BURLINGTON SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR SUMMER.

Nineteen Boys and Girls Complete Course and Are Awarded Diplomas.

MR. BICKETT THE SPEAKER.

The commencement exercises of the Burlington graded school came to an end last night in a blaze of glory when Attorney General T. W. Bickett delivered the commencement address and diplomas were presented to the 19 boys and girls who have completed the course.

The exercises began Sunday night with the baccalaureate sermon in Front street Methodist church by Rev. J. Clyde Turner of Greensboro, Monday evening the annual debate was held in the auditorium, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings were given to receptions to the senior class.

Thursday evening class exercises were held in the auditorium. The class motto is "Imer Trou;" class flower, sweet peas; class colors, green and white; class officers, Sam Bason, president; Gladys Brown, vice-president; James White, secretary; Julia Hornaday, treasurer. The exercises began with several musical numbers rendered by pupils of the music department. The class exercises were very original and unique, taking the form of a campfire supper given the class by the president, Sam Bason, at his father's farm. The stage was a woodland scene, and the boys and girls wore middy suits and buting costumes. They sat around the fire and laughingly told the history of the past four years in an interesting way. The feature of the supper was the "horoscopia," purchased by Sam Bason, to foretell the lives of the members. This was an instrument which different members of the class looked into and read the fate of the members in an entertaining way. The class will was read by Rufus Wilson. The valedictorian of the class, Miss Margaret Hayes, made a most touching and pleasing speech in a happy manner. The marshals were: James Heritage, chief; Misses Ava Heritage, Elizabeth Faucette and Kathleen Elder, and Harvey Horne, Carl Barrett and Glenn Holt.

The graduating exercises took place in the auditorium Friday evening. The limited auditorium space was taxed to its utmost capacity and many were turned away from the doors. Of the musical part of this program especially deserving mention are the chorus "Come Where the Lilies Bloom," by a selected double quartette, and the piano solo, "The Last Hope," Gottschalk, perfectly rendered by Miss Hennie Malone. The prize essay on "Oral Hygiene," was read by Miss Eula Waddell, and the gold medal presented to her in a few well-chosen words by DeRoy Fonville. This medal is given each year to the pupil of the school writing the best essay on this subject and is giving rise to much thought and benefit on this important matter. E. S. W. Dameron, in a short speech, presented to Miss Catherine Cox the gold medal won by her in the recitation contest of Monday night.

The address by Hon. T. W. Bickett followed this. The introduction of the speaker was made by Supt. Albert H. King. Mr. Bickett spoke for an hour, holding his audience spell-bound, in spite of the warm weather and the crowded condition of the people.

Following this certificates of promotion into the high school were awarded to the 39 pupils of the seventh grade by their teacher, Miss Lottie Hart. Immediately after a short, timely address was made by Superintendent King on the work of the year, and special stress was laid upon the great need of a new building, with larger and better accommodations.

J. H. McEwen, principal of the high school, next presented to the graduates their diplomas, as Rev. D. McEwen also gave the Bibles to them. The members of the graduating class are: Samuel Murphy Bason, Frank McDowell Bain, Mary Sae Browning, Ellen Gladys Brown, Una Mae Elder, Minnie Mary Ellis, Dorothy Louise Faucette, Mary Elizabeth Garrison, Julia Hornaday, Margaret Hayes, Georgia Frances Hatch, Mamie Marie Malone, Sallie Helen Patterson, Clara May Purcell, Kathleen Graves Strickler, Esther Daisy Taylor, Virgie Gladys Trolinger, Rufus Duniop Wilson, and James Ira White.

The year has been a most successful one, 1,150 pupils having been enrolled.

The commencement exercises of the Friendship High School will take place on Thursday and Friday of this week. Prof. Meade Hart, the Principal, has prepared a very attractive and interesting program.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

A crowded house both morning and evening greeted Evangelist R. V. Miller in the opening sessions of the evangelistic meetings in the Christian church Sunday.

Both his morning and evening messages drew the closest attention from his splendid audience. Rev. Miller's presentation of the truth has no touch of the sensational but is sane, safe and founded on the Word of God. R. O. Bell, who has charge of the singing created a splendid impression on the people by his enthusiastic method of getting the people to sing, as well as by his splendid voice.

He has organized a "Boys and Girls chorus," consisting of boys and girls between the ages of eight and sixteen years of age, which promises to be a great help in the meetings.

Rev. Miller is giving a series of Bible readings and studies each morning from 9:30 to 10:30. Of the Monday morning study was a fair sample. The people of Burlington cannot afford to miss these morning services. Many are predicting already that the church will not be sufficiently large enough to accommodate the crowds of people who will desire to hear these servants of God.

VALEDICTORY.

We take pleasure in publishing the valedictory address of Miss Margaret Hayes, who won the high honor and distinction of being valedictorian in the class of 1915 of the Burlington High School. Miss Hayes is the daughter of our clever townsman and rural mail carrier, Mr. J. M. Hayes. This honor and distinction came to her by hard work and persistent efforts in her four years of high school life. She had many difficulties and obstacles to surmount, but she maintained the grit and determination that enabled her to finally succeed. The valedictory address follows:

"Citizens of Burlington, members of the Board, teachers, visitors and fellow students, in the name of the Senior class of nineteen fifteen, I sincerely welcome you. We feel that the closing event of our High School days would not be complete without you.

This is the time that we have longed for for four long years and joyously looked forward to for the glory that would be ours. And now that we have reached this milestone on our journey it is with mingled joy and regret—joy for the results of our labors; regret because we must part, for we realize that this is the last time we shall be together. And so, you first, dear classmates, I give my parting words: It is ours to do and dare. Let us show Burlington what we can do! Let us make Burlington proud of us!

We expect you, as our friends, to give us your best sympathy and earnest co-operation in the work that each of us has chosen to do. You have done so in the past and we take this opportunity to thank you. It is with this in mind that we, the Senior class of nineteen fifteen, say farewell to the best friends we have ever had.

And at this time it is fitting that we should offer at least a small part of the gratitude that is in our hearts, to the teachers and superintendents that it has been our good fortune to come in contact with. We cannot offer a beautifully worded tribute, because heart utterances are simple and direct. But we believe that we shall feel your influence through all coming life and never cease to hold you in memory dear.

And now we have finished. After tonight our childhood days will be gone forever and we shall prepare ourselves for the struggle of life and seek our appointed places in the affairs of the world. But we believe that Burlington needs us. We go, but we are coming back. We are going to do our part in making our city the Bigger, Better Burlington, for which we have all planned and earnestly hoped.

ATTENTION, DEBTERS.

The Young Men's Debating Club of Burlington will meet in regular session on Thursday evening of this week at eight o'clock. The program consists of a debate on the question of capital punishment, and there will doubtless be an interesting argument. All members are urged to be present.

SELLERS RAISES GOOD SELLERS.

Mr. R. J. Sellers is some chicken man. Starting on the eighteenth of March, without an incubator, he has successfully raised 160 healthy, vigorous biddies.—Oxford Public Ledger.

Mr. Sellers is a former Burlingtonian and his friends here will be glad to learn of his good luck in raising chickens.

The big fish, as usual, continues to get away from the big liar.

PRESENTATION SPEECH OF THE JOHN BENNERS GIBBLE DEBATORS MEDAL.

Delivered Before Large Audience in Graded School Auditorium—On Occasion of Annual Commencement Debate.

(By W. H. Carroll.)

Rev. John Benners Gibble, one of Burlington's most esteemed and highly appreciated ministers, desiring to advance the cause of education in our midst, and stimulate a desire among the pupils of this school to strive for success in the line of debate, of his own means, has awarded a Debators Medal, which he hopes to make permanent from year to year to the best debater in the Burlington High School.

This philanthropic and patriotic sentiment on his part, merits and receives the plaudits of all Burlington. To the recipient of this medal it should be a peculiar source of real pleasure as long as he lives. First because of the donor who has made it possible, and second because of the fact that real work and merit on the part of the recipient wins it.

The Iron Cross and other cheap clap-trap is being placed on heroes for martial valor on the other side of the Atlantic. We will not attempt to minimize or to speculate upon the merits or demerits of the beneficiaries who are obtaining them. We are strictly neutral in this great war, and it matters not what our opinion is, or where our sympathies are centered. It behooves us to remember that we are Americans, and it is for us for the present to be silent but to continue to maintain the prestige and dignity of this great country of ours. But, when this conflict of arms is over, when the last gun has been fired, when the last submarine and Zeppelin air-craft is called from this scene of ghastly conflict, when the science of war has spent itself in every form of destruction known to man in this electric age, the real great and final battle will begin. It will be a battle of reason. A battle of eloquence. A battle of stern debate, the names of heroes wearing the Iron Cross will soon be swallowed up in oblivion, while these in the coil of reason will live forever in imperishable glory. The power of debate will never grow old, never become obsolete, never go out of use. To possess this power and to be able to exert it in the time of need, whether on the platform, in the forum, at the sacred desk, at the bar of our courts or in the hustings, is an accomplishment that is God-given, and should be cherished and cultivated by every one who possesses it.

Mr. Steele, the Judges of this debate, by their verdict say you possess this power in no mean degree. By hard work and study, you have trained this particular talent, and to night your friends and loved ones are proud to take you by the hand and congratulate you for the great success you have accomplished. We are all proud of you, and you have a right to be proud of yourself. But do not let it all end here, nor diminish your efforts for still greater accomplishment. Remember that you are just beginning, be not overcome by this success, for with it comes responsibilities and tomorrow you may be defeated. You will find others upon the battlefield of oratory and eloquence, and should you come in contact with them, do not underestimate their powers or go in the contest without preparation and study. You have this almost Divine power, and in order to make it a real asset in your life, let me beg you to cultivate it. Always live right and then you will have the courage and the hardihood to stand for the right. No coward has ever succeeded at anything. Be brave. Be a man. Always honor yourself and in order to do this live honorably before God and man. As long as your own right conduct is approved by an enlightened conscience, it may some times matter little what others think of you. Do right as you see it, and stand for the right as it appeals to you and at all times and on all occasions as long as you live, use this God-given power to help your fellow man, eradicate error and to spread righteousness in the world.

At the request of Rev. John Benners Gibble, you having obtained the highest vote of the judges of this debate, are entitled to accept this beautiful gold medal, and it is a pleasure to me to present it to you. May you ever wear it with pleasure to yourself and with honor to this great school, and to the kind hearted, big souled, educator and Christian gentlemen who authorize me to present it to you.

MRS. WILLIAMSON ENTERTAINS.

Two Literary Clubs of Burlington Enjoy Afternoon of Rare Pleasure.

Burlington, May 15.—Mrs. James N. Williamson, Jr., delightfully entertained the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon. She had as guests also the Tuesday Afternoon Literary club. The home was made beautiful with early spring flowers, white and different shades of pink being used throughout. The library was exceptionally beautiful with a profusion of glowing pink roses in baskets of every shape. Snap-dragon and meadow lilies were used in the halls and drawing room while the dining room presented a fairy-like scene of beauty in its decorations of pink sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Here Mrs. Banks Williamson served punch.

Miss Mary Archer Williamson met the guests at the door and conducted them to the library, where they were received by Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. J. H. Spencer and Miss Minnie Williamson.

Mrs. J. W. Menefee ushered the guests into the large room on the western side of the house. Mrs. Williamson had arranged a rare treat for her guests in the address on Sidney Lanier by Prof. W. C. Smith, of the State Normal college, Greensboro. After he was gracefully introduced in a short speech by Miss Minnie Williamson, the president of the club, he gave a comprehensive sketch of the life and works of Sidney Lanier.

After this address the guests were invited by Mrs. D. E. Seilars into the dining room where another artistic and delicious feast was enjoyed.

After a delightful hour spent here the guests departed and the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Lynn B. Williamson Wednesday.

Mr. Robert L. Holt entertained at dinner. Mr. and Mrs. James N. Williamson and their guests, Mrs. Robt. Oats, of Flat Rock, and Mrs. O. Marqued, of Danville, Va., and Miss Minnie Williamson and Walter Holt Friday evening at his very attractive bungalow, near Glencoe mills.

TO EMPLOYERS.

(By Rev. J. W. Chapman, D. D.) "Bear ye one another's burdens."—Gal. 6:2.

To buy time and misuse it is a great responsibility.

To control physical strength and abuse it is a greater still.

To hold a position where one may influence hearts, minds and lives for good or evil is beyond them all.

It is quite as necessary that we should sympathize with the great as those who are not in such conspicuous positions before the world. However, it may be seriously questioned whether employers understand how necessary it is to be.

Sympathetic—one word of true sympathy to the one who toils out of sight may give the world a great captain of industry or a woman who would make a noble leader of her sex.

Generous—not in wages only, but in general treatment. The investment would be a good one. It is human to respond to kindness.

Honest—it is not fair to give a wage which forces a girl to be impure and a boy to steal.

Friendly—it costs nothing to be kind. A smile, a nod of the head, a hand shake, a recognition of real worth on the part of the employer as he considers his employe; this would help to solve the difficulties existing today between the two.

Query: Do you ever consider the claims of Christ? Do you know that you will be one day obliged to answer to Him for the use or abuse of your privileges? Why not let Him direct you now, so that you may fairly meet Him after a while?

FOWL MURDER STIRS TOWN.

Mrs. Joseph Guy, wife of the tollgate keeper on the Little Ferry bridge over the Hacknesack river, saw a man and a woman, crossing the bridge, step to the hail at dusk Saturday night. The man carried a bag from which came faint cries that Mrs. Guy took to be those of a baby.

Before she could reach him the man flung his burden into the river. The pair fled as it sank out of sight. Mrs. Guy phoned to the police at Little Ferry and Ridgefield Park, N. J., telling them a man had just thrown a baby tied in a sack into the river. The news spread and a great crowd gathered yesterday when men dragged the river from boats.

Late yesterday afternoon grappling hooks fastened in the bag and it was drawn to the surface. Inside was something soft weighing about 10 pounds. Quickly the bag was ripped open and Constable John Agar dragged forth its contents. Mrs. Guy shrieked as she saw a 10-pound Wyandotte rooster, dead of course.

Then every one asked: "But why go to all that trouble to kill a rooster?"—New York World.

GOSSIP AT CAPITAL.

Many North Carolinians were in Washington this week, and they left some interesting gossip there. The announcements of A. W. McLean and Josephus Daniels that they will not be in the gubernatorial race next year, clarified the atmosphere a little but new clouds are gathering. The calm in the State may be the proverbial calm before the storm.

There is just lots of talk about the governorship, and the politics in the situation as it now stands with Attorney General Bicket and Lieutenant Governor Daughtride contesting for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Bickett is no man's candidate, but it has been understood, and quietly whispered that his support would come principally from the old Kitchin camp. It was known that Senator Simmons would have thrown this support to Mr. McLean had he remained in the race. There is considerable speculation just now as to where Mr. Simmons will put in his oar. It begins to look as if he would stand hands off and let the fight go forward without his help.

At the present moment Mr. Bickett has a long lead on the former candidate and it is freely predicted that he will go under the rope far ahead.

Mr. Daughtride is not a Simmons candidate; he is running on his own hook, but if he stands any show of getting the nomination he may get some valuable assistance from the Simmons wing of the party.

The latest story is that ex-Governor Kitchin will again run for the Senate against Senator Simmons.

Thomas J. Pence, active man in the Democratic National committee, has gone to Kentucky to attend the horse races with his friend, Senator Ollie James. He will go from there to Indiana to see Thomas Targart, the prince of French Lick.

Mr. Pence is very popular with Democratic leaders in the Nation. He has been in close touch with the members of the National committee for several years and most of them like him.

It was understood when the Wilson Administration came in that Mr. Pence could have had a good job in the government service, but he preferred to look after party work. There is but one serious cloud in the sky for Mr. Pence now and that is the prohibition question which seems to be looming skyward. Mr. Pence would rather that issue remain where it is—in the States—and not become a live Federal proposition.

In Kentucky, just at this time, there is much concern about the liquor controversy. Senator Beckham and Senator James are on opposite sides of the fence. Mr. James believing in local option, and Mr. Becknam in prohibition.

Indiana is having trouble over the same sort of Democratic differences. Between the suffragists and the prohibitionists, Democratic fence builders, led by Mr. Pence, are having unhappy days. Prosperity is returning but prohibition talk is coming with it.

Former Secretary of War Dickinson Comments on Destruction of Lusitania.

Chicago, May 11.—Jacob M. Dickinson, secretary of war under President Taft, issued the following statement here today:

"I regard the possibilities of the destruction of American lives on the Lusitania as even more momentous to the nation than those involved in our Civil war. No question of maintaining Republican institutions was then involved because, except as to the principle of session, the constitutions of the two governments were practically the same. I have no doubt that if the south had succeeded, disintegration would have set in, and that long before this all the states would have been reunited under one government.

"Until the outcome of the present condition may involve us in a career, in comparison with which, looking to the life of our nation, the possibilities of the Civil war, in any event were not comparable.

"It is not likely that Germany will disavow the purpose to destroy the Lusitania with full knowledge of the fact that this involved many American lives. In view of the result and the warning given by our government to Germany, some proper action must be taken, or the American government will incur the contempt of the world and the contempt of a vast number of its own people.

"What action should be taken should not be declared in advance by those who are not officially responsible to the whole people for the grave results that may follow. It would be unwise to have the public mind committed to particular lines of action before the administration shall declare its purpose. Our judgment and utterances, as to what course should be taken should be held in suspense so that the public, without pre-conceived, set-views, shall be ready with an open mind to consider the course the administration may adopt. Our nation has stood consistently for peace and arbitration and the exhaustion of all proper peaceable methods to settle international difference before resorting to arms.

"It is especially important that a period of calmness should intervene in order that our action may not be prompted by excitement and our judgment clouded by passion.

"In the present inflamed and ferocious state of the German mind, we could easily get into war.

"I lived in the midst of the four years of Civil war and need no prophet to forecast to me what it means. Any action that may lead to such a result should be taken calmly, deliberately and with a full appreciation of the consequences.

"Some of those who are most forward in urging the administration to extreme measures may be most backward if a time of great sacrifice shall come.

"If war comes, it should only be upon the condition that we are clearly in the right, and in such event our people should, with a full appreciation of the possibilities resolve to sacrifice themselves and what they have to the utmost needs of the country.

"I have great confidence in the President and believe that he not only will sustain our national dignity, but will exhaust all peaceable means, consistent with our national dignity before committing our country to war."

Prof. Willard argues that "sleep is money in a man's pocket." Many a married man that counts his change of a morning would be disposed to file a dissenting report.

ENTER HOUSE; LEAVE TWINS.

Married Couple Finds Three-Weeks-Old Babies in Their Parlor.

Isaac McCormick, a section foreman, and his wife were awakened at 3 o'clock this morning by the crying of a baby. The wife got out of the bed and walked downstairs to the front porch to see where the sound came from, but when she heard nothing further she returned to bed.

The crying continued, and Mrs. McCormick concluded that it was a neighbor's child she heard.

When Mr. McCormick arose at six o'clock and went downstairs he heard a child crying in the parlor. He investigated and found a basket containing two children, apparently three weeks old, and probably twins. They were richly dressed, the clothing they wore and other articles in the basket being hand-made. In the basket was the following note, written in lead pencil:

"Take me in and use me well, for I hain't got no place to dwell. I will be a comfort to you. Feed me on catmeal gruel and sugar and milk."

It developed that whoever left the children in the house entered through a window and carried them to the other side of the room, closing the window upon leaving. The children are thought to have been left at the house by a woman who arrived on a train from Pittsburgh.—Franklin, Pa., Dispatch.

PADUCAH PHILOSOPHY.

Snakes are beginning to appear here and there. They look much better after their long winter rest.

There are still a lot of mighty nice girls walking around.

Rats entered Poke Eazley's corn crib a few nights ago and carried away a lot of corn. Rats look so much alike that it will be hard for him to find the guilty ones.

ONE INCIDENT WORLD WILL LONG REMEMBER.

London, May 12.—"There is one incident the world will remember in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania," said the bishop of London today while presiding at a meeting of the Waifs and Strays society. "When Alfred G. Vanderbilt was face to face with death he said to his valet: 'Come and let us save the kiddies.' Those words will run around the world in a way no millionaire's millions could ever do."

$1 WAISTS FOR GRADUATES.

Radcliffe's commencement will be bareheaded. The dainty little furbelow which most women deem a necessary to feminine happiness as an Easter bonnet or a powder puff, has been banned at the college exercises next June, by order of the senior class committee. Dutch clips, French twists and braids are being talked of as methods of revenge by girls dissatisfied with today's ultimatum.

The customers must be also uniform, the waists and a stiff black bow being furnished by the committee at the cost of $1. None but these waists will be allowed, and each girl must post her name and waists size on the college bulletin board. Pumps are barred and skirts are to hang three inches from the ground instead of four, as heretofore.—Cambridge (Mass.) Dispatch.

THE SUBMARINE AND THE MERCHANT VESSEL.

Senator John Sharp Williams has given a most logical answer to the German apologetists who hold that the sinking of the Lusitania was justified because she might have escaped had the submarine given warning. Senator Williams holds that if submarines cannot comply with international law concerning blockades of merchant vessels, then the thing to do is not to discard the law, but to discard the submarines—that is abandon their use in blockading merchant vessels.

The use of submarines against war vessels has not been criticised, nor can it be, since the object of sinking a war vessel is to destroy its crew. But to turn an engine of war that must necessarily strike without warning against vessels that the law, both statute and moral, says should be warned, is quite another matter.

VERTLY YOU MUST PAY THE PRICE EVER.

No amount of talent will free a man from the necessity of hard work, says W. C. Holman. Daniel Webster said: "I have worked 12 hours a day for 50 years." Humboldt rose at 4 o'clock in the morning for 30 years. During most of his life, into which were crowded the achievements of a hundred men of giant intellect, Napoleon slept only four hours a night. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who made $200,000,000, was asked the secret of success. "There's no secret to it," he answered. "It's just dig, dig, dig." When some one said to Edison, "Don't you believe that genius is inspiration?" The man who has taken out more patents than any other inventor who ever lived, replied: "No; genius is perspiration." In this world a man can't get something for nothing. He may do it once, but if he attempts to make a living on that principle he's bound to land eventually in the morgue, the poor house or the jail. You can have as much as you like, but you've got to be willing to pay its price in the only coin that passes current in the market where it is sold—hard work.

At the Southern Conference for Education and Industry in Chattanooga, Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, a Georgia woman farmer, made a decided hit with her plea for having the South feed its farm people and its towns people from its own gardens. In the course of her talk she produced the menu of an Atlanta restaurant and said that she found upon inquiry that the sweet potatoes came from Indiana, the Irish potatoes from Maryland, the celery from California, the radishes from Louisiana, the eggplant from Florida, the carrots from Illinois, the onions from Ohio, the cabbage from Wisconsin and Maryland, while "the state of Georgia furnished just one article on the Atlanta menu—the turnip greens—and these came from Fitzgerald, and were raised by a colony of Yankees." Mrs. Black concluded: "The time used to be when people said the place for women was in the house darnin' stockings. I say let us throw the darned stockings in the fire, and do something else. Let our girls learn how to hoe in the ground and get some color in their cheeks, instead of having to rub it on as many of them do." "MY MOTHER." Years have passed, my mother, Since thou hast gone from me, But my thoughts are still about thee, With unceasing constancy. Scarce knew I then, my mother, Of the world's care and strife, For thou didst shield and guard me With thy love and life. But time has brought the knowledge Thou wouldst fain withhold, And taught me that the world is hard, And hearts are cruel and cold. And that the truest blessing, Sent to us from above, Surpassing all the earth doth hold Is a mother's love. Oh, what would I give today, To see my mother's face, And feel her arms around me In a loving fond embrace. But there is some solace, that Heaven Holds in store for me, To know—I'll be with my mother— Through all eternity. While on the witness stand the other day, Mr. Roosevelt said: "I was always courteous and good tempered, I think I can say." Of course he can say it, and a lot of other things, too, but we'd like to hear Mr. Taft's testimony on this point.

NECK BROKEN TWICE, HE IS STILL CHEERFUL.

Goldboro, May 14.—It is not often a person lives with a broken neck, and to have suffered the same injury on two widely separated occasions and live to tell the tale, is remarkable. However, this has been the experience of P. H. Ives, a meat dealer of this city, who recently moved here from Elizabeth City. Mr. Ives had the misfortune to get a bad fall several weeks ago, but continued to attend to his usual duties about his market, although he suffered severely with pain in his neck. Becoming alarmed, he went to Elizabeth City last week to consult and be under the care of his former family physician, Dr. H. D. Walker, who, after making a careful examination of the injury received by the fall in this city, informed Mr. Ives that he was suffering with a broken spinal column.

Acting upon the advice of Doctor Walker, Mr. Ives went to Norfolk, where an X-ray photograph was made of his neck and it was discovered that he had a severe fracture of one of the bones and also had an old fracture, which had healed and left his neck stiff. This wound was received by a fall, similar to the one received in this city. This old fracture and stiffness caused a rigidity, which contributed to the later fracture. The picture shows plainly a gasping crack in the spinal column.

Mr. Ives returned home today from the Norfolk hospital and is in excellent spirits, considering the serious nature of his condition and is optimistic of ultimate recovery.

MOTHER FLEES WITH HER CHILD.

Husband Wants His Little Boy Because Wife is Traveling Dancing Teacher.

Asheville, May 12.—Fearing that her child, a son five years of age, might be placed in the custody of her husband, Mrs. Laura Simmons Waring yesterday disobeyed the order of the judge of the Buncombe county Superior Court and fled from North Carolina with her little boy. Her husband, R. G. Waring, Monday instituted habeas corpus proceedings against his wife for the possession of the child and the order of Judge James L. Webb requiring that she attend court yesterday afternoon with her son was served upon her just as she prepared to take a Southern passenger train out of Asheville. When the case was called yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Waring's attorney reported to the court that he had received a telephone message from his client at Columbia in which she stated that she had left the State and was determined to keep the son. A second order was issued for her appearance in court May 21 to show why she should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

Mr. Waring asks for possession of the child on the ground that his wife, a dancing teacher, travels extensively, brings the child into association with people whom he does not know and with whose characters he is unfamiliar and is unable to give the little boy a Christian education. He maintains that he is living with his mother and is in a position to train the child under Christian influences and amid congenial surroundings. Whether he will take steps to have Mrs. Waring returned to this State, is not known, although his attorneys state that he is determined that the mother shall not retain the custody of the child.

INSPECTING FLUES.

The fire chief of Morphisboro, Ill., has become a chimney sweep, and as result reduced the number of fires in his town due to defective flues from 27 in 1912 to none in 1913. Fire departments in all the cities are becoming agents of prevention rather than fire-fighters. Preventive work pays better than throwing water. The authorities of Salem, N. C. for over a hundred years have regularly inspected the chimneys of the houses in that town, and it is a notable fact that few fires have ever occurred there. The people of Salem brought their habits of prevention with them from Germany, where a fire is regarded as almost a crime.

Without an adjustment now and then China would become the sick man of Asia.

NOTICE.

The citizens and qualified voters in the city of Burlington will take notice of the new registration and election in the city of Burlington.

You are hereby notified that pursuant to the provisions of an act of the General Assembly entitled "AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE AND EMPOWER THE CITY OF BURLINGTON TO ISSUE BONDS TO OBTAIN FUNDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF ERECTING AND EQUIPPING PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN SAID CITY," an election will be held at the several voting places in the above named city on the 8th day of June, 1915 upon the proposition of the adoption of said act and determining whether said act shall become law applicable to said city. You will further take notice that an application in writing of sixty qualified voters of said city has been made to the Mayor and Board of Alderman, the said application requesting the order of a special election in said city upon the question of issuing bond of said city in the sum of $40,000.00 for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city. That pursuant to said act and petition a special election has been ordered to be held on said 8th day of June, 1915 upon the question of the issuance of $40,000.00 in bonds for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city, the said bonds, (provided the majority of the qualified voters of the said city shall have voted for the public school building bonds), shall be issued in the denominations of $1,000.00 each carrying interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, all of which bonds shall run for a term of thirty years. When said bonds shall have been issued they shall be sold by the Board of Alderman at the best price which they can obtain, not to be sold for less, however, than the par value of said bonds, and they shall use the proceeds of said bonds for the sole and only purpose of erecting and equipping buildings to be used as public school buildings in said city of Burlington, and said Board of Alderman shall keep accurate account showing the amount received for said bonds and the manner in which the same is expended.

This the 22nd day of April, 1915.

JAS. P. MONTGOMERY,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Whereas, the General Assembly of North Carolina of the year of our Lord One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Thirteen enacted "AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE AND EMPOWER THE CITY OF BURLINGTON TO ISSUE BONDS TO OBTAIN FUNDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF ERECTING AND EQUIPPING PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN SAID CITY," and whereas, said act thereof provides that an election shall be held for the purpose of determining whether said act shall become law; and whereas, on the 22nd day of April, 1915, a petition was presented to the Mayor and Board of Alderman, at a regular meeting of said Board, by sixty and a great many more than sixty, qualified citizens, taxpayers and free holders of the city of Burlington, asking that the said Mayor and Board of Alderman order an election on the question of issuance of bonds for forty thousand ($40,000.00) dollars for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city.

Now, therefore, it is ordered that on the 8th day of June, 1915, there shall be held in the city of Burlington an election which shall be held in all respects as provided by law for the holding of elections for Mayor and Alderman of said

Voters desiring to vote for the adoption of said act favoring the issuing of said bonds shall vote a ballot of white paper on which shall be written or printed the words "For School Bonds" and those opposed to issuing said bonds shall vote a ballot of white paper on which shall be written or printed the words "Against School Bonds."

It is further ordered that a new registration of the qualified voters of said city be had and to this end the registrars hereinafter named shall open registration books for this purpose in their respective wards on the 3rd day of May, 1915, the same to remain open for the registration of voters on each day in the week, Sundays excepted, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M., until 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, the 5th day of June, 1915.

It is further ordered that notice of said new registration and election be published thirty days prior to the holding of said election and once a week thereafter until said election is held, and that said notice be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the city of which notice shall state the date on which said election shall be held, the amount for which it is proposed to issue bonds, how long said bonds shall run, the rate of interest to carry and the purpose to which the proceeds of bonds shall be applied.

It is further ordered that the said bonds shall be issued in denominations of $1,000.00 each and shall carry interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, all of which bonds shall run for thirty years.

It is further ordered that B. M. WALKER be, and he is hereby appointed registrar for the First Ward, and that S. G. MOORE and H. K. WAY be, and they are hereby appointed inspectors for the Fourth Ward.

This the 22nd day of April, 1915.

Kinston, May 12.—Mrs. Joe Greer, a southwest Kinston woman, will tomorrow face trial with her husband and their son, a lad in knee pants, on the charge of selling whiskey. Authorities claim that the trio did a wholesale business, buying in bulk from moonshine stills, bottling the goods and selling it to "retailers." It is almost certain that the woman and boy will not be convicted, because the court takes the view that in this misdemeanor case they were, under compulsion or by persuasion from the husband and father, guilty of no more than any others of their station in life would have done—their was not the crime.

Mrs. Greer, however, is to be used in John Doe proceedings to discover the operators of five alleged illicit stills which she asserts she can point out from the yard of her home, within the corporate limits. Her statement amazed the officials, who were confident before that there was not a whiskey still of any kind within 10 or 12 miles of the city.

THE FUNNY MOON.

Way, way up in the funny sky,
There hung a funny moon,
With sunny smiles upon its face—
Like workmen's grins at noon.

'Twas glued to seven magic threads
Of glist'ning silver light,
That kept it in its place by day,
And swung it 'round at night.

This funny moon appeared each eve,
At half past six o'clock;
And so, 'till five or six next morn,
'Twould twist and smile and rock.

It had a most amusing face,
That changed from care to joy;
One night 'twould look like father's pa;
The next like father's boy.

Each night it looked about the sky,
To watch the funny stars,
And see they didn't fly away
And join their sister mars.

Sometimes 'twould watch funny town,
And smile at grown-up men;
But if it saw a tot run out,
'Twould scare him back again.

One evening, Agnes Harcourt stayed
On Funny Pond 'till nine;
She heard the moon begin to cry—
The quilts were on the pine!

ROOSEVELT SAYS G. O. P. NEEDS HIM.

Could Tear President Wilson To Pieces Politically Says Wilcox.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 12.—A witness for Wm. Barnes swore in the Supreme Court here today in the trial of Barnes' libel suit against Theodore Roosevelt that less than a year ago Colonel Roosevelt agreed that the Republican party needed him and said that he would "go after President Wilson" with his Pittsburg speech and on the foreign treaties and "tear him to pieces." Then declared John W. Hutchinson, the witness, the former President asserted that after what had happened at Chicago in 1912, the Republican party was not big enough to hold him and Barnes. Hutchinson is a New York lawyer, and was chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Republican State Committee from 1906 until 1912.

Hutchinson went on the stand after W. J. Woolman, a New York broker had contradicted statements made last week by W. J. Loeb, who testified that he talked to Barnes at Woolman's office in 1911 when the State Senate was deadlocked over the selection of a United States Senator.

Most of today's witnesses gave testimony designed to show that Barnes and Chas. E. Murphy were not political allies at the time of the deadlock in the State Legislature.

Benj. B. O'Bell, former Governor and Republican leader of New York denied that any Democrats "as individuals" had contributed to the Republican campaign fund in 1898 and 1899 while he was chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Hutchinson said he met Col. Roosevelt by appointment in the Harvard Club in New York on July 15, 1914.

"I told him," he went on, "that he was in a way the whole Progressive party. I said it did not make any matter what the Progressive organization did in the way of nominating candidates. There was a rumor that Colonel Roosevelt was considering running for Governor in the fall.

That's what I wanted to find out about. I told him that it would make a lot of difference if he took an active position himself and that if he were to oppose the Republican organization it would simply widen the chasm and prevent a re-union of the party. He said that would not do, and added: 'You have to have me. I can go after Mr. Wilson and tear him to pieces and you have not anybody who can do it.' I told him we would have to get together. By we, I meant the two factions of the Republican party."

UNUSUAL "LARCENY."

Kinston, May 14.—J. T. Walton, a Pink Hill man, was tried here yesterday on an unusual charge. He was accused of the larceny of 100 pounds of dynamite. The magistrate dismissed the case when it became known that Walton merely took the explosive off a wagon under protest of the driver and intended payment. He was a regular patron of the dealer who employed the driver. Forcible trespass was charged against him when the larceny case was dismissed and he is to be tried again.

A HUMAN LITTLE GIRL LONGS FOR THE STARS.

Oh, Mrs. Hutt!" says a dear little girl, "I hope you will not think us silly, but we girls just long so for society. We look at the magazines and compare the lovely ladies who sing, or lecture or go in society with ourselves, and we wish we could have what money brings for just a month and then we could die happy."

Blessed little girl, of course you long for the green fields far away. It means that you are alive, human, normal. Look at any intelligent woman, and say to yourself, "She, too, longed for these things once," and look at any man with a brain in his head, and say, "Once he had visions of being a bold, dashing, brigand, who could do everything, from stealing fair maidens to electrifying the public with the power of his wisdom and oratory."

We are made so, honey, and I am glad you long. Some day those visions and hopes of yours will find expression in work and love. In the meantime, fill your life to the full: If your mother wants you to make the bread, read everything you can on the subject, and know why the bread rises and why the crust is different from the crumb. Try raisin bread and hot cross buns. If you make a dress for yourself, take a joy in seeing how beautiful and becoming you can make it with a limited amount of money.

You girls and boys form a club and learn to sing every college and love song ever written. Get up little plays, and do them well. Work hard, play hard and rest hard.

And, dearie, don't long to be in society. The graceful women and beautiful homes, dim lights, soft music and brilliant conversations are enticing, but there is envy and striving there. It is glorious to have a grand voice. The woman who sings has passed through long years of enduring self-sacrifice, and is not freer than you are to pour out her heart in song.

It is splendid to carry a message to thousands, to be sure. The woman who speaks has a satisfaction in her works, but while you sleep she is waiting at uncomfortable wayside stations for delayed trains. Moreover she never attains the perfection of her hopes. She has longings, too, but unsatisfied.

Every form of living has its advantages and its drawbacks, but I know of no one who has greater opportunities for service and for the sheer fun of living than has the girl in the country or small town, if she be in a home of ordinary income, has parents who help her to develop herself by a commingling of restraint and freedom, work and a fair education.

When girls get to thinking of society ladies just admire them and get the kinks out of your brains, and you will find you have forgotten everything but the joy of being alive and young.

INFORMATION WANTED.

It was the Mayor of a Western city who received the following inquiry from an Eastern resident, says The Argonaut.

"Kind and Respected Sir: I see in a paper that man named John Snipes was attacked and et up by a bare whose cubs he was trying to get when the she bare came up and stopt him by eating him up in the mountains near your town. What I want to know is, Did et kill him or was he only partly et up, and is he from this place and all about the bare? I don't know but what he is a distant husband of mine. My first husband was of that name and I supposed he was killed in the war, and, the name of the man the bare et being the same, I thought it might be him after all, and I ought to know if he wasn't killed either in the war or by the bare, for I have been married twice since, and there ought to be divorce papers got out by him and me. He sings base and has a spread eagle tatoed on his front chest and a anker on his right arm, which you will know him by if the bare did not eat these sines of it's being him. If alive, don't tell him I am married to Joe White, for he never liked Joe. Mebbe you'd better let on as if I am ded; that is, if the bare did not eat him all up. If it did, I don't see as you do anything, and you needn't take no trouble: Please ancer back.

"P. S.—Was the bare killed? Also was he married again, and did he leave any property wuth me lying claim to?"

ALL GONE!

Where are the issues—the old familiar issues?

Here is Secretary Bryan, dean of issue makers, exhorting the Democrats of Iowa to make "wet or dry?" their test of candidates. Are then the brewer and distiller and saloonkeeper the only "merace" to government that remain? Past-masters of politics, who in the old days conjured up at least one "vital issue" in every speech, are now glad to fall back on a moral question of whether the State shall regulate a man's habit for Greenbackism, Populism, Free Silver, Trusts, State Rights, Tariff, Regulation of Business—how each and all once stirred the blood in the nation's political veins. Parties fought for them, parties bled for them. Yet today, to save their lives, leaders in opposing political camps can't disagree on any subject hard enough to start anything.

All, all are gone—the old formidable issues! And the nation promises to rub along surprisingly well without any new ones.—New York Evening World him!

ENLIGHTENMENT.

William, like many another man before him, had joined the army by way of showing his devotion to his country. He had not yet learned the meaning of strict discipline, and although, he wore the uniform of his regiment he fancied that he was just as much his own master in that as he was in civilian clothes.

When "lights out" sounded he insisted on his comrades leaving the light burning.

"Now, then, put that light out!" shouted an officer on inspection.

"H'm," reported Wilful William. "And pray who are you?"

"I'm the officer of the day." "Then what the dickens are you prowling about the night time for?" asked William.

BOY STICKS IN FREEZER.

While playing hide and seek with his companions, Roscco Mastia, aged 7, crawled into a big ice cream freezer standing in front of a fruit store. He became wedged in the can in such a way that he could not extricate himself, and his parents were notified of his plight.

The mother fainted. The father hastened to the store, and by the time Roscco was rescued he was almost frozen for there were ice and brine in the tub. He will recover.—Altoona, (Pa.) Dispatch.
