It may rain again tomorrow,
It may rain—but, say!
Ain't it fine today?
—Douglass Malloch.

The President Has a Free Hand in Mexico.
Our "armed intervention" in Mexico assumed more and more the aspect of war when the seizure of Vera Cruz was completed by our forces under cover of a fire on the city from the American fleet. We have entered upon a contest which must cost us much blood and treasure and may continue many months. For full jus-the rebuke and humiliation of Huerta, it needs a larger object than for failing to order a salute to our flag.

The President may be assured that as Congress has supported him in his efforts to secure respect for the flag at Tampico it will even more zealously support any steps that he shall take to protect all Americans and American interests in Mexico. That protection should be given to all foreign residents as well since we are opposed to foreign powers asserting authority on this continent and are, therefore, in duty bound to relieve them from any necessity for such action. The claims of humanity rise far superior to any question of international etiquette. Since the blood of American citizens must be shed in Mexico let it be for an adequate purpose.

Senator Lodge told the Senate that while the honor of the American flag should be maintained in Mexico he could not forget the more than 150 American citizens innocent and helpless that have been murdered on Mexican soil. Here indeed is an issue infinitely more important than the exact number and method of firing guns in salute. The President has ignored the outrages on American citizens in Mexico thus far, but having taken the extreme step of placing in Mexico armed forces of the United States let us hope that he will now make it his business to see that no further wrong is done to the life and property of any in Mexico that are entitled to the protection of the American Government.

These American interests and rights are in jeopardy even more in the north of Mexico than in the south. The President is given a free hand. He is not limited to the misdeeds of Huerta. Let him protect Americans and foreigners in Mexico from the marauding outrages of Villa, Carranza and Zapata as well as Huerta. This is not an affair of individuals. The rights of those entitled to American protection should be zealously guarded and maintained against each and all of the adventurers and brigands that now divide and distract Mexico and have forced this country into an armed intervention.

The Mexican Situation.
The Senate has very greatly improve the House Resolution justifying the use by the President of the armed forces of the United States in Mexico. Huerta is not the only Mexican leader who has shown contempt for this country and violated the rights of Americans in Mexico. The policy of watchful waiting, enduring all things and doing nothing, has brought upon us a whole series of affronts. The President seems to concern himself exclusively with Huerta's offenses and he asked only for specific authority to deal with him. Congress takes a larger view and sanctions the use of the Army and Navy by the President to secure amends for affronts and indignities committed against the United States.

This gives the President a free hand and at the same time points out to him his duty. The offense at which he takes umbrage is essentially trivial and could not in itself justify warlike demonstrations on the part of this country. The punishment of Huerta as an individual, his banishment from Mexico or even his death would not benefit the people of the United States. Some other leader would soon take his place. It is not for the punishment of Huerta, but to compel respect for the American Government and to secure protection for Americans and their interests in Mexico that the United States forces should be employed. It matters not who the offender is; his offenses should be made to cease forthwith and American life and property in Mexico be relieved from the peril and harassments that now surround them.

It must not be forgotten that Villa and Carranza have shown themselves more vindictive and bloodthirsty and less regardful of the rights of Americans and Europeans in Mexico than Huerta has done. They are in rebellion against the latter and our Government has strengthened their hands by allowing them to obtain from this country all the munitions of war that they require. To destroy Huerta in order to aid these bandits of the North to obtain control in Mexico would be a crime against civilization. It would be like suppressing a surly and annoying house dog to let in the wolves.

We have no call to become partisans in Mexican contests. Our care is to prevent outrages on those whom we are bound to protect and to compel respect for American rights and for the American Government. The President has been given this authority and he should make it known that his mind goes beyond his petty grievances against Huerta and is bent on seeing that no further harm shall come to the lives and property of Americans in Mexico.—Press.

The First Step.
The seizure of Vera Cruz marks the first step in the United States' program of reprisal against Huerta. His refusal to make ample apology for insults to the American flag forced a resort to drastic measures. The Mexican port has been taken, and will be held until the dictator accedes fully and unconditionally to the demands of our Government.

It is certain, that he must now do much more than he was first bidden to do, if the United States forces are to be withdrawn. A salute to the flag will not be considered satisfactory reparation. "It is understood," according to Washington reports, "that a declaration of apology, as well as a salute, and a guarantee that the rights and dignity of the United States shall be respected," is the sole condition on which Huerta can escape continued chastisement. Nothing short of complete abasement on his part will suffice.

That he will come to such terms at this late hour is scarcely possible; nor is it certain that anything he could now say or do would cause a withdrawal of American marines from Vera Cruz. The question of importance, then, is, what will be the next move on the part of our Government?

That depends largely on the course of Huerta himself. If he offers serious resistance, a march upon Mexico City will speedily follow. The future policy of the Constitutionists also must be taken into account. Should they join interests with the dictator, real war would unquestionably begin.

For the time being, however, the situation rests with the investment of Vera Cruz. Our Government has squarely carried out the initial stage of its well-considered plan. Other developments may follow swiftly. Four American marines have given their lives in support of their nation's honor. This country is prepared for whatever the future may demand.—Atlanta Journal.
