

THE TWICE-A-WEEK DISPATCH

A PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, ALAMANCE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1914.

THE ALLIES PUSH THEIR LINE WESTWARD

Allied Army, Whose Gaps Have Been Filled with Fresh Troops, Thrust Back the Vigorous German Offensive Movement at Western End of the Battle Front and Carry out a Counter Attack and Gain Ground.

Germans Report That Efforts of French to Encircle Their Right Flank—Przemysl Is Surrounded—Russians Between That Fortress and Cracow—It May Be Some Days Before Another Big Battle Is Fought Over in That Section of the Country.

At the Battlefront Sept. 24—via Paris, 5:16 P. M.—The German offensive was extremely vigorous today at the western end of the long line stretching along the rivers Oise, Aisne and Woivre. The allied troops whose gaps had been filled with freshly arrived reinforcements, not only repeatedly thrust back the German attack but eventually carried out a successful counter attack which resulted in the gaining of considerable ground and the definite capture of Peronne, about which town the fiercest engagement occurred.

At one place victims of the deadly German machine guns were counted in hundreds, especially where the advance was across an open wheat field. Some men of a French regiment, which was making a dash toward the German position when it was struck by the sweeping fire, were found dead in the kneeling postures they had taken behind sheaves of wheat and from where they had emptied their magazines, intending to start a final rush and bayonet charge.

After the fight 900 dead were buried in a single trench six feet deep, Germans being placed at one end and French at the other. On the eastern wing the Germans are throwing enormous masses of men against the French troops protecting the line of defensive forts above Verdun, but up to the present their efforts, although costing immense sacrifice have been vain and the French line remains intact.

The military experts shower praise on General Joffre for the way his plans are carried out.

HEAVY ARTILLERY IS PLAYING LARGE PART.

London, Sept. 24.—9:30 P. M.—Artillery continues to play a leading part in the battle of the Aisne, which has been in progress nearly a fortnight. The opposing forces continue to hammer away at each other from their well entrenched and fortified positions with the greatest stubbornness but without decision.

Almost without a lull great shells are being hurled across the rivers, valleys and plains stretching from the river Oise in the West to the Meuse in the east, and thence southward along the whole Franco-German border, while the lighter guns play on the infantry lying in the trenches awaiting an opportunity to deliver attacks and counter-attacks, with as the French official communication says, "alternate retirement on certain points and advance on others."

The battle line has stretched out farther westward, the French left wing having made some progress in the direction of Vove, northwest of Novon. The latter place a few days ago was the allies' extreme left. A detachment has occupied Peronne, still further north.

A report from German headquarters dated September 23 says, however, that the efforts of the French to encircle the German right have had no result.

The French also claim to have made an advance northwest of Berry-aux-Bac, which is about the point where the German line crosses the Aisne continuing southeast to Brincent, which has been the center of many vigorous attacks.

Along the rest of the line, although there have been fierce engagements in which both sides claim victory, the situation is unchanged except that, according to German reports, the German troops have recaptured Varennes, department of Meuse.

The Austrian general staff denies reports of Russian victories and the defeat of General Danik's army. The Austrian forces, the report says, have been concentrated in a new position for several days, but have waited in vain for another serious Russian attack.

From other sources, however, it is reported that the Russians have surrounded Przemysl and are between that fortress and Cracow.

It may be some days before another big battle is fought here, as one Austrian army is behind the forts of Przemysl and the other is making its way to the remaining fortress of Cracow, while the Russians are taking the smaller towns in Galicia under their wing.

A report which lacks official confirmation, says General Rennenkampf who withdrew over the East Prussian frontier when German reinforcements arrived, has received more men and again has taken the offensive and compelled the Germans to withdraw.

It is considered probable that the fall of Jaroslau and the isolation of Przemysl has compelled the Germans to look more closely to the protection of their line from Thorn to Kalisz, which guards Posen, as the Russians now are able to release a large number of men for the invasion of that part of Germany.

The Servian and Montenegrin armies are before Sarajevo, capital of Bosnia, flushed with victory and preparing to take this latest acquisition of the dual monarchy, the possession of which by Austria has been such a thorn in the side of the southern Slavs.

In the operations here the invaders look forward to a hearty welcome from the greater part of the population. This war, while in Bosnia and Galicia it is uniting races long separated by artificial boundaries, is also drawing together the races and sects of all the countries engaged.

In Germany the socialists are fighting in line with their greatest enemies the militarists. In Russia revolutionists are fighting or returning home to fight for the emperor. Great Britain is receiving support from all sections of the empire.

THE ALLIES ADVANCE IN DIRECTION OF ROYE.

Paris, Sept. 24.—2:56 P. M.—The following official announcement was made in Paris this afternoon:

"First: On our left wing, between the river Somme and the river Oise, our troops have advanced in the direction of Roye. A detachment occupied Peronne and held this position in spite of a spirited attack on the part of the enemy.

"Between the river Oise and the River Aisne the enemy continues to maintain important bodies of troops well entrenched. We have made a slight advance to the northwest of Berry-aux-Bac.

"Second: On the center between Rheims and the Argonne district the situation shows no change. To the east of the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse the enemy has continued his attacks, delivering them with especial violence. The fighting continues accompanied by alternate retirements at certain points and advances at others.

"Our right wing there has been no change of importance.

"In the region of Nancy and in the Vosges certain detachments of the enemy have again attempted to enter upon French soil, driving back slight covering bodies of our troops, but their offensive was soon stopped.

"In Galicia and Russians, having taken possession of Jaroslau, are completely investing Przemysl and continuing their offensive movement on Cracow."

RUSSIAN ADVANCE BEFORE THE FORTRESS OF CRACOW.

London, Sept. 24.—5:28 P. M.—A Petrograd dispatch forwarded to London by the Rome correspondent of the Central News Agency says that the Russian advance guards already have arrived before the Austrian fortresses of Cracow.

FRENCH TRY TO ENVELOP GERMAN ARMY.

London, Sept. 24.—2:00 P. M.—The correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company at Berlin, in a dispatch reaching here by way of Amsterdam, transmits an official report given out at army headquarters. This announcement is dated September 23, evening, and is as follows:

"The right wing of the German west army, beyond the river Oise, has been engaged in battle with the French who tried unsuccessfully to envelop it.

"Eastward, as far as the Argonne forest, there were no important engagements today.

"To the east of the Argonne region, Varennes was captured in the course of the day, and the attack is proceeding.

"German troops attacking the French forts south of Verdun victoriously repulsed a violent counter attack made from Verdun, Toul and across the river Meuse. The heavy artillery used against Troyon-Les-Pa-roches, Camp des Romains and Luneville was visibly successful.

"In French Lorraine and on the Alsace frontier French advance guards have at some points been repulsed.

"There has been no decisive action at any point.

"No news has been received from either the Belgian or the eastern theaters of war."

MOST VIVID PICTURE OF BATTLE TO THE DEATH.

London, Sept. 20.—9:45 P. M.—A correspondent of The Times sends the following dispatch from "behind the British lines," dated September 19: "The great battle draws to a close. Exhaustion rather than shot and shell has wrought a terrible peace along the river banks—a peace which my experience of the last few days leads me to believe may be the herald of victory. That, at least, is how I read the situation.

"I have seen our troops and the French go into battle these last days not as worn and weary men, but as conquerors. I have seen them return woulded from this valley of death with the conquering spirit fanned to fierce fury.

"The scene of the river at night was magnificent and appalling. The whole valley was swept with a blaze of searchlights from darkness until dawn.

"Here and there a flash revealed the bursting of a shell. Over all rolled the perpetual thunder of the guns, a fierce and thrilling accompaniment.

"An incessant rain, too, flooded the great river, making the work of the engineers a veritable task of Hercules.

"This was a battle to the last ounce of strength, in which man and horse poured out their whole lives in a few frenzied moments. Day and night the combat raged without intermission, ebbing and flowing like the tide, seething like a cauldron and into the hell strong men went down. It was a brave sight to see them go, gaily and light-heartedly, to return perhaps in a few hours broken for like or it may be never to return at all, for the loss was terrible.

Remains of Prestons Carried on to Asheboro.

Greensboro, Sept. 25.—The remains of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Preston, of Cambria, Va., who met tragic deaths, the husband instantly and the wife dying a few hours later after being unconscious since the accident, at the railroad crossing, two miles this side of Mebane Wednesday morning, were yesterday carried to Asheboro where the funeral services will be held this morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston, who were married last January, were on their way to visit Mrs. Preston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rush, who reside in Asheboro, where the auto they were driving was struck by Southern passenger train No. 21. The same train carried their bodies to High Point yesterday afternoon, where they were put on the train for Asheboro.

Accompanying the remains from here were J. W. Mitchell and B. C. Phlegar, both of Cambria, Va., business associates of the deceased. His father, Frank Preston, of Richmond, Va., the only living relative of Mr. Preston also was one of the funeral party. C. H. Rush, the father and three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Barber and Misses Lucille and Mona Rush, who came to the city Wednesday night, also accompanied the remains.

Warehouses to Open.

The three large tobacco warehouses for the sale of leaf tobacco will open and be ready for business October 1. Already the large buyers who were here last season are arriving and all the large tobacco firms who were represented here last year will be represented this season. Bring your tobacco to Burlington and receive the full market price for it.

Our Banks in Good Condition.

Burlington is fortunate in having two good strong banks, both banks are under safe and conservative management. Both have ample capital for all the needs of our community, and are anxious to do all they can for their patrons. Our citizens and the community at large are justly proud of our banking institutions.

Buy-a-Bale, Bought-a-Bale. This is a popular slogan these days.

Buy-A-Bale Movement Started.

The Buy-A-Bale Movement has been started, in fact, it is on in full spring in the progressive City of Burlington. Not to be outdone by other cities of like size and commercial importance, Burlington intends to do what she can to help out the Buy-A-Bale Movement. There are about fifteen hundred bales of cotton raised in Alamance County, and at ten cents per pound this means at least $75,000 for this county. Every patriotic citizen should buy a bale. If every citizen who can raise fifty dollars would buy a bale, there would be no surplus to bear the market, and our farmer friends would receive a fair return for their labor.

The latest recruits on a big scale to the Buy-A-Bale-of-Cotton Movement are the officers, field men and agents of the Southern Life & Trust Co., of Greensboro, N. C. President A. W. McAlister, of that progressive life insurance company, has sent out a circular letter to the agents stating that the home office men would buy twenty bales at ten cents a pound, these bales to be bought through the company's agents and from its policy holders.

The Southern Life & Trust Co., officials are said to be the first life insurance men to join in this movement, certainly in an organized way.

The Alamance Insurance & Real Estate Company, of this place, are the local agents of the Greensboro concern, and Mr. W. E. Sharpe, the manager, states that he would buy two bales, one for the local company and one for the Greensboro men.

The Piedmont Trust Company are ready and willing to help along the movement and will buy a bale.

Holt & May are authorized to buy two bales—one for the Nissen Wagon Co., and one for the Stockton Co.

The Dispatch believes that any Alamance County farmer who has cotton to sell at ten cents per pound, that he can sell it right here in Burlington, the only condition exacted is that the cotton must grade good middling and raised in Alamance County by the farmer who offers it for sale. Our advice to the farmer is to hold his cotton, but if he must raise some money upon his cotton for immediate use, load up your cotton and drive to the progressive town of BURLINGTON, where the money awaits you by these progressive firms, next week we hope to be able to give a larger list of those who will help boost the buy-a-bale plan.

MRS. SARAH FIX, President.

Waking Up.

The Chamber of Commerce is taking on new life. Mr. R. Fletcher Williams has been elected secretary, and as Mr. Williams is a live wire, something will be didding now pretty soon.

If the county finances, and other county affairs are not managed to suit you, come to the mass convention October 3rd and help nominate a set of men that will administer them in the interest of the men who pay the taxes, your help and influence is needed and will be appreciated.

Iceless Refrigerators, Fireless Cookers.

This is the scientific age—the age of the iceless refrigerator and the fireless cooker.

Housekeeping has not yet reached the stage of merely pressing a button and letting electricity do the rest—but it is nearing it. The market is full of devices for lightening kitchen labor.

They are of keen interest to every American woman because they make life easier.

The advertising in the newspapers from day to day contains news as to these devices.

The storekeepers have them on sale.

The wise housekeeper posts herself by reading the advertising.

Granite Workers at Mount Airy Strike.

Mount Airy, Sept. 24.—On yesterday 100 stonecutters in this city went out on a strike and these represent about a third of the men engaged in that business here. How long they may remain idle is problematic, as they may go to work at any hour or their action may result in a general sympathetic strike and involve all the cutters on the quarry. To locate the cause of a union labor strike is exceedingly difficult for the men interested have little to say, but it is understood that two Italian carvers who had recently come here, were discharged by the Granite City Cutting Company because they failed to make good on their promise to work on the matter of the wage scale paid them in a final settlement. After parleying with Mr. Bailey, the manager, the Italians appealed to the local union, which decided to withdraw the men pending a settlement. This action effected cutters in three different sheds as Mr. Bailey had subcontracted part of his work in order to complete it by a certain time.

It is believed that the present misunderstanding will be quickly adjusted, as the men generally do not appear to be in sympathy with the movement for there is plenty of work and the season is rapidly drawing to a close. Some take the view that the prevalence is of so little importance that it will not be necessary to take the matter to a higher authority where these questions are usually settled. On several occasions, the men have been ordered out here to remain idle a few days and return to work with no results accomplished except the loss of time and the citizens, quarrymen and the stonecutters all hope for a speedy adjustment of a matter that means much to all.

Bring your neighbor with you to the mass convention October 3, and help nominate a good county ticket who will administer the county affairs in the interest of the tax payers.

Special Meetings at Reformed Church.

A series of special meetings will begin at the Reformed Church on the first Sunday in October at 11 o'clock A. M. Rev. J. A. Koons, of Rockwell, N. C., is expected to do the preaching. Services during the week at 7:30 P. M.

We will appreciate having you at these services.

D. C. COX.

Don't fail to attend the party conference at Burlington, Saturday, Sept. 26th, from 2 to 10 p. m. Matters of interest and importance will be discussed. Your help and influence are needed.

Republican "Issues."
The New York Times continues to talk glibly about the "great change" that has been wrought in the American political situation by the European war. As a warm champion of President Wilson and a conspicuous apologist for his administration, the Times reiterates day after day that the Republican "issues" were shot away at Belgrade and that the American people are so delighted with the success of the President in keeping out of the war, they are satisfied with his record in all things. All of which with due respect to the able New York paper, is nonsense.

That the United States has not been drawn into the war in Europe is indeed a matter for profound gratification. It speaks well for the Wilson administration, yet it is a negative testimonial. Had the administration permitted this country to be drawn into the war it would have been an egregious blunder. Nobody expected President Wilson to make such a criminal mistake. In this case there was scarcely a possibility for doing the wrong thing or most assuredly somebody connected with the administration would have done it. But if the American people give the President praise for good sense in relation to the European struggle, that does not in any way change the situation which has been developing from day to day since the present administration was inaugurated.

The serious errors of Democratic rule are wholly sufficient to give the Republicans all the issues they need, regardless of the strife abroad. The tariff alone is sufficient. Abundant testimony is offered on the side of the Republicans by the thousands and thousands of American factory workers who are today without employment as a result of the ruin of home industries wrought by the Underwood tariff. And if this is not enough, there are the accumulated effects of business baiting—the throttling of financial enterprises by reason of vicious and reckless assaults upon business by iniquitous laws; the activities of ignorant and irresponsible commission; the pitiless wrecking done by demagogic government officials, and the general uncertainty and demoralization that have ensued. And if this still is not enough add the subservency of congress which has made the legislative branch a joke and a by-word; the surrender to tyranny of the gross ney; rebetaoin shr shrdnuu labor leaders; the official incompetence; the gross extravagance which has plunged the government into such financial straits that the President must levy a "war tax" to make up deficits; the abrogation of the civil service; the disruption of the consular system based on merit, etc. There are plenty of issues left for the Republicans. In the face of this state of things, President Wilson is entirely welcome to all the just credit he can get out of the fact that he has not plunged the nation into war.—Kansas City Journal.

Republicans Select Couple of Candidates.
A. A. Whitener, of Hickory is the Republican candidate to succeed Lee S. Overman in the United States Senate, and Greer Parsons, of Ashe, will bear the banner of the G. O. P. against Corporation Commissioner E. L. Tray. The Republican party will throw all the weight of its influence behind the amendments, particularly the one relating to taxation. The state organization will be permanent with headquarters open in Greensboro "until the State and the nation are both Republican," in the words of Secretary Grissom.

That is, in brief, the result of the meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee, held here yesterday afternoon. The meeting was largely attended, although not all the members of the committee were present. State Chairman F. A. Linney presided at the gathering, which was held in the offices recently opened by Secretary Grissom on South Elm street. Among those present besides the chairman and secretary, were: E. C. Duncan, national committeeman, J. J. Britt, candidate for Congress, from the tenth district, Thomas Settle and T. E. McCrary, candidate for Congress from the seventh district.

It is customary for the Executive Committee to indorse the candidacy of the various nominees for the Superior Court Bench, but in view of the fact that the list was not complete that matter was deferred until later. Chairman Linney spoke enthusiastically of the nominees for the two State offices last night. "Mike" Whitener I consider one of the very strongest young lawyers of Western North Carolina," he said. "He has a great reputation in that part of the State as an orator. Professionally he has already proved his mettle by holding his own against men far older and with far longer experience at the bar."

"Parsons has been a Roosevelt man ever since he owned a ranch out in the west that adjoined the one owned by Mr. Roosevelt. An intimacy sprang up between them then that has never been interrupted since. I am under the impression that Parsons voted for his friends in the last campaign. At least he is a strong admirer of the colonel. He is a business man of fine capacity. He has one of the finest cattle farms in the west, and has been president of a bank at Jefferson for years."

Headquarters will be maintained in Greensboro not merely through the coming campaign, but straight along through the intervening two years until the battle of 1916. "After all" Mr. Linney remarked last night, "the campaign this fall is but the preliminary skirmish. What we are really preparing for is the big fight two years hence. Nevertheless, we are going to send three congressmen to Washington this fall."

The officials at headquarters are exceedingly anxious that there be no misunderstanding as to their position with regard to the constitutional amendments. They are for them heart and soul. Especial efforts will be made in behalf of the taxation amendment. "It was undoubtedly meant to be defeated," said Mr. Linney, "but prospects for its passage are very bright now. The Democrats of Caldwell county have already indorsed every syllable of our state platform. They found public sentiment so strong that there was nothing else them to do."

Mr. Linney will spend much time here during the campaign, and Secretary Grissom will be here permanently.—Greensboro News.

Took Cannon's Speech in the Dark.
"Sometimes a man gets a reputation that is undeserved," said Sam Gray, a member of the stenographic corps of the House of Representatives. "It happened to me a few years ago when I was traveling with former Speaker Cannon in a political campaign. 'Uncle Joe' made a lot of speeches in that particular campaign and I was there to make a stenographic report and transcript of them. In one Western city the Speaker was talking to a tremendous crowd of people, when suddenly, without warning, the electric lights went out, leaving the house in total darkness. 'One might imagine that in such an emergency the man who was speaking would stop and wait for the light, but 'Uncle Joe' kept going, and in the darkness his voice was as clear as in the light. For fifteen minutes, perhaps, the speaker talked on in the darkness. It was up to me, of course, to make a report of his speech, and I did. Naturally I had to feel my way, and I made my notes unusually large so I would have no trouble in reading them. When the lights were restored I was right there with the Speaker, and made an accurate transcript of his speech. Some of the local newspaper boys heard of the story and published it as an marvelous feat."

"The fact is it was not at all difficult to follow the former Speaker. He is not a rapid speaker, and I had no trouble in taking his remarks. I would much rather make a report of 'Uncle Joe's' speech in the dark than to take the speeches of some members of Congress in the brightest light."

"Mike" Whitener, of Hickory, completes the triangle in the race for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Lee Overman, the others being Overman and Cowles.

Dr. Fleming in Greensboro Sunday.
Greensboro, Sept. 20.—Rev. P. H. Fleming, D. D., will today assume charge of the First Christian Church pastorate and will fill the pulpit at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The members and friends of the church, as well as the public generally, are urged to attend the initial services of the new pastor.

Dr. Fleming is well known to this section of North Carolina. Born in Warren County in 1862, with his parents he moved to Alamance County, while a child. In early life he began preparing for the ministry, and when only 20 years of age, was licensed by his conference. He was educated at Graham Normal college from which he was graduated with distinction, and he has received the degrees of M. A., from Elon College and D. D. from Union Christian College.

Among the churches that have enjoyed his services are the Christian churches at Burlington and Graham, N. C., Greenville, Ohio, and Manchester, N. H. He was serving the church last named when he received a unanimous call to the charge here. He has been eminently successful in his work, and is regarded as one of the most earnest preachers and among the best Bible scholars in his denomination. He is the author of "Mother's Answered Prayer," a book of wide circulation.

In addition to ministerial work, he has been active in educational matters in the denominational and public schools. He has been a trustee and secretary of the board of trustees of Elon College for many years. For 12 years he has been a member of the board of Education of the American Christian Convention.

The family of Dr. Fleming is now in Burlington and will soon come to this city. His wife and two sons will be welcomed heartily. Two older sons and his only daughter are engaged in educational work.

The church to which Dr. Fleming comes has a membership of nearly 200, and the Sunday school has an enrollment in all departments of 340.

That lull in the fighting between the European armies is the best thing they have done yet. What is the need of an irresistible body going up against an immovable object? The fearful slaughter which seems to be impending should be averted. It is well that there has been a lull and that fact is creditable to the humane impulses of the generals of the armies.

We are hoping for a good fair, but we will have to take it in anyway.

The Children's Shoes.
With school days at hand the fitting out of the children's feet becomes an important problem. Nothing is more important to a child's health and comfort than proper foot-wear. Ill fitting, poorly made shoes may father a life time of misery. The choice of the right shoemaker is a question of great importance. Many scientifically built shoes for children are on the market. They are constructed on proper last and built of good leather. Be sure you are right before purchasing—and one of the best guides to the correct sources of supply is the advertising in The Dispatch.

Colonel Roosevelt says he hopes he will not be a candidate for President in 1916, but there runs a vein of thoughtful, almost melancholy, resignation throughout his statement, which convinces us that he fears he will.

Weak Kidneys Often the Result of Overwork.
On several occasions I have been unable to work and suffered severe pains in the back, due to my kidneys. I called on a doctor of Ripon, Wis., but received no relief.

I tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which gave me instant relief. I was then able to resume work. Swamp-Root is the only relief I can get from kidney disease which I am subject to in the spring of the year. I am writing this testimonial through my own free will that sufferers of kidney and bladder diseases will know of the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root. POOR PI

The M. P. Sunday School.
 The attendance in our Sunday school was 210 last Sunday, a decrease of 36 as compared with the previous Sunday. We had hoped to have a larger attendance than usual, but owing to the seeming inclemency of the weather, the attendance was no so good as we had anticipated.

The preaching service Sunday morning was well attended and our pastor gave us a good sermon. At the close of the service Bro. G. R. Bennett presented himself for church membership upon profession of faith, and was received as a member. Bro. Bennett comes from a Methodist Protestant family.

The night service was of special interest to the young people, being Christian Endeavor rally. A program consisting of special music, both vocal and instrumental, and an address by Dr. W. A. Harper, of Elon College, was rendered. The music was splendidly rendered and the address was listened to with much interest. Dr. Harper spoke for half an hour on "The Relation of the Church to the Young People," explaining what the Christian Endeavor Society is, its origin, growth and purpose. His address was full of helpful ideas and suggestions relative to the Christian Endeavor work, and our society should profit by having heard such a splendid address. The attendance at this service was unusually good, the church auditorium being almost completely filled.

Our special meeting begins next Sunday morning. Rev. N. G. Bethea, of Granville circuit, has been engaged as pulpit help. An effort is being put forth to secure a singer to lead the singing during the meeting. We are praying for and expecting a great revival of religion in our church and a wonderful harvest of souls for the kingdom.

The Organized classes of our Sunday school held their business meetings last Thursday night. The Junior Palathea class served refreshments to the classes at the close of their business sessions.

Brother Curry spent the greater part of last week in Randolph county, near Asheboro, assisting Rev. J. H. Stowe in a special meeting on Why Not circuit.

Miss Cora Isley, of Wilmington, after spending her vacation with her parents here, has returned to her home and resumed her duties as nurse in the hospital. Miss Isley was one of our best Sunday school and church workers before going to Wilmington, and our people are always glad to see her.

Our third quarterly conference was held on Tuesday night of this week. The attendance was not as large as we had expected, but nearly all the officials of the church were present. The regular routine business was transacted. The result of the election of delegate to the Annual Conference was announced. C. B. Way was elected delegate and J. G. Rogers alternate. Several recommendations, introducing new features into our church work, were made by our pastor and adopted by the conference. The report of the financial condition of the church showed that we are behind at present on Conference claims, but the outlook is encouraging and we feel sure that all claims will be met by the close of the conference year.

Brother L. W. Holt, the excellent teacher of the Baraca Class of our Sunday school, spent last Sunday in Reidsville, and accompanied Mrs. Holt on her return home after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. G. M. Thompson.

Dr. W. D. Weatherford at Guilford College.
 Guilford College, Sept. 17.—Dr. W. D. Weatherford, international secretary of the college Y. M. C. A. work for the south, spent yesterday at Guilford, delivering while here his address on his trip around the world. Dr. Weatherford spoke very interestingly of the distressing economic conditions existing in China and Japan and how these conditions were due largely to the absence of Christianity. "One hundred million Chinese lie down hungry every night," said Dr. Weatherford. He showed further how the absence of heating arrangement for the Chinese home was due not to the lack of coal, but to the religious superstitions which prohibited the digging of the coal. Christianity is needed by these nations today to transform their bodies as well as their souls, to recast the economic system as well as to develop the religious and moral life of the people. And as a concluding word he illustrated from his experience and observation the eagerness of the Chinese for the western civilization and religion. On one window Dr. Weatherford said he noticed the sign: "English taught as far as the letter G." intimating that the advertiser was able to teach English to that extent. Dr. Weatherford is always a pleasant and welcome visitor to Guilford but never before have his messages made such a profound impression on the student body. Resulting from this visit, the students are now engaged in a campaign to raise one dollar per student to be expended on the equipment of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference grounds at Blue Ridge. Something over $150 has already been subscribed and the canvas continues. It is believed that the full amount will be raised. Dr. Weatherford expressed his gratitude at the ready response from the Guilford students.

Elon Sophomores.
 Elon College, Sept. 17.—One of the largest sophomore classes that Elon has ever had met this afternoon for organization. The following officers were elected for the incoming year: T. B. Harris, of Macon, president; Miss Jennie Willis Atkinson, of Elon College, vice president; Miss Mary Johnson, of Graham, secretary; W. J. B. Truitt, of Summerfield, corresponding secretary; Miss Julia Farmer, of News Ferry, Va., treasurer; J. L. Compton, of Roxboro, historian; Miss Marie Johnson, of Haw River, poet.

Then the class elected W. J. B. Truitt, of Summerfield, and J. L. Crumpton, of Roxboro, for debaters against the freshmen in the freshman-sophomore debate which will take place next March.

Davidson's Live Stock Show.
 The committee in charge of the work of raising funds for the premium list of the Davidson County Live Stock Show is meeting with much encouragement. Nearly $350 in cash premiums has been raised and the work of soliciting is not half over. Indications are that the show will be the greatest event of its kind ever pulled off in this county.—Lexington Dispatch.

O, Thou of Little Faith!
 The patient farmers are deluged with "plans" for raising the price of cotton by college professors, merchants, bankers, editors, and politicians. In the meantime cotton lies prostrate in the dust. The best plan yet devised is for the farmer to exercise his own good judgment, do the best he can and lay no more store by the beautiful plans that are more ornamental than useful.—Charity and Children.

"Lead Us Not Into Temptation."
 A young man in a Wisconsin town gave his heart to God and was converted through and through. He was very bright, and before his conversion was very wild. There was a young lady in that town he had been wont to visit often. She said to a familiar friend of hers, when she heard of his conversion, "I wonder if he will come to our parties now?" That friend replied, "I don't believe he ever will, and after hearing what he said, I don't think he will play cards any more." "I'll bet I can get him to play," said she. "I'll bet you can't," said her friend, and they made some kind of a bet together, the two girls, both members of the church, though they had no interest in religion. "Now, I'll tell you," said the first, "I'll give him two weeks, then will report to you."

A few nights after the meeting closed he came down to spend the evening with the girl. He put his coat on the rack in the hall and stepped into the parlor. She invited him to a chair. By and by she said, "Well, let's have a little game of cards tonight." "No thanks," said he; "I am not going to play any more." "You are not? What do you mean?" "I mean just that—that I am not." "Well, I know that you are not going to play with bad men, or gamble any more, but you will play with me." This was his reply. "I played my first game in a parlor with a girl, and my last with a gambler in a gambling den. Before I knew it I was gambling with all I could get. I don't propose to start where I did the first time." A brave, kind, polite answer. He had turned out a miserable gambler, and he did not propose to be caught a second time that way. They talked on a few minutes together, and then she said: "Oh, pshaw! I am not going to let you be so particular. What will we do if we don't play cards?" Continuing she said: "There is such a thing as being fanatical. I am glad you have changed, but I don't want you to be fanatical. And right here alone, just you and I—will you play a little game with me? I'll never tell." She pulled out a little drawer and from it took a pack of beautiful enameled, gilt-edged cards, and as she held them out to him she gave them that quick snap, music to the player's ear. "Come on! any game you say, your deal!" He looked at the cards; he looked at her; she was almost trembling with excitement. He looked into that eager face and she smiled upon him out of those beautiful eyes; he saw those pearly white teeth as they flashed out from behind coral lips; she smiled at him again so temptingly. He thought the word of that girl. He stood for an instant, looking into her face hesitating, then he reached out and took the cards from her hands and—tossed them over into a corner of the room. He turned and said: "I have a lesson to prepare tonight for tomorrow's recitation; I guess I had better go home and get it. Good evening." And he bowed and walked out of the room.—Selected.

Putting on Their Thinking Caps.
 The low price of cotton and the high price of corn, wheat and oats has caused many people to change their notions about next year's crop. The farmers are now counting on sowing a large crop of small grain. Last week Mr. John Haywood, of Osceola hauled a load of oats in the straw to Mineral Springs to a thresher in order to get seed for sowing. Many other farmers in this section are wishing that they had more oats threshed back in the summer.—The Waxhaw Enterprise.

For Congressman, 5th District: JOHN T. BENBOW, of Forsyth County.

THEY ALL WANT TO KNOW.

Graham, N. C., Route No. 1.
The Dispatch:
We want to thank you for your efforts in behalf of the tax payers of this county. I have been a life long Democrat, but if our officials are trying to keep us in the dark in regard to our county finances, I cannot vote the Democratic county ticket this fall. Keep after them and if you fail to get the statement published showing the saving to county, you can count upon two votes from my family for your county ticket. This is as much as I can promise at this time. With best wishes for your success I beg to remain,
LIFE LONG DEMOCRAT.

Graham, N. C., Route No. 1.
Mr. Editor:
I appreciate what you are doing for us tax payers. Keep it up, and force them to publish the statement of saving if possible. I am surprised that our officials would refuse to give out this statement. I cannot understand the motive. Surely our officials are honest, and yet if they are, why will they not let us know what they are doing. I am opposed to secrecy, and will not support any one who is guilty of trying to hide the facts from those who are entitled to know how our affairs are managed. I for one want to know how much we are saving by the salary system. I trust you will be successful in having this statement published.

TAX PAYER.
Altamahaw, N. C.

Editor Dispatch:
Please send me your paper for one year. I have refused to pay for it ever since it was first started, but your many efforts to help the tax payers deserves my gratitude, and I will do so heartily. I have always voted the Democratic ticket, but I am opposed to secrecy and I have confidence in the man that one exists at Graham. No honest man would be in favor of the salary that surrounds the amount saved by the salary system. Wishing you success, I beg to remain,
TAX PAYER.

Altamahaw, N. C., Route No. 1.
The Burlington Dispatch:
I want to tell you that your paper has convinced me that something is wrong with some of our county officials. If they were turning this money over to the treasurer as the and gladly tell how much they are turning over from the fees collected. An honest man would want the people to know how our affairs are being managed. I am opposed to secrecy and will not support those who maintain secrecy in their dealings with the tax payers in this county. Mortens township will not give as large Democratic majority this year as last unless our officials make public the statement before the election. I and my two sons will not go to the election if they do not tell us how our affairs are managed, and I know of some of my neighbors who will stay at home, at least they say they will. Keep up the fight and you will win friends.
DEMOCRATIC WORKER.

Swepsonville, N. C.

The Twice-A-Week Dispatch:

I am sending you a dollar to renew my subscription to your paper. I like it better every day. I admire your stand on the salary system. All of us down this way want to know how much we are saving. Sheriff Cook has always received a large vote here, but he must have changed since being elected sheriff, when he was here he would not have stood for such conduct as some of the officials are doing now. We all had lots of confidence in Bob Cook, but he is in mighty bad company now and it will lose him votes here unless this statement is published showing how the salary system is working. None of the Republicans will vote for him on this account, and some of us Democrats are getting mighty weak. Now, Mr. Editor, I know you, and have heard that you used to live here. I have never heard anything against you but that you were a Republican, and in the past I have thought that was enough to hang a man, but it seems there are other bad people in the world besides Republicans. I will not support any man this year who is in favor of secrecy regarding the salary system. I may not vote the Republican or Bull Moose ticket, but I will not vote for the present county officers unless they let us know how our finances stand. Send me your paper and keep after them. They will squeal a little nearer the election. Please do not let them know who wrote this. Sheriff Cook loaned me five dollars once and I do not want to appear ungrateful. With best wishes for your efforts in our behalf, I am,
DISGUSTED DEMOCRAT
Graham, N. C., R. No. 2, 9-18-14.

Mr. The Twice-A-Week Dispatch Publishing Co., Burlington, N. C.

I for one would love to see a statement of the salary system of the county officers published. Mr. Editor, I heartily recommend your paper for calling on the officers of the county to make a statement of our affairs. You see this county business don't belong to 5 or 10 people. It is the whole people of Alamance County. All so I would like for G. Ah Fogelman to say whether he is working for the whole people of Alamance or a part of them and how far he is behind and how long will it take to change all the public roads in the county as possible. We are waiting and waiting and waiting. We are tired of this. It is the 17th year that the salary has been on our road. Now Mr. Editor, I can not expect to say this week or next week, but you can surely tell in 2 or 3 years of the time when you can do as some work. If you think it will be better to let our people know in 2 or 3 years, please let a man, with an eye and not in your hurry and hide me all of those roads where "has been" collected so long and have your man with the axe to blaze some trees so you can tell where the road is. By this, Mr. Fogelman, and of course your friend, a tax payer. Stay, Mr. Editor, it isn't so about our county commissioners going to lay number around the court house, is it? Surely not, as far as debt as the county is and can't fix up the public roads so the people can get out to the court house.
Yours truly,
Have been a genuine Democrat but getting weak.

McADOO IS BUSY AFTER THE BANKS.

His Second Step Reaches Out to Get Guilty State Banks and Trust Companies.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The anti-money hoarding campaign, launched by Secretary McAdoo against national banks, particularly those which have received Federal crop moving money or which have taken out emergency currency, was broadened today to take in State institutions. Mr. McAdoo sent a telegram to superintendents of banking in each state, announcing the restriction of credits by national banks and the high interest rates charged and appealing for all available information.

This was the Secretary's second move today in the campaign. Earlier he made public a statement in which he announced that if the State of Tennessee continues to find bankers unwilling to renew a $1,400,000 loan he himself will take up the task of finding banks who will make such a loan. It was understood that a list of banks which are piling up reserves or hoarding money will be made public tomorrow and that as announced last night the practice will be kept up as long as there is occasion for it.

MORE MONEY THAN EVER.

After announcing the restriction of credits by national banks, Mr. McAdoo says: "There is at this time more currency in the country than at any time in its previous history, there having been issued through the Treasury Department since August 4th more than $300,000,000 of additional national bank currency, which should create an abundance of loanable funds. This department will withdraw government deposits from banks found to be hoarding money and charging rates of interest and will re-deposit them with banks whose funds are being loaned at reasonable rates to meet the legitimate demands of business and for moving the crops."

AFTER THE STATE BANKS.

"This department would like very much to have your co-operation in its efforts to remedy these unsatisfactory conditions and respectfully asks if it would not be possible for you to secure from all State banks and trust companies in your State statements which will show their cash reserves as of a recent date, the rates of interest which they are charging on existing loans, and the rates which they are demanding for new accommodations, and give this information closed by these reports. It is confidently believed that if all banks can be persuaded to use their resources intelligently and conservatively and at reasonable rates of interest, the whole situation can be greatly relieved and business restored to a satisfactory, if not an entirely normal basis. Kindly answer."

WILL HELP TENNESSEE.

Secretary McAdoo's statement concerning the Tennessee loan situation follows: "Senator Lea of Tennessee, informs me that the State of Tennessee has $1,000,000 of short term notes maturing October 1st; that the State desires to renew or extend $1,400,000 of these notes; that a commission representing the State has been in New York for some time trying to affect this loan, but without success. "It is preposterous that one of the great States of the Union should find it impossible to procure from the banks such a comparatively small amount of money. Senator Lea informs me that he was going to New York last night for the purpose of joining the commission in its efforts to secure the needed loan. "If Senator Lea and his associates are unable to procure from banks in the city of New York or elsewhere today, and upon reasonable terms, the desired loan, I will myself see if banks cannot be found to take up this loan for the State of Tennessee on the first of October next, upon reasonable terms and at a reasonable rate of interest."

The issue is the taxation amendment vs. more State bonds.

Jack Johnson Remanded.

London, Sept. 24.—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, who now again claims American citizenship, is in more trouble, and as usual, his automobile is primarily the cause.

Because he used language that a London policeman described as illegal, Johnson was brought before the magistrate at Bow street today on a warrant and held on his own recognizance pending a further hearing.

The fighter was originally served with a summons, which he disregarded, whereupon a warrant was issued. Learning of that Johnson returned from Liverpool to face his accusers.

The trouble arose when Johnson's automobile was standing outside a Leicester Square barber shop in which its owner was being shaved. It caused a crowd to collect, interfering with the traffic. A policeman directed the negro to move the car along, which Johnson refused to do until his shaving had been finished, accompanying his refusal with the language complained of.

NOTICE.

LAND SALE!

By virtue of the authority conferred in me the undersigned commissioner by a judgment of the Superior Court in a special proceeding entitled Mrs. A. V. S. Aldridge and others against Jessie R. Aldridge and others, I will on Saturday the 17th day of October, 1914, on the premises, at 12 o'clock M., offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder at auction for cash that certain tract or parcel of land located in Stoney Creek Township, Caswell County, and adjoining the lands of Dr. J. A. Pinnix and others, and known as the James R. Aldridge home place, and contains 192 acres, more or less. Full and complete description can be had by reference to a deed made December 8th, 1888, by Rufus G. Aldridge to James R. Aldridge and recorded in Book 64, on page 386 of the Register of Deeds office for Caswell County.

The said land is well watered and any kind of farm machinery can be used on 9-10ths of it; the majority of it is grain land, but a portion is fine tobacco land. About 60 acres ready for farming, 15 acres in original growth, 85 acres in second growth timber.

There is located on this land a good well of water, one good tobacco barn, a five room dwelling house and out-houses.

WAR!

Means higher prices and greater demand for grains. The price of wheat has increased 35 cents, corn 20 cents per bushel.

You can't do better than to hook up to a good grain farm. If we were in the farming business we would grab this one, but since it is our business to sell 'em, we must let her go.

One twenty acre field produced 500 bushels wheat this year. Another field produced 541 bushel oats. There will be 500 bushels of corn with proper season.

The farm is divided into fields with barb wire and American field fence about three miles of fence in all.

Field No. 2.....17 acres.

We will sell this farm on EASY TERMS, for less than $30.00 per acre.

Liberty Shows Prove to Be Exceptionally Clean and Meritorious.

Under the auspices of the firemen of Punxsutawney the Big Liberty Shows opened here last night and the crowd that enjoyed the first evening's fun was an unusually large, also an unusually enthusiastic one.

First and foremost the shows are clean from beginning to end. There is no show on the grounds that any lady might not witness with pleasure and the attractions are uniformly good.

There are 12 attractions in all and they vie with each other for popularity although the dog and pony show is the feature. The motordrome, the Athletic show, the circus side show, the midget entertainment, in fact all the attractions are high class.

The merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel furnish plenty of amusement for the children and likewise the grown ups. In addition there are numberless other concessions that will amuse everyone. The crowd of last night appeared to be having the time of its life. Mat Guy, who furnishes the free attraction by diving from a height of 110 feet into a tank five feet in depth, gives a real thrill. This act is staged every afternoon at 4:30 and every evening at 10:30. It is certainly one big free attraction.

The band with the Liberty Shows is one of the best ever heard here and the concerts are highly enjoyable. Miss Gilpin, who sings, accompanied by the band, has a voice of real charm.

All in all the attractions are apparently of the highest class, clean in every respect, and meritorious throughout.

The above is reproduced from one of the Sanford papers where the Liberty Shows are exhibiting this week. The Liberty Shows are to be here at the Fair. They will arrive here Monday morning and put up immediately and give a show at the Fair ground Monday night.

If you are opposed to cliques, rings, and secret political conspirators, attend the mass meeting October 3rd, Graham, and bring your neighbor with you, you will be welcome, and your help and influence needed.

Entertainment at Elon.

Elon College, Sept. 21.—Miss Urquhart, dean of women, entertained her Sunday school class, 50 in number, bearing the name Fidelis, in the west dormitory tonight.

The hostess and the officers of the Fidelis class received the girls in the spacious parlor where chairs and tables had been arranged for games and contests. Miss Oma Utley was successful in the contest for Bible names by syllables, the prize being a volume of Frances Ridley Havergal's. After a delightful hour there, the girls were ushered to the dining room which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion, using cypress vine, sweet peas, and roses, carrying out the class colors—green and violet.

Refreshments were served, and wit and appropriate toasts made. Miss Janie Pritchard, vice president, acting as toastmistress in the absence of the president, Miss Callie V. Dunlap.

Take a day off to attend your county's business October 3rd, you are a partner in this good old County of Alamance, and the stockholders are going to have a meeting to select a set of men who will manage the county affairs in a successful manner. You cannot send a proxy—come in person. Your advice and presence are needed.

Who is A. A. Whitener? "Who is A. A. Whitener?" queries the Winston Journal referring to the Republican nominee for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Lee S. Overman.

The "A. A." part is calculated to throw many off their guard, for those who know the man know him only as "Mike," which probably accounts for the Journal's failure to recognize him at first. "Mike" is well known throughout the eighth and ninth congressional districts, especially in the ninth. However, his reputation is not confined solely to those districts, for he is fairly well known throughout the State in legal and political circles. He is not old in years, is younger in spirit, and has a large law practice in Catawba, Lincoln, Burke, Caldwell and other counties in that section of the State. He is a "good sport," too, taking great interest in baseball and other athletics, and many times he has been called upon to umpire a hot game of baseball between rival teams. His love for a good joke, a hearty laugh, and true athletics is well known, and in many respects he is like William G. Brauman of Durham. He is well-informed on all questions.

is a good lawyer and a good mixer. While a Republican of the deep dye, he has as many and more friends who are Democrats. He is a great speaker, having an easy flow of language, and a voice that will carry anywhere. When Mike Whitener speaks the committee on arrangements need not worry about the acoustics of the hall. Mike's voice can't be drowned.

For many years he was law partner of W. A. Self, the silver-tongued orator of the foothill region of North Carolina. Self was just as much a Democrat as Whitener a Republican, but in their business relations they were the closest of friends. When the biennial campaigns would roll around, both would be found on the stump fighting for their political beliefs, and the fur would fly.

But this is digressing. Whitener is a splendid fellow, and as he stands out the slightest show of election, we can afford to say all these good, and at the same time true, things about him. Should he decide to take the stump in the coming campaign it will add greatly to the merriment of the race. In his younger days he followed the style of Romulus Z. Linney, the "Bull of the Brushies," in his campaign speaking, as did Tom Settle and other of the younger politicians. But as this style fell by the wayside, Mike adapted himself to the new, and is today one of the State's most polished speakers.

The farmers are wise in this day and generation. They are holding their cotton for more than ten cents, and they will get it too if they will only hold until the demand increases.

"Give a woman credit," pleads a suffragette, but may it not be that some of them hold, at times at least, to the Omarian philosophy of taking the cash and letting the credit go?

The fact that District Attorney Whitman has been caught in co-sultation with Boss Barnes, has placed that gentleman upon the defensive. Such is politics.

When You Buy "HOME MADE" You Are a Real "HOME AID"

Walls, forts, turrets, armor, steel strategy! Defense, protection, safety! These are the words of the hour and the thought of millions today. Yonder, in the thick of the "gholly-windie," men and women tremble lest their defenses fail. Terror grips the stoutest hearted in the great tramp, tramp of the destroying hordes. Here, we are in the midst of peace. Yet our thought turns, swift as light to our DEFENSES. While we sit and thank our stars, and stripes, that we are not as other nations are, the query flashes: What shall we do to be safe? Our combat is the peaceful one of commerce. Our safety lies in the way of LOYALTY. When we of America produce our own food stuffs, we are forging our defenses. The more we produce the sturdier we are. When we MANUFACTURE our own tools, our own clothing, our own supplies, our libraries as well as our needs, we are fortifying against invasion. But— WHEN WE USE WHAT WE MANUFACTURE, WE ARE ABSOLUTELY CLINCHING THE ARGUMENT. We've spent millions seeing Europe. We've poured our annual tribute into foreign coffers for foreign stuff. We've squandered uncounted thousands of good American dollars for imported luxuries. "Hills are green far away," says the proverb. And we've believed it. We've ACTED IT. We've forgotten that HERE WHERE WE LIVE there are skilled laborers and artisans making the stuff that we need. We've lost sight of the fact that AT OUR OWN DOORS there are factories and shops turning out goods that we calmly pass by for those bearing the magic label—"Made in goodness knows where." Are we loyal? Do we mean what we say when we patter about patriotism? I guess, let's quit all this sort of foolishness and go to work building a big wall for our own defense. Let's take stock of our resources HERE AT HOME, CLOSE BY, and whirl into the thick of the most patriotic piece of service we've ever tackled. Let's form the HOME GUARD! If you have a scrap of loyalty and foresight—join the Home Guard. If you care—really CARE—you'll pitch with whole-souled vigor into this HOME AID campaign. BUY HOME MADE GOODS and you'll be piling up practical ammunition for the defense of the country you love.

"Where Singleness is Bliss 'tis Folly to Have Wives."
WHAT MOLES MEAN.
The average one of us would never think of moles as being identified in any possible way with love and fortune. Otherwise, perhaps, we would not be so keen to rid ourselves of these little brown spots. How dreadful would be the discovery that the electric needle had removed along with that mole from the corner of your mouth or your eye a rich, indulgent husband and a goodly fortune. Be prepared. That's what you may discover in the following mole data:

A mole on the right cheek or right arm signifies happiness in love affairs.

On the left hand, possession of a mole betokens an unfortunate marriage.

Moles on the right cheek or arm, in combination with one or more on the left hand, point to more good fortune in love affairs than in money matters.

A mole at the corner of the right eye predicts a rich and indulgent husband.

A mole on the chin, if it be light yellow in color, shows a woman to be a good housewife. If brown in color it portends a happy married life, but possibly troublesome children.

A mole on the nose shows that the possessor will attract jealous lovers. Caution must, therefore, be exercised in dealing with admirers.

A sure sign of wealth, present or future, is to have a mole at the right corner of one's mouth.

On the other hand, a mole at the left hand corner of the mouth is a warning to its owner to beware of treachery and of a false lover.

Down in Maine.
They've fortified the pigsty now, they's put chain armor on the cow,
They're going to hide the grizzled guide until December first.
For soon the sportsman will be here, alert to slay the gentle deer;
And for six weeks, with blanching cheeks,
All Mains will fear the worst!

No longer through the sheltered veils and down the mountain's shady trails
The native may serenely stray,
Lest from some nearby crag
A huntsman with mistaken aim may mark him grimly for his game,
And smile a joyous smile the while
He yells: "A stag! A stag!"

Who strolls among the forest lands takes his existence in his hands;
The very trees are ill at ease.
The hillsides quake with fear!
Yet what are these wild things that frisk and romp and leap, immune from risk,
With no alarm, nor fear of harm?
Tut! tut! Why they are deer!
—J. J. Montague in N. Y. American.

We were feeling a little seasick and I suggested we have a cup of tea to settle our stomachs. It was served alone owing to the nearness of our evening meal. Our little granddaughter, accustomed to her bountiful farm spread at home, looked up to me inquiringly and said: "Grandma, what will we have to settle the tea?"

Poetry and Fact.
Mary had a little lamb,
So fast the creature grew
That by the time that autumn came
'Twas served as mutton stew.

In a Hole.
Uncle Joe Cannon said at a Danville political picnic last month:
"Finance such as that, gentlemen, will land the country in the hole wherein Mrs. Bill Smith found herself."
"Mrs. Bill Smith spent with her husband a two week's vacation at Atlantic City. It was an extravagant vacation. It cleaned her out."
"As they rode back on the train, sunburned and fatigued, their pockets books empty and the next payday two weeks off Mrs. Smith sighed and said:
"Well, anyhow, Bill we'll be all right as soon as we get home. The morn'ing we started off I hid a ten dollar bill under the pink plush album in the parlor."
"Yes, said Bill, grimly, 'yes, I know you did. I found it.'—Washington Star.

Borah Charges Democrats With Undue Extravagance.
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17.—Senator W. E. Borah, of Idaho, opening the Indiana Republican campaign here tonight charged the Democratic administration with "undue extravagance."
"Congress up to this date has appropriated $1,117,000,000," the senator said, "which does not include the river and harbor bill nor any appropriations made necessary, as it is claimed by the war."
"Appropriations to date are in excess of the Republican appropriations of the last Congress by $106,000,000."

Now it is asserted that General Sherman never said "war is hell." It is, anyway.

A Fall Note.
Of our kind deeds we're positive
And nothing could be truer;
For at this time of year we give
Our straw hats to the poor.

When The War Is Over.
The South should now heed the advice which Lord Beaconsfield in Parliament gave to Greece:
"Learn to be patient."
In our case patience will be followed by prosperity.
Just at present, with her mainstay crop demoralized, the South has grave reasons to feel distressed and anxious. However, even now there is a rift in the cloud, and the situation caused by the crisis in the cotton market is measurably improving each day.
Good times are coming. It is inevitable.
When the war is over Europe will look to America—will demand of America the wherewithals for re-education.
There is not a single American manufacturing establishment but which directly or indirectly, will feel the result of the influx of European Gold. Our foodstuffs will be needed abroad. The South's cotton they must have. Our cotton goods also will find a waiting market.
In the meantime American trade will locate openings in South American countries formerly dominated by the enterprising commercialists of Germany, Great Britain and France.
By the time the war is over we will not only be supplying South America with millions of dollars of exports, but we will have Europe on our hands as well.
Who can say that this will not prove the greatest era of prosperity in the history of the United States? The South in particular will share in this beautiful affluence.
So let us be patient. Let us take care of the exigencies of today with cheerful hearts, with smiling faces and with courage for the future.—Macon News.

Says John G. Shaw to John H. Small: "The public is wondering why it is that it takes so long to get the regional banks in operation. The law was intended to meet emergencies; and we certainly are in the midst of an emergency now." That hits the bull's eye.

Emperor William's Will in Ridicule.
Paris, Sept. 18.—Anything anti-German or anything that ridicules or condemns Germany and the Kaiser goes in Paris. An enterprising printer made a pretty penny for the sale of "Kaiser Wilhelm's Will," which reads as follows:
"My fortune to all the widows, orphans and others of whose bereavement I have been the cause."
"To Belgium, as a souvenir of her heroic defense of Liege, the Cross of Honor in diamonds, my sword and the right to jeer at me."
"To France I restore my force Alsace-Lorraine, her clocks, and her billions of francs."
"To England I give back her title which I usurped—viz "King of the seas."
"To Servia I give Austria."
"To Russia, all my cannon, as a surety of universal peace."
"To Austria I leave my last cartridge, in order that she may end the business in honorable fashion."
"To all the other countries that I have forced into mobilization and war I give the wealth that remains in my empire."
"To my family I give the nothing I have left."
"As executor of this will I choose William Deibler to whom I regret I cannot give my head, which is claimed by all the world." (Deibler is the Paris executioner.)

The war ought to make school work more interesting for both teachers and pupils if the former live up to their opportunities. Geography and history lessons ought to be enlivened by daily references to the war and study of the positions of the various armies. There is a growing tendency in the schools to tie up the knowledge gained from text books with the affairs of the day and the European war cannot be ignored. Grown folks are finding their knowledge of the rest of the world greatly stimulated and their interest in people of other countries intensified. Teachers should see to it that none of their pupils fail to gain a vivid impression of the epochal events of the present day.

Somebody said that it couldn't be done. But he, with a chuckle, replied, "That 'maybe it couldn't,' but he would be one who wouldn't say till he'd tried. So he buckled right in with the trace of a grin on his face. If worried he did it. He started to sing as he tackled the thing that couldn't be done—and he did it! Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that—At least no one has ever done it!" But he took off his coat, and he took off his hat, and the first thing we knew he had won it. With the lift of his chin and a bit of agrin, without any doubt or quiddit, he started to sing as he tackled the thing that couldn't be done—and he did it! There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done, there are thousands to prophesy failure; there are thousands to point out to you, one by one the dangers that wait to assail you. But just buckle in with a bit of a grin and take off your coat and go at it. Just start to sing as you ackie the thing that "cannot be done"—and you'll do it.

There are three classes of people in the world. The first learn from their own experience—these are wise; the second learn from experience of others—these are happy; and the third neither learn from their own experience nor the experience of others—these are fools.

"Strange," said the first tramp, meditatively, "how few of our youthful dreams ever come true!"
"Oh, I dunno," said his companion. "I remember when I used to dream about wearin' long pants, and now I guess I wear 'em longer than any one else in the country."—Ladies Home Journal.

Of course it is always the other party that is run by a machine and the bosses.

A little war tax will be more effective than many columns of descriptive horror to make Americans realize the truthfulness of General Sherman's brief statement.

POOR F

The Result in Maine.

One feels, with all the returns in, some doubt concerning the barometric value of the Maine vote. It is a rather poor straw, and there were few surprises. Since Maine is a Republican state, all things being even, we suppose that Democratic leaders, even in their private councils, will feel that they have given a very good account of themselves. The Republican governor, Willard T. Hines, had numerous obstacles to face, and events show very conclusively that he was not successful in facing them all. Both the Progressive and the Democratic candidates directed a constant fire upon him, asserting he had shown bad faith in enforcing the prohibition law. The liquor question permeated every county in the State, and as the law is not enforced, and probably never will be in the larger cities, every succeeding administration is placed upon the defensive. We believe that the Democrats have most cause for self-congratulation in the reelection of Daniel McGillicuddy, in the second district. The chances favored the reelection of this member at every stage of the campaign, a fact that was well understood. In the first place the Republicans have been hopelessly divided in this district and the Progressives succeeded in getting out a good man. The Moose made their principal assault upon the Republicans, for the reason that, inasmuch as Maine in normal times is Republican, they realize they must first destroy that party if they are to make permanent gains. The Republicans, too, had a strong man in the person of Harold Sewell, a son of the late Arthur Sewell, who was the Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1896 with Bryan. The son became a Republican at the time the father was nominated for Vice President. Nevertheless, it may be said for the Democrats, the the Republicans entertained some hope of carrying the district. The tariff and the canal tolls issue cut a figure. Maine is interested in shipping, and both the Republicans and the Progressives talked much about Aroostock county potatoes. The Democrats met the issue by declaring that, no matter how many potatoes were being brought over from Canada, they were just as high as ever, and the farmers were enduring no suffering on account of the lowering of the rates. The Democrats did not do so well in the first district, represented by Asher Hines, Republican. Hines has been ill for some time, only accepted the nomination at the earnest solicitation of friends, and was unable to make an active campaign. Both the Democratic and Progressive candidates were entertaining a lively hope that Hines would be defeated by a decisive majority. Both the third and fourth Congress districts are strongly Republican and the Democrats of those districts were not entertaining much hope of success. The Republican majorities were substantial, as usual.

We suspect, if the Moose could somehow be put out of business, that men would vote pretty much as they did before the 1912 election. Compared with the 1912 vote the Progressives have sustained, in most sections, great losses. As this process of disintegration goes on the Republicans show immense gain—125 per cent in Maine—because the Progressives are a party of protest, and their activity signified chiefly a Republican defection. As the Progressives break away, they simply return home, while the Democrats, if they gain anything at all, must make a genuine convert. We suppose, in gaining even 18 per cent in Maine, they can claim something worth while, but they must do much better than that if they are to become the majority party in the nation.

Peace Assured With Four Great Powers.

So far as treaties can ensure peace, the United States is assured for at least a year against war with Great Britain, France, Spain and China, as well as with the twenty-odd smaller nations which some time ago formally agreed to the proposition submitted by President Wilson in 1913 to all the countries of the earth. This assurance follows the signing at Washington yesterday of treaties with the four Powers first mentioned above.

These treaties provide that all questions of whatever character and nature in dispute between the contracting parties shall, when diplomatic efforts fail, be submitted for investigation and report to a commission the composition of which has been agreed upon between them. That commission shall be granted a year in which to determine and announce its findings and pending that period the status quo shall be maintained—in other words, there shall be no resort to hostilities. The right to go to war after that period is reserved.

The object, of course, is to give nations time to cool off, such time not to be used in preparations for war against each other if war becomes inevitable. It is, of course, impossible to tell whether the plan will prove practicable. Faith in any method of preventing war even on a world-wide scale has been rudely shattered by the events of the last two months. But any plan that even promises to avert another such calamity is worth trying, and even at the worst the United States, in proposing and successfully negotiating these treaties gives most practical evidence of its desire and its purpose to remain at peace with all the world.

Favors Old Age Laborer Pension.

Wilmington, Sept. 7.—In an address here today before the Trades Council of that city, Chief Justice Walter Clark declared in favor of legislation such as he says has been adopted in numbers of foreign countries and some of the States of the Union that prescribes a fixed rate of compensation for employed injured or killed in the course of their employment, this to be paid in thirty or sixty days without litigation and without deductions for counsel fees, the corporation to not be permitted to plead that it was not negligent. The chief justice urged his hearers to consider this matter and if deemed of sufficient importance to make their wishes and influence known to the law makers of the State.

The chief justice declared that the "old age pension" system of numbers of foreign countries and if some of the States is a just provision and must ultimately be adopted everywhere. He said this is not a live issue in North Carolina yet, but that it will be as soon as it has been sufficiently discussed to catch the attention of the people of the State, who are so noted, he says, for conservatism and opposition to new departures. He insisted that the same principle that calls forth pensions to old soldiers should apply in pensioning the great army of "soldiers of toil" after long lives spent in creating the wealth.

The chief justice declared against any and all sorts of poll tax levied against men for "merely breathing the air," and insisted that taxes should be levied against the wealth and luxuries of life.

Clarence Poe's Cotton Plans.

Chairman Clarence Poe, of the committee named by Governor Crain on financing the North Carolina cotton crop gave out a statement setting forth the plans he believes should be adopted by the agricultural department and Farmers' Union in North Carolina, while at the same time urging adequate relief from the national government. He said:

"First of all, if it were properly financed, I believe we could make a state-wide campaign for holding that would soon become south-wide. The woods are full of farmers who are determined to hold from one to fifty bales of cotton till Sheol freezes before they will part with it for less than ten cents, and any state department that will take hold of this sentiment can roll up an army of signers and start a wave of enthusiasm that will make Kaiser William green with envy. Moreover, if only one state would do these things, that alone would help, but the inspiring fact is that if one state starts with $3,000 or $10,000 and comes to the farmer's relief in this manner, the example will be contagious, other states will fall in line and the spellbound do-nothing policy that has thus far distinguished every state government in the South, except Texas, will be ended.

Saved Mine Option

A WESTERN Mining Engineer, with an option on a valuable mine was about to close the deal, when, at the last minute, the Western capitalists withdrew their support. With a few hours left in which to find the money, he got New York on the Bell Long Distance Telephone, talked with a banking house and outlined the proposition, which they agreed to finance.

A personal interview by the Bell Long Distance Telephone often closes a trade or saves a situation.

Chapel Hill News.

Chapel Hill, Sept. 21.—The perfecting of its organization designating the work of each department and outlining of the program for the college year is the task which the Y. M. C. A. of the University is attacking vigorously. The membership of the organization starts off with 315 students. The duties of the organization began several days previous to the official opening of the University, acting as an information bureau to all new comers. The first year students were met at the railway station, explained the preliminaries regarding registration and directed safely to the path on which they would immediately begin their four years' journey. They were given a guide book which for its reliability and scope of information has long since been termed the "Freshman Bible." The Y. M. C. A. will again project its helpful influence into the community life adjacent to Chapel Hill. Secretary Frank Graham, the guiding spirit of the organization, has a constructive program in the making. Seven Sunday schools in the rural communities of Orange county will be conducted by members of the organization. A number of schools being situated to the far borders of the county. In conjunction with the rural uplift program, corn club contests will be operated, the University boys being co-workers with the C. S. range farmer boys in producing an increased yield of corn. Following up the plan inaugurated last year, negro life and its perplexing problems will be studiously considered by the Y. M. C. A. Prof. E. C. Branson will open the campaign with a lecture on "Present Forces in Negro Progress." The activities of the negro night school operated by members of the organization, will be renewed. This school attracted wide-spread attention last session, and the continuation of the work will prove a potent force in directing the negroes of the community to a higher standard of living.

Alumni of the University are planning for a great celebration on University Day, October 12. The celebration here will be featured by an address by Hon. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education. University chapters, thickly grouped in North Carolina, and scattered throughout the United States, will determine on a program dedicatory to the passing of another birthday of the institution. A game of football between the University of North Carolina and South Carolina will afford fun for the sport loving.

Four distinct nationalities are represented in the State University's enrollment—Japan, Cuba, Persia and Russia. There are two Persians, one of whom is taking a course leading to medicine. The other foreign representatives are pursuing studies leading to degrees in the academic department. The total enrollment of the University numbers 955.

No matter what your politics are, you know that your affairs are badly managed your taxes are increasing, and your county getting farther in debt, did you know all the property you possessed is bound for this debt? It's the truth.

Man is not born to solve the problem of the universe, but to find out what he has to do, and to restrain himself within the limits of his comprehension.—Goethe.

That brand new merchant marine appears to have been put off until the Democrats have favored the country with as much additional taxation as they can think of.

Straight Dealer Talk.

R. H. Durbin, the advertising manager of one of the largest and most successful departments in the country recently addressed a meeting of buyers in New York.

He made a strong plea to local merchants to support the manufacturers who advertise in newspapers.

Such national advertising, Mr. Durbin declared, should inspire the retailer to come out and say "I carry such and such a product."

Mr. Durbin gave this advice to the buyers. "Do not forget that the goods you have in stock are to be sold right here in your town and that the way to sell them is to advertise in the home newspaper.

"Pay no attention to the manufacturer who sends you a lot of circular matter saying 'We are going to buy a $10,000 spread in the Sun and Moon Magazine on such a date and we hope you will cooperate with us by advertising in your local newspapers that you handle our product.'"

HE CARRIED AN UMBRELLA.

A dear old lady who was very "set" in her prejudices was asked just why she didn't like a certain man. She had no particular reason that she could think of at the instant, but she had been so emphatic in her expressions of dislike that she knew she would have to find some excuse—of course. Just at that moment she happened to glance out the window and seen him passing by. He carried a neatly rolled umbrella though it hardly threatened rain.

Quick as a flash she answered her questioner. "He carries an umbrella whether it's raining or not—he is a 'softie.'"

"But" said her friend, also looking out of the window, "Here comes your son William, and he is carrying an umbrella."

This did not stump the old lady. "But that's another matter—I don't like him anyhow—and besides, it all depends on who carries the umbrella," she replied triumphantly.

That is the position some people have taken regarding that wholesome and refreshing beverage Coca-Cola. They have said a good many unkind things about it and in each instance have had it proved of them that their tales were not true.

Finally they seized upon the fact that Coca-Cola gets much of its refreshing deliciousness from the small bit of caffeine that it contains. They looked upon that as a splendid argument against it. Then, like the old lady who was reminded of Son William, they were reminded that it is the caffeine in their favorite beverages, tea and coffee, (even more than in Coca-Cola) that gives their their refreshing and sustaining qualities.

But does that stop their criticism of Coca-Cola for containing caffeine? No—their answer is similar to the old lady's—they say "But that's another matter"—what they mean is "Being prejudiced against Coca-Cola and liking tea or coffee, it all depends on what carries the caffeine."

We think the joke is on them—for caffeine is caffeine, and if it is not harmful in one it can't be harmful in another. We all know that it is not harmful in tea or coffee—that it is really helpful in whatever it is—this is bound to include Coca-Cola.

Of course, the truth is, that having started an attack on false premises and having had what they thought were good reasons for criticism proved to be no reasons at all, they are grasping at an excuse which does not exist, to explain a prejudice. So you see, after all, it all depends on who carries the umbrella to people who are determined to be unfair. Let us be fair.

It is to be feared that the Wake County Democratic Executive Committee will not be able to avert misfortune merely by knocking Wood.
