

THE TWICE-A-WEEK DISPATCH

A PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE UPBUILDING OF AMERICAN HOMES AND AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

BURLINGTON, ALAMANCE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, MAY 25, 1915.

PROTRACTED SERVICES AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

The special services which have been in progress at the Christian church for the past week continue with increased attendance and interest. It was thought by some that the congregations would become larger than the church would accommodate, but so far the auditorium of the church has barely held the large crowds that have gathered at each service in the evening. The morning services have been attended by fairly good congregations. Rev. Mr. Miller, the evangelist, has been giving the people of Burlington some excellent sermons on vital subjects pertaining to the fundamental principles of Christianity and the present status of the moral and religious conditions of the world. Rev. Miller is one of the ablest Bible scholars that the people of Burlington have had the pleasure of hearing. His exposition of the doctrines of the Bible is so plain and simple that everyone may understand the teaching. The Bible lectures that are given at the morning services are very interesting and helpful. His sermons and lectures have occasioned much comment by the church people of the city who have heard him. His coming among our midst will doubtless mean much to the spiritual uplift of our citizenship. Mr. Bell, the singer, has won the favor and admiration of all who have seen and heard him. He continues to delight the congregations with his beautiful voice, and the ease with which he conducts the song services is remarkable.

These services will continue thru this week. The morning service begins at 9:30 and the evening service at 8:00.

MR. TAYLOR HURT.

Mr. H. C. Taylor, chief engineer of The Piedmont Railway Co., while making an investigation on the boiler at the power plant became overbalanced and fell about 24 feet Sunday morning, breaking his arm and bruising his face. He was carried to the hospital at Greensboro in the afternoon and operated on yesterday. While he is very painfully bruised, he is not seriously injured and at last report received from his family, he is resting well. Mrs. Taylor will leave today to be with him a few days.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING MAIL BOXES.

Julia Bradshaw, colored, was before Esquire W. A. Hall, United States Commissioner, last Saturday charged with robbing mail boxes near Leasburg, in Caswell county. She was found guilty of the charge and bound over to the United States District Court at Greensboro June 7th, to answer the charge. In default of bail was committed to jail.

THE OLD MAID'S CLUB.

The comic play entitled "The Old Maid's Club," was presented at Swepsonville last Saturday night to a large audience. This play was gotten up by the young ladies of the Webb Avenue Sunday School and has been given in this city, and at Mebane with very gratifying results. The play is proving quite a success and large audiences have witnessed it at the different places where it has been presented.

Keystone Finishing Mills are finishing heavy orders for export, having shipped out the past week, 1,200 pairs of hosiery to Buena Vista, South America. This cotton grow in Alamance county, spun, knit and finished in Burlington.

THE YOUNG MEN'S DEBATING CLUB.

The Young Men's Debating Club of Burlington held its regular meeting on last Thursday night in the Masonic Hall with a very good attendance of members and a few visitors. The program of the evening consisted of a debate on the following query: Resolved, "That Capital Punishment should be Abolished." The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Ralph Younger and Henry Jeffries and the negative was upheld by Messrs. Willie Terrell and J. R. Johnson. A splendid argument was produced by the speakers on both side. The committee rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative. At this meeting the club adopted a slogan for the club which is "A. Y. M. C. A. For Burlington." The club has under consideration the matter of adding a library and reading room for the use of the members. The program for this week's meeting promises to be very interesting. A debate on the question of Woman Suffrage and a recitation of a colored ministers' sermon are the main features of the program. Every member of the club is urged to be present and visitors are always welcome to attend. The meetings are held on Thursday nights, beginning at eight o'clock.

BURLINGTON.

Burlington, May 22.—Misses Jessamine and Cornelia Gant gave an afternoon tea at their lovely home on Front street Tuesday in honor of Mrs. James N. Williamson and her house guests, Mrs. Robert Oates, of Flat Rock and Mrs. J. O. Magruder, of Danville. The parlor, halls, library, sitting-room and dining room were all used for the occasion and beautifully decorated in sweet peas, peonies and thousands of roses. The hours were delightfully and informally spent in chatting and being sociable. Refreshments consisting of a salad course and ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Lynn B. Williamson was hostess Thursday afternoon to the Literary club at her home at Graham. Delicious refreshments were served. Invited guests were Messdames Oates and Magruder.

The music pupils of Mrs. Daisy Boyd gave their annual recital in the graded school auditorium, the primary and intermediate pupils Thursday night and the advanced Friday night. The auditorium was filled both nights with interested friends of the performers. Both programs were splendidly selected. The pupils rendered their numbers with great skill and showed splendid training. Especially good were the numbers of Misses Adelaide Whittemore and Vitus Nicholson, the song, "The Five Little Chick-a-Lick-ins" by the tots, the Milk Maids' Drill and the violin solos of little Agnes Boyd. She plays with the skill of an artist and shows rare talent in this line. Mrs. Boyd has a large class and has taken great care with them. Mrs. Joan L. Bridgers, of Tarboro, came yesterday to visit Mrs. John Q. Gant.

GETS TWENTY YEARS FOR KILLING HUSBAND.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 21.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, on trial on a charge of killing her husband, Willis Buffum, by giving him arsenic, pleaded guilty to second degree murder today. She was sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

DURHAM SCHOOL BUILDING BURNED.

Morehead Building Completely Destroyed Early Yesterday Morning; Insurance.

Durham, May 21.—Fire which caught in one of the upper stories of the Morehead school building at an early hour this morning so far got ahead of the fire department that the whole of this, the biggest school building in the city, was completely destroyed. The alarm came in from five Points on Main street at 3:45 and the whole building was a smoldering mass of ruins in two hours' time. The firemen were wholly unable to cope with the situation. They did not fight the fire, with a great deal of efficiency, according to many witnesses. One of the engines stopped at Five Points and waited till the fire had gained such headway that their presence was valueless before they went over to the school building. The Morehead school building is the oldest in the city. It was erected about a quarter of a century ago, and was for many years the whole of the city system, containing all of the grades, including the high school as well as the primary and grammar grades. It is now used as a grammar school and was the largest in the city. Its destruction a week before the end of the school will to a certain extent demoralize the work in that school at the end of the term. All of the records of the children for the past year as well as most of the school records, and many of the children's books, left there over night, were destroyed, for the fire had made such headway before it was discovered that it was impossible to save any of the property. Superintendent E. D. Pusey has notified all of the children who were attending this school to report at the Fuller school on Monday morning. They will be met by their teacher, and arrangements will be made to carry on the work during the coming four weeks of the present term. Every building in the city is crowded at the present time. So Mr. Pusey hopes to make some arrangements for having two terms of school in some of the buildings in order that the Morehead school children can be accommodated. The building was partially covered by insurance. There was $26,050 insurance.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. H. C. Taylor and family wish to express their appreciation for the many kind words and offer of assistance to them. They being recent residents makes the kindness rendered them in accident of Mr. Taylor more appreciative. While they cannot thank each one personally they take this method of thanking each one and assure them that every word and act was fully appreciated.

ATTENTION RURAL CARRIERS.

The Alamance County Rural Carriers' Association will meet in annual convention in the city of Burlington on Monday, May 31, 1915.

The election of officers and other important business will come before the meeting. Come every member, every carrier and sub. carrier. You are expected. W. J. BROOKS, Pres. J. A. LOWE, Sec.

YOUTH IS HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Young Woman Claims He Promised To Pay Her Expenses in This City And Refused to Do So.

Charged with violation of the man so-called "white slave" Federal law, Carlisle Altman, 20 years old, of South Carolina, express messenger between Charlotte and Columbia, was arrested last night by a policeman when he came in on his run, and was placed in custody of United States Deputy Marshall E. S. Williams until he should be able to give $350 bond. This his friends were endeavoring to secure. Ethel Pate, also 20 years old, a young woman who has been living in Columbia, S. C., for two or three years and who is originally from a smaller South Carolina town, is the prosecuting witness. She told Chief of Police Moore that young Altman persuaded her to come here for an improper purpose and that he promised to pay her board and other expenses. She came on April 17, she says, and he paid her board at a home on North College street one week. Afterwards he refused to make further payments and so she invoked the "white slave" law in punishment. They have been together on a number of occasions during her stay here, she says. In other circumstances substantially similar to the alleged facts, the person aggrieved would have redress in a civil suit for damages resulting from a breach of a verbal contract, but in the case which the young woman has invoked is of a much more serious character, since the maximum sentence in case of conviction is a long term of years in the Federal prison. It is not generally known, however, that the law was changed several weeks ago so as to make it possible, in some cases, to prosecute a woman who has been a party to the violation of the law. This change was made in order to decrease the likelihood of blackmail which was cropping out in all sections of the country. Ethel Pate says all her immediate relatives are dead. She tells a circumstantial story, but makes no claim that any promise of marriage had been made or even discussed. The point at issue, say the police, was that she had been left adrift here to look out for herself. The outcome of a prosecution for alleged "white slavery" is always uncertain because of divergent views of the class of cases the law was designed. One Federal judge has repeatedly thrown out cases where there was no evidence that the element of commercialism was involved. The statute is very sweeping in its terms and the previous character of a prosecuting witness is not germane. Altman was noncommittal last night and made no statement. The woman states that they were registered separately at a local hotel on the night of their arrival and this assertion is capable either of proof or disproof and an investigation will have an important bearing on the case. The case is set for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner J. W. Cobb tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.—Charlotte Observer.

Doesn't Clarence Darrow's affirmation that American liberty "is a theoretical delusion" find some measure of refutation in the very fact that Clarence Darrow himself is at liberty? Los Angeles is reported to have added an aeroplane squad to its police force. An appreciable percentage of the criminals out there must be given to high flying.

GUILFORD COMMENCEMENT.

Exercises Begin Next Saturday With Conferring of Degrees Tuesday.

Guilford College, May 22.—The commencement exercises begin here next Saturday evening, May 29, with a music recital given by Miss Bertha Fox, assisted by her other students in the music department. Sunday morning, May 30, Rev. F. Walter Grabs, class of 1894, will preach the annual baccalaureate sermon. The Rev. M. Grabs is now pastor of Bethania Moravian church. The address to the Y. M. C. A. will be delivered on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. M. Craig, pastor of the First Baptist church of Wilmington. The Christian association consider themselves fortunate in securing the Rev. Mr. Craig. Monday, May 31, is alumni day. The annual baseball game between the alumni and college students which is usually played in the afternoon of alumni day, is scheduled this year for 10 o'clock Monday morning in order not to conflict with the play which is to be presented by the senior class at 3 o'clock. This play promises to be the feature of the commencement as it seeks to portray "the elements and influences operative in the growth of Guilford college." Consisting of two parts, each of which is divided into five episodes, the play traces the development of Guilford college from 1750, the time of the coming of the Friends to New Garden, down to the close of the present year. Monday evening the annual business meeting of the alumni association will be held, after which comes the alumni reception. All indications point to the presence of an unusually large number of alumni. Tuesday morning, June 1, at 10 o'clock is the conferring of degrees and baccalaureate address. The address this year was to have been delivered by Dr. Rufus M. Jones, professor of philosophy in Haverford college, Pa., but protracted illness has necessitated the cancellation of that engagement. In his stead Dr. Isaac Sharpless, president of Haverford college, has been secured and will deliver the address. Dr. Sharpless is known to a large number of Guilfordians who are always glad to have him present and hear him speak.

Mr. W. H. HOLT, Pres.
MISS ELLA J. ANDEWS, Sec.

Firemen in many cities are required to inspect business houses at least twice a year. This gives the firemen knowledge of the interior, causes him to warn the occupant and to see the proper conditions are maintained. Where prevention is practiced, firemen have more time for this sort of thing. In North Carolina quarterly inspection is required in the fire district and an annual inspection of all premises in the city or town.

An ice cream supper will be given on the lawn of the Reformed Church Saturday night. Every one invited.

CHAPEL HILL LETTER.

Chapel Hill, May 24.—Preparations are being made in Chapel Hill for the approaching 120th commencement of the University of North Carolina. The exercises begin on Sunday, May 30th, and the concluding event of the four-day occasion comes with the commencement address on June 2. Judge A. Mitchell Palmer, of Stroudsburg, Pa., prominent in political affairs at Washington, will deliver the commencement address.

The opening event is the baccalaureate sermon in Gerrard Hall on Sunday morning, May 30. Bishop J. A. McKay, of Birmingham, Alabama, will make this sermon to the graduating class of approximately 80. The sermon will be preached at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The annual sermon before the Young Men's Christian Association will be delivered in Gerrard Hall at 8 o'clock Sunday night. Rev. G. T. Rowe, pastor of Memorial Methodist church, High Point, will preach this sermon. Monday, May 31, will be devoted to the exercises of the graduating class. The contest for Mangum medal will be held in the morning in Gerrard Hall. Other events on the program of the day and night are senior "stunts" under Davie Poplar in the afternoon and the joint banquet of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies in Swain Hall at night.

Alumni Day comes on Tuesday, June 1. R. D. W. Connor, of the University class of 1895, and secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission, is the speaker of the day. Seven classes of the University will hold reunions on that day—classes of 1914, 1910, 1905, 1895, 1890, and 1885. Each class will have twenty minutes at its disposal, according to the program. In the afternoon a baseball game between two of the classes will be played, and alumni "stunts" will intersperse the game. The annual meeting of the board of trustees, annual debate between Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies, and reception in Bynum gymnasium are the concluding events of Alumni Day.

Wednesday, June 2, is commencement day proper. Judge A. Mitchell Palmer will deliver his address in Memorial Hall in the morning at 11 o'clock. The conferring of degrees and announcements by the president will follow the commencement address.

PLUNGES TO BURNING CHILD.

Boy Breaks Both Ankles in Jump To Save Baby in Flames.

Peter Seyer, 14 years old, was on the second floor of his home, 100 Fourth street, when he heard a child screaming in pain. He ran to the window and Andrew Seventko, 5, who lived in the same house, in flames in the yard.

With a cry of encouragement, he leaped through the window. Both ankles were broken in the fall, but he hobbled to the child and rolled him in the dirt until the flames were extinguished. Young Seventko, who had been playing with matches, was taken to St. Mary's hospital where he died.—Passaic Dispatch.

"The American Chief Magistrate seems one chosen of heaven." This is the editorially expressed opinion of Col. Henry Watterson of The Louisville Courier Journal. Verily, times change and men change with them.

Billy Sunday says that if he were the judge he would set Harry Thaw free, but it is a safe statement that, if he did, he would do it over the protests of not a few lawyers.

POOR

AFTER THE WAR.

A New York newspaper offered fifty dollars for the best essay of not to exceed fifteen hundred words upon the subject of what will happen after this war. The Louisville Courier-Journal claimed the prize for its essay of two words, "Other Wars," and a good many of us would be willing to give the brilliant paragrapher the money. But there is a more serious side to the proposition.

Of course nobody knows what will happen after this war; there is no way of knowing. We have no precedents by which to be governed. There have been no other wars like this one. But it is dragging along toward its end—or ought to be—and all of us are interested in what is going to happen afterward.

Are we going to have a stream of immigrants pouring into this country? Are the people of Europe going to be so burdened with war taxes, and are they going to find life so altogether unpleasant in the scarred and marred world they now know, that they are going to seek relief from it all and come to these shores, or are they going to stay at home and help to repair the damage? It might be worth something to us to have an answer to the question.

There are those among us who believe that there will be little migration toward this country after the war. They base their belief upon history, for it is a well known fact that after a war the scarcity of labor in the country tends to keep the men at home, to recoup the damage. But this war has been so much greater than other struggles, the damage has been so great, it will require so long to repair the damage done, and it is going to require so much money, that there are those also among us who believe we shall be overrun with the unfortunate people of Europe.

Then, another question which cannot be answered, is that of the state of commerce after the war. The world's supply of manufactured products, for instance, will have been used up when the war ends. Everything made by man will be needed. It will require years for all of the factories of the world to catch up with the demand, if all of the property destroyed is to be replaced. So from that standpoint, every industry in the land ought to be running over-time as soon as the war ends.

But where are the people of Europe going to get money with which to replace the things that have been destroyed or used up by war? That is a question which will have to be settled before we figure too seriously upon a world-wide era of prosperity. It is inevitable that the people of Europe will be bankrupt when the war is over with few exceptions, nobody have used up, as a general thing, all of the funds they have on hand. Their businesses have been shot to pieces. Their trade is gone. The working men must all be in debt—so deeply they will never get out. So it is a serious thing to think about—after the war is ended.

SINGERS OF PROSPERITY.

There has been added to the Administration prosperity glee club another voice, that of the Federal Reserve Board. This musical organization is distinctly and entirely an official body. It is made up wholly of Federal office holders under the present regime. Its duties are to keep up the song of how well off the United States is; to portray constantly a better business outlook; and as strongly as discretion permits, to insist that good business is the development and the fruit of Democratic rule.

This organization of sweet singers of prosperity has had an interesting and a picturesque career. At first it was confined to the members of the Cabinet. These were sent forth into all parts of the land at short intervals to preach the existence of good times and the blindness of the people who could not see the prosperity that Democratic policies had brought into existence. One one of the Cabinet members spoke their little piece, and then expectantly waited for the change in public sentiment that they assumed was certain to come as the result of their efforts.

But this sentiment did not materialize. It became necessary for the White House to take further steps. New recruits were accordingly mustered in, and new forces put to work to find a prosperity. The bank examiners of the Treasury were appealed to for reports, and from these there was made up a statement that proved to the satisfaction of the Administration that the country was going along at full speed on the road to good times. Now comes the Federal Reserve Board with a statement of the financial condition of the country, one that is supposed to show flourishing business conditions, but which neglects to state how much present conditions are due to the war abroad.

What difference this is from the Democratic crusade of 1912. In that campaign the air was filled with songs pitched to the opposite tune. There were frenzied periods about the awful social, economic and industrial conditions which made the United States an unfit place in which to dwell, unless the Democratic party was put in charge of affairs and Democratic policies put in effect at once. This country was growing richer, and the poor poorer; where high taxes are high living cost sapped the substance of the toiler. There were shrieks of anguish over the tottering liberties of the people and the perils of the situation.

Today this same Democratic party is busy endeavoring to convince the country that the outlook is, that some time in the future there will be the same prosperity in the nation that existed in 1912. That party is now loud in its denunciation of any one who dares to refer to idle workmen, silent factories, unused freight cars and failing revenues. It is centering its attention upon attributing whatever industrial depression may exist to a war which has turned an approaching deficit in our exchange account with foreign nations into an enormous trade balance.

But sophistry cannot long hold sway in the United States. All of the office holders in the land, joined in one loud chorus, cannot be blind either the facts or the issue. Their singing of the prosperity song is off the key and the people know it. And this knowledge cannot be taken away by any crusade on the part of the Administration.

There is a very general disposition to know what has become of Great Britain's mastery of the sea. It looks as if something was the matter when she cannot protect her own shipping on her own coasts, and then wants to know what the United States is going to do about it when a British ship is destroyed.

Of course, if Germany thinks we will stand for it she will just keep right on doing it.

If history will only give Mr. Bryan credit for writing the notes to which his name is signed, he may yet acquire fame as a statesman.

OFFICERS MAY INVESTIGATE.

Shipments Of Liquors Into State Billed as Apples, Potatoes Cabbins or Other False Billing.

That the inter-state commerce commission and federal authorities will begin an investigation of the shipment of liquors into North Carolina under false pretenses, is the belief of local authorities who expect to aid, if such an action is taken. Yesterday a barrel of liquor was received here under the pretense of apples, while in Greensboro a barrel of liquor was detected billed as seed potatoes. In the eastern part of the state it was found that a large amount of liquor had been shipped in a common wooden coffin. The last mentioned false pretense case was thought by the authorities to have been the most original, "dead men tell no tales," idea ever brought to light in the handling of the coffin juice traffic.

It is the belief of the local authorities that the inter-state commerce officials and the federal authorities will make rigid investigations and it is believed that many violations will be unearthed.

For several weeks the officers of the various cities in North Carolina have been attempting to find out how liquor was being shipped into the state. The finding of the liquor in the coffin and the barrels brought about the necessary knowledge and in the future regular inspections will be made to stop this scheme.

It will now be up to the liquor retailers to find a better plan than they have had in the past. Up until the present time the officers have succeeded in blocking their every move and it now seems as if the handlers of liquor will have to use their thinking apparatus toward concocting a better idea.

If the inter-state commerce and federal authorities can find out who shipped the liquor into this state they can have them arrested under several different charges. However, it is believed that in each instance the liquor was shipped under fictitious names.

"SOMETHING ELSE BEAUTIFUL."

A little girl named Hilda and her mother stood one cold winter morning looking out upon the landscape, in which everything was covered with icy armor that sparkled with glittering beauty in the sunshine.

"O how beautiful!" exclaimed Hilda. "Yes," answered her mother; "but it will be all gone before noontime."

The little girl was quiet for a moment as she gazed upon the fairylike scene that lay stretched out before her. Then she looked up and said brightly: "Never mind, mother; there'll be something else beautiful tomorrow."

What a charming thought was uttered by that little girl in those words! What a comfort it is to know that, though some beautiful things may pass away, God will send others just as beautiful to take their place.—Exchange.

PROHIBITION BOOZE.

"But When You Take Your Drink, Get Out: for You Can't Die in Here."

Says Luke McLuke, in the Cincinnati Enquirer:

The state was dry, and so was I. But as I walked around Some old blind tigers I could spy Where whiskey could be found.

I entered one and asked for booze. The keeper said to me:

"Just look around and you can choose Your brand from what you see."

I looked around, and there I found Train oil and Japalac, Carbolic acid, liquid glue, Wood alcohol, shellac, Strong turpentine and lizard stew, All for two bits a crack.

The keeper said: "This stuff is stout. Although it may taste queer, But when you take your drink, get out. For you can't die in here."

A boy named Clarence Cecil committed suicide after stealing a mule. And her name was Maude.

THE APPLES WERE LOADED.

Sixty Pints of Booze Get Mixed Up With What Should Have Been A Barrel of Virginia Apples.

There seems to be an enormous demand for whiskey in Durham, and that the liquor dealers of Virginia and the blind tigers of this city are resorting to ingenious methods to smuggle enough booze into the city to satisfy this demand is a fact that was brought to light yesterday afternoon by the officials of the local Seaboard freight depot.

There was received at the freight depot yesterday afternoon a barrel marked "apples," which was consigned to a Mr. J. Floyd of Durham, but when an inspector of the Seaboard freight office became suspicious and opened the barrel to find out why it weighed so much more than an ordinary barrel of apples, he unearthed a method of side-stepping the new Grier quart law. The barrel at both ends was filled with apples but in the center safely stored away were sixty pints of Sunny Brook whiskey.

The barrel of apples and booze was turned over to the police, who will attempt to get hold of the party to whom the apples were shipped. However no one seems to know of a J. Floyd, and it is thought that this is a fictitious name under which some local blind tiger was to have received the sixty pints. The liquor traffic in Durham certainly received a bad blow when the sixty pints got into the hands of the police, and those who have been longing for a draught of the "bur juice" will continue with an unsatisfied craving.

Durham is not the only city in which this method of smuggling booze has been resorted to, as the Greensboro papers state that three barrels marked "potatoes" were found to contain about 200 pints of whiskey. The consignees there were known by the police and have been arrested.

So far as known, this is the first discovery made of the methods used on smuggling whiskey in this state; but hereafter the freight agents intend keeping a strict lookout for suspicious looking shipments.

THE TONGUE OF THE SLANDERER.

Diogenes was asked what beast had the most dangerous bite. He answered: "Of wild beasts that of the slanderer; of tame ones that of the flatterer." In the third chapter of Genesis we have the first recorded and authentic account of a slanderer. Silently, noiselessly he creeps along until he hisses temptation in the ear of Eve slandering Almighty God. Today the trial of slanderer is all over the world. The greatest curse that ever befell a community was to have in it a talebearer and a scandal monger. They are a blot upon civilization and a running sore in the social life of a nation. As Henry Ward Beecher said, "The talebearer kindles a fire that burns to the lowest hell." The sly hint innuendo, the question of inquiry which conveys a hint of evil—how infamous all these may be! It is hard to trace a slanderer, it is hard to evaporate the truth by the slow process of the crucible and leave the residuum of falsehood visible and glittering. Often one cannot fasten upon any word or sentence and say, "That is a calumny. God forgive the wretch who, under the guise of secrecy, goes from man to man with his story, his story, his half-truth, his innuendo, leaving in his wake venom to inflame hearts and to poison human society at its fountain springs. Despise the slanderer, refuse him audience, tell him candidly what you think of him, and be sure not to follow his footsteps.—Exchange.

GERMAN LOSSES IN WAR ESTIMATED AT 2,000,000.

London, May 19.—The total of German losses in the war on both fronts down to March 31 is close to 1,800,000 men, and losses since that date are certainly sufficient to put the present total over the 2,000,000 mark, in the opinion of the "Chronicle."

Some men who have been president once never get over it.

There are many good men in Burlington who are dissatisfied with the present city administration, and will sweat it at the first opportunity.

Alamance county is nearly four hundred thousand dollars in debt, and the interest on this indebtedness is eating us up, that is why the tax assessors are increasing your assessment. Democratic good government is like the high cost of living, it comes high, and yet a great many people will swell up and say, I am a Democrat.

MUST BE A REPUBLICAN.

Some of the faithful who are hit pretty hard by the new assessments, say that some of the tax listers must be Republicans, because they are sure that no Democrat would treat them so mean. Ah faith, blind faith.

SOME HEN THIS.

Mr. W. F. Jones, on Route 3, from Burlington is the own of the champion hen hatcher. Mr. Jones has a little black drizley necked hen which he set on fifteen eggs three weeks ago, and the other day she came off with 16 biddies, this little hen was set in a keg and Uncle Tommie Malone is an eye witness to the fact that she hatched 16 nice healthy chicks, all of which are doing well. The funny part of this is that the hen set in a whiskey keg and this probably accounts for the extra chick. Mr. Jones is proud of his little black hen, and invites the doubting Thomases to come and see the biddies for themselves.

A WARNING.

We warn our Republican friends not to be caught napping as regards this coming municipal campaign, our Democratic friends are torn asunder and they would like nothing better than have us run a straight Republican ticket for mayor and alderman. They would then line up their following by appealing to them to stand by the party and not let the radicals get control of the city saying that it would be a repudiation of the Wilson administration for Burlington to go Republican. Stay out of the fight as a party and line up with those who have the best interest of Burlington at heart and are not trying to control the affairs in order to take care of some friend who could not be elected dog catcher if they had to get it by a popular vote of the people. Be patriotic, be conservative, and use some political forethought. Be not deceived, and we will profit by it in the end. This is our advice, you need not take it unless it appeals to you as being sound and to the best interest of the party's future.

AGE PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Press, Dear Sir:—I enclose a problem which perhaps you may deem worthy of insertion in The Forum of The Press. I hope some reader will work it out. If from my age you abstract seven, the remainder squared add to it eleven, it will answer in the same degree. As if my age was multiplied by three.

Now what is my age?

BURLINGTON GRADED SCHOOL BONDS.

Do you live in Burlington? If so, you have cause to be proud of yourself. But, unless you put your shoulders to the wheel and help to make a truly "Bigger, Better Burlington," then you have missed the mark. You are a cog in the wheel of progress and will leave the world in a worse condition than you found it. The one great thing we all ought to strive for is to do something worth while in the world and make conditions better than we found them. The opportunity is at hand. The crying need of better school facilities for the coming generation is admitted by us all. What ever else we do or want to do in the way of progress, the care and education of our children is of the very highest importance. No one ought to stand back on this measure. City pride, patriotism and humanity appeals to every voter. Let us have the best for our children. Let us have a large commodious school building in keeping with our cotton mills, our banks, our churches and other business enterprises. Let it be a place where our children will love to go to and then they will better appreciate the efforts we are making for their good in the world. This school ought to be centrally located and the poorest as well as the wealthiest children in town ought to feel that it is theirs and that they have the right to go there and to be content with a little outside school that cannot give them every advantage the best enjoy. Our city is not so large but that the walk will be convenient for all and will give health and exercise so essential to growing children. I want to make an appeal to all the patriotic orders in the city, every young man who expects to live in Burlington, every parent who has children to educate, to vote for these school bonds. It will not materially increase your taxes, and if it does, it will likewise increase your advantages. Without a good school you would be compelled to employ teachers or send your children from home to school, entailing far greater expenses. We can have the very best here, let's have it. Vote for bonds.

WARMING UP TO TAFT.

The suggestion advanced by The Wilmington Dispatch and seconded by this paper, that provision be made on the Supreme Court bench of Mr. Taft, seems to have met the approval of the papers. "Hurrah for Justice Taft!" exclaims the Raleigh Times. The Gastonia Gazette says Mr. Taft "would undoubtedly make a good Supreme Court Judge" and "should there occur a vacancy it is not altogether improbable that he would receive an appointment." Expressions of opinion that have been heard from all parts of the country lately are of a kind calculated to make Mr. Taft feel good.

WHO IS BOSS?

When a street car on one of the North side lines stopped at the end of the line, the other morning, one of the passengers found that the motorman was an old neighbor on an adjoining farm in an Illinois county.

"Hello, Bill."

"Why, hello, Art."

That's the way they greeted each other, and they shook hands, relates the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"I thought you were still on the farm," said on the passenger.

"No. I came to town and got this job, and I am still here," the motorman replied. "I would like to go back to the farm, though. We still have 320 acres and my brothers are running the place. We still have about 1,200 bushels of old corn on the place that ought to be sold and there are many things there that I should look after."

"Why don't you go back?" the passenger asked.

"My wife won't go. She absolutely refuses to live on a farm. And you know she is worth about $30,000 and what she says goes with me."

And that man continues to work early and late as a motorman.

Hen Nest in a Tree.

(From The Chapel Hill News.) Mr. Arthur B. Hogan of the Calvander neighborhood, found one of his hens setting in the forks of a large black gum tree, in his yard, recently, and upon investigation it was found that the hen was setting on a nest of eggs some 35 or 40 feet from the ground.

Letters by Cyclone.

(From The Sanford Express.) The cyclone of May 7th carried a letter, written last October, from the home of Mr. J. E. Bowers to the porch of Mr. W. D. Bright, seven miles away. Letters from the homes of some of the people of Sanford were carried off by this storm. It is said that some of these were old love letters. Mr. Bright now enjoys the distinction of having received mail by the air route.

On The Farm.

(From The Danbury Reporter.) The reign of the honeysuckle and the roses the bumble-bee and the mocking bird, the bull-frog and the whippoorwill is here. Sweet scents, sweet sights and sweet sounds—the good old Summer-time. Mr. Farmer is rising early to fix fertilizer in the land, or to cultivate the growing corn. There ain't no time to lose on a well-regulated plantation now, and won't be for many moons. The indications point to an extra good wheat crop. Tobacco plants are, as a rule plentiful. Corn is coming up and doing well. For all of which let us all be thankful.

HARMONIOUS NEUTRALITY.

A correspondent sends us this story, evidently from an ironical Swiss paper, says the Manchester Guardian.

A few soldiers belonging to part of a Swiss regiment in garrison at Basel went to a certain cafe for refreshments. One of them sat down alone at a table. Later a civilian, a German joined him and the two began to talk war politics.

"Would you shoot on the Germans if they invaded Switzerland?" asked the German.

"Oh, no, never," exclaimed the soldier.

"Waiter, a pint of beer and a beef-steak with potatoes for this brave man," ordered the civilian.

"And your pals sitting at the next table, would they also not shoot the Germans if they tried to invade this country?"

"Oh, no, never!" retorted the Swiss.

"Waiter, a glass of beer for each of the soldier's at the next table!" ordered the civilian.

And addressing again the soldier, he asked:

"Is this generally the view held in the Swiss army in regard to a possible German invasion? Are all the Swiss soldiers so Germansophil?"

"I don't know," replied the soldier.

"But why should you not shoot the Germans?"

"Because we belong to the band."

CATAWBA COLLEGE NON-CO-EDUCATIONAL.

Claremont Definitely Named as Reformed Church Girls' School.

NEWTON IS EXCEPTED.

Girls From Town in Which School is Located May Enroll for Course in Institution.

Newton, May 22.—Claremont College, Hickory, institution of the Reformed Church of North Carolina, hereafter will be the girls' school of the denomination, and Catawba College, Newton, will be the boys' school, except as to local students. This long-discussed problem was settled in the Classis of the Church here today by a decisive vote of 34 to 10.

Sentiment for the change is overwhelming. President J. L. Murphy of Claremont College, Dr. J. C. Leonard of Lexington, Rev. W. H. McNairy of Lincoln, Elder H. D. Warlick of Lincoln county, and others joined the animated debate for the change while President J. D. Andrews of Catawba and Dr. Paul Barringer of Concord led the Catawba College forces.

Under the change, one president will preside over both schools, though the idea now is that there will be two full faculties. This and other details of the change are to be worked out later in a joint meeting of the boards of trustees of the respective schools. Newton people naturally do not favor the change, though they expressed no opposition.

A rather sensational resolution went through the Classis like a flash today, calling upon The Reformed Church Messenger, official organ of the united denomination, to discontinue its advertising of coca-cola and kindred drinks.

ONE DISADVANTAGE APPARENT.

(Omaha Bee.)

One complication that is likely to arise from interruption of friendly intercourse with Germany is the possible disqualification of the United States to act as mediator when the time for readjustment of international relations on a peace basis arrives. This contingency is, of course, remote, and yet it is within the range of possibility and is a factor in the importance of the present intercourse with Germany. It might not be vital to the cause of peace to have the United States eliminated as arbiter of the negotiations, yet the advantage of having the proceedings moderated by the presence of the most powerful nations of the world not actually engaged in the war is so distinct as to need no argument.

If the United States should be disqualified, the situation might bring to the fore one of the South American republics, for the neutral European nations will suffer for the same reason that we do. It has been all along tacitly conceded that this country would be looked to as the "great and good friend" of all the belligerents, a position that is jeopardized to some extent by reason of present conditions.

February 1.—Was laid today in a bed of hay by a big black hen.
February 2.—Was put in a crate with a lot of other eggs and located with a lot of other eggs and loaded aboard a train.
February 4.—Reached market.
February 5.—Have taken up my residence in what I understand is called cold storage. Feel rather chilly.
March 5.—Have been here a month today. No change, no exercise, no prospects, no nothing. Not even daylight. Feeling pretty stale.
April 14.—This life is positively the worst ever. No wonder people die in prison. I'm most dead myself.
September 23.—I don't care any more. Every bit of feeling has been frozen out of me. My own mother wouldn't know me.
November 6.—Gee, but I feel rotten!
November 8.—Have just heard that I, along with several million other once eggs, have been condemned to death by the pure-food inspectors. 'Tis well. It will be a blessed relief. As Emerson said, "Good-bye, proud world, I'm going home!"

KNOCKED OUT.

A youthful physician had been summoned as a witness in a case which depended on technical evidence, and opposing counsel in cross examination asked several sarcastic questions about the knowledge and skill of so young a doctor, relates the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Yes."
"Then I should like to ask your opinion of a hypothetical case. Were my learned friend, Mr. Banks, and myself to bang our heads together, should we get concussion of the brain?"
"Mr. Banks might," was the disconcerting reply.

WHAT IT LOOKED LIKE.

Many unkind things have been said about the difficulty in making head or tail of the Futurist paintings but the latest story is positively cruel, says The Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. It was told the other evening across the dinner table of a well-known caricaturist.

The caricaturist said that he had that day paid a visit with a number of friends to the studio of a Futurist painter in order to examine the painting he had prepared for a forthcoming exhibition.

"What a striking piece of work," exclaimed one of the visitors. "A storm at sea of course."

"Nonsense!" replied another. "One can see that it's a landscape with the setting sun."

"Rubbish!" snapped a third. "I saw at once that it's a Japanese volcano in eruption."

"It reminds me," murmured a frivolous critic, "of a plate of tomatoes or a lobster struck by lightning. I'm not quite sure which."

"Don't be ridiculous!" exclaimed another. "Anybody can see plainly that it's a naval battle."

The unfortunate artist broke out furiously: "It's nothing of the kind!" he belated. "The picture merely represents a simple country wedding."

SPEAKING OF RECIPROCITY.

The brisk, smiling stranger confidently approached the man in the front yard. The man in the front yard was alone, and it seemed to the casual observer as though he had something on his mind.

"Good evening," said the brisk and smiling stranger; "I see by your notice in the paper that your wife had left your bed and board and that—"

"Do you come from her?" asked the man in the front yard. "If you do—"

"No, sir, no," replied the other, still smiling; "I have not the honor of the estimable lady's acquaintance; it is on behalf of a purely business proposition that I have called to see you."

"Which is?"

"Which is that you will permit me to defray the expenses of all subsequent newspaper notices of similar character—notice that you will not be responsible for your wife's debts and so forth."

The man in the front yard eyed his caller with a mixture of amusement and suspicion.

"It is as I have said," went on the latter, "a purely business proposition, nothing more nor less. I pay all the expenses of publication in all newspapers, if you will simply allow to be inserted in the announcement—the announcement that your good wife has left your bed and board—the statement that the bed which she left was not one of the E. Pluribus Unum Velvet Spring Brass Beds, which are so adaptable to the reclining human form that wives never think of leaving them, nor matter how great the provocation. Ready to admit that you've been in hard lines? Well, then, there is bound to be a reason, for except acts of Providence things do not happen without reason. You've worked hard? Of course you have, and you've earned something, but what have you done with it? Anyhow, you haven't saved it? Now why? Haven't tried? Then try.

Think over what we've said and if you really want to save and provide yourself against hard times let's go a little deeper into the subject in the Friday issue of this paper and learn how to better your condition.

NOTICE

The citizens and qualified voters in the city of Burlington will take notice of the new registration and election in the city of Burlington.

You are hereby notified that pursuant to the provisions of an act of the General Assembly entitled "AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE AND EMPOWER THE CITY OF BURLINGTON TO ISSUE BONDS TO OBTAIN FUNDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF ERECTING AND EQUIPPING PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN SAID CITY," an election will be held at the several voting places in the above named city on the 8th day of June, 1915 upon the proposition of the adoption of said act and determining whether said act shall become law applicable to said city. You will further take notice that an application in writing of sixty qualified voters of said city has been made to the Mayor and Board of Alderman, the said application requesting the order of a special election in said city upon the question of issuing bond of said city in the sum of $40,000.00 for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city. That pursuant to said act and petition a special election has been ordered to be held on said 8th day of June, 1915 upon the question of the issuance of $40,000.00 in bonds for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city, the said bonds, (provided the majority of the qualified voters of the said city shall have voted for the public school building bonds), shall be issued in the denominations of $1,000.00 each carrying interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, all of which bonds shall run for a term of thirty years. When said bonds shall have been issued they shall be sold by the Board of Alderman at the best price which they can obtain, not to be sold for less, however, than the par value of said bonds, and they shall use the proceeds of said bonds for the sole and only purpose of erecting and equipping buildings to be used as public school buildings in said city of Burlington, and said Board of Alderman shall keep accurate account showing the amount received for said bonds and the manner in which the same is expended.

This the 22nd day of April, 1915.

JAS. P. MONTGOMERY, Secretary & Treasurer.

Whereas, the General Assembly of North Carolina of the year of our Lord One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Thirteen enacted "AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE AND EMPOWER THE CITY OF BURLINGTON TO ISSUE BONDS TO OBTAIN FUNDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF ERECTING AND EQUIPPING PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN SAID CITY," and whereas, said act thereof provides that an election shall be held for the purpose of determining whether said act shall become law; and whereas, on the 22nd day of April, 1915, a petition was presented to the Mayor and Board of Alderman, at a regular meeting of said Board, by sixty and a great many more than sixty, qualified citizens, taxpayers and free holders of the city of Burlington, asking that the said Mayor and Board of Alderman order an election on the question of issuance of bonds for forty thousand ($40,000.00) dollars for the purpose of erecting and equipping public school buildings in said city.

Now, therefore, it is ordered that on the 8th day of June, 1915, there shall be held in the city of Burlington an election which shall be held in all respects as provided by law for the holding of elections for Mayor and Alderman of said city and at which time all the voters who are then registered and qualified to vote, shall be entitled to vote for the purpose of determining whether it is the will of such voters that the aforesaid act shall become law and applicable to the said city of Burlington. Voters desiring to vote for the adoption of said act favoring the issuing of said bonds shall vote a ballot of white paper on which shall be written or printed the words "For School Bonds" and those opposed to issuing said bonds shall vote a ballot of white paper on which shall be written or printed the words "Against School bonds."

It is further ordered that a new registration of the qualified voters of said city be had and to this end the registrars herein-after named shall open registration books for this purpose in their respective wards on the 3rd day of May, 1915, the same to remain open for the registration of voters on each day in the week, Sundays excepted, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M., until 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, the 5th day of June, 1915.

It is further ordered that notice of said new registration and election be published thirty days prior to the holding of said election and once a week thereafter until said election is held, and that said notice be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the city of which notice shall state the date on which said election shall be held, the amount for which it is proposed to issue bonds, how long said bonds shall run, the rate of interest to carry and the purpose to which the proceeds of bonds shall be applied.

It is further ordered that the said bonds shall be issued in denominations of $1,000.00 each and shall carry interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, all of which bonds shall run for thirty years.

It is further ordered that B. M. WALKER be, and he is hereby appointed registrar for the First Ward, and that S. G. MOORE and H. K. HALL be, and are hereby appointed inspectors for the First Ward; that L. J. FONVILLE be, and he is hereby appointed registrar for the Second Ward, and that GEO. SMITH and F. W. HAWKINS be, and they are hereby appointed inspectors for the Second Ward; that RICHARD SEYMOUR be, and he is hereby appointed registrar for the Third Ward, and that J. A. IRELAND and Y. S. MILES be, and they are hereby appointed inspectors for the Third Ward; and that J. T. WELCH be, and he is hereby appointed registrar for the Fourth Ward, and that R. A. FREEMAN and C. B. WAY be, and they are hereby appointed inspectors for the Fourth Ward.

This the 22nd day of April, 1915.

COUNTRY HAS EVERY REASON TO BE PROUD OF NAVY SAYS PRESIDENT WILSON.

Washington, May 20.—President Wilson's impression of the Atlantic fleet, which he reviewed at New York early this week were set forth in the following statement issued at the White House today, upon the President's return:

"I was greatly struck by the appearance of the fleet and the quiet efficiency shown by the officers and men, as I am sure everyone must have been who had the pleasure of seeing it assembled at New York. There could have been no more interesting verification of Admiral Dewey's statement that the navy was never in a better or more efficient condition and that the country has every reason, not only to be proud of it, but every reason to wish to go forward in its policy of steadily adding to its strength and equipment."

President Wilson and his party arrived here this morning from New York on the Mayflower. The yacht remained anchored throughout the night in the Potomac.

The President and his party stopped on their way up the river to go ashore at Wakefield, Va., and Stratford, Va., to visit the birthplace of George Washington and Robert E. Lee. The house in which Lee was born still stands, but only a monument marks the birthplace of Washington.

SUN GRINS.

"Shoe string's untied, ma'am," a small boy called out to the stout woman who moved majestically up the street. "I'll tie it for you."

Even a less haughty woman would have found it difficult to treat with disdain so kind an offer, and she drew back her skirt in acceptance of his attention.

The little boy pulled the string tight and smiled up at her. "My mother's fat, too," he explained.

"Is the Editor in?" asked the man with the unbarbered hair and shiny coat, as he fished a roll of paper from his pocket.

"No," replied the office boy, "he just went out."

"This is the third time I have called to see him," growled the caller, "and each time you have told me that he has just went out. What's the explanation?"

"I don't know," answered the office boy, "but I guess he must have been born under a lucky star." Philadelphia Ledger.

A Gallant Tommy, having received from England an anonymous gift of socks, entered them at once, for he was about to undertake a heavy march. He was soon prey to the most excruciating agony, and when a mere cripple, he drew off his footgear at the end of a terrible day, he discovered inside the toe of the sock what had once been a piece of stiff writing paper, now reduced to pulp, and on it appeared in bold, feminine hand the almost illegible benediction: "God bless the wearer of this pair of socks."—Punch.

QUIPS AND QUIDDITIES.

The doctor told her that what she needed was a good hearty meal at night and then to stop thinking about her indigestion.

"Bot, doctor," only two months ago you told me to avoid dinner at night and to take a light supper instead."

"Oh, did I?" replied her medical adviser reflectively. "Well, that shows what marvelous strides medical science is making."

Sir William Ramsay once heard a brief conversation between a little boy and girl.

"I wonder what we're here in the world for?" asked the little boy, who seemed to be suffering from some childish grievance.

"We are put here to help others, of course," answered the little girl, with an air of superior wisdom.

"Um!" exclaimed the boy disdainfully; "then what are the others put here for?"

SNOW FELL AT MIDDLESEX.

Advertising Gets Nash County Man a Wife.

Wilson, May 20.—"For a short while snow fell fast and furious last Monday night at Middlesex," is the statement made here this morning by that hustling town, on the Norfolk-Southern railroad. Mr. R. A. G. Barnes, of Washington, this State, says there were three distinctive hail storms passed over his town on the same date but without damage to property, or growing crops.

Mr. L. M. Griffin, of Nash county, is a firm believer in printer's ink, "for," said he, "after casting around and failing to find a helpmate, I inserted an ad. in a paper and in a few days I had the opportunity of choosing from more than a wagon load and the reply from Miss Clara Walton, of Winston-Salem seemed to suit me to a 'T.'" arrangements were made and we met in Wilson last Monday and Squire Woods soon hooked us up and here after we'll pull in double harness. I am 69 and my bride is 41."

IN GREENSBORO THEY SHIP IT AS POTATOES.

Greensboro, May 20.—Policeman and railway employes found 102 pints of outlawed whiskey in freight depot here in barrels, marked "Michigan Seed Potatoes," shipped from Richmond in Greensboro.

V. Hyi Bountia, an Abyssinian, one of the consignees, has been arrested for retailing. The trick discovered by a railroad employee seeing something shining through a crack in a barrel. Other barrels from the same place were opened, each of the three barrels contained from 30 to 40 pints, it is said. Other "potatoes" from the same house had been delivered here before the trick was discovered. The barrels did contain some potatoes, but in the middle were the bottles.

WHAT MATTERS IT?

What matters it, if joy or grief Should fall into our portion? If happiness is only brief As fleeting as misfortune? At any rate, the self-same fate Stands at the verge before us, 'Tis but a little while to wait, His shadow settles o'er us, 'Tis just as well to wear a smile And all life's tempests weather Untroubled, in a little while We'll all be dead together.

What matters it? A few days more, The chapter may be ended, Across oblivion's soundless shore Our dreams will be blended However we seek to mend our lot, In spite of our endeavor, We age, we die, and are forgotten, Forever and forever, 'Tis just as well to be content, Nor seeks to break the leather That binds us. When the years are spent, We'll all be dead together.

"Madam," said the man in the street car, "I know I ought to get up and give you my seat, but unfortunately I've recently joined the Sit Still club." That's all right sir," replied the woman. "And you must excuse me for staring at you so hard; I am a member of the Stand and Stare club." She proved herself so active and conscientious a member that the man began to feel uncomfortable under her gaze. Finally he rose and said: "Take my seat, madam; I guess I'll resign from my club and join yours."—Boston Transcript.

WHAT'S THE USE?

You may tell a wrestling fan he is a rummy
And a fall guy and a hoosier and a kick,
You may tell a wrestling fan he is a dummy,
With a head that can't be dented by a brick.

You may tell a wrestling fan that he is falling
For a lot of wild and weird and woolly stuff,
That the wrestlers whom he sees are merely stalling
And collecting their percentage on a bluff.

You may tell a wrestling fan that he is cheated
When he pays, his hard-earned money at the gate,
You may have the phrase repeated and repeated,
But he simply smiles at anything you state.

You may tell a wrestling fan that he is paying
For a wrestling stunt that isn't on the square,
But he freely spends his weekly wages, saying:
"I believe that scribe is shooting heated air."

You may tell a wrestling fan there's nothing in it,
That he's falling for the ancient army game,
But the old and well-known birth rate—one per minute—
Seems to run along today about the same.

METHOD IN HIS MADNESS.

The Washington Star relates that Representative Barthold said at a German-American banquet in Milwaukee:

"Those people remind me of the old man. Yes, they remind me very much of the old man. He had a soft, daft look—the old man I'm speaking of—and he set on a park bench in the sun with rod and line, as if he were fishing; but the line, with a worm on the hook, dangled over a bed of bright primroses.

"Daft," said a passerby to himself. "Daft Baghouse. Nice looking old fellow, too. It's a pity."

"Then, with a gentle smile, the passerby approached the old man and said:

"What are you doing, uncle?" "Fishing, sir," answered the old man, solemnly.

"Fishing, eh?" Well uncle, come and have a drink."

The old man shouldered his rod and followed the kindly stranger to the corner saloon. There he regaled himself with a large glass of dark beer and a good five-cent cigar. His host contemplating him in a friendly way as he sipped and smoked, and said:

"So you were fishing, uncle? And how many have you caught this morning?"

"The old man blew a smoke cloud toward the ceiling. Then after a pause said:

"You are the seventh, sir."

Mrs. Brown Jones—Mrs. Smith is opposing your nomination bitterly. Can't you conciliate her in any way?

—Mrs. Jenks—It is impossible. Twenty-four years ago I said that her baby was small for its age.

SEAL-GARVIN.

Pretty Home Wedding Solemnized Last Evening.

A simple, though beautiful home wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Garvin at 424 East Kerr Street last evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Lula Garvin was married to Mr. Manly B. Seal, Rev. C. W. Vick of the Holmes Memorial M. E. church performing the ceremony. Only members of the immediate families and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present.

The bride had as her only attendants her sisters, Mrs. Emanuel May who was handsomely gowned in pink crepe de chine and Miss Elizabeth Garvin who wore a lovely creation of pale blue crepe de chine. The bride and groom entered the living room together and before a beautiful improvised altar of roses, candles and ferns, the impressive ceremony was read. The bride was lovely in a handsome traveling suit of sand-color, with hat and gloves to match and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses and ferns. Miss Vera Ruth skillfully presided at the piano, playing the wedding march from "Tannhauser" as the bridal party entered the room.

The bride is the beautiful and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Garvin, formerly of Burlington, N. C. She is a blonde of striking beauty and while she has lived here only a few years, she has endeared herself to a wide circle of friends by her sweet disposition and lovable traits of character.

The groom is a native of Virginia and an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company, with headquarters in this city. He is a young man of fine business ability and sterling traits of character.

Upon their return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Seal will make their home in Salisbury.

HOW ONE GIRL ANSWERED.

The Hiawatha World tells of a girl who had a proposal of marriage. She was a very practical girl and so she asked a week to consider the matter before giving her answer.

She then organized herself into an investigating committee of one and commenced taking testimony from the married women of her acquaintance.

The first one who visited had once been the belle of the town. The cross-examination brought out the fact that she had three children, did all of her own work, including the washing and ironing. I hadn't been down-town for four weeks, that her husband had given her but $8 in six years, and that he had taken and used the little money she had when she married him.

Another woman whom she visited on her investigating tour had quit teaching school to marry the "handsomest and best-dressed man in town." Then she went back to teaching and had since supported him. A third didn't dare say her soul was her own when her husband was around and a fourth was divorced after a very stormy matrimonial voyage. Clearly, marriage was a failure.

After visiting them all and summing up the evidence, this practical young woman went home and wrote the young man a letter. She told him that it had not taken her the full week to make up her mind but only three days, and that she was prepared to give a definite and final answer.

They are to be married in June.

SOLOMON KNEW.

Solomon knew a lot of things, and is reputed to have been a wise man. He did not, however, know anything of modern business methods. With all his thousand wives it is doubtful if he knew what a business depression was. He had wars, of course and there may have been panics. But they were panics of physical fear and not of financial depression.

But Solomon knew the world, and he knew human nature. And when he said "As a man thinketh, so is he," he enunciated a great truth.

"As a man thinketh, so is he." The merchant who sits down and thinks that the recent financial depression is still upon us will find that it is still upon him at least. The manufacturer who decides to wait a while longer before making an effort to increase his business will never come to the point where his business will increase. The man who waits to build a home, thinking he will be able to do better next week or next month, will not build a home.

President Wilson doubtless had Solomon's old saw in mind when he said that a large part of the trouble in this country was psychological. "As a man thinketh, so is he." People believed we were going to have hard times and we had them.

Now we think we are going to have good times. "As a man thinketh, so is he." We have all come out of the nightmare and are looking forward hopefully. We see things that can be done, not things that cannot be done.

THE MURPHYS.

A freckly-faced girl stopped at the Postoffice the other day and yelled out:

Anything for the Murphys?
No, there is not.
Anything for Jane Murphy?
No.

Anything for Tom Murphy?
Nothing.
Anything for Tom Murphy?
No, sir.

Anything for Bob Murphy?
No; sir; not a bit.
Anything for Terry Murphy?
No; nor for Pat Murphy, nor Dennis Murphy, nor Pete Murphy, nor Paul Murphy, nor any Murphy, dead, living, unborn, native or foreign, civilized or uncivilized, savage or barbarous, male or female, white or black, franchised or disfranchised, naturalized or otherwise. No sir; there is positively nothing for any of the Murphys, either individually, jointly, severally, now and forever, one and inseperable.

The girl looked at the Postmaster in astonishment, and said:
"Please to look if there is anything for Clarence Murphy?"

A humorist once introduced a speaker at a banquet thus: "Two towns in Indiana lay claim to the honor of being Mr. Blank's birthplace. (A pause, during which Mr. Blank tried to look modest.) Warsaw asserts that he was born in Kokomo and Kokomo insists that the honor rightfully belongs to Warsaw."

"Where have you taken up your abode lately, Jones?" asked a notorious bore of his acquaintance.

QUEER NAMES OF STREAMS OF IOWA.

That Iowa is a farming State is reflected in the names of many of the streams that flow through it. First there is a Farm Creek, so that Farmers Creek is not out of place; then there is a Chicken Creek, a Duck Creek, a Goose Creek, a number of Turkey Creeks, as well as Pigeon Creek. There are Fox, Hawk, and Rat Creeks to devour the domestic animals, and some Crow Creeks, while there is also a Fly Creek and Mosquito Creek to worry the summer boarders. Milk and Cold Water are present, likewise a Hog Run and a Mud Creek, so that Bacon Creek is not strange. It is fitting that with a Bee Creek and a Bee Branch there should also be a Honey Creek. There are a couple of Cherry Creeks, a Crabapple Creek, and plenty of Plum Creeks, and for wild animals we have Bear, Beaver, Buck, Crane, Deer, Doe, Elk, Otter, Panther, Raccoon, Skunk, and Wolf Creeks. With a Keg Creek there is a Whiskey Creek and a Whiskey Run. Finally there is a Purgatory Creek.

GERMAN SPY COMMITTED SUICIDE IN CELL.

Anton Kuepferle, Who Claimed To Be American, Left Message Confessing He was German Soldier And Spy.

London, May 20.—Anton Kuepferle, who claimed to be an American citizen, once a resident of Brooklyn, and who has been on trial charged with giving military information to the enemies of Great Britain, committed suicide last night in prison. He is reported to have hanged himself.

Kuepferle left a message written on a slate bearing testimony to the fairness of his trial. He confessed he was a soldier, said he wished to die as a soldier, and declared he could not bear to mount the scaffold as a spy.

ROUTE NO. 8.

We had the pleasure of spending Sunday on Route 2, visiting the family of W. R. Saunders. We always enjoy a visit there. We were accompanied by Miss Margaret Hayes.

James W. Sykes, one of our ugly patrons spent several days last week visiting friends and relatives in Orange county. He reports a good time, of course he enjoyed himself as he left Mrs. Sykes at home. Well Orange county is a good old county to visit.

Hal Hayes left Sunday for an extended visit at his grandfather's near Effand. He will spend his vacation farming. Hope he will do enough to pay for his rations.

LeRoy Hayes of Goldsboro spent a few hours with us Sunday en route to Greensboro.

TO CHICKEN OWNERS.

A Subscriber Offers an Original Suggestion.

The following contribution which came to the office without the burden of a signature, is printed for several reasons, in spite of the rule against printing articles that are not signed. This one deals with chickens, or rather the problem of other people's chickens scratching up gardens. To say the least it is original and worth a place in the columns of any newspaper in the land.

"Please publish this in the Herald" is the way the article is captioned. It follows:

"It is garden time & it is a matter of business that everybody that owns chickens should keep them off of other peoples' premises. There is nothing more provoking than to plant your garden or flower beds, grass, etc., & somebody's chickens come & scratch it up & ruin it.

"There are people that will do such an act as that & then go & sit back in church & sing & when a revival comes along they are the biggest Christians in the whole community. What does God want with such a Christian as that? That would let their chickens destroy other people's things.

"It shows no principal at all in anybody that would do such an act.

"In the future there will be a law to kill all chickens that intrude on other people's premises after being notified. Now lets all get to work & fence in our chickens & do unto others as we would have them do unto us. And if we are not able to keep what we have up & it costs more than we can afford. lets not have any chickens at all. That business."

And who is there to gain say the suggestion that the advice in that article is not sound even if the writer did not sign his name.

RELIGION AND BUSINESS.

(From Collier's Weekly.)
Some two years ago J. P. Morgan testified that to him character was the botton fact in business; that he trusted a man and dealt with him primarily on that basis. This aroused a great deal of carping comment, but it always seemed plain to us that Morgan knew what he was saying. And now we find the Wall Street Journal predicting the coming of a great religious revival as one result of the European war, and insisting that this possibility is of infinite concern to business men. The Journal believes that nine-tenths of the evils from which business suffers can be ended by religious feeling, though beyond the reach of law. Religious faith is a "better remedy and a better promise for future business managed under the best standards of honor and humanity than anything Congress can enact or the Department of Justice enforce." This is the final truth about our trade and industry, and it is most clearly seen and surely held by those who know most about business.

CROWDS STARVING IN REBEL COUNTRY.

Constitutional Government Unable to Supply Sufficient Food.—Suffering Intense.

Washington, May 22.—Dispatches telling of starving Americans in Mexico caused the state department today to direct John R. Hillerman to take up matters with General Carranza, who controls the railroads to the capital and to ask that food be carried to the starving people there. Rioting has resulted in the streets of the capital by a hungry mob trying for food. Thousands have fought in the streets for the food distributed by the authorities. Secretary Bryan stated that he had received a dispatch saying that 215 fainted when a crowd of more than 8,000 gathered to receive the corn distributed by the authorities and learned that there was not enough to go around. In the struggle the weaker ones were trampled under foot. It is admitted that the position of Americans and other foreigners is dangerous. The constitutionalist agency here has received advices that Carranza was going toward Mexico City.

The Villa agency here announced other advices telling of the complete defeat of the General Obregon army. The news came tonight by dispatch from Minister of Foreign Affairs Lombardo at Chihuahua. It stated that the Villa forces captured the town and caused overwhelming losses to the enemy in killed and wounded and prisoners.

A SAD PLIGHT.

Hawkins stood leaning against a telephone pole, cogitating over his mountain of debt, and wondering forlornly when his credit would be entirely exhausted. The attention of a pedestrian was attracted by Hawkins' discouraged looks and after a second glance the new comer thought he recognized an acquaintance of former years. Halting he asked: "Pardon me, but aren't you Owen Smith?" "I shouldn't be surprised," was the dejected answer. "I'm owin' Brown, and I'm owin' Jones, and I'm owin' Harris and if I'm not owin' Smith, it is not my fault by ginger! It's Smith's."

What we can't see, is why the European populace should want to riot when there is such a good chance to

MARY DID HAVE A LITTLE LAMB

(From The Springfield Republican.)

The bequest of a bit of the wool of Mary's lamb to the Somersville, Mass., historical society in the will of Mrs. P. H. Derby, which was entered in the probate court in Springfield, brings to light the interesting information that the nursery jingle, "Mary had a little lamb; its fleece was white as snow," had a basis in fact. The piece of wool in question was given to Mrs. Derby in 1880 by Mrs. Mary E. Tyler, the original of the little lamb jingle. It is a piece of yarn tied in a bow and fastened on a piece of paper with pale blue ribbon. Under it is written the words, "wool from Mary's lamb." It seems that when the old South Church of Boston became involved financially one of the ways hit upon to raise money was suggested by Mrs. Tyler. She took a pair of old wool stockings that her mother had knit for her from the wool of her pet lamb, and which she had never worn, but kept in memory of the departed lamb. These were cut up into lengths and made into bows, like the one that was in the possession of Mrs. Derby, and sold for 25 cents each. The result was that $200 was realized and thus the little lamb helped to save the Old South Church.

The story of Mary and her lamb is authenticated and the incidents bear a close relation to the events of the poem, or rather, jingle. Mary E. Sawyer was born in Sterling, March 22, 1806, and the house in which she was born is still standing. She had two sisters and four brothers, none of whom ever had themselves immortalized in rhyme as Mary did. Mary's father was a farmer and kept sheep. One cold morning in March, 1814, just about 100 years ago and one year over, twin lambs were born in the Sawyer sheepfold, one of which was to be known in nursery rhyme for time immemorial. Like all geniuses, she—for it was a girl—displayed the vagaries of it before she was many hours old. So much so in fact that her mother would have nothing to do with her. Little Mary, aged 8, took pity on the young thing and asked her father if she might have it, not thinking of the greatness that would come of this charitable deed. She fed and tended it and the two became very fond of one another.

It was but natural that the lamb should in time come to have a thirst for knowledge, and as the first stanza of the jingle has it, "It followed her to school one day," "which," we are told, "was against the rule," and as might be expected, "it made the children laugh and play, to see a lamb at school." It seems that the teacher laughed, too, and everything was lovely for a time. But discipline had to be maintained, and—

So then the teacher turned it out, But still it lingered near, And waited patiently about Till Mary did appear.

All of which is strictly true to fact. It appears that when Mary arrived at the school the teacher had not yet come and so the mischievous Mary hid the pet in her desk, which was a box-like affair. When school began and the children were called out for their classes the lamb trotted out to have a hand in the proceedings. And this, alas, caused it to be put without the pale.

Now it happened, so strange are the immutable workings of fate, that a young man of 17, a freshman at Harvard, by the name of John Roulstone, Jr., was visiting the teacher at the school that day. The incident inspired him and a short time after he wrote and sent to Mary the jingle that is so well known. The ideal was to have the thing work out would have been the marriage of Mary and the budding genius. But, no, he died a few years later, never having seen Mary again, so far as there is any record.

The strain of being a celebrity was too much for the lamb and after bearing up bravely under it for two years it gave up the struggle, got in the way of a bull on Thanksgiving day, 1816, and was gored. It died an hour later, with its head on Mary's lap.

In 1835 Mary was married to Columbus Tyler, superintendent of the Mc-Clean Hospital for the Insane at Somersville. She became a matron at the institution, a position she held for 35 years and several years after her husband died. She died in Somersville, December 12, 1889, and was buried in the Mt. Auburn cemetery near Boston, the same cemetery in which the poet, Longfellow, is buried. The glowing example of what happened to Mary ought to inspire little children to be kind to dumb beasts and they too may some day taste the fruits of immortality.

Only One Untired Brother.

(From The Old Fort Sentinel.)

A pocket-book was found yesterday on Main street by Clinton Gosorn and returned to its owner within five minutes. Nothing remarkable in that but the interesting feature is that the identical purse had been lost only a few days before, the finder on that occasion being Don Gosorn, a brother of Clinton's. There was money in it both times. The purse, which belongs to a lady, has been favored with good as well as bad luck, but it would better not be lost much oftener as there is only one other Gosorn brother in town to find it.

Some time ago a quarrel took place at a fair down the country, and the cause of the quarrel was sentenced for manslaughter. The doctor, however, gave evidence and showed that the victim's skull was abnormally thin. The prisoner asked if he had anything to say for himself, replied: "No, yer honor, but I would ask was that a skull for a man to go to a fair with?"

SOME FORMS OF RHEUMATISM CURABLE

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c. bottle now. Keep it handy in case of emergency.

The Lakeside baseball team lays claim to the championship of West Burlington, this distinction having been won by them in a walk-over game between this team and Plaid Mills team Saturday afternoon. The score was 21 to 3 in favor of Lakeside.

FOOLED THE GENERAL.

(Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.)
There is a famous British general who hates to see his soldiers wed. One day a Tommy came to him and asked permission to marry.

The general, hoping to cool the man's ardor, told him to go away and come back again a year from that day and if he was then in the same mind permission would be given him to marry. When the year had passed the soldier repeated his request.

"But do you really still wish to marry?" asked the general, in surprise.

"Yes sir, very much," answered Tommy.

"Well, you may marry now," and said the general. "I never believed there was so much constancy in man or woman."

The soldier saluted and prepared to leave the room but when he got to the door, he turned around and said: "Thank you, sir, but it isn't the same woman."
