

THE TWICE-A-WEEK DISPATCH

A PROGRESSIVE REFORMER CAN NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, ALAMANCE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1914.

THE WAR CLOUDS HANG HEAVY

German Cabinet Holds With Kaiser
at Midnight—Telegraph Censorship Established.

All Europe Seems Involved

London, July 31.—Early this morning comes news that the German cabinet, presided over by the Emperor, sat at Potsdam until midnight and that a censorship over the telegraph lines is being imposed at Berlin.

This is interpreted here as implying preparations for German mobilization and a few hours will probably decide whether Europe is to be involved in universal warfare.

It is fully expected in Berlin that the Russian Foreign Minister, Sergius Sazonoff, will reply to Germany's demand for an explanation to the effect that Russian mobilization has already been ordered and cannot be cancelled.

In the event of Germany mobilizing it is expected that Premier Asquith immediately will ask Parliament to sanction a large vote of credit as a necessary precaution.

London, July 30.—With the exception of official reports from Vienna, in the briefest form and thus far dealing with the bombardment of Belgrade and the capture of several Servian vessels on the Danube, little reliable news has been received in London concerning the course of hostilities in the Austro-Servian war.

Numerous reports are current that battles are in progress at various points, including one report from Milan that a heavy engagement is raging south of Belgrade today, but, according to Servian official accounts, all attempts on the part of the Austrians to cross the river have been repulsed, and reports of the occupation of Belgrade are considered premature.

While the news of the actual developments in the Austro-Servian war is unsatisfactory, the general situation is one of growing menace. There is a vague report that Austria and Russia are still engaged in diplomatic negotiations through the medium of Berlin, diplomatic intercourse between Austria and Russia having been suspended, but slender hopes are entertained of success in this direction.

Germany has addressed a note to Russia requiring an explanation of Russia's mobilization and in the absence of a satisfactory reply, it is feared Germany also may take steps to mobilize. It is understood that on the failure of his conference idea, Sir Edward Grey invited Germany to suggest some way out of the difficulty and all eyes now are turned to the German emperor as the man upon whom Europe's fate depends.

ALL EYES ON KAISER.

It is believed that if the German view is that it behooves Great Britain and France to bring pressure to bear upon Russia to allow the two principles to settle their difficulty without interference. In the meantime, every nation in Europe is taking active steps to be prepared for any eventualities.

Baltimore Boosters Delighted

Raleigh, July 29.—The Baltimore Star Spangled Banner Centennial Celebration boosters have come and gone, and the Star Spangled Banner still waves. They were as clever a lot of gentlemen as one will find and completely won the hearts of the citizens of Raleigh. The only regret is that they could not tarry in our midst for a longer time.

In the Baltimore party were the following:

James Preston, mayor of Baltimore and president of the "Star Spangled Banner" Centennial Commission.

Charles Kreuder, Jr., mayor's secretary.

A. S. Goldsborough, secretary of the Factory Site Commission and editor of Municipal Journal.

Hon. Thomas E. McNulty, sheriff of Baltimore.

Col. John C. Clegg, commission merchant and representative of the Chamber of Commerce of Baltimore.

E. M. Altfield, "Baltimore American" and member of the legislature.

R. C. Smith, "Baltimore News."

A. H. McDannald, Baltimore News.

J. H. Bumgartner, B. & O. Railroad Co.

This morning at 10 o'clock a committee of Raleigh gentlemen composed of the following journeyed to the union station and extended the courtesies of the city to the party and back them welcome within her gates: Mayor J. I. Johnson, President J. C. Drewry, of the Chamber of Commerce, Commissioner R. B. Seawell, Commissioner O. G. King, E. E. Crow, J. F. Ferrall, J. A. Mills, W. B. Drake, Walter Hunter, J. G. Brown and C. U. Harris.

MAYOR PRESTON SPEAKS.

A number of the representative citizens of Raleigh gathered in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last night to meet Mayor Preston and party from Baltimore, who are on the last leg of a tour of the South in the interest of the celebration of the Star Spangled Banner anniversary which is to be held in the Monumental City September 6 to 13 next.

The meeting was presided over by President John C. Drewry, who was very happy in his remarks introducing the Mayor of Baltimore and other members of the party.

Mayor Preston, a man with a handsome bearing and a kindly eye, soon won the applause of his hearers by his felicitous remarks concerning our city. He stated in the beginning that he was going to thank the people of Raleigh for the pleasant weather encountered, that other places had made an attempt to give them cool weather but Raleigh was the only place that had succeeded in the attempt.

He also spoke of the ties and business interests that bound the two cities together in a bond of common union and assured his hearers that Baltimore was in sympathy with Raleigh and the South and in touch with her ideals, history, traditions, aspirations and hopes.

"The South," said the speaker, "is truly the only representative of American citizenship on the globe, other parts of the country being made up largely of foreigners who do not know the history of American patriotism and care less."

GETS DOUBTFUL INVITATION

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tells T. R. They Will Let Him Know When Treaty is Passed.

Roosevelt Will Be Notified

Washington, July 29.—A second formal statement made in defense of the proposed Colombian treaty was issued today by Secretary Bryan. Without mentioning Colonel Roosevelt, Mr. Bryan replied to arguments advanced by the former President in his attacks upon the administration's proposal to pay Colombia $25,000,000 in settlement of claims growing out of the separation of Panama and acquisition of the Canal Zone by the United States.

Reiterating his declaration that in considering the treaty it is not necessary to examine into the merits of the controversy over the action of the United States in 1903, the Secretary urged that even if the United States in acquiring the Canal Zone was exercising a right of eminent domain, it was not relieved of liability for actual damages resulting to Colombia.

Colonel Roosevelt recently asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to hear a statement from him before reporting the pending treaty.

Chairman Stone replied that if the committee decided to pass upon the convention at this session it would be glad to hear from the Colonel, but the general understanding is that the matter will go over until December. Secretary Bryan, in his statement today says:

"In considering the treaty with Colombia it is not necessary to examine into the merits of the controversy relating to the action of the United States in 1903. The present treaty deals with the situation as it presents itself to day and is fully justified, no matter what the ordinary one may adopt as to the course pursued by our nation in connection with the separation of Panama from Colombia. Some contended that the action taken by the United States was based upon the necessities, as stated by those who take this position are, that Colombia was not able to build the canal herself and was not willing to sell to the United States upon reasonable terms the right to build the canal.

"Those who take this position put the United States in the attitude of exercising the right of eminent domain in the interests of the world's commerce; but the exercise of the right of eminent domain does not relieve those who exercise it of liability for actual damages suffered.

"It is contended that the price offered by the United States prior to the Panama's separation was a reasonable one, and that Colombia ought to have accepted it, that valuation cannot be reduced because Colombia was not willing to accept the offer. The price then offered was approximately $17,500,000 ($10,000,000 cash and $7,500,000 a year for a hundred years, which could be capitalized at $7,500,000). But when this price was offered it was understood that Colombia would retain the State of Panama and have the advantages to be derived from proximity to the canal.

"What justice or fairness can there be in this proposition, that Colombia, having refused to accept a fair price, is not entitled to any damages at all? The payment of the $25,000,000 provided for in the treaty now before the Senate is only a reasonable compensation for damages actually suffered—damages that ought to be paid, no matter what the ordinary one adopts in regard to the action of the United States or the action of Colombia in 1903. The above argument is based upon the theory adopted by those who

WILL SUMMER IN ASHEVILLE

William Jennings Bryan Goes to the Mountain City Next Week—Will Have Leased Wire.

Official Headquarters There

Washington, July 29.—For the first time in the history of the Government the affairs of the Department of State will be directed from a North Carolina city when Secretary of State W. J. Bryan reaches Asheville some time next week and establishes official headquarters for the Department of which he is the official head. The Secretary has arranged for the government to establish and maintain a special leased wire from Asheville to Washington in order that he may sit on his front porch and learn without difficulty just how the Mexican and European situation is progressing.

If the leased wire is maintained 12 hours during the day it will cost the United States Government at the rate of $6,878 a year and a fraction over $5,000 for the night circuit, should one be maintained. This does not include the salaries of the telegraph operators and clerks who will go to Asheville to wait on Mr. Bryan.

A few days ago Mr. Bryan issued orders forbidding employees, when traveling for the government, from putting in expense accounts for shaves, Pullman car fare and in fact all incidentals incident to the trip. Democratic simplicity does not count, however, when government money is being spent for Mr. Bryan, personally, it seems.

Representative Godwin called at the Treasury Department to ask that some of the crop movement federal money assigned to Wilmington be allotted to the American National Bank. Mr. Godwin was told that $500,000 will be sent to Wilmington to be distributed in such way as the government thinks proper.

Mr. Godwin has appointed the following rural delivery carriers: J. D. Fark, Tarboro; R. E. Collier, Linden, and John W. Winder, at Castle Hayne.

Former Sheriff James Jordan and Charles H. Ireland, manager of the Odell Hardware Co., of Greensboro, are here on business.

Senator Overman has secured a position for Col. A. J. Fields, of Raleigh, in the Department of Justice. Mr. Fields will be an inspector's agent in connection with the investigation of trusts.

ROOSEVELT GETS DOUBTFUL INVITATION.

Theodore Roosevelt received a doubtful invitation today from the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations to air his views on the opening Colombian treaty. The committee instructed Senator Stone, the chairman, to write the colonel that it would be pleased to receive his views, providing it is decided to further consider the treaty this session.

The committee did not agree, however, that even if it does take up the treaty again that it will invite Mr. Roosevelt to come here for a speech either public or private. It merely informed him that he would be notified if the treaty is again taken up and in such event his views would be received.

The inference drawn from the letter to the colonel is that he will be allowed to submit a statement in writing, although there is a possibility he may be asked to come to Washington if it is believed advisable to have a hearing on the proposed treaty.

Senator Stone recently stated that personally he could see no reason why Colonel Roosevelt should be permitted to reopen his quarrel with Co-

M'REYNOLDS TO GET PLACE?

The Belief Is General Among Officials That Attorney General Mr. McReynolds Will Be Named.

Appoint Before Adjournment

Washington, July 29.—President Wilson has determined upon the successor to the late Justice Lurton on the United States Supreme Court bench. He so told members of the Senate today from several states who called at the White House to present petitions in behalf of favorite sons.

The President, however, did not reveal the name of his choice and probably will not do so for some time, may be not until just before the court convenes at the end of the summer vacation. Should Congress show signs of adjournment before then the appointment may be announced earlier as the President has said he wants the present senate to confirm the appointment.

The belief is general here among officials and members of Congress that Attorney General McReynolds will be elevated to the Supreme bench. This opinion, however, is not based upon any authoritative or even semi-official announcement from the White House. It admittedly is purely conjecture, but the opinion has taken hold here.

The President has told senators it will not be necessary for any state delegations to visit him in the interest of any candidate. He said he would be glad to receive callers or petitions, but wanted those who might be contemplating a trip to know that he did not wish them to go to useless trips during the hot weather or on errands that might prove fruitless.

GRAHAM MAY SUCCEED M'REYNOLDS.

It is probable that the President intimated as much to Representative Fox who had intended taking a delegation of North Carolina lawyers to the White House to urge the appointment of Judge Walter Clark, of Raleigh.

The expectation that Attorney General McReynolds has been picked for the highest court of the land has started speculation as to his successor. Assistant Attorney General S. J. Graham, who was appointed from Pennsylvania, but who is a native of Virginia, loomed up today as a possible successor to the attorney general, should McReynolds be named for the Supreme Court. Graham is a born politician. More than that he is a Wilson Democrat. Graham has smoothed out more than one rough place in the Democratic administration caused by the attorney general, who has not shown much disposition to play politics, not even for the President.

Graham was born at Lexington, Va.; he was educated at Washington and Lee University, and for a number of years practiced law at Staunton, the birthplace of President Wilson. Graham left his native state and went to Pittsburgh, where he made a reputation as a progressive Democrat. He led the pre-convention fight for Wilson in Pennsylvania.

Burlington vs. Graham Saturday.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Piedmont Park the local team will meet the team from Graham to play the third and deciding game of the series. Each team has won a game and both are very anxious to win this one. The game is to be hard fought and interesting, and well worth what it costs, if you like baseball a bit. It is also due the boys that you show some appreciation of their efforts to keep the team together and furnish amusement for the fans on these hot afternoons.

MADAME CAILLAUX ACQUITTED

Wife of Prominent French Official is Acquitted of Charge of Killing a Paris Editor.

Verdict Causes Demonstration

Paris, July 28.—Mme. Henriette Caillaux was acquitted tonight by a jury in the court of assize of the willful murder on March 16, last, of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro. The verdict was returned after 50 minutes' deliberation. The announcement was followed by the wildest tumult.

Mme. Caillaux staggered and then threw her arms about the neck of her counsel, Ferdinand Lohari. Her hair fell over her shoulders and her hat fell to the floor. The spectators stood upon desks and chairs. Cries of "Caillaux! Labori! and Caillaux assassin!" mingled.

The din was deafening. Several groups of barristers came to blows and the republican guards, trying to separate them, joined in the melee. The spectacle of Labori and Chenu, the latter counsel for the Calmette family, embracing each other, calmed the tumult for a moment, but it was redoubled when they left with Mme. Caillaux.

Unable to make himself heard, the presiding judge, with the other judges, marched from the room. The advocates took complete possession of the court. Some mounted the judges' desk and harangued the crowd. The guards then cleared a portion of the room and comparative quiet was restored. Judge Alhanel returned and read the judgment, ordering the release of Mme. Caillaux.

Stricken with emotion, Mme. Caillaux departed by the witness' door. She covered her face with her hands as if to shield herself from the furious cries of "Murderess!"

By way of several narrow corridors and back staircase, she reached a small side door in the palace of justice, and drove away in an automobile unobserved.

M. Caillaux left by the main entrance on the arm of his devoted friend, Deputy Pascal Ceccaldi, amid mingled cheers and boos.

Thus ended the most sensational trial in Parisian courts in years. Each day provided its dramatic thrill and though the verdict has been pronounced the final outcome cannot be foretold.

The court session today was devoted to speeches by counsel. Mme. Caillaux entered the prisoner's dock pale and worn. She collapsed during the address of M. Chenu, who scored her bitterly.

The tone of the speech of Jules Harbaux, procurator general, was unusually mild. To the jurors he said: "Your duty as the defenders of the interests of society requires you to find a verdict of guilty, but no one expects you to be pitiless."

M. Labori, who came last, delivered a masterpiece of passionate eloquence. He closed amid a tempest of applause, saying:

"My wish is that Mme. Caillaux should leave here acquitted and that the press shall be purified. Let us keep our anger for our enemies abroad."

Demonstrations against the Caillaux verdict occurred in several places tonight. In the boulevards large excited crowds discussed the case and when the verdict became known there were cries of "down with Caillaux." In one section mounted republican guards had to assist the police in quelling the disturbance. Many police and rioters were injured and many arrests were made.

MOOSE BACK T. R.'S CHOICE OF HINMAN.

"Tribune" Gets Views of National Committeemen—N. Y., a 'Special Case.'

New York, July 25.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt's indorsement of Harvey D. Hinman, former State Senator, for the Republican nomination for Governor, of New York, has occasioned profound interest and speculation in every political camp in the north and west.

As a general proposition, the Progressive party, as represented by its national committeemen, agrees with the colonel, that New York State is in a class by itself and must be treated as such, backing up Col. Roosevelt's position that a non-partisan, anti-boss, anti-graft ticket is needed there this fall, with Col. Roosevelt continuing in the leadership of a nationwide fight for the Progressive party as a separate entity, political.

TRIBUNE GETS VIEWS.

The Tribune yesterday sought to ascertain the effect of the Roosevelt utterances, so strongly favorable to Mr. Hinman, in view of reports from states of the middle west, that there would be a revolt within the Progressive party itself, against any recognition by known Progressives of admitted Republicans.

Some of the Progressive national committeemen were asked to define their attitude in the matter. They were asked:

"Please wire to The Chicago Tribune your views of Col. Roosevelt's indorsement for Hinman for Governor of New York. What is the attitude of Progressives of your state toward affiliating with Republicans."

HERALDED AS PEACE MOVE.

The readiness of recognized Republican newspapers in many mid-western congressional districts to seize upon the Hinman indorsement as an indication that Col. Roosevelt had paved the way for the establishment of a political protocol between the two parties suggested the first part of the query.

Symptoms of antagonism among Illinois Progressives who are committed to the Progressive Party cause as such, openly displayed during the last day of the Beveridge-McCormick campaigning trip through central and western Illinois, gave cause for the second part of the inquiry.

Former Senator Beveridge's speech in Galenburg, Thursday night expressed the feeling reflected by the dispatches received from the bulk of the Progressive Committeemen that there must be no compromise now.

SCRUTINY CHANGES VIEWS.

It is said that closer scrutiny of the Roosevelt statement with relation to Hinman has had considerable effect in changing the earlier opinion of Progressive leaders that the colonel had gone too far in dealing with Republicans who purposed running as such in the New York Republican primaries of September 28.

This paragraph from the colonel's statement, for instance, received frequent references in the replies to The Tribune's telegram:

"Surely the time is ripe when all good citizens, no matter what their party affiliations, should join together in support of a ticket the success of which would mean the overthrow of both Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy, the elimination of non-partisan boss rule from the political system of the State, and the installation into public service of the State of men elected or appointed solely on the ground of their honesty, their courage, and their efficiency for the particular work they have to do."

NON-PARTISAN SLATE DEMAND.

The other paragraph, the subject of repeated comment, dealt with a demand for a complete non-partisan ticket:

"I would personally prefer that the ticket nominated for the purpose we have in view this fall should contain the names of representatives of the various political parties. I trust that the Progressive party at its primaries will take the same view. The essential thing is that the men nominated shall be men of the highest character and of proved efficiency, men whose entire records will bear the closest inspection and who will have the indomitable will necessary to do the work that must be done at Albany if honest people of this state are to come into their own. Mr. Hinman is such a man."

TO BE ON BOTH TICKETS.

It was further urged by Progressive leaders that the new primary law of New York permits any individual to be a candidate in any or all party primaries, so that Hinman may run as a Republican, and also as a Progressive, which undoubtedly he will do, according to last night's advices from there.

The first thought of Progressives, apparently, in opposing the Roosevelt indorsement of Hinman was that the colonel should have accepted the Progressive nomination himself and should have made a straightaway fight for a clean cut Progressive ticket, such as is being made by the organized Progressives in most of the other states.

ACCEPT COLONEL'S VIEW.

Replies received by The Tribune indicate sympathy with the colonel's diagnosis of the condition of affairs so far as New York is concerned. They are as follows:

MISSOURI—Irwin R. Kirkwood: The good soldier is never exacting of his leader. Mr. Roosevelt, I believe, thoroughly understands the New York situation and has made no concessions to the disadvantage of the Progressive party. The Progressives of Missouri are, as always, staunch in their faith to both party and platform and have no thought of affiliation, yet in our state the Democratic organization is so wicked and so unscrupulous in its methods that the Progressives may be forced to combine with decent Democrats and Republicans to insure honesty in elections and good government.

CANT UNITE IN NEBRASKA.

NEBRASKA—Nathan Merriman: Nebraska Progressives have unlimited confidence in Col. Roosevelt's judgment. Everybody knows that New York is in a class by itself, and possibly needs special treatment to be set right. We certainly hail with delight Col. Roosevelt's statement that he will assist to the utmost extent the Progressive cause throughout the country. It would appear that he has found in Mr. Hinman a first class non-partisan Progressive, equipped to do the work. As to affiliation of Progressives and Republicans in Nebraska, such a thing at this time is impossible under present conditions, especially since the reactionary element is in control.

OHIO—John J. Sullivan: I heartily agree with Roosevelt's indorsement of Hinman for Governor.

MINNESOTA—Milton S. Purdy: In my opinion Col. Roosevelt did absolutely the right thing when he indorsed Harvey D. Hinman for governor of New York. In no other way is the elimination of both Murphy and Barnes rule possible. I regard Col. Roosevelt's action in this matter as solely in the interest of decent state government, which is at present the supreme issue in New York. In Minnesota the situation is wholly different. Each of the old parties has nominated for governor men of high character and the dangers here from invisible government have for the present been eliminated. We Progressives in Minnesota are therefore opposed to affiliation with either of the old parties and are making an independent campaign along national lines.

"WONT ALTER LINES."

CALIFORNIA—Chester H. Rowell: My understanding is Colonel Roosevelt's indorsement of Hinman has nothing to do with the question you ask regarding "Affiliation with Republicans." He has merely raised what he regards as the most effective local solution of an immediate local problem, and I assume his judgment is correct. That is, however, a New York problem, for New Yorkers to decide.

In California the question of "affiliation with Republicans" is meaningless and never discussed on either side. By law all judicial, school, county and local officers are non-partisan, and the same system will, doubtless extend to state offices next year for partisan offices. The same person may run for the nomination of two or more parties at the primaries. Some Republican candidates for legislature, and perhaps congress, will also run for and doubtless win Progressive nomination also. Most Progressive candidates for state offices below governor, and many for the legislature, will also run in Republican and Democratic primaries, and will receive these additional nominations if they get votes enough. There is no indorsement of anybody by any party organization, and all depends on plurality vote at respective primaries. Party organizations as such are wholly distinct, and nobody has ever suggested affiliating them.

FOR COLONEL IN 1916.

KENTUCKY—Leslie Combs: Personally I entirely approve the position of Col. Roosevelt with respect to Mr. Hinman in New York, and I believe the Progressives of Kentucky take the same large view of political duty. Political principle, to be useful and practical, must be more than terminology. There is no basis for an amalgamation of the Progressive and Republican parties in Kentucky, but unanimity of the Republicans of our state both leaders and rank and file of the nation, for Col. Roosevelt for president in 1916 is the promise of effective co-operation in the future.

Here Are Facts.

One of the great advertising agencies of the country writes: "There is no doubt in our mind about the efficiency of newspaper advertising. This fact is demonstrated by the goodly proportion of our business which goes into the newspapers. Certainly there is no quicker way of getting results from advertising than through the newspapers, and while the newspaper advertising in any one locality in itself, it only takes an extension of that to bring about national advertising of the most effective kind.

"Another extremely important side of newspaper advertising is the vigorous local backing it gives to a campaign in national publications. The best example we know of this is in the automobile business."

Stole $2,000,000 in Teeth.

Some time early in a recent morning burglars broke into the office of a dentists' furnishing company and stole nearly 500,000 teeth in gold and platinum and silver, an ounce and a half gold plate and several objects of once valuable and valuable. The value of the goods stolen is at least $2,000,000. The robbery, in its skill and finish, bears the sign of expert burglars, but not unfortunately their sign manual, for the introducers "worked" with India rubber gloves.

The fact that the men did not attempt to break open any desk or drawers proves that they were acquainted with the internal arrangements of the offices. They left a large number of porcelain teeth, not considering them worth carrying away. The local inquiry has been opened, but the police, owing to the precautions taken by the burglars will find their task even harder than usual. The firm is insured against theft.—Paris Dispatch to London Telegraph.

Arthur Heritage and His Minstrel Here Saturday.

This issue of The Herald carries an advertisement of the Hershey Hoffman's Greater Minstrels, with Arthur Heritage, sole owner and proprietor, which will exhibit here Saturday night.

Mr. Heritage is an old Burlington boy, who has been making good in other places in the show business and now his minstrel is coming to his home town to show the people here what he has accomplished in his work.

The press of the cities where they have exhibited is very strong in its endorsement of the show, and we see no reason why it should not be well worth the money as they carry 40 people with band and orchestra, and have some very interesting numbers on the program that have never been shown here before.

Give the Burlington boy a good house to show that you appreciate his efforts, and make him feel good, and we are sure you will get your money's worth when you buy a ticket.

Be sure to see the parade at noon and hear the band.

Fire Company to Winston-Salem.

The Burlington Fire Company will leave next Monday for Winston-Salem to take part in the State Firemen's Tournament. The company here will leave part on No. 111, with "John" and the remainder through the country in automobiles. Chief John Love and 20 men will represent Burlington in Winston.

The boys say they are going up to Winston after the prize money and not coming back till they get it. We think if they can do as well in the races as they do on practice there will be no doubt about who will get the money, and they believe they will take their part of it.

Wednesday evening out on Broad street they made the run and got the water to flowing, under tank pressure in 31 seconds, which is two seconds less than the winners last year, and they were only playing then. "John," the big bay horse, is in the best shape he has ever been in for running. They have a good Special Racing Wagon and the men doing the jump with the hose are by far the best the local company has ever had, and only an accident to these jumpers will keep them from winning.

Melon Slicing.

An enjoyable time was had at Piedmont Park last Wednesday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock when a large crowd chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Workman and Mrs. J. Zeb Waller accompanied by Miss Lois Workman and her guest, Miss Kate Wortham, of Franklinton, in whose honor the occasion was planned, met and feasted on delicious watermelons, cantaloupes and bananas.

After enjoying the dainties for an hour or more the crowd adjourned to the Casino where they were entertained for an hour by a troupe of expert singers, most home talent.

The rest of the evening was spent in social activities and more melons.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Holliday and daughter, Miss Irma, of Snow Camp, were out of town guests.

Ice Cream Supper.

The Baraca Class of the Methodist Protestant Sunday school will serve cream and cake to the public on Saturday night, August 1, 1914, on the lawn of the church, from eight till eleven o'clock. The proceeds of the evening will go for the benefit of the class. Everybody is invited to go out and help the boys and have a good time.

Blind Knocks Man Down With Phone.

Raleigh, July 30.—Using a desk telephone, which rested on a show case in the front part of the Raleigh Cafe, on East Martin street, an unknown negro last night at 10:15 struck Tony George, the proprietor, a heavy blow on the head, just above the left ear, cutting an ugly gash, which brought blood freely.

The blow floored George, a Greek, and stunned him for a moment or two. The negro then reached over the show case and grabbed about $2 from the cash register and fled from the building. George staggered to his feet and ran after the thief, shouting, "Money, catch him."

Ralph Upchurch and another boy, who were on the sidewalk, taking in the situation, joined in pursuit of the negro who was "burning the wind." He ran to the corner and turned down South Blount street. To evade his pursuers he jumped the fence at the lot on the corner of Davie street and made his escape. As he made his flying leap, it was said, that Mr. Upchurch threw a brick which hit the mark, but did not interrupt the flight.

There were about a dozen men and boys on the corner below the cafe and the negro could easily have been captured had they taken in the situation.

The thief was a medium sized yellow negro, dressed in a blue suit. He came into the cafe, which at the time was deserted except by the proprietor, and bought a five cent sandwich and handed George ten cents. The cash register and the telephone were in close proximity. When George opened the cash register the negro grasped the telephone and delivered the blow.

The police station was notified and Officer Nichols went to the scene.

Depot Agent at Wilson Held Up by Two Negroes.

Wilson, July 28.—Shortly after the departure of the eastward Norfolk Southern passenger train at midnight Monday a bold attempt was made to rob the night agent and the ticket office. Russell Perry, the agent in charge, was in his office checking up the business when he heard whispers in the waiting room. Putting away his cash and locking the door behind him he left the office and stepped into the waiting room to make investigation. Immediately he was held up by two negroes who demanded the cash and the keys. Mr. Perry went by the ticket office to get the keys and the other agent in charge of the depot demanded that after the men who had held up Mr. Perry should return to the depot and a race started. The negro was captured and the police are after the other.

FOSER SHOE CO. BURLINGTON, N. C.

Provisions Were Not Landed.

Otates, Sinalo, Mexico, July 29.—The Pacific mail liner City of Sydney did not land provision today at Mazatlan, as intended, because the captain feared to endanger his ship and the lives of his passengers, in the cross fire of shells over the harbor. As a result the federal governor of the post issued a manifesto endeavoring to incite anti-American feeling. The Americans, he said, were responsible for not landing the sorely needed provisions.

Mazatlan has been half-starved for months and evacuation cannot longer be delayed. P reparations to accomplish it are going forward actively, and it is expected that in a few days the federal garrison will be steaming southward to Salina Cruz.

Miration Over an Honest Reporter.

Roscoe Conklyn Mitchell, of these parts, and known more or less generally to the profession, has resigned from the Hearst forces, after a brief but eventful connection, and the circumstances have served to focus the spotlight on Roscoe. He shows up mighty well therein, too.

It is perhaps a partial tale that Harper's Weekly relates, but after making due allowance to dramatic exigency, we insist that the ex-Hearst reporter has a large residue of desirable credit. Judge for yourself.

At Oyster Bay, "soon after Roosevelt's return from America"—fire your proof-reader, Brother Flaggood—the Colonel was so pestered with yellow reporters that he shut out the whole tribe—saving only Mr. Mitchell, to whom he gave all the news, permitting him to divide up with the others as he saw fit. Mitchell was in the Wilson campaign party, and here, too, he was selected for the highest confidence. When they tried to trap Mr. Wilson, at Syracuse, into a cage with Murphy, of Tammany, Governor Wilson selected Roscoe Conklyn Mitchell to do the delicate herding of the press pack. These things to show the impression Mitchell had created in various important quarters before he took employment with Hearst.

Shortly after that association was formed, the American warships were about to set out for Vera Cruz, Bro. Daniels' department had flatly declined to take any Hearst man along; but when Mitchell applied Mr. Daniels could not refuse, and it appears did not even wish to do so—for it must be borne in mind that Daniels had had charge of the Wilson publicity bureau.

The same sort of situation arose with the beginning of mediation. The Hearst Washington had not a man who could touch any of the mediators with a long pole. The southern man was decided upon to go to Niagara, American delegates, who were then arriving there he approached the American delegate, who was holding a confidential chat with newspaper men introduced himself and told his business. The conversation stopped abruptly, and Mitchell presenting left. Friendly advances have been met with the head of a beam. He met a state department man who knew him, the man who devoted him right back and gave him an introduction, and a character whom he was receiving into full fellowship. He pledged himself to all the delegates and mediators to report the proceedings honestly and fairly.

His dispatches were left out, and altogether different stories appeared in the Hearst papers. On the same would have all sorts of characteristic Hearst stuff inserted. He demonstrated, without effort, he had to explain over and over again to his associates that he was personally honest, and was in position to prove it by the correspondent who worked with him. Finally the newspaper office faked a "full text of the Carranza message" from Mitchell's staff. Once more he went to the man to whom he had made pledges and disclaimed breach of faith; and this time he wired his resignation to his editor. "Be resigned without resigning," the editor wired back, Roscoe was urged to "be a good soldier and a good boy"; "good soldiers are patient even if superior officers make mistakes."

The newspaper contingent filled three automobiles and went to the hotel where Mitchell was packing, to tell him what they thought of him. The American delegates held an impromptu reception, and Justice Lehman made a speech congratulating him. And so Mitchell departed, without a job. He has "children in school" and good jobs in his line of work are not numerous, as the article goes on to say; but we doubt if Roscoe is still without work. —Greensboro News.

He Sure Had!

The pompous judge glared sternly over his spectacles at the tattered prisoner who had been dragged before the bar of justice on a charge of vagrancy.

"Have you ever earned a dollar in your life?" he asked in fine scorn.

"Yes, your honor," was the response. "I voted for you at the last election." —New York Globe.

Mamma Lou's Experience.

Mamma Lou was eated on the piazza of her little cabin home, with a far-away look in her eyes. As I walked up the path my little boy, who was running along in front of me, suddenly turned round and came back and caught me by the hand.

"What's the matter, son? Are you afraid of the dog?" For a large black dog rose up out of the tall grass and came slowly toward us. Mamma Lou heard me ask the question, and said, "Don't be afraid honey, the dog won't hurt you—not one mite. Come in Missy and take a chair. That chile gettin' soared of the dog 'minds me of the time when my fust baby wuz bout two years ole."

I was a-sittin' right here on de piazza one evenin' de sun was goin' down, and I tho't the red sky looked so putty thru' de green leaves, baby wuz on my lap and I wuz tryin' to git him to go to sleep. I wuz well-nigh tuckered out wid de day's work, 'sides cokin' and 'scrubbin' an' 'tendin' de baby. I had to tote water to de field to my ole man every now an' ergin.

Well, seems lak dat boy never would go ter sleep, an' attar I'd thru de rock an' sung mighty nigh thru de hymn bok I got sorter worried. I say to myself, "I'll change my chune—I'll fix him." So I started to sing: Big dawg comin' down de road.

Gwine ter git yer!
An' Lawdy! dere's a big hop-head.
Gwine ter git yer!

Better shet per eyes tight
An' treat yer mammy right
Chuse dey'll son be in sight
An' come an' git yer!

Wid dat de little fellah snuggled closer to me and shet his eyes and wuz asleep in no time. Well, I tuk him in an' laid him on de bed, and I didn't lose no time gettin' to bed neither. Seem'd lak I ain't been sleep no time when I hear Rastus callin' me "Mammy," sez he, "pears like de only is a leathin' powful loud an' fat, maybe he's sick." I tumbled out of bed in a hurry, I tell you, an' when I put my hand on his head, I knowed he had a fever. Well, dat sorter scared me, but when he turned over and said "Back dawg tummin' git me," I said, "Rastus, go for a doctor, dis chille's bad off—he's outen his mind."

You know, Missy, when youse a littal by your sick chile waitin' for de doctor, it loks like he ain't never comin', but say int dere attar an' say a time.

But all de time I was sittin' a-waitin' baby had been a turnin' and a calstin' and a-sayin', "Back dawg git me—'bout back dawg," an' I was tryin' to comfort him and tell de ham dere wasn't no back dawg bowin' round, and mammy wouldn't let nothin' hurt her baby. Oen he'd say, "Mammy say back dawg tummin' an' I couldn't say nothin' for cryin'." 'Bout dat time de doctor come an' he say as how he had a mighty big fever, but give him his medicine and he ope a find him bettah in de mornin'.

Well, I wuz hopin' so, too, but de nex day he wasn't no better, an' jes kep' a-talkin' 'bout de black dawg and de hop toad. It wuz mos' mornin' I could stan', an' when de doctor ax me what he meant, I tole him de trufe 'bout how I had scared him ter sleep. Well, dat doctor looked so sober and shook his head, till it near-bout broke my heart, "Oh, doctor," I says, "you don't think he's gwinter die, do you? Do you reckon my singin' to him 'bout de dawg made him sick?" "No, Mammy Lou, that didn't make him sick, but it makes it harder for him to get well." Then I drapped on my knees and prayed, "Oh, Gawd, if you'll only let my baby live, I'll never scare him no mo'. I didn't mean no harm, Lord. I wuz jes' so tired and wore out, an' I didn't have de patience I ought ter had—but if you'll forgive me dis time, I won't never do it no mo', fer Jesus sake. Amen."

When I rose from my knees and looked at de doctor, he said, jes as kind as he could, "Mammy Lou, you are not the only mother who makes that mistake—there are lots of them who scare their babies, not only to make them go to sleep, but to make them be good, or do things that they want them to do. They are making us wrecks out of their own chil-den, Mammy Lou, and it's just because they haven't de patience they ought to have. I don't believe in packin' babies to sleep," says he, "but every mother it seems to me, could put her baby on the bed, and if it didn't go to sleep, sing to him softly, or tell him a sweet story, and it wouldn't be long before the litte eyes woud close and the child have a good restful sleep."

De nex day my baby wuz bettah and didn't tak outen his head no mo', and in a week he wuz all right agin. Eat oh, Missy, you don't know how much I suffered to think I had scared my baby ter sleep and what if he had a-died—I never would a-got over it.

An' sometimes, now, I hears de white folks a-scarin dere chillun with dawgs an' bears an' sech like, an' I can't hardly keep from telin' my 'speience. But I wuz a po' ignunt nig-gah, Missy, and loks like dese oddicated white folks ought ter know better.

But, Missy, I'll tell you dis—wid all dem seben babies what folowed dat fust one, dere ain't er one ux 'em born dat song 'bout de back dawg and de hop-toad. I allus sung hymn-bok songs attar dat."

Former Records Lake City Smashed.

Lake City, S. C., July 26.—The efforts put forth here prior to the opening of tobacco sales by the bosters resulted in all former records being broken on the tobacco market when 200,000 pounds of wed was offered on the 23d with prices ranging from $1 to $25 per hundred, and market averages $8.25 per hundred.

Politics in the Palmetto state are warming up in the sixth congressional district, where former Representative J. E. Ellerbee is opposing the present incumbent, J. W. Ragsdale, for re-nomination at the primaries.

Ellerbee spoke here Friday to a good and enthusiastic crowd. Ragsdale so far has not accepted Ellerbee's challenge for a joint discussion, but Ellerbee says he will force Ragsdale to the stump before the campaign is over.

"Ragsdale is best for renomination whether he comes here for joint debate or not," declared Ellerbee who seemed very optimistic over his chances for defeating the congressman. A Mr. Hyman was along also with Ellerbee as a candidate for congress, but those seemed to be no enthusiasm for him.

Life Crushed Out By Moving Train.

Henderson, July 24.—With the thoughts of one more day's work behind her and in a happy frame of mind Lucy, the 14-year-old daughter of Henry Wilson, a mill executive, quit work in the Harriet Mill No. 1 shortly after six o'clock this afternoon ran out of the building across an idle track of the Seaboard Air Line and a moment later was crushed to death beneath the wheels of two cars being pushed by a switch engine. Her sudden and tragic death was witnessed by a number of employees of the mill where the young girl worked.

The track runs in front of the mill and but a few feet from the door. At the time of the accident the switch engine was backing two cars to a point beyond the mill and was almost directly in front of the door when the young girl rushed from the building. Eager to get home for her supper and presumably to prepare for an engagement in the evening it is thought she never saw the slowly moving train. The engine crew saw her as she dashed just in front of the moving cars and the engineer applied the emergency brakes. The engine came to a standstill immediately, but too late to save the young girl's life. The wheels of the two cars had passed over and torn her body almost to fragments. Death was instantaneous and she probably never knew what struck her. The engine and cars were not traveling at a very fast rate, but enough to bring death.

The unforeseen death of this young girl has cast a gloom among the operatives of the mill. Full of life and very popular among her friends here place will be hard to fill in the esteem of loved ones. The arrangements for the funeral services have not yet been made.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LEADS DENOMINATIONS.

During the Past Year Relief Was Granted Many Retired Ministers and Widows.

During the year just closed the Southern Presbyterian Church has granted aid to 62 retired ministers of the church, 140 widows of ministers and 29 orphan children of ministers, through the executive committee of Christian education and ministerial relief. These beneficiaries of the church represent 228 homes and in these homes there are 70 fatherless children under 14 years of age, these not having been enumerated in the figures above on account of the fact that they are yet children dependent upon their elders for support. The church is gratified that all of the requests for aid for beneficiaries the past year have been granted, the amount of the money thus expended having been $27,744.17, this being an increase of $2,744.17 over the amount contributed to this cause the year previous.

The average amount of assistance given to each of the 62 retired ministers was $243.16, the average amount to each widow was $151.25 and the average amount to each orphan was $76. Thus the average amount of assistance to each of the 228 families on the roll of beneficiaries for the year was $170. The maximum amount available for any beneficiary who is in special need is about $425 a year.

The Southern Presbyterian Church leads all of the large denominations of the South in the amount of money appropriated for the support of beneficiaries, but this amount is far from being sufficient, being only about an average of 47 cents a day for each of the families recognized as beneficiaries and special effort is being made to increase the endowment fund for ministerial relief as rapidly as possible to at least $500,000. There was added to the endowment fund the past year $4,915.37, making the total amount of this fund at present $225,095.23, all of this being invested and the interest being used to meet the needs of the work. The committee in charge of the cause of ministerial relief never incurs debt.

Special effort will be made to increase the interest of the church in the cause of ministerial relief during the conference for that cause and the cause of Christian education, to be held at Montreat, August 2-5. Among the facts that will be emphasized during the conference to aid in awakening the church to the duty of making ample provision for the support of beneficiaries will be these: The 62 ministers who are now beneficiaries, as the result of age or ill health have given to the church an average term of service of 42 years; the oldest beneficiary is 87 years of age and for 64 years he was active in the service of the church. The 179 deceased ministers, whose families are on the beneficiary roll gave an aggregate service of 4,577 years.

The church will be reminded also that during the past year 21 beneficiaries—10 ministers and 11 widows—have passed away, this fact giving additional emphasis to the need for more ministers to the Southern Presbyterian church as the result of death, retirement and dismissal, has been 443 and the total gain of ministers during the same length of time has been 683, giving a net gain of 250 ministers. On account, however, of the increase in home and foreign mission work in recent years, the organization of many new churches and the retirement from active service of about 33 ministers each year, an increase of at least 410 ministers is urgently needed at this time. A special appeal of the executive committee of the cause of Christian education and ministerial relief in this connection is thus expressed: "The most imperative need of the Presbyterian church in the United States today is that more of her own sons, nurtured in her own households of faith, called by the Lord of the harvest, trained in the schools and in the influences of the sky, good men and full of the Holy Ghost shall give themselves without reserve to God and their generation in the glorious work of the Gospel ministry. For this our Church must pray earnestly, intelligently and believably."

Primary—Taxation—Evidence Is At Hand.

Very much to our discredit has been the fight for the Democratic congressional nomination in the Third district which now seems ended by the withdrawal from further participation in the primary of former Congressman Charles R. Thomas. This leaves the field to Mr. Hood, who was nominated by a rowdy convention and who will be named and confirmed as the candidate. Another fight that ought to cause those who had part therein to blush with shame is that in the Tenth district where Gudger and Reynolds are pulling off a stunt which is further tending to debauch the people of the district and to make our present day political system a crying disgrace and shame.

A few days ago I heard a gentleman declare that the very discouraging sign he could see in the State is the political tendencies, referring to the fact that so many people would sell their vote, who would resent the suit attending an offer to sell anything else that embraces honor. He cited the contests in the Third district and the Tenth districts as examples. Especially did he refer to the Wayneville convention where the leading candidates hired and practically operated a hotel each for the benefit of their delegates. Here was a spectacle—men sent to a convention to represent their people and instead of representing their county they were paid to represent a candidate who was spending thousands of dollars which tends to corrupt the morals of the State.

A law suit is being brought against one of the candidates by the proprietor of the hotel he had engaged while, claims are being made that the suit is brought for political purposes.

In the Third the convention that nominated Mr. Hood was the limit. One of the negro-Republican gatherings of 20 years ago would have safe, sane and pious compared with it.

Men are hiring themselves to candidates just as they would hire a horse to their neighbor. Conventions are being held that represent the people about as much as they represent the king of Spain. The whole scheme is rotten and disgraceful and drives thousands of good honest men away and leaves the whole governmental system in the hands of those who care to stand for these things.

Yet one hears a few declaring that we do not need a change, a reform. They say there is no need of change, no demand. As a rule these are the few who are always on the scene and profit by present day methods. Some politicians who never made a dollar in their lives outside of politics, and men who could not make a living today other than by politics, are saying that there is no need of a state-wide primary, and their unholly and untruthful proclamations are being taken up and endorsed by many good people. If evidence is desired that North Carolina needs a legalized statewide primary that evidence is at hand. Put the Goldsboro convention in evidence as "Exhibit A" and the Wayneville disgrace as "Exhibit B". The people who vote ought to defeat the men named by all such conventions, then there would be an awakening.—Salisbury Post.

Divorce Prevention Bureau Has Reunited Four Families.

Chicago, July, 25.—The divorce prevention bureau of the Municipal court, which opened its doors yesterday, is realizing the inauguration of its work by reuniting four families, court officials announced today. In the four cases Judge Torrison decided that separations would bring suffering on innocent children. Placing upon the parents' love for their children he sent the four pairs from the bureau arm in arm and reconciled.

These are some of Judge Torrison's principal recommendations to couples inclined to jar:

"Give the wife a vacation each year. She gets tired. Take a vacation yourself for the same reason.

"Have some kind of music in the home.

"Whenever you quarrel go upstairs where the baby is sleeping and look at him."

TELLS OF THE PRESIDENTS.

B. D. Drane Met All But One, Beginning with Van Buren—Tells About "Mudhole Days."

Baldwin D. Drane, 86 years of age, one of the oldest of Washington's "oldest residents" says that he has shaken hands with every president of the United States, save one, since the inauguration of Martin Van Buren in 1835. He is not the oldest resident of the John Dickson Home, falling short about five years, but he is the oldest resident, and a "regular," they say in the ranks of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants.

At the Dickson home yesterday he painted a vivid wordpicture of the Washington of more than half a century ago, an article in the Washington Post says.

"When I first knew Washington," he said, "it was nothing more than a mudhole. It was often impossible for vehicles to make headway, and stepping stones had to be put down, stepping stones had to be put down for pedestrians.

STREAM NEAR CAPITOL.

The homes along Pennsylvania avenue were modest dwellings with large yards about them, where domestic animals were a common sight. I remember a stream that ran near the Capitol through the grounds where the Botanic gardens are now. This was crossed by a frail rustic bridge, incapable of sustaining a great weight.

"In 1838 I came to Washington from my native town, Dranesville, Va. It was my first ride on a train. The occasion was the inauguration of President Van Buren. He gave a public reception and I remember how he shook my hand when my mother and I went up to meet him.

"Since then I have met and shaken hands with every president of the United States except President Hayes. Of all the Presidents I have known, President Cleveland was the man who appealed to me most. When I went to call on him several years ago he welcomed me as an old friend. He said to me, 'You are the finest looking old fellow I have ever seen.' I told him then I didn't want flattery, but that I was looking for a job, and I handed him an application that I wanted him to help me with. He indorsed it immediately.

FRAISES FILLMORE AND ROOSE.

"President Millard Fillmore was my next favorite. We talked together once for two hours. Roosevelt also is a man of my liking. I had an appointment with him and missed it by half an hour. A policeman at the door stopped me. I am deaf and talk loud, so that when I called my name Mr. Roosevelt heard it and called me in.

Mr. Drane was born in Dranesville, Va., in 1828, and received his grammar school education there. After he came to Washington he entered the building trade, and for many years was a prominent builder here. For the past year he has been an inmate of the John Dickson Home.

A successful man is one who can accomplish one-tenth of the things he intended to do in a single day.

J. C. Hosley Killed.

Hickory, July 23.—J. C. Hosley, of this city, died at the Richard Baker Hospital here today at 9:00 a. m. Death resulting from injuries sustained yesterday evening when he was struck by eastbound Southern passenger train No. 12 at the crossing near the Ivey cotton mill in West Hickory.

Mr. Hosley's occupation was hauling blocks for the Hickory Novelty Company and he had been to West Hickory to deliver a load. On returning as he was crossing the railroad tracks he was struck by the train. The wagon was demolished and Mr. Hosley was thrown 20 or 30 feet clear of the track. The horse was not hurt. After the engineer succeeded in stopping the train Mr. Hosley was picked up and brought on here and taken to the hospital. It is thought that his back was broken when the engine struck him as he was completely paralyzed from the waist down and did not regain consciousness after 3:00 o'clock last night. He was about 70 years of age and was a devout member of the First Baptist church.

Got Missing Figures

The General Manager was presenting plans for an extension of the factory to the company's directors at Detroit. He found that he had left an estimate sheet in his desk at the factory. He called up the factory on the Bell Long Distance Telephone. His assistant read the figures to him and the directors were able to act without delay.

"Well, isn't it hot?" is a common expression heard upon this route these days. Truly we have had some summer weather and the corn, crops and vegetables are beginning to suffer since the refreshing showers ceased. One of Mr. John Moody's children had the misfortune to get severely scalded last Friday. Its mother was scouring a room and had a bucket of hot water in her hand when the little one ran up behind her, against the bucket and spilled the water upon its breast and throat. At this writing, however, it seems to be doing as well as could be expected and there are chances for its recovery.
Miss Norah Thompson is visiting friends in Burlington this week.
Mr. and Mrs. Charlie York visited Mr. John Moody Sunday.
The protracted meeting at Pleasant Hill will begin the first Sunday in August this year.
The usual date of the meeting at Kletory Grove has been changed also this year from the third Sunday in August to the Second.
Most all the farmers are through threshing in this community and report their crops as "pretty good." We are always glad to hear this for when the farmers fail us, we go under, too, for somehow it don't matter how much money there is in our pockets we can't do without our biscuit.

Oakdale Items.
The Oakdale Tomato Club had their first lesson on canning at Oakdale one day last week. From all reports they are taking some interest in the canning business. If there is not much money made at canning there is lots of good eating in them when they are put up in the country where grown and everything in the fresh state—no bruises on them. We have always been a little prejudiced to tin cans. They do not have to be so carefully looked after in cold weather and do not have to be handled so carefully. We wish them much success in their new work to reduce the high cost of living.

The hum of the thresher is being heard in our midst. Crops are still reported good.
Corn is beginning to need rain. The potatoes are also getting dry. Hot! Hot! Hot! It has been very hot—the thermometer said it was 100° in the shade and 135° in the sun at 12:20 last Sunday, so it is reported by local authority.

Dr. Tom Spoon is at home taking a break in his old time sport "baseball" before he begins his new profession—dentistry. It is understood that he will locate at Gibsonville. Dr. Kemp and Horley Foster are fixing to locate, but we do not know where.
We are very sorry to hear of the severe illness of Mr. William Steele. We wish him a speedy recovery.
There is very little sickness around here. Unless there is more sickness in the next six months than there has been in the past six months, the doctor will have to look to some other source to get Christmas presents.
What has become of the Patterson Township Sunday School Convention? Is it dead? If so, somebody ought to revive it.

Hartshorn Route 1 Items.
The people in this community are about through threshing wheat and plowing corn.
Mr. F. L. Spoon is doing good work this year with his new "Champion" and making a good run.
Parties and ice cream suppers are very common in this section now.
There was music at Mr. William Foster's Saturday night. Among those present were Milt Clapp and Mr. Ed Patrum, both of Graham.
There was a dance at Miss Lillie Fulies' Saturday night and Mr. Eddy, Frankie and Johnnie Burton attended. They report a nice time.
Mr. Rufe Isley called to see his best girl Sunday evening. Ask the widow about it.
Frank Bristowe and his son, Sam, were pleasant visitors at Bill Foster's Sunday.
Mr. Milt Clapp and Miss Ora Foster were buggy riding Sunday morning. We think they had a nice time.
Graham Spoon, of Kemp's Mills, has been visiting his uncle, Sil Spoon, of this Route.
