

A Political Puzzle--How Can Business Keep Improving and the War Still Going On?

THE TWICE-A-WEEK DISPATCH

A PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, ALAMANCE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, APRIL 23rd, 1915.

BURLINGTON TO HAVE FREE HEALTH EXHIBIT.

The exhibit consists of six cabinets and deals with three general subjects. One cabinet on patent medicines, two on tuberculosis and three on care and feeding of infants.

We all need enlightenment on these three subjects--there is not an individual in the county but that can learn something of benefit to themselves or family by attending this exhibit. The exhibit will run one week.

Place, time to be held and hours that it will be open, will appear in this paper next week.

This announcement appears early that all may remember and make arrangements to attend.

This exhibit comes to Burlington at no little expense to Dr. G. Eugene Holt and the Red Cross Seal Committee. Dr. Holt and the members of the Committee earnestly request that all the people of the county attend on some day or evening while it is in Burlington. Remember it is absolutely free to all. There will be one day set aside for colored people--that day for colored only.

Watch this paper for the time health exhibit will arrive.

THE SWISS BELL RINGERS.

The Swiss Bell Ringers, the greatest musical organization of its kind will be here tomorrow at the Grotto. They are making a tour of the South and have made a hit at all large cities. The program is as follows:

Organ Chime Trio--Medley of Poplar Airs.

This program subject to change without notice.

The President still sees prosperity coming, but it is not so near yet that anybody feels obliged to dodge it.

FRIENDSHIP HIGH SCHOOL WINS.

In the third Inter-scholastic Track Meet of North Carolina the Friendship High School won first place and finished second in the relay race.

The other schools entering the contest were: Greensboro, Graham, and High Point. The final score was as follows: Friendship, 40 points; Graham, 35 points; and High Point, 9 points.

This is the second time the Friendship boys have won the cup. A school has to win it three times in order to retain it as permanent property of the school.

It is well to give a little history of the Friendship track team. They have won the divestian meet held at Greensboro for the past four years. Won the state relay race in 1913 and finished second in 1914 and 1915, respectively. They will give the winners of the divestian meet next Saturday a hard fight for the district honors this year.

SHOULD KNOW THE CAUSE.

How many fires do you suppose are of unknown origin? Nobody knows. In Indiana it is estimated that 24 per cent of the fires are the result of causes not known. More than 100 incendiary fires are reported in that State in eight months. In North Carolina it is impossible to estimate the number of unknown origin, because these are not properly reported. The Insurance Commissioner desires that the authorities make reports on all fires, the reports giving the causes, if known, and any other facts about them. If the cause is unknown, this point should be made clear.

PHYLAGOREAN SOCIETY.

Friday, the Phylagorean Society of the Burlington High School had its regular meeting. After the customary business had been disposed of the program committee announced that an afternoon with Lord Tennyson had been arranged.

Two of the most interesting features of the program were a piano solo by Miss Lelia Lamb and a vocal solo by Miss Lois Benbow.

BURLINGTON VOTES DOWN NEW MANAGERIAL CHARTER.

Burlington, April 20.--The managerial form of municipal government was lost in the election here today by the overwhelming vote of 378 to 21. Little interest was displayed by the advocates of the charter only about 80 per cent of the registered vote was cast.

AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Revival services will begin at the First Baptist Church next Sunday. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. W. A. Claxon, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church at High Point.

It's easy to be an optimist so long as the bright side only is visible.

BELL CONFESSES TO MURDERING MR. MANN IN DURHAM IN MARCH.

Had Been Restless Several Days And Confessed Last Night.

Negro Says He Struck Mr. Mann Harder Than He Intended; Broke Cue Stick.

Durham, April 20.--Willie Bell, the negro who has been in the county jail on a charge of murdering Mr. P. N. Mann, the Hayti merchant in March, tonight confessed the crime to jailer Belvin and others, who were called in to hear the confession.

Mr. Belvin has been of the opinion for the past week that the negro was on the verge of a confession on account of his actions and his distracted manner. Bell is not breaking down under the weight of his crime, but for the past week he has shown evidences of the fact that the crime was working on his mind.

In order that the confession might be free from any suggestion on the part of the prison official or others, Mr. Belvin has not urged the man to make a confession. In fact he has not said anything to him about the crime with which he was charged. Today Bell called the jailer aside and said that he wanted to talk to him about his troubles.

Mr. Belvin suggested that he wait till some others could come to the jail to hear the confession, and this was done.

Bell says that the police officers have the right man. The only theory of the officers, according to the confession that is wrong, is that

Mr. Mann to come down Dillard street on his way to his home. Bell says that he had not considered the robbery till he happened to meet Mr. Mann in the dark place on Dillard street. He decided the whole affair in his mind as soon as he recognized the merchant coming from his store to his home. Suspecting that he had some money in his pocket, which he did not leave at the store over night, Bell says that he decided then and there to rob the merchant.

He waited till Mr. Mann had passed him, and then turned on him and struck him on the back of the head with a billiard stick, which he was using as a walking cane. The negro says that he realized that he had struck him harder than he intended when the stick broke, but that he did not intend to kill him and did not think he would die till after he robbed him. Bell got about $15 off the injured man as he lay there in the street.

Immediately after he had secured the money Bell says he ran down Peabody street and then went to some of the negro places of business on South Mangum street. There he gave a part of the money to some negroes for safe keeping. He says that he did go into the negro pool room and get another cue stick to take the place of the one he had broken when he hit Mr. Mann.

When you are in doubt, diversify.

SOUTHERN FREIGHT WAREHOUSE AT WINSTON-SALEM BURNED.

Winston-Salem, April 20.--Fire which originated here this evening completely gutted the large north warehouse of the Southern Railroad freight station with its large stock of Spring Merchandise. The origin of the fire is unknown. The flames were well under way and the warehouse was doomed before the firemen reached the scene. The brick office building located between the north and south warehouses was not damaged except by water. However, but for the splendid work of the firemen this building also would have probably been destroyed. The south warehouse, which has recently been built, was not damaged at all, this being due to the superb work of the several fire departments. Officers of the Southern could not be seen tonight so the value of the merchandise stored in the building could not be learned. Everything was completely covered by insurance, it is said.

M. M. MAYS WAS BADLY INJURED.

Now In The Hospital.

Greensboro, N. C., April 20.--M. M. Mays lies in St. Leo's hospital in a serious condition, suffering from severe cuts inflicted by his brother-in-law, A. A. Jenkins. The altercation took place on the city's principle street this morning. Mays, who is employed by the Woolworth 5 and 10 cents store as a window decorator and floor walker, was standing in the door when Jenkins rushed upon him, knife in hand, and he began cutting. Several very ugly and dangerous wounds were inflicted upon Mays about the face, neck and shoulders. By standers rushed in as quick as they could. When Mays was carried to the hospital he was declared by the doctor to be in a critical condition, though he is getting along as well as could be expected. Jenkins was placed in jail to wait the outcome of the injuries he had inflicted. The two men are brothers-in-law and the trouble between them was of a domestic nature.

MISS BLACK PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Miss Fannie Black was very pleasantly surprised by her friends at her home on Everett Street Wednesday night.

The party was planned by Miss Clayta Petty and Mr. Rex Ivey, which met at the home of Miss Winnie Frazier and went to the home of Miss Black.

The evening was spent in playing rook and other games. Refreshments were served and a good time was enjoyed by all present.

Those present were: Misses Winnie and Maude Frazier, Bertha Stinson, Clayta Petty, Ella Newlin, Pearl Barhams, Minnie Ivey, Annie McBane, Mittie Jeffries; Messrs. Rex Ivey, Will Coble, Henry Ivey, Clyde Black, and Will Isley.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONVENTION.

Young People's Convention of The Methodist Protestant Church--Meets at Thomasville Today.

The First Young People's Convention of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina will convene this afternoon in Thomasville, N. C. This will be the first of its kind to be held in this state.

At the last annual conference of the M. P. church the Board of Young People's work was authorized to arrange for a convention to be held some time during the year, Thomasville being the place decided upon.

The delegation will include all the ministers of that denomination and two delegates from each church and field.

Some of the most prominent men of the Methodist Protestant church in the United States will be present and deliver addresses to the convention. The convention will last through Sunday.

DEBATING SOCIETY ORGANIZED.

The latest addition to the list of organizations in Burlington, is a young men's debating society. About twenty young men met in the Masonic Hall last night and organized a debating society. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Thomas N. Boone, who was unanimously elected President of the society. The other officers elected were as follows: David Curtis, Vice-President; Lawrence Black, Secretary & Treasurer; B. J. Frazier, Assistant Secretary & Treasurer; M. Terry, Sentinel.

We congratulate the young men upon the formation of this society, which we believe will mean much in the development of the members mentally, and trust that the organization will prove a permanent asset to the city of Burlington.

OFF TO BARACA-PHILATHEA CONVENTION.

The following delegates left yesterday for Raleigh to attend the Baraca-Philathea convention which convened in that city last night: Misses Bertha and Verna Cates and Mr. Lewis Cates of the Baptist church, Misses Gertrude Isley and Ione Lutterloh, and Mr. John Portefield of the Webb Avenue M. E., Mrs. C. K. Stafford and Mr. J. B. Turner of the M. P., Mr. Graham Faucette of the Reformed, and Miss Emma Love of the M. E. Others will go today and tomorrow and a good number will doubtless go on Sunday.

BASS STORE BROKEN INTO.

Last Wednesday night between ten and twelve o'clock the Bass store No. 2, was entered by thieves. Entrance was gained by removing the front glass. Mr. J. F. Idol, the clerk informs us that only a few cigarettes, cigars and candy were missing. The cash drawer had been entered and a small amount of change taken. There is no clue as to the guilty parties.

This the 6th day of April, 1915.

Visitor—So there is a deaf and dumb ward? How do you call the inmates to dinner? You don't ring a bell? Superintendent—No. A man walks through the halls wringing his hands.

The Durham Sun says: "There are a lot of people who are not inconvenienced in the least by the two quarts a month law. No; we don't mean that it is easy to get more, but that some people can get along with less." But we are ready to bet that there are more people who want more than two quarts a month now that they can't get it than wanted it when the supply was unlimited.—Florida Times-Union.

SPRING.

Spring has come. Do you not hear The little birds, singing near? Do you not see the little bees Gathering honey from the trees? Woods and orchards are all bright, With colors, green, red, purple and white. The funny tribes have their fun, Where'er the sparkling waters run. Can't you see new life in Spring? In bird and bee? In everything? Turn your eyes to look at heaven, And behold what God has given. God has given us the Spring, And the sweet little birds to sing; The pretty flowers to bloom, And the rivers and rills to run. All blessings in every land, Come down from heaven from His hand; Also voice, and soul to sing And be happy all through the Spring.

SACRIFICED LIFE TO SAVE HIS WIFE.

New York, April 15.—Edgar K. James, whose automobile recently caused the death of Karl T. F. Bitter, the scurter, and seriously injured his wife by running into them, was absolved from blame today by a coroner's jury which found the accident was unavoidable. Witness agreed the sculptor sacrificed his life to save his wife.

The woman who said she would rather kiss the devil than her husband is, of course, suing for divorce. Kissing is not so much a matter of favor as of taste, and in this case the husband may be more fortunate than the devil.

AN AMAZING CASE.

There is much food for speculation on the psychology of human nature in an amazing case the details of which reaches the Washington Post from Des Moines. It appears that one Mose Levich, a bankrupt pawnbroker in Des Moines, holds a bill of sale for the body of Miss Dottie Morgan, now of Denver, after her death. At present the lady is very much alive. Mr. Levich has filed a petition in the bankruptcy court, asking for a decision upon whether this body should be counted an asset in the settling up of the business.

Levich alleges that the woman gave him the bill of sale in 1907 for the loan of $10, having no other security. The bill of sale is said to read: "Des Moines, Iowa, —anuary —, Miss Dottie Morgan, of my own free will and without coercion of any kind, do hereby sell to Mose Levich my body after death, to do as he sees fit for the consideration of ten ($10) dollars.

"The said Mose Levich shall not take possession of my body until after I am dead, and that if at any time during my life I wish to cause this bill of sale

BRYAN BOOMS WILSON FOR SECOND TERM.

This is Construction Placed by Democrats on Secretary's Jefferson Day Speech.

PARTY CHIEF DINE.

William Jennings Bryan, premier of the Wilson Administration, lauded President Wilson and the accomplishments of his Administration last night at the Jefferson Day dinner held in the Hotel Adelphi. Democratic office holders and politicians gathered from all parts of the State interpreted his speech only in one way—that Mr. Bryan would bring the President forward to succeed himself in 1916.

Mr. Bryan throughout his address lauded President Wilson to Thomas Jefferson, and said that every principle which the President was carrying out was Jeffersonian—that the consummation of it all was that Mr. Wilson considers not the interests of the few, but the welfare of the many—the people who, in times of peace, produce the country's wealth, who, in times of war, furnish its men.

Is it possible," the Secretary of State asked, "when such a President as this goes into office without a single obligation to any one and then with singleness of purpose stands on the people's side in every question that comes before him, that his actions will not win for the party an enormous strength. I cannot doubt that the people of this country will give their indorsement to the doctrines which he has put into practice."

QUIPS AND QUIDDITIES

Mr. Kay See—"Sneaky sort of a man? What do you mean sir? Witness—"Well, sor, he's the sort of man that'll never look ye straight in the face until yer back's turned."

"Let me see, now," said the minister at the chistening, dipping his pen into the ink to record the event. "Isn't this the 27th?" "I should say not," retorted the indignant mother "it is only the ninth!"

An Example.

"People of this quiet, cold-blooded disposition, don't get into row." "I don't know about that. Nothing could be more plegmatic than the oyster, and he's continually getting into broils and stews."—Baltimore American.

Information.

At an "information test" in a Baltimore high school a few days ago some of the answers were these: "Watchful Waiting is a Christmas hymn." "The Bear Who Walks Like a Man is an orang-utan." "Busy Bertha is a prehistoric animal shown in moving pictures." "Tommy Atkins is a famous baseball pitcher." "Sir Isaac Newton invented moving pictures." "Maid of Orleans is a kind of molasses candy." "Lord Kitchener is some kind of an Englishman."—Kansas City Star.

THE HELLESPONT.

Yes, the Dardanelles is the Hellespont of the ancient Greeks—the same channel across which Leander swam when he visited his lady love, the fair Hero—only he swam once too often and was drowned and the love-sick maiden went and did likewise by casting herself into the bosom of the waters that had swallowed up her lover, if the bosom of waters can swallow lovers.

At any rate it is Hellespont, on the sea of Helle—right where herself was drowned, and where began, perhaps, the first-mother-in-law joke, for Helle was fleeing from her mother-in-law when she met her fate.

Mythology has it as Helle was fleeing through the air upon a golden fleeced ram, in order to get away from the aforesaid mother-in-law. Some kind of an accident must have happened to her airship, the ram, because it is related that she fell into the sea and perished, and ever after the waters bore the name of the sea of Helle, and the straits that name of the Helepeont. And it is a prettier name than that which the Turks have stuck onto it.—Bahr-Sfed Boghazi.

Just as interesting as the mythology concerning the place in an actual story of the American who sailed the seas a hundred years ago. That was in 1800, and the American was Captain Bainbridge in command of the United States frigate George Washington. Captain Bainbridge was on his way to the court of Turkey, to protest against the actions of the pirates off the coast of Tripoli in holding up American vessels and demanding tribute.

When his vessel entered the straits a shot was fired by the battery from the point where the Turks are now firing at the allies. He knew that if he stopped to tell the officers where he was going he would not be allowed to pass, so he slowed down and fired a salute to the fort—several shots with the miserable black powder which was then in use.

The powder from the gun hung about the ship like a pall, and Captain Bainbridge took advantage of the blind and sailed his ship past the fort. When the smoke cleared away he was beyond the reach of the guns, and was able to make his way to Constantinople. There were no mines in the channel at that time, and the guns from the battery did not carry far as do the great guns of the present.

But when Captain Bainbridge reached the capital without having obtained permission to pass the forts, there was a good deal of explaining to be done, and it is exceedingly doubtful if the captain told the absolute truth about the matter. Certainly he could be pardoned for saying that he supposed after the friendly salute permission had thereby been given for him to proceed. At any rate he proceeded, and accomplished his mission, although we had subsequently to why the Tripolitans before there was an end to piracy in the region.

NEGRO WOMAN COMES TO LIFE WHEN BEING PLACED IN COFFIN.

Goldsboro, April 17.—It was a hard job for Sheriff Edwards to keep his deputies and the jailer from indulging in the joys of the small ocean of "booze" refreshments recently stored away in the jail, this afternoon, when a negro woman confined in the jail and who was supposed to be dead, suddenly came to life again while a negro undertaker was in the act of placing her in a coffin. The undertaker's horse and horse are still on the jail grounds, but where is the undertaker?

A MESSAGE TO SALARIED MEN.

"Systematically laying aside a portion of our earnings, during prosperous times, for a less fortunate day, is as ancient in principle, as it is desirable."—Franklin Pierce.

This conversation between an executive and a subordinate asking for more pay.

"Own your home?"

"No."

"Never been able to make any salary too small."

"If you can't manage such things for yourself, how can you for the house?"

A word to the wise is sufficient.

As far as saving and making money is concerned, there are two kinds of people in this world—those who are always getting ready to do something, and those who go ahead and do it.

The average salaried man's problem is a hard one. He must adjust his living expenses very closely to his income.

He has a "fixed use" for every penny that comes into his hands.

Each year his salary may be increased a few dollars, but these few dollars, quickly find themselves "fixed" among the expenditures.

He still lacks a surplus.

Of course, this system is wrong!

We all know that. But the question is how can the system be changed? How can the average salaried man get ahead without uncomfortably changing his way of living?

There is a way. Not a mere theory, but a real way that other salaried men are now using successfully.

You can save a dollar or two a week if you assume an obligation to put this aside in a savings bank account. You can adjust this amount to your cost of living and never miss it. You will not inconvenience yourself. All that is necessary is to agree with yourself that your savings account deposit will be a "fixed charge" the same as your rent or your tradesmen's bills or your insurance premiums, all of which you manage to meet because you plan for them in advance.

Will you do it?

REVIVAL AT GRAHAM.

Great Crowds Attend Services Conducted By Rev. Mr. Lightbourne.

Graham, April 19.—The service held at the courthouse Sunday evening at 7:45, brought to a close the 10 days' revival that started out to be the regular annual meeting of the Christian church.

When J. F. Morgan, pastor of the Christian church, announced that Rev. Victor Lightbourne would conduct the annual meeting this spring, it meant nothing more to the people of Graham than it had always meant. At the first service that was held the regular congregation of the Christian church and a few outsiders heard Mr. Lightbourne. Those present were delighted and told others and each night the congregation grew until the church would not accommodate them. The services were then moved to the courthouse, and with every night the crowd was larger until standing room was at a premium and the last night every available space was filled and scores of people were turned away. Not for many years has Graham had such a revival.

What promised to be a denominational meeting resulted in the most complete non-denominational meeting Graham has ever known. And it was not only a Graham meeting, for crowds flocked in from Burlington, Eion College, Haw River, Swepsonville and all the surrounding country to hear this great servant of God. And they got what they came for.

There were upward of 100 converts as the result of Mr. Lightbourne's efforts, while nearly all Christians present reconsecrated themselves to the service of God. Mrs. Lightbourne was present and greatly helped the meeting with her singing.

GOOSE YIELDS GOLDEN "EGG."

To find imbedded in the gizzard of a goose which he killed a gold nugget valued at the sum of $15 was the experience of Weller, of Live Oak. The gold was in an irregular mass, and adhered to the gizzard of the bird. According to a physician, who examined the same, it must have been lodged in the gizzard for some time, but failed to kill the bird.

Weller has had the nugget mounted on a handsome gold watch alarm by a Marysville jeweler, and prizes the same very highly. It is believed the goose picked the nugget up somewhere while feeding, and swallowed it. The goose proved to be a most valuable bird, and Weller receiving the congratulations of his friends on his capture of such a prize.—Yura City (Cal.) Dispatch.

HE WASN'T DEAD.

A boy, ghastly white, tottered up to Policeman Mitchell at West Randolph and North Clark streets, says the Chicago News.

"I'm sick," he gasped, and fell into the bluecoat's arms.

"What's the matter?" exclaimed the policeman.

"The hospital," mumbled the limp youth.

Ten minutes later an ambulance was rushing him to the Iroquois Memorial hospital. The doctor came out in a few minutes.

"Dead yet?" some one inquired anxiously.

"Humph!" ejaculated the doctor and shrugged his shoulder. "Here is my report to the desk sergeant:

"Joseph Dryeh, 17, errand boy, 3718 South Lockwood avenue; became ill from cigarette—first smoke."

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of the power contained in a certain mortgage executed by Henry Rogers to the undersigned on the 22nd day of September, 1914, and duly registered in the office of the Register of Deeds for Alamance county, North Carolina, in book No. 66 of Mortgage Deeds, pages 314-317, to secure the payment of a certain bond, conveyed a certain real estate, and whereas default having been made in the payment of said bond and interest, I will expose to public sale to the highest bidder for cash at the courthouse door of the county of Alamance, on Monday, May 10, 1915, at twelve o'clock P. M., the land conveyed in said Mortgage Deed to-wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land in Thompson township, Alamance county, State of North Carolina, adjoining the lands of William Bason and others and bounded as follows:

BEGINNING at a stone, corner with Bason and Newlin's line running North 45 deg. East with Bason's line 19 poles to a stone; thence 45 deg. West 24 poles to a stone; thence South 84 deg. West 4 poles to a stone, corner of Church lot; thence South 12 deg. East with said line to first starting, containing one and one-half acres, more or less, upon which is situate a three room frame dwelling.

This 31st day of March, 1915.

QUIPS AND QUIDDITIES.

A wedding company on its way to the magistrate's office had to cross a river in a skiff, when as luck would have it, the bridegroom fell into the water.

Wringing her hands, the bride cried out that somebody should save her beloved.

"Whaat for?" asked one of the company. "He's a good swimmer."

"That's just it!" cried the bride. "Don't you see that he is swimming toward the other bank?"

Two Lancashire boys were expatiating on the relative merits of their fathers as musicians.

"My father is the greatest musician in town," said one.

"Oh!" the other said. "When my father starts every man stops work."

"How's that?" said the other.

"What does he do?"

"He blows the whistle for meals up at the mill."

A well-dressed, portly man stood for several moments watching a brawny porter, who was laboriously tugging at a large, heavy box which seemed almost as wide as the doorway through which he was trying to move it. Presently the kindly disposed on-looker approached the perspiring porter and said, with a patronizing air:

"Like to have a lift?"

"Bet yer life!" the other replied and for the next two minutes the two men on opposite sides of the box lifted,uffed and wheezed, but it did not move an inch. Finally the well-dressed one straightened up and said between his puffs:

"I don't believe we can get it there."

"Get it in?" shouted the other. "Why, you idiot, I'm trying to get it out!"

The coffee was in its cups.

The candles were all lit up.

The mince pie was groggy.

Each bread plate had a bun on.

Every steel knife had an edge.

The cracked tumbler had had one drop too much before it was brought in.

The salt cellars were full.

The blooms with which the table was decorated had been out all night.

Even the ice water drunk before the evening was over.

And the vinegar—oh, mother!

In fact, all the food and drink was on the downward road.—Judge.

SENTIMENT

Strong For Root

Former Senator Is Being Boomed For President.

NEW YORK STATE IS TO PUT HIM FORWARD.

Whitman Not Favored By Republican Leaders.

Politicians Are of Belief That Colonel Roosevelt Would Support Retired Empire Solon.

New York, April 18.—Sentiment in favor of former Senator Elihu Root for President has been growing rapidly among New York State Republicans, and he has largely superseded Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes, of the Supreme Court of the United States, as the man to conjure with in connection with the nomination in 1916. Up to a short time ago Mr. Hughes was looked upon as one of the strongest possibilities, chiefly as a dark horse, since he no intention of becoming a candidate while on the bench.

Now, however, Mr. Root is in the ascendancy so far as the predilections of many Republican politicians and business men in New York are concerned. A strong feeling exists in Republican circles that the former Senator will be New York's favorite son at the national convention. Mr. Root, himself has discovered a desire to become President, and has declared that he would not accept the office.

To Develop Sentiment.

But there are many Republicans of prominence who at this time are resolved to nominate him, if possible, and it is their purpose to develop sentiment in his favor notwithstanding his objection to the use of his name in this connection. The advocates of his nomination declare that he is the best-equipped man in the country for the presidential office, and go into details in describing his qualifications. One conspicuous Republican, a member of Congress from this State, expressed it tonight in this way:

"President Roosevelt was right when in expressing an appreciation of Mr. Root when the latter was Secretary of State, he said that he was the greatest statesman of the generation in all the world. It is just that kind of man whom this country needs in the White House during the period of international reconstruction which will follow the European war.

"The United States is soon destined to become the most important nation in the world, not only on account of its free government and institutions, but on account of its growth toward financial supremacy.

"Would Be Able to Handle."

"We need a man in the White House who has a profound knowledge not only of domestic but of foreign affairs, and Mr. Root stands out pre-eminently as the representative of this type. He has an intimate knowledge of the perplexing intricacies of modern business and the responsibilities of Government toward business, as well as duties of business toward Government. He is an expert on the theory of Government and our constitution, and in the matter of the conduct of our relations with other Governments.

"Many troublesome questions will arise between the United States and other Powers in the next few years which Mr. Root would be able to handle to the credit of this Government without having to employ international lawyers to guide him; he would no even have to rely on his Secretary of State in directing our relations with other countries. He would know how to promote the material prosperity of our people and secure for them in foreign markets, and at no time would he permit the dignity of our Government to be assailed.

"If the Mexican situation has not been cleared up by 1917, it would not take him long, if he were President, to bring the reign of anarchy to a speedy close, probably without report to intervention.

"Since 1898, when he became Secretary of War in President McKinley's cabinet, he has been devoting his great talents to the public interests, and I venture to say that no man has made such tremendous financial sacrifices in our time. For, at the time he entered the cabinet of McKinley he was regarded as one of the foremost lawyers in the country and I have not doubt he could have earned at least $200,000 a year in his profession during all this period.

"Instead, he has been accepting a salary of $8,000 as a cabinet officer under President McKinley and Roosevelt and $7,500 a year as Senator. And now he has gone to Albany as President of the Constitutional Convention to remain there six months, and for guiding the course of this body will receive a paltry of $1,500.

"Compared with the public benefactions of Rockefeller and Carnegie, Mr. Root's efforts in behalf of the nation have been infinitely greater and more valuable. He has given not only of his intellect, but his strength funds, accumulated more or less doubtfully, which could do them absolutely no good.

"I believe New York will endorse him for the nomination next year."

Do Not Want Whitman.

While Governor Whitman is presumably laying his wires with a view to capturing the Republican nomination for President, the Republican leaders of this state are not in sympathy with his aspirations. Up to this time he has not made a very deep impression upon the people of the state, and with most of the influential Republicans favoring Mr. Root it would be a comparatively easy matter for the former Senator to have the support of the majority, if not all of the delegates from this state; and unless their present plans are abandoned because of his obduracy, the present indications are that Mr. Root will be forced into becoming the Empire State's favorite son.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Root in his capacity as permanent Chairman of the Republican National Convention of 1912 collaborated very effectively with President Taft and his managers in preventing the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt in Chicago and was roundly denounced for his stand by the former President, who a few years before had described him in such exalted terms, it is believed by Republican leaders here that Mr. Roosevelt would support the former Senator if the latter were nominated and in the event the Colonel himself failed to get the nomination.

Oppose Democratic Victory.

For, as stated in a recent dispatch, close political friends of the Colonel have been urging him to become a candidate for the Republican nomination despite his bolt in 1912, and the consequent disruption of the Republican party. The Colonel is very keen to assist in preventing a Democratic triumph in 1916, and Republicans are of the opinion that he will work in harmony with them no matter who is nominated.

The recent return of Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, to the Republican fold after being a member of the Bull Moose for nearly three years, and the later announcement of Senator Poindexter, of Washington, that he would return as a Republican for reelection after having enjoyed being classified in the United States Senate as a Bull Moose, shows how rapidly the Progressives are merging with the Republicans. The next in order is for Colonel Roosevelt himself to swear allegiance, and it would not be surprising if he should do so at an early date. The task of compromising the principles of the G. O. P. with those announced by the Progressives is not expected to be adifficulty.

Germany thinks she ought to be permitted to trade us some of her dyestuff for some of our die-stuff.

YOUR attention is respectfully called to an important point not generally known, that a laxative should have a tonic element to successfully meet constipation.

Mr. John B. Capers, of 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas, had a significant experience in this particular. He was afflicted with a severe case of constipation and bowel trouble. He spent a good deal of money in trying to find a remedy. To his astonishment, Peruna very quickly relieved him of his bad symptoms.

This happened a number of years ago. Since then, Mr. Capers states that he has had similar attacks of trouble, the prominent symptom of which is constipation, and has always found prompt and efficient relief from Peruna. He says: "Up to the time I started using your Peruna I could drink castor oil like water. It did no good. As for salts, they were of no use. Physies of all kinds and classes were used, but we had to call on the fountain syringe for help." Peruna was able to correct this condition completely in Mr. Capers' case, and there is every reason to believe that it was the tonic qualities of Peruna, added to the laxative qualities, that procured this very desirable result.

STRAW FLOUR FOOD SUPPLY.

The German press bureau in New York has given out the following statement:

"Germany's new food material, straw flour, is the result of many years of investigation by Hans Friedenthal, M. D., lecturer in the university of Berlin, who has succeeded in utilizing the nutritive matter contained in straw. The straw is reduced to flour by a special process. The indigestible and unpalatable cell walls are eliminated and the nutritive matter retained, says the Tag, which describes the new foodstuff as follows:

"Some time ago Doctor Friedenthal lectured on his discovery before a meeting of the farmers association in Berlin. His first plea was made to palat and stomach by handling round samples of soup, prepared half with straw flour, the taste of which was like green rye soup, and samples of bread prepared of straw and rye, tasting very much like the Swedish knack bread.

"Great Britain's philanthropic threat to starve Germany was not the origin of Doctor Friedenthal's discovery. For four years he has been making systematic experiments to utilize pulposus matter for animal and human food. The lecturer demonstrated the high proportion of digestible nutriment contained in oat straw, hay, pea straw, etc.

"Straw contains four times as much albumen and from four to five times as much fat as the potato. It is a peculiarity of many plants to hide nutritive matter and to enclose it in the cell walls in a way that it cannot be attacked by the gastric juice of men and animals. By thoroughly crushing and grinding all walls the nutritive matter of the plants can be obtained so that it is event fit for baby food."

Mrs. Sarah Andrews, 930 Webb St., Burlington, says: "I suffered a great deal from pains in the small of my back. I had such severe headaches at times that I was dizzy. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Freeman's Drug Store and I am now stronger and better than I have been in a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills strengthened my kidneys and drove away the pain in my back." (Statement given December 19, 1907.)

Over seven years later Mrs. Andrews said: "As soon as my kidneys cause me any trouble now, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills always give me quick relief. They are the best medicine to be had for kidney disorders."

A NEW YORK LETTER.

Now that Easter is past history and the smart woman has placed her stamp of approval on this style and that by actual wearing, street clothes resolve themselves into two distinct types, the tailored and semi-tailored suit.

Perhaps it is the anticipation of a cross-continent trip to the Fair that is making the tailored suit so popular or it may be milady on charity bent finds the plain coat and short skirt in keeping with her mood. Whatever the irresistible influence is, it has reft our suits of frill and fancy and left them for the most part plain creations with coats medium length and skirts short even to the top of the high boot.

In the window of a Fifth Avenue shop, a model of dark blue gabardine is attracting the gaze of the never ceasing stream of well-dressed women who frequent this thoroughfare. Suggestive of a uniform, it boldly stands forth with patch pockets over the seams, a small one above and a large one below the broad belt of white leather that sports a black buckle. The collar, notched in the most approved manner, is faced with white broadcloth to match the belt and bound with black braid the same as the front and the lower edge. Huge white ball buttons complete the trimming and below the binding on the circular skirt, the cuffs of Russian boots are seen in black patent leather to match the vamp, while the quarter is made of white kid. A small turban of black straw with white wings flaring on either side carries out the balance of the black and white, marking the skill of a clever modiste.

A Military Model of Blue Gabardine Trimmings With Wide Hercules Braid.

Many variations are seen in this suit. Here it is made without the pockets, and there with a shawl collar in place of the notch. However, if you start in quest of some really new fabric you are doomed to disappointment unless the fabric be a cotton. Invariably as you roam through the racks and models of the cloak and suit departments, you see the black-clad saleswoman pause in front of the chair of a prospective customer and hear her say, "A dark, blue serge or gabardine, shepherd's check worsted or Donnegan Tweed?" and there the choice ends, unless, as I said before, you want a cotton for your tailored suit. Here magic has been wrought with the warp and wool. Carraval is one of the interesting new cottons; it is a material for all the world like a duvetyne that has borrowed the knots of ratine, and there are numberless other good suiting cottons and lines.

Feeling the defects in the season's woollens, trimmings outdo themselves, and in no small measure are responsible for the success of the tailored styles, for braidings, binding, pipings, buttons and embroideries ingeniously employed diversify and lend dash to present fashions. Suits of serge, gabardine or checked worsted have edges bound with Hercules braid in black, white, tan or blue. Narrow soutache braid in white makes another smart finish on blue serge, placed in four rows around the skirt above the hem, but if there is a preference it is given to the hey silver tinsel braid which appears in floral borders on the bottom of the serge and gabardine coats. So quickly did it come and so smart was the effect, its popularity was instantaneous—today in one shop, tomorrow in another, and by the end of a week the whole Avenue wears it. Nor are these borders confined to the tinsel alone. One of the small specialty shops shows a serge coat with the border in white silk braid and the effect is really fetching. There are other suits, too, with the borders embroidered with blue silk floss. Indeed, variety is endless in these strictly tailored suits. Their style is even accentuated by contrast with the silk models cut on semi-tailored lines.

Distinctly different in purpose and appearance, the suits with short Zouave jackets in no wise conflict with the vogue of the tailored, but are selected for theater, afternoon and dress wear. One of New York's most famous houses has on display an attractive model in mouse-gray faille silk, the coat short and boxy and the skirt laid in soft pleats. Fine silk-corded motifs in the corners of the jacket and woven buttons in self-tones make rich trimming.

UNCLE SAM ASKED TO DEFEND CHINA.

Peking, April 17.—Intervention by the United States in the negotiations now proceeding between China and Japan is recommended to President Wilson in the appeal recently sent to him by the American missionaries in this country. The message was five thousand words long and was forwarded to Washington by cable. It characterizes the Japanese demands on China as acts of aggression such as eventually will present a menace to the United States. Recalling the fact that Japan has at present in this country double her usual quota of troops (amounting to 60,000 men) the missionaries urge that Japan be notified that the excess of troops should be removed.

The understanding here is that a Chinese official, or several of them, paid the cable charges amounting to nearly $6,000, on the message to President Wilson. This communication was signed by the Reverends E. W. Thwing, John Wherry, C. H. Fenn, and W. A. P. Martin, all connected with the American Presbyterian Mission at Peking; the Rev. Chauncey Goodrich, of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions; who is stationed at Tien Tsin; the Rev. H. H. Lowry, of the Methodist Episcopal Mission at Peking; and the Rev. C. F. Hubbard.

There are in China several hundred American missionaries, of whom the great majority have not seen the message. Some of them who were requested to sign it declined. The American board recently requested its missionaries to avoid public expression of opinion on political affairs, and although it is said the missionaries generally side with China in the present controversy few of them have been active politically.

It's easy to be an optimist so long as the bright side only is visible.

REQUIESCAT.

Tread lightly, she is near
Under the snow
Speak gently, she can hear.
The daisies grow.

All her bright golden hair
Tarnished with rust;
She that was young and fair
Fallen to dust.

Lily-like, white as snow,
She hardly knew
She was a woman, so
Sweetly she grew.

Coffin board, heavy stone,
Lie on her breast;
I vex my heart alone;
She is at rest.

Peace, peace, she cannot hear
Lyre or sonnet;
All my life's buried here;
Heap earth upon it.

It seems rather untimely to talk of another Democratic Administration when we are not certain the country is going to stand what is left to the present one.

There is actually no need of an extra session of the new Democratic Congress. It will have time enough to make all the usual blunders in the course of the regular session.

R. F. D. News

Cleaned By Our Rural Correspondents.

LIBERTY ROUTE 3 ECHOES.

At last spring, beautiful spring is with us once again! And the farmers are busy—well busy doesn't express it and now we too, are glad to feel the warm sun again as well as our farmer friends.

Our neighborhood was greatly shocked when the news was flashed over the telephone wires Monday morning that Mr. Frank Bristow was dead.

Mr. Bristow has complained for several weeks of not feeling well but still kept at his work and his family did not think there was any cause for alarm at all and retired Sunday night as usual. About mid-night his wife was awakened by his hard breathing and before aid could be summoned he breathed his last. He leaves a devoted wife, seven children to mourn their loss. He was a devoted husband and a kind indulgent father and also a good neighbor. He will be greatly missed. We extend our sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

Mrs. J. N. Thompson is confined to her room with an attack of La-grippe, we are sorry to note. Hope she will soon be able to be out again soon.

Mrs. Sallie Foust died Friday, the 16th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. N. Hornaday after a lingering illness, she having been feeble for quite a while. She was 90 years old. Her remains were laid to rest in Bethel cemetery Sunday, the 18th.

Mrs. John Moody has been very ill, we learn but is slowly improving at this writing.

Evron Daffron, little son of W. B. Daffron, has been right sick for the past week. We hope that he will soon be able to be out again.

The snow storm gave the telephone men plenty of work to do. Scarcely a line left standing.

We learn that Mr. Charlie Hinshaw has moved his saw mill to the old McMath place and is now making things lively there sawing cross ties, etc.

A number of "our folks" on the route have been laid up with La-grippe and chicken-pox, but all are improving as far as we can learn.

Some of our people "took in" the exercises at Cross Roads Saturday and report a good time. Quite a number of "our folks" attended the convention at Pleasant Hill Sunday.

Mrs. O. N. Hornaday has been confined to her room with La-grippe for several weeks. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Ralph Coble visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Coble Saturday and Sunday.

OAKDALE ITEMS.

One of the saddest deaths occurred in our neighborhood Sunday night, April 11, 1915, that has in many years. That of our friend and good neighbor, Mr. Franklin Bristow. He went to bed in his usual health, though not very well, but was able to visit several neighbors Sunday and in the stillness of the mid-night hour he was called without any warning. His uncommon breathing is supposed to have caused his wife and family to wake up and see him draw his last breath. He was laid to rest in Mt. Zion cemetery where an unusual large gathering of friends "for there were many," and relatives gathered to pay their last respect. He leaves a devoted wife and two sons and four daughters to mourn their loss. A place in the home that can never be filled like Franklin filled it. Funeral was conducted by Rev. R. S. Troxler of Mt. Pleasant church. Mr. Bristow was 58 years and 5 months old, and had been a member of the M. P. Church for some time.

Mrs. William Foust died at her daughter's, Mrs. O. N. Hornaday, April 16, 1915. She was very old and had been in feeble health for some time. Her death was not unexpected. She was taken to Bethel church and laid to rest beside her husband, Mr. William Foust.

Patterson township Sunday school convention met at Pleasant Hill church, April 18th. We understand that this part of the Sunday school work has been neglected for over a year but some of the Sunday school workers did not think it wise to continue to let it drag so they met and had a very large crowd of earnest listeners, using mostly home talent. Many new things were spoken of and if carried out will result in much good.

Farmers are very busy preparing and planting their crops. Wheat, where there is a stand, is looking fine but oats are not very good owing to the freeze out.

We were in hope that Mr. J. A. Hornaday would stay with us but he has gotten another job and is gone.

Cross Roads school closed on the 17th with very good exercises and an address was given by County Superintendent Robinson.

IMPORTANCE OF THE CORN CROP.

Would you like to join our Corn Growers' League and study the best methods of growing corn cheaply? If so, send me your name and Post Office address, read this letter carefully and use the methods here suggested.

In many counties in the State, especially where much tobacco or cotton is grown, farmers have largely neglected corn growing, and have depended upon their income from tobacco or cotton to buy corn with. This is not an economical policy. It is paying about a dollar per bushel for corn that could easily be produced for twenty cents per bushel. No matter whether the price of tobacco and cotton is high or low. Every farmer should grow all the corn needed on his farm. Why not break away from galling fetters of buying on a credit basis at credit prices, assert your independence for once and this season grow all the corn you will need next season? It can be done.—Listen:—

There is a positive and negative side to the matter,—some things to do and some things to leave undone. First, plant your corn on your best land, and plant enough acres to supply all your needs. It does not pay to plant corn on poor land. Break the land from six to eight inches deep; harrow it well the same day, and two or three times later; give one deep cultivation before the corn is a foot high; after that cultivate only from one to two inches deep; broadcast (just before breaking) any stable manure used; if nitrate of soda is used, put it broadcast in the middles when the corn is from twelve to eighteen inches high.

Now for negative side; don't turn the clay or subsoil out on top when breaking the land; don't put manure or fertilizer in the drill; don't use scrub seed; don't plant on high bed; don't break the roots by deep cultivation after the corn is ten inches high; don't stop cultivation until the corn is tasseling freely; don't fail to ask or write to me for our circular No. 600, unless you already have it, and don't fail to call on me for assistance if I can help you.

With best wishes for your success, I am,
Sincerely yours,
E. C. TURNER,
County Demonstration Agent.

Blackmail Charge Against Don Elia Quickly Dismissed.

Raleigh, April 20.—Don S. Elia, of Asheville, who stood defendant on a blackmail charge today, will escape the electric chair, a penitentiary term, a road service and a jail sentence. He will not be hired out even as a wayward youth. He actually misses Jim Cook's training school.

The court didn't do a thing to him. For two and a half hours Col. Logan Harris did his "derndest" to show that Kope's son tried to extort money from J. M. Mills and S. B. Equels, while Judge Buck Harris, son of Col. Logan, sitting on the bench, sought all the wise saws and modern instances, gave the prosecutors all the time to find something that even savored of blackmail, and finally booted the thing out of court without even letting Don narrate his experience as a luncoist.

It wasn't nearly so serious a performance as the moot courts at Chapel Hill, for there they sometimes "have a good looking girl to come into that tribunal with letters showing that some John Doe in the world of Imagination actually called her his "toosie woosie" over his own signature and they try that case to a conclusion. The budding barristers beat the circumambient and the jurors retire and give verdicts from which there are no appeals. Even this forum for the sole employment of sharpening wits and gaining experience, was more serious than Don Elia's accusers made his trial today.

IN A STATEMENT.

Senator Borah Says He is Not Candidate For President.

Washington, April 18.—Senator Borah, of Idaho, issued a statement here tonight, saying "he was not and would not become a candidate" for the Republican nomination for President. "If by any chance the party should nominate me," he said, "I, of course, should accept. To pretend or to intimate otherwise would be absurd. But I shall not seek the nomination nor strive in any way, directly or indirectly, to obtain it. Nor have I the slightest expectation of its coming to by way."

The statement was issued, Senator explained, because of numerous inquiries received on the subject.

"A candidate is a slave," he added, "and I prefer to keep my freedom to speak as plainly as I see fit, especially. At a time like this when plain speaking seems to be likely to become necessary if the Republican party is to be restored to power."

WOMAN PHONES POLICE SHE HAS SHOT ASSAILANT.

Columbus, Ga., April 20.—Claiming that Charles Speres had whipped her, Mrs. Kate Alford, today phoned the officers of Russell county, Ala., that she had shot the former and that he was mortally wounded. She claims that the man held her up on the roadway, whipped her, and that she acted to save herself, because Speres had threatened to kill her. The authorities are investigating the case and it is expected that further developments will be the result.

Beaumont, Texas, reported 1,200 loads of trash carted off the last "clean-up" day. Beaumont must be like the man who was a regular bather—once a year.

A SCORE FOR GREEN.
"It is marvelous," began Green before a goodly audience, "now coming events cast their shadows before themselves. Why, only the other day there was a fire at our church, and I bet none of you can tell me what was the last thing played on the organ!"

"Lost Chord?" ventured one. Green shook his head. "Was it Faust?" suggested the man of opera. "All wrong," answered Green. "Well, what on earth was it?" asked one impatiently. "The hose!" he managed to shout, amid a hail of missiles.

The Telephone Operator Says:

If you permit your friends, neighbors and servants to use your telephone indiscriminately, you are liable to be reported "busy" when there is an urgent call for you.

It is easier for the operator to make the connection than to give the "busy" report. When your number is called she instinctively reaches for it with a plug. If your line tests "busy" she so reports. You may not be using the telephone yourself and may be unaware that someone else is using it.
