Battle Continues With Greater Violence

In London and Paris There is Confidence in Final Result.

Battle to the North of the Oise Continues With Greater Violence; French Troops Forced to Yield Ground; Germans Claim That Battle Favors Them—Can Germans Extend Their Line Farther North—Can't Outflank Germans—Progress by Either Side Must Be Extremely Slow; Troops Must Entrench.—Russians Rout Germans—Defeat of German Army Which Invaded Russia, Seems Even More Decisive Than Previously Stated—Germans Lose 70,000 Men.

London, Oct. 5.—9:57 P. M.—General Von Kluck, reinforced with troops from the German center, continues to make a determined stand against the attempt of the Allies to outflank him. The French who yesterday officially reported that all German attacks in this region have been repulsed and that the allies had resumed the offensive, announced today that the battle to the north of the Oise, which commenced seriously about September 25, continues with great violence with no decisive result and that at certain points the French troops have had to yield ground.

The Germans in their report issued last night, say the battle is proceeding successfully for them.

Both in London and in Paris there is the greatest confidence, although some surprise is displayed at the success of the Germans in preventing the outflanking movement. There is a feeling, however, that the Germans cannot extend their line much farther north without weakening it at some point.

Along the rest of the line the French communication says there has been no change. Therefore, the progress in the region of Soissons and in Woëvre, reported Sunday night, either has satisfied them for the moment or there have been checked by the Germans. Of the fighting here as on their right the German report says it is proceeding favorably for the German arms.

Progress by either side must be extremely slow, for after every advance, no matter how slight, the troops making it must entrench themselves for protection against the shells of the enemy's guns, posted in strong positions from one end of the line to the other.

The defeat of the German army which invaded Russia from east Prussia appears from Russian accounts to have been even more decisive than previously stated. According to the Russian ambassador at Rome the Germans were routed completely with a loss of 70,000 men, and have been forced to abandon everything.

The Russians now are moving forward with the object of again invading East Prussia. This victory, if it is complete as reported, is of the greatest importance to the Russians, as it will prevent the Germans from undertaking from land and sea operations which would have compelled Russia to turn at least a part of its attention in this direction.

General Rennenkampf apparently drove a wedge between the two German forces which were advancing upon Druskeniki and Ossowetz and brought about the battle of Augustowo, which resulted in a Russian victory. If the Germans have not retired from the left bank their defeat at Augustowo must compel them to do so. The moral effect of another invasion of east

Prussia will also be of importance.

No news has been received today from the Silesian and Galician battlefields and probably the main armies have not come together there. A big battle cannot be delayed much longer, however, as on the Silesian frontier both armies are moving forward and will meet in Russian-Poland.

Before the Russian advance in Galicia the peasants are fleeing the country and it is reported that 20,000 of them have reached Bohemia.

The Sanitary Department of Vienna reports that four cases of Asiatic cholera have occurred among the troops returning from Galicia, but that all have been isolated.

At Antwerp, the official report says, the situation in the fortified position remains unchanged.

Fighting continues also in the northeast and the Anglo-French fleet has succeeded in destroying Lustica, an outer defense of the Austrian seaport of Cattaro.

While the Serbians and Montenegrins are attacking the fortifications of Sarajovo, Belgrade, which has been under fire so often, has not been bombarded for several days, probably as a result of reoccupation of Semlin by the Serbians.

Skirmishes have occurred on the Anglo-German frontier in East Africa as the result of German raids into British territory for the purpose of cutting the Uganda railway. All these raids, according to the British official report have been repulsed.

While the routine life in England is not seriously upset by the war the regulations in many respects are becoming more stringent. In order to keep the army provided with warm clothing the authorities have commandeered large quantities of woollens in Leicester, a step which is likely to be followed elsewhere.

RUSSIANS CROSS CARPATHIANS.

London, Oct. 5.—11:05 P. M.—A Reuter dispatch from Uetrograd says: "Side by side with the official account of the German defeat on the Russo-Prussian frontier details are published of the Russians crossing the Carpathians, which as one writer says, destroys the legend that the eastern Carpathians are impregnable.

"Before attaining Uzok Pass, the Russians successively captured, by a wide flanking movement, three well-masked positions strongly defended by guns. Each time the Russians charged the enemy fled and the Russians followed up the Austrian retreat with shrapnel and quick fire, inflicting heavy losses.

"During the Russian retreat through the Mazur lake district in east Prussia a Russian battery was surrounded on three sides by the enemy's quick fire. The infantry was on the other side of the lake and the Russian ammunition was exhausted. In order to avoid capture the commander ordered the battery to gallop over the decline into the lake. His order was obeyed and he himself was drowned. "During an assault on the fortress of Ossowetz a German column got into a bog. The Russians shells the bog and the single road crossing it. The Germans, in trying to extricate themselves from the mire, sank deeper and hundreds were killed or wounded. Of the whole column only about 40 survived."

BRITISH URGE SCANDINAVIANS TO FIGHT GERMANY.

Rome, Oct. 5.—12:15 P. M., via London, 7:00 P. M.—The German press, according to communications received here, thinks Great Britain is using pressure to induce the Scandinavian countries, particularly Denmark, to abandon their neutrality and participate in the war against Germany.

The Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin, says it is rumored that many hostile ships have been seen in the Skagerrak, and the Cattegat, adding "if these ships are British it shows an intention to make a threatening demonstration against the Scandinavian states, particularly Denmark."

Wedding at Elon.

Elon College, Oct. 5.—The home of Mrs. Cora V. Howerton was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when her daughter, Miss Vannie Elizabeth Howerton, became the bride of Astor Eugene Anderson. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white.

The bride was beautifully attired in a suit of blue with hat and gloves to match. Miss Nellie Melvin, maid of honor, wore white lingerie. Marvin Anderson, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Annie Anderson, sister of the groom, attired in white lingerie, was bridesmaid, and Albert Melvin acted as groomsmen. Miss Thelma Melvin presided at the piano, while Rev. W. C. Wicker, the bride's pastor, officiated.

The bride has served for several years as the efficient organist of Hines Chapel Church, and has greatly endeared herself to the people of the entire community by her faithful and efficient services. They will reside in Guilford County.

House Rejected Lever Bill Designed to Help the Farmers.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Lever cotton and grain warehousing bill to facilitate granting of bank credits on warehouse receipts for cotton, grain and like agricultural products, was rejected by the House today by a vote of 163 to 109, lacking the necessary two-thirds vote.

The bill would authorize the inauguration of a nation wide system of warehousing under federal supervision for staple and non-perishable agricultural products.

And the house Democratic too. We are not surprised, did any one ever hear of the Democratic party doing anything to help the farmer or laboring man? But we want to be understood that personally we are in favor of the government loaning money upon cotton to the farmers. We are for the farmer first, last and all the time. They are the salt of the earth, because they feed us, and are the backbone of the country. Help the farmer, is our motto.

Republican Convention

The Alamance County Republican Convention was held in the County Court House, at Graham, N. C., Saturday, October 3rd, 2:30 P. M., and the following ticket was nominated:

For Legislature:
T. C. CARTER.

For Sheriff:
W. E. WHITE.

For Register of Deeds:
R. E. FRESHWATER.

For Clerk of Court:
J. E. STAFFORD.

For Treasurer:
C. B. WAY.

For Coroner:

For Surveyor:

For County Commissioners:
R. T. Kernodle.
C. C. ALBRIGHT.
A. K. RNEY.
G. W. VESTAL.
J. H. TURNER.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolutions and Platform Of Alamance County Republicans.

We, the Republicans of Alamance County, in Mass Convention assembled in the County Court House, at Graham, N. C., Saturday, October 3rd, 1914, do declare, affirm and adopt the following resolutions as our party platform, and pledge ourselves, if returned to power in this county, that we will use our best endeavor to have the same enacted into law, and that we will faithfully keep this covenant.

1st. We favor the abolition of the office of County Treasury, this office is useless and unnecessary and a heavy burden upon the tax payers of the county. The banks of the county will be glad to handle the County funds free of charge in order to get the county business, thus affecting a large saving to the tax payers.

2nd. We favor the election of the County Board and Superintendent of Public Education by a direct vote of the people, in this way only can we bring our educational system up to the highest state of efficiency. We believe that every parent should have a voice as to whom they entrust with the care and education of their children.

3rd. We favor a complete reorganization of the county road system, in order that every section of our county may share alike. We are opposed to the warning in system now in effect, whereby some have to work, and some do not. We favor the taxation system under which no favoritism can be shown. We are opposed to listing and collecting the road tax separately and apart from the poll and property tax, but favor the listing of the road tax at the same time and in the same manner as the poll and property tax is now listed, and collecting it in the same way; we favor working all public roads by the contract system, the roads to be laid out in sections of so many miles each, the sections to be let out under contract to the lowest bidder per mile, all contracts to be under the direct supervision of the County Superintendent of Roads, or a competent engineer, said contracts to run for two years with the option of renewal for another two years at the same price, provided the contractor has complied strictly with the specifications of his contract, this provision will be an incentive for the contractor to render good and faithful service in order that he may reap the benefit of his past two years work. We also favor permanent constructive road work by the county convict force, to the end that we may get the full benefit of their up-keep, instead of losing from one to two days work in each week by constantly moving them from one place to another, and in some instances from one remote part of the county to another remote part in the same week, and while it seems to be the general rule under Democratic administrations for laboring men to work only four days or less in the week, we are opposed to putting the county convict force upon this basis at the expense of the tax payers of the county.

4th. We are opposed to the extravagant and inefficient management of our county affairs, whereby we are piling up a large and burdensome debt for future generations to pay, we favor a strict economical pay as you go administration and pledge our best efforts to this end.

5th. We are in favor of the greatest publicity in the management of our county affairs, we believe that the tax payers who pay the money to run the county government are entitled to know how the affairs of the County are being conducted, that they should be taken into the confidence of the county officials and fully informed regarding all matters affecting their interests, we are opposed to secrecy and know-nothingism as now practiced by the present county administration, and condemn the present county officials for their unwarranted and highhanded action in refusing to make public the saving effected to the tax payers by the adoption of the salary system as against the old fee system. Their action refusing to make public this information is a reflection upon their integrity, and inexcusable from even a partisan standpoint.

6th. We favor publishing a statement at least once each year showing the receipts and from what source derived of all monies and other property coming into the County Treasury, as well as the disbursements and for what purpose disbursed. This is the only way the tax payers can tell how the financial affairs of the County are being conducted. We condemn the present county officials for their failure and refusal to do this thereby keeping the tax payers in the dark as to the true financial condition of the county.

7th. We are opposed to court house cliques and rings who use the prestige of their official position and patronage to stifle ambition in the young manhood and citizenship of the county, in order that they may not have opposition for renomination to their respective positions. This practice is most rampant in this good County of Alamance, and should be discouraged by all fairminded citizens regardless of their political affiliation. The convention was called to order by George W. Vestal, County Chairman. Junius H. Harden was elected permanent chairman, and John K. Hoffman and W. Giles Mebane, secretaries.

There was a large and enthusiastic crowd present, the court house was nearly filled. Speeches were made by Junius H. Harden, W. I. Ward, and T. C. Carter. All made happy hits and were heartily applauded. There was some disappointment at the failure of Hon. A. E. Holton and Hon. John T. Benbow not being present to address the convention as advertised. Mr. Holton seemed to be more interested in the adoption of the amendments to the State Constitution to be voted for this fall, than he was in the Alamance County Republicans, and Mr. Benbow was deained in Winston by the illness of his law partner. However the crowd was well pleased with the proceedings as manifested by frequent outbursts of enthusiasm. The convention was composed of Republicans, Progressives, Independents and Democrats, the greatest harmony prevailed which augers well for the opposition to the present county administration. The party is in fine shape to make a winning campaign. Mr. Carter made a fine speech of acceptance and the party feels proud of its standard bearer, and feels that he will give good account of himself during the campaign.

The following Executive Committee was elected: Heenan Hughes, W. E. White, J. H. Harden, W. W. Brown and J. Zeb Waller.

The County Chairman and Secretary have not been chosen. This will be done by the Executive Committee at an early date.

If this platform of party pledges and principles appeals to you as being fair, just, and to the best interests of the citizens and tax payers of this county, we ask your support for the party who promulgated them and are in favor of their adoption. The most effective weapon in politics is a vote at the polls, to which party will you give it?

(Editor's Note) Those who favor all or any part of the above, and intend to support all or any part of the Republican County Ticket, will please communicate such intention to The Dispatch, either by mail, in person, or over the phone. All information given will be regarded as strictly confidential.

Sound Judgment

Another wise judge has risen up who will be accorded the plaudits of the County. Judge Barlow, who presides over the Jefferson Market Court in New York last week sent a "masher" to jail for five days. The masher was a tailor, "well-to-do and dapper," and he had accosted a young woman on the street in an improper way. His counsel tried to "beg off" for him, but this judge would not hear to it. "Night after night," he said "unfortunate women are sent from the women's night court to the workhouse for accosting men on the street, and I fail to see why mercy should be shown or that men should be dealt with more leniently when conditions are reversed." The principle upon which this judge bases his course is worthy of all commendation.

Secretary Bryan Hopes for Peace.
Washington, Sept. 29.—Optimistic dispatches today from Consul Silliman and the Bralian Ministry at Mexico City caused Secretary Bryan to inform President Wilson that the prospects for restoration of permanent peace in Mexico were brighter than at any time since the overthrow of Madero by Huerta.

In the light of all advices both from Mexico City and Chihuahua City, General Villa's headquarters, officials here still are confident that the new upheaval threatened by the breach between Villa and Carranza will be averted by the latter's retirement as first chief of the Constitutionalists and election of Fernando Iglesias Calderon as provision president.

The State Department was notified today that the peace commissioners appointed by the two Constitutionalists would hold their meeting tomorrow at Torreón. This gave rise to the hope that the conference would be able to agree upon Calderon as the provisional president before the convention to be held October 1, at Mexico City to set up the new Government.

The text of the communication sent to General Carranza by the military officers appealing to him to resign in favor of Calderon was made public by the State Department tonight. It follows:

"The generals, chiefs and officials of the division of the North as well as the civilians undersigned, sincerely moved by the patriotic and dignified attitude of the greatest admiration which our brothers of other divisions, the generals P. Lucio Blanco, Eduardo Hay, Rafael Buelna and J. C. Medina, have assumed by putting to one side the paroxysm of self-love in order to save the fatherland from this terrible and painful danger in which it finds itself, we address ourselves to you in order to manifest to you that our brothers of the other divisions do not in vain invoke our sentiments of dignity, our conscience of honor and the just love that we have for our fatherland.

"It is likewise our greatest ambition that the regenerating work of the Constitutionalist revolution may not fail and we embrace the hope that the sacrifices of our brothers shall not have been futile in the camp of battle in defense of the ideal of liberty and justice. Like our disinterested brothers we desire to make every effort to prevent the enemies of the liberating cause who stoop to any medium that stains the Republic in blood from profiting by such circumstances to make every effort and every sacrifice before putting the fatherland in danger of the somber foreign intervention. On account of the national misfortune by this manifestation and having the intimate conviction that you will be inspired by the noble example of all true patriots we ask that you save the Republic from a chaos to which it might attain by the failures and irreflections of all. General Villa has telegraphed to all our brothers to cease the hostile attitude of the North when you turn over supreme command to the incorruptible Liberal, Fernando Iglesias Calderon.

"General Villa has declared that the whole of this division will uphold firmly Calderon and already has confessed before the whole world that none of his chiefs aspire to the presidency or vice presidency of the Republic. We warmly exhort you to save the Republic from the dangers to which pride and obstinacy might lead her. This magnanimous action will be the basis of the salvation of the Republic and will lift you above the level of the highest, leaving to the generations to come after us a luminous and beautiful example of disinterested patriotism."

It would certainly seem that those foreigners who consider themselves in danger in Mexico have had ample time to get out.

It may be that automobiles tore up the macadam roads, but if so the roads are now getting even by tearing up tires.

Of course some people will naturally consider the fair a tame affair after having just seen a circus.

The Romance of Red Trousers.
Folks have been groping around for a reason which might explain satisfactorily why a nation so alert as the French, preparing for a war they believed inevitable, should defy all the color theories experimented upon by military men everywhere and send their soldiers into action in red trousers.

That it is merely stupidity of a gross kind hardly seems possible. The French are not stupid. They know that the red and blue uniforms are conspicuous at distances at which the German dust-sprinkled cloth makes men invisible. They have sacrificed the benefit of protective coloration an advantage superior in their estimation even to that of masking the movements of their men.

The French believe that in war the either because they were unintelligent, which is difficult to believe, or to gain spirit of the troops is everything. War is not a practical business. It's a romantic affair. It's not one of cold efficiency. It's one of inspired exaltation. It's a fury. It needs organization and equipment, strategy and tactics, but, above all, it needs soul. That is undoubtedly the French view.

Their Republican troops, untrained, went out over a hundred years ago and by the spirit of their attack threw back the professional armies of Europe. Elan is the supreme requirement.

Exaltation needs high colors. It is not a sober quality. The red legs of France are the visible tokens of its military spirit. The French may have reasoned that they must take the chance of exposing their soldiers physically to nourish them spiritually. They may know their own men. They may know that the Germans would fight just as well in brown, black, crimson, or yellow, but that the French need their trappings; that what they require is not protective but exciting coloration.

If there be not some such explanation as this the red legs of France will be charged up against the authorities in France as a criminal and murderous blunder.

Pollard Case Argued.
Raleigh, Sept. 29.—The case of S. M. Pollard, druggist of Farmville, who is under sentence of five years for killing T. H. Smith, policeman of Farmville, was argued before the Supreme Court this morning.

Former Governor T. J. Jarvis, Col. Harry Skinner and ex-Governor W. W. Kitchin appeared for Pollard and Assistant Attorney General T. H. Calvert presented the case for the State. The principal points of objection to the rulings of the trial judge were that he admitted irrelevant and incompetent testimony, purely collateral matter that prejudiced the case against the defendant. It was argued that Judge Daniels allowed testimony wholly unrelated to the case, that he refused to charge any element of self-defense, that he put undue emphasis upon "willingness to fight" and thereby reduced the issue to manslaughter.

In reply Mr. Calvert quoted Attorney General Bickett as having said: "When I look at Jarvis and Wooten, Larry Skinner, L. G. Cooper, F. G. James and son, Julius Brown, and N. W. Outlaw, pretty nearly the whole of the Pitt County Bar, and then at Manning and Kitchin, distinguished outsiders and see that a Pitt County jury convicts a Pitt County man with a Pitt county bar appearing for him, I am convinced he must be guilty of something." Mr. Calvert declared that the defense had abandoned many of its objections.

With so much prohibition sentiment in Virginia the wonder is that so many saloons were able to do a profitable business.

Most counties have at one time or another voted money to railroads, but they have had more sense than to waste it on water ways.

Even the best warehouse system will not keep the price of cotton up if the farmers insist on raising more than the world can consume.

AID THE KIDNEYS.
Burlington Sufferers Should Take No Further Risk.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor—why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in kidney trouble over 50 years, have been tested in thousands of cases.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, act now, for gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease may set in and make neglect dangerous. Can Burlington residents demand more convincing proof than the following?

E. P. Land, bookkeeper, 100 Eouth Edgewood St., Greensboro, N. C., says: "Four or five years ago I had kidney trouble. I was often dizzy and nervous. My sight blurred and my back hurt me. It was hard for me to straighten after stooping. Doan's Kidney Pills made me better. I still use them once in a while and they keep me well. I am pleased to confirm the statement I gave some time ago, praising this remedy."

50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Land had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

POOR P

OUR NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

Fur Trimmings Form a Strong Feature in the Ladies' Styles for Fall and Winter.

MILITARY MILLINERY.

New York, Oct. 3.—Fuller skirts have arrived! Many of the dressmakers modify them by having an underskirt beneath which is as tight as of yore, others are side pleated, having yoke effects around the waist.

Coats are made with skirts which are pleated or cut circular, reaching often to the bottom of the dresses. A stunning model is a seal brown duvetyne is trimmed with silk cord embroidery. The coat is long in front with a wide belt, or yoke, from which the skirt is hung. The skirt is pleated at the back and draped up at the sides. In the back the coat reaches quite below the knees.

A new fur is being exploited in Paris principally by Drecol, and is plain, ordinary, every day goat! We have heard of cat and have come to imagine as being an artistic addition to our latest frocks.

Coats are being made of camel's hair cloth, wool velour, velvet and fur cloth. For the sport's coat or suit, tweeds are both serviceable and smart.

The coats to suits are all lengths from the short eton and bolero jackets to long coats reaching to the bottom of the skirts.

Fur collars and cuffs trim almost all coats and in place of the fur often fur cloth is used. The cloth so closely resembles fur that it is almost impossible to distinguish the difference, except by the feeling.

Raccoon fur trimmed a suit of beige panne velvet combined with broadcloth. The wide circular skirt was of broadcloth, with flat folds of the same stitched on the skirt from the waistline to the hem. The cutaway coat was of panne velvet with long tails in the back. The trimming of this coat consisted of a fine embroidery in blue silk floss.

A Dress of Black Broadcloth Nattily Trimmed with Braid.

Belts of fur on many coats are extremely smart.

For a late fall street dress, before the weather demands a heavy wrap, the frock illustrated, with its smart short basque and banded long tunic, is especially suitable. The development is in black broadcloth with braiding on the front, on the cuffs, and in band effect, around the bottom of the skirt.

The oddly shaped hat worn with this costume is made of black velvet and is bound around with bronze gold braid. This is a becoming and smart finish to many of the velvet hats of the season.

Another stunning dress of this same variety was worn by an unusually fine looking elderly woman. The bodice was a short basque, having points at the front of the waist, and the skirt was made with a very full tunic of black lace, having a wide band of velvet at the edge, above that a narrower band, and above that a still narrower one. Beneath this tunic was a very narrow satin underskirt which scarcely came to her ankles.

In millinery black velvet predominates. Small hats with a touch of gold or silver are very smart, especially if there is a military air about them. It seems queer that hats are growing larger when one reflects that in August New Yorkers put on velvet hats, which were very small and afforded no shade to the eyes, while now, with Fall and Winter approaching, the larger sailors with soft crowns are coming rapidly to the fore. A novelty for these larger hats is to have them cut in scallops, square or round, and ribbon bound.

Naturally military and naval effects will be strong and are evidenced in a stunning admiral's hat. The headgear of the German, Russian, Austrian, British and French soldiers have all been copied more or less by the wideawake designers of hats.

Fur hats are appearing for winter wear. These are made entirely of one or two furs or fur is combined with velvet in stunning effects.

Monkey fur is being used a great deal for edgings and as trimmings for hats, in much the same way that fringe might be used. Narrow bands of fur make a very effective trimming for velvet hats.

A LOGICAL WOMAN, SHE ADMITS IT.

Dear John:
I have your letter, and I am so glad that you found everything satisfactory.
When you asked me, before you left town so hurriedly to buy you a few of the things you needed, and send them on to you, the commission rather frightened me—you are so particular. Shall I tell you what I did?
First, I made out a list of just what I wanted, and then I studied very carefully the advertising columns of The Dispatch. I compared the prices and values, checking off from my list the things that I wanted, and then I stopped.
And—here is the great wonder of it—I found those advertising pages to be GUIDES! I could never have accomplished what I did without them.
It has convinced me that even experience in shopping is not absolutely necessary if one will only make a close study of The Dispatch.
Even a woman can be logical!

"Shan't do it," retorted the child. "I got here first."—Harper's Magazine.

GHOSTS AND GOBLINS.

Since the world began superstition has been the companion of ignorance. As civilization drives out ignorance superstition also takes its departure, so that the degree of civilization possessed by any people may be readily measured by the number and character of its superstitions.

Ethnologists who have studied savage tribes tell us that the greatest barrier to civilization is superstition, which in many instances so firmly binds the minds of the natives that they are actually afraid to think for themselves.

Science, the handmaid of civilization, is rapidly separating the false from the true and is giving the world facts in place of superstitious fancies. Even in such every-day matters of life as food, drink, clothing, etc., false notions and hear-say reports are giving away to scientific facts.

Thus the laboratory of the scientist has now demonstrated the fact that the caffeine contained in such beverages as coffee, tea and Coca-Cola is not only not injurious to health, but is positively helpful in that it diminishes the wear and tear of the nervous system and serves in the nature of a lubricant, as it were. Such unpleasant effects as were formerly attributed to caffeine are now known to be the result of improper methods in the preparation of the beverages and are traced to the door of coffee and tannic acid in the case of coffee and to tannic acid in the case of tea. These substances, when taken in excessive quantities, give rise to discomfort but do no positive injury. Since Coca-Cola contains only caffeine with sugar and flavoring extracts these scientific proofs substantiate the oft-repeated claim of the manufacturer that Coca-Cola possesses all the advantages of tea and coffee with none of their disadvantages.

THE LAST SUPPER.

MARK XIV. 12-25.

12 And the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare that thou mayest eat the passover?

13 And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the guest chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?

15 And he will show you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.

16 And his disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

17 And in the evening he cometh with the twelve.

18 And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me.

19 And they began to be sorrowful, and to say unto him one by one, Is it I? and another said, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve, that dipeth with me in the dish.

21 The Son of man indeed goeth, as it is written of him: but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! good were it for that man if he had never been born.

22 And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.

23 And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it.

24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

TIME AND PLACE.

Thursday, April 6, A. D. 30, in a furnished room in Jerusalem.

THE MEMORIAL SUPPER.

Considerable work was necessary in order to prepare for the Passover. The directions given in the book of Exodus had been modified and enlarged upon during the years, so that a somewhat elaborate ceremony had grown up for each day of the week during which the Passover was celebrated. The supper itself, which was to be eaten at night at the end of the week, demanded a preparation which occupied two or three days. First of all was the securing of a lamb and its offering at the altar in the temple and the roasting of its flesh. Then there must be procured wine, unleavened cakes, bitter herbs, and a paste of crushed fruits moistened with vinegar, symbolizing the clay with which the children of Israel had made bricks in Egypt. A tradition in the Church assigns the home of Mary, the mother of Barnabas and a cousin to John Mark, the evangelist, as the house where Jesus at the Passover supper with his disciples. It is inferred from the story that Jesus had already made arrangements with a friend in the city in order that the house might be made ready. But of this there is no proof.

PREPARING FOR THE PASSOVER SUPPER.

Our last lesson was located at Bethany on Tuesday evening of the week devoted to the Passover. On Wednesday Jesus remained quietly at Bethany with his friends. It is probable that Judas spent this day plotting with the enemies of Jesus in Jerusalem. Some time on Thursday morning the other disciples said to Jesus: "Where wilt thou that we go and prepare that thou mayest eat the Passover?" In answer to this question Jesus selected Peter and John and sent them into the city to make final preparations. He directed them to follow a man with a pitcher of water on his shoulder. This man would guide them to a certain house, where, by asking a specified question, the house would be thrown open to them and everything could be made ready. There was an air of secrecy about this which suggests to us that there was a special reason for it. The reason seems to be that Jesus desired to have a few quiet hours with his chosen friends without interruption from his enemies. Our Lord knew that Judas was plotting with the rulers of the people and that an attempt would be made to arrest him at some time when the multitude were absent. The directions given to Peter and John were not to be understood by the other disciples, and Judas himself would be unable to lead the enemies of the Lord to the house selected for the feast. The conspiracy of hate was met and completely checked for the time by a conspiracy of love and friendship.

THE GREAT ANNOUNCEMENT DURING SUPPER.

Jesus and his disciples came to the home of the unnamed friend some time about sundown, and during the early hours of the evening the ceremonial of the Passover feast was observed according to the method of the Jews. By and by, as they were reclining upon couches and in the midst of conversation, Jesus suddenly declared: "One of you shall betray me." The announcement was made in the form Jesus used to state a truth particularly solemn and important: "Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me." Nothing was needed to make this announcement the most tragic that the Eastern mind could possibly conceive. A select company of friends gathered together out of a true spirit of comradeship eating out of a common dish; yet in that group was one who should be a traitor. No wonder that sorrow fell upon the group. Slowly, one by one, the question took shape in each mind: "Is it possible that I shall betray my Master?"

The question passed around, each man looking at his Lord, saying: "Is it I?" Judas was among that number, and, with the others, he said: "Is it I?" By the arrangement of Eastern feasts the friends were reclining upon couches, with the table in the center, toward which their heads were directed. They leaned upon their left elbows, with their right hands and arms free. According to this arrangement, Peter was just at the back of Jesus and John in front of him. So when the question was going round Peter caught the eye of John as he turned his head to look at his Master, and he passed the sign to him to lean back and ask Jesus definitely who it was that should betray him. John did so, putting his head very near to the bosom of Jesus and whispering: "Who is it?" Jesus answered: "He it is to whom I shall give a sop after I have dipped it." This sop was a piece of bread dipped into the fruit paste mixed with vinegar and was a reminder of the bitterness with which the children of Israel slaved their lives in making bricks in Egypt. This sop was passed to Judas, and at this moment it is said that Satan entered into him. He knew now without a doubt that the Lord understood his heart. That knowledge ought to have led to his repentance, but it opened the door still wider to the enemy of souls, so that Satan came in where Jesus wished to enter.

THE SUPPER OF THE LORD.

According to the Passover ritual, the last act of the feast consisted in eating the roasted flesh of the lamb and drinking a cup of wine, which was called the cup of blessing. Jesus had now reached this point in the Passover supper, and here it was that he put a new meaning into the feast. With a loaf of bread in his hands, he called attention, not to the lamb that was slain, but to his own flesh, which was given for the life of the world. He broke the loaf and gave part of it to his disciples and said: "Take, eat; this is my body." Then he took the cup and with thanksgiving gave it to them and said: "This is my blood of the new covenant, which is shed for many." This has become one of the most beautiful of all the institutions of Christ's Church and is known in the Church as a sacrament in which, when we partake of it, we celebrate the Lord's death for our sake and our life with him.

The Lord made his death to be a memorial by which the world should remember him; for it is in his death and not in his teaching, not in his miracles, not in his life upon earth, that we find remission of sins. It is God's greatest work, by which he breaks the power of sin in every man's life and opens the gates to a new life for him.

LESSON QUESTIONS.

On what day of the week was the Passover supper eaten? What preparation was necessary for this event? At whose home does tradition say that Jesus ate the Passover supper? Who of the disciples were sent to make ready for the supper? Why was there such an air of secrecy about the preparation? What startling announcement did Jesus make in the midst of the supper? How was the astonishment of the disciples shown? What direct question did John ask? What new meaning did the Lord put into the Passover supper?

How do we remember the death of the Lord Jesus?

Our community was greatly shocked last Tuesday morning when it was learned that Mrs. Worth Spoon, wife of Sill Spoon, was dead. She was sick only about 6 or 7 hours. She had a stroke of paralysis. She was buried Wednesday at Rock Creek beside her first husband, Mr. Baalam Hornaday. She was 74 years old. The last one of her immediate family. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends present to pay last respects. The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Ledbetter, assisted by Rev. J. W. Holt, of Burlington. She had been a faithful member of Rock Creek Church many years. She leaves a husband about 88 years old to mourn her loss.

There is much sickness around as now. Mrs. Frank Bristow, Mrs. Isaac Fogleman, two of Dolph Kimrey's children and many others, but glad to say all are improving.

Mr. Editor: Your paper is not much on agriculture, but we have to notice some of the many fine crops. Corn through here is fine. One piece, Mr. Claud Smith's deserves mention, also Mr. Charley Garrett and few others are especially fine considering the dry weather. The wheat crop was also good. Mr. Flave Hornaday made 35 bushels on one acre. These patches are not prize patches either.

Mr. Jim Soon is making some headway in farming on the old Crutchfield place. He has also put in a telephone so he can get the news as it goes by.

Mr. Frank Stuart is at home again after spending nearly two years in Tennessee. Frank says there is no place like home and Dad's rations.

Hon. Bynum Way and family, of Norfolk, Va., are visiting Mr. John Stuart.

Great deal of the old fashion of tenants moving will be done this fall by many to many to give names. We can not see where there is anything made at it for it is swapping good for good or bad for worse.

Chapel Hill News.
Chapel Hill, Oct. 5.—In an analysis of the taxation section of the proposed Constitutional Amendment, Dr. C. L. Raper, head of the department of economics of the State University, unreservedly declares that the constitutional right to make classes of taxables and rates is an absolute necessity before we can have the most effective and just system of taxation possible. He accredits constitutional requirement of a uniform rate upon all kinds of property as responsible for most of the inefficiency and injustice in the State's taxation system. Dr. Raper argues that it is possible to place moneys, credits and securities on the tax books when they are taxed at the same rate as the most tangible forms of property—land and machinery, for instance. The economist recites the case of Kentucky where the State received more revenue for the year 1912 from its dogs than it did from the bonds, the moneys and the stocks of the State. Emphasizing the importance of classification of taxable property, he says: "The North Carolina Legislature should have the power to do as Pennsylvania has done for more than thirty years—to make a special class of moneys, credits and securities, with a specially low rate. Pennsylvania has made a reputation for the fact that nearly two billion dollars of such tangible forms of property, while many another State taxes only a few thousand."

The marshalling of debating material for use in the schools having membership in the High School Debating Union is the task just ahead of the Debating Union committee. The bulletin containing the discussions pro and con on the query: "Resolved, That the United States should adopt the policy of subsidizing its merchant marine engaged in foreign trade," is due to reach the schools of the State not later than November 1. Current information culled from daily newspapers, monthly periodicals and magazines, should be seized upon by schools anticipating membership in the debating union. This topic has been widely discussed in recent months—hence newspaper editorials and commentaries should prove an invaluable source for gathering information on the query.

The University athletic committee, directing the athletic events of the State High Schools, have issued rules and regulations governing the second annual high school championship contest in football. Any football team—representing high school, city or rural—that shall have played and won up to and including November 14 three games is entitled to enter the championship series. After November 14, the committee will arrange preliminary contests for the purpose of selecting through elimination the two teams that shall come to Chapel Hill for the final State championship game.

A Prayer.
Almighty God, Creator, and Father of us all. There is no God beside Thee. Thou who has brought us safely thus far on life's journey. Thou who art able to make a way where there is no way, we come before Thee with a realization of our failures, our proneness to wander from Thee. Our love of the things of earth. Our desire to do as we please, and to live in forgetfulness of Thee, we praise Thee, most merciful Father, for the foundation of Thy church on earth, for Thy sacred oracles, for the ministry of Thy word and for Thy hold sacraments. We praise Thee for giving to the world a life, an example, a code of principles that if imbued and lived will lead us into the paths of peace and happiness. With shamefacedness we acknowledge that the nations of the earth have lost sight of these principles, and have cultivated the spirit of prejudice, of hatred, malice and revenge until many of the nations of earth are reveling in war, trying to determine right by might. Thou hast declared by one of the prophets that right is not obtained by might nor power, but by and through the gentle influences of Thy Holy Spirit.

We know our Father, that while men's hearts are full of bitterness, hostilities will continue. When we try to conceive the loss of life, of the mangled men, of the sorrowing mothers, wives and sisters, the children that are made orphans, by the gigantic war that is now raging when we think of the gory windows of humanity the devastation of property, our hearts cry out within us for the time to speedily come that was spoken of by the prophet when nations shall beat their swords into plow shares and their spears into pruning hooks, when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

Our Father, we pray Thee to bring about by some means an influence that will reach the hearts of the leaders and counteract the ignorance of pride in them and change the ignorance of enthusiasm of the common people, cause them to see the folly of their way, turn therefrom and accept the principles that produce righteousness, peace, love, joy, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance. Oh God, with Thou hear our prayers and pleadings as Thou didst hear the cries and groanings of the children of Israel, and have respect unto them.

Help us, therefore, our Father, to completely submit ourselves to Thee and strive to hasten the time when the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. And Thine shall be the praise for ever and ever. Amen.

GONE.
From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Gone with the mists and rains,
Slipp'd from old mem'ry's chains,
Deep with the shadows bent
Heaped is the cash we've spent,
Sums that we lingered o'er,
Bills that once made us sore,
Thoughts we were forced to buy,
Charges that made us sigh,
Gifts we could ill afford,
Cash paid for bed and board,
Cash for our petty needs,
Cash for our festive feuds,
Cash for a thousand things,
Gone on the swiftest wings.

Whither it flies, or fares,
Now that it's gone, who cares?

Who could have chosen an occupation that seemed more secure than that of "Central"? Yet recent experience show that even the hello girl, in time of war may get the "o" cut off.

The Norfolk Virginian Pilot finds it hard to believe that the man whom the greater part of the world is blaming for having "started things" in Europe went on the water wagon some three years ago. We do not see how it could have been much worse had he continued diplomatic relations with the good of sense.

Some of the reformers seem to imagine that the only good men besides themselves are the dead ones.

War tax on telephone calls? Hell-o!

WILL CRANFORD A SUICIDE.
Popular Citizen and Business Man of Greensboro, Taken His Life at His Home.

Greensboro, Oct. 5.—Mr. William L. Cranford, a highly esteemed citizen and successful business man of Greensboro, was found dead in the bathroom at his home on East Washington street early Saturday morning, with evidence that his own hand had sent his soul to the great beyond. A bullet hole in the right temple and a .32-calibre revolver lying by his side on the floor showed how he had met death. Mr. Cranford had been ill for the past five weeks, suffering from a serious form of spinal trouble, which affected the brain. He had been very despondent, and it is believed that he took his life in a fit of mental aberration.

When the faithful colored woman who has been a servant in Mr. Cranford's home for a number of years went into his room shortly before 7 o'clock to make a fire she noted the absence of Mr. Cranford, but thinking he was in the bathroom preparing his toilet, proceeded with her household duties. After the fire had been made and the room put in readiness, she called to Mr. Cranford, and receiving no response, notified Mrs. Cranford, who occupied a room on the second floor. Mrs. Cranford came downstairs, and opening the door of the bathroom, found the dead body of her husband lying on the floor. The screams of the two women attracted neighbors, and several people, including Mr. E. P. Land, who was associated with Mr. Cranford in business, rushed to the house. An examination disclosed that the body was still warm, which would indicate that the act of self-destruction had been committed within an hour or so of the discovery.

Coroner Starbuck and Chief of Police Isley were notified immediately and made an examination of the body and the premises. The coroner concluded that the evidence of suicide was conclusive and did not deem an inquest necessary.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from West Market Street Methodist Church, of which Mr. Cranford had been an official member for a number of years. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. Bird, the pastor, and interment was made in Greene Hill Cemetery. Despite the inclement weather that prevailed yesterday, the funeral and burial services were attended by a large crowd.

Mr. Cranford was a native of Randolph county and was 48 years old March 1, last. He had been a citizen of Greensboro for about 25 years, first coming here as a salesman in Fishblate's clothing store. Later he embarked in business for himself and for the past 10 or 12 years had been engaged in the wood and coal business. He was married twice. His first wife was Miss Mattie Coble, a daughter of the late W. A. Coble, of southeastern Guilford, who died about six years ago. On June 30, of this year, he was married to Mrs. Eva Tyson, of this city. He is survived by six brothers and six sisters, all of whom reside in Guilford and Randolph counties, except a sister in Kentucky.

Editor's Note. Mr. Cranford was a brother-in-law of our townsman, Mr. C. M. Coble, by his first wife, who was a daughter of the late Dr. W. A. Coble, near Brick Church, and was well known here. Her former friends will regret to hear of this sad misfortune to her husband.
