CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE IN SHIP CATASTROPHE CHARGED

Three Investigations Into The Capsizing The Eastland In Full Swing In Chicago

BENT ON PUNISHING EVERY GUILTY PARTY

Numerous Theories Advanced to Account for the Accident; Faulty Construction, Alleged By Some as Cause. Denied By Owners and Inspectors; Naval Architect Declares Eastland Was Not a Safe Boat

Passengers, Composed Mostly of Women and Children, Drowned Within a Few Feet of Wharf at Chicago.

531 Bodies Recovered; Searchlights Aid Work—Several Persons Taken Alive From the Cabins of the Ship After it Had Lain on Its Side For Four Hours; Many More Bodies Said to be in Hull of Vessel; Marine Architects Declare Ship Was Faulty in Design.

Chicago, July 24.—More than one thousand persons, possibly 1,300, most of them women and children, were drowned today within a few feet of land by the capsizing of the steel steamer Eastland as it was about to leave its wharf in the Chicago river with 2,500 relatives and friends of employees of the Western Electric Company, for its destination across Lake Michigan. The ship rolled over on its side in twenty-feet of water within five minutes after it began to list.

Coroner's physician Springer tonight declared that 1,300 persons were killed, while other estimates ran as high as 2,000, but these did not agree with the statement that not more than 2,500 passengers were on board the vessel. During the day more than 900 bodies were taken from the river and from the hull of the overturned steamer. The sides were cut open with gas flames to admit divers.

Several persons were taken from the cabins of the ship after it had lain on its side in the river for four hours, but the 300 others said to be in the hull are all dead.

Working By Aid of Searchlights. Under the glare of searchlights tonight, scores of men worked in the hull of the vessel to remove the bodies. The steamer lay on the bottom of the river, one side protruding like a monument to the hundreds that had drowned as it turned over.

The cause of the capsizing had not been determined tonight by Federal city and State officers were conducting investigations to determine whether the ship was too heavy from faulty designing, was improperly ballasted or was poorly handled in warping from the wharf.

Marine architects asserted that the Eastland was faulty in design, that the top deck had been removed because of the tendency of the ship to list and also pointed to the possibility that the ship had been unevenly, or insufficiently ballasted. The Eastland used water ballast, so that it could pump out some on entering shallow lake harbors, so some investigators are working on a theory that the ballast tanks were not filled and the rushing of passengers to one side of the decks caused it to roll over.

Under misty skies, 7,000 men, women and children wended their way to the Clark street dock early today to all five large lake steamers with holiday mirth in a trip to Michigan City. The steamer Eastland, brought to Chicago from Lake Erie, after an within grasp, hundreds went to death despite every effort at rescue. One mother grasped her two children in her arms as she slipped from the steamer into the water. One child was torn from her but she and the other were saved. Fathers were drowned after aiding their wives and children to safety.

Use Man as Ladder. One man was seen to cling to a spike in the side of the wharf while two women and three children stepped upon his body as on a ladder, to safety. He fell exhausted into the river as the last one of the five reached the pier.

Instances of heroism were almost as numerous as the number of persons on the scene. Boats as soon as Tull, took rescued passengers to the wharf or to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, which was held up opposite the Eastland.

In an hour the water was cleared of excursionists. Those who had not been taken to land had sunk or were swirling down the river towards the drainage canal locks at Lockport, Ill., many miles away. The locks were raised to stop the current and arrangements were made to take bodies from the river along the course through the southwest part of Chicago.

Shortly after the water was cleared city firemen, ship engineers and helpers were on the exposed side of the Eastland's hull, cutting through its steel plates with gas flames. Divers were hurried into underwater suits. A tug was moored as a bridge between the pier and the capsized ship.

Warehouses as Morgues. As the divers gained entrance to the hull the scene of distress moved for the time being from the river to the extemporized morgues. Warehouses of wholesale companies along the river were thrown open and bodies were placed in rows on the floors. Scores of persons rescued from the water were injured and these were taken to the Iroquois hospital, built in memory of the 600 women, children and a few men who were burned and crushed to death in the Iroquois theatre, New Year's eve, some years ago.

Efforts to resuscitate those taken from the river were generally unsuccessful. Only two or three were thus saved. It was also said that many of the injured would die. The whole city was in consternation over the catastrophe. Word of the accident spread rapidly and to the thousands already at or near the wharf, other thousands added themselves. The Clark street bridge near the wharf was crowded until it threatened to collapse. Streets had to be cleared by the police to allow the passage of ambulances.

Vehicles Are Loaned. Business men sent their automobiles ready to aid and the wharf bibles and motor trucks to help aid the injured and carry away the dead. One warehouse soon was filled with bodies, and other dead were taken to the Second Regiment Armory, a mile away.

Mayor William Hale Thompson was in San Francisco and Chief of Police C. H. Healey also was out of town, but Acting Mayor Moorhouse sent out a request that the city display signs of mourning. Flags on public buildings were placed at half mast and many places were draped with mourning. Baseball games were postponed and festivities largely ceased.

While those on land were disposing of the dead, injured and rescued, the divers in the heart of the sunken vessel went up an almost constant stream of corpses from the submerged

First it was a gaily dressed girl, her teens who had been caught in a pile of chairs and a cabin boy. Next it was a slight boy, gath-ered from the lifeless arms of a fond father who had clung to his offspring even in death. Then followed an old woman, who had gone aboard the ship to watch the youthful pleasure of her grandchildren, or a little girl with bare legs and booties with gay ribbons sodden against the lace of her holiday gown.

Baby Found Alive. One thrill passed through the crowd as word came from the steamer that a girl baby had been found alive among the hundreds of dead in the ship. The child was discovered in a stateroom where she had been held from the water by a chair that jammed against the berth. The baby only half awakened as it was carried to land. Its mother could not be found.

Two women were found alive in another stateroom in a protruding side of the Eastland, but that ended the hopes that any number had escaped death in the trap. There were still 300 persons in the hold when these three persons were taken out alive, and the explorers of the hull said that all were dead.

Work of tagging the bodies of the dead and placing them in accessible places for identification proceeded all day and night. Identification was slow and scenes at the river when the steamer capsized. Mothers fell across the biers of children whom they had sent away a few hours before on what was intended to be a day of pleasure.

Investigations Started. Federal Judge Llandis ordered a grand jury empanelled to investigate the catastrophe; States Attorney Hoyle prepared a county grand jury inquiry; Coroner Hoffman selected a jury to look into the cause of the deaths; the police arrested all the officers of the Eastland and the health commissioners arranged to purify the river, for fear disease might be spread by the presence of so many bodies in the stream.

Arrangements also were made to get the sunken vessel to determine the underlying causes of the accident. Derricks on scows were taken to the side of the Eastland and marine engineers were engaged to inspect the treacherous ship.

Those in charge of the various works of clearing up the toll of casualties and determining the responsibility for the capsizing of the boat tonight said that the endeavor would necessarily be slow because of the large number of persons aboard the Eastland and the difficulty of getting at the hull of the steamer.

831 Bodies Recovered. At 9 o'clock tonight 831 bodies had been removed to the Second Regiment Armory. They were laid in rows of eighty-five, across the whole length of the armory.

Revised figures showed 176 bodies had been identified. Of 114 partially identified bodies 47 were men, 48 women, seven boys and 12 girls.

The armory, situated in a thickly settled part of the West Side, was surrounded this evening by a great throng. Most of the victims were residents of the West Side. It was hoped to have the recovered bodies all in the armory by 10 o'clock and until that time no one was admitted. Accordingly, thousands forming a line in the hours before the great doors were opened, awaiting a chance to see some of his and friends be-fore they were taken to the morgues.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY OF CHATHAM FRIENDS' CHURCH ENTERTAIN.

Friday evening, July 16, 1915, The Christian Endeavor Society of Chatham Friends' Church delightfully entertained quite a number of young people at the home of Mr. Charlie Newlin, from 7:30 to 10:30.

The first feature of the program was "A Biblical Contest," given orally by Mr. Curtis Newlin.

The prize, which was a beautiful bunch of roses, was won by the Rev. Mrs. Ada Lee, of Greensboro. Next while music was rendered by Miss Bessie Gothic, the boys were invited from the parlor to the sitting room, where they were given instructions, as to how to meet their partners. After the instructions were completed, the girls were asked into the hall, where they met their partners and returned to the parlor for "the dime contest."

Following this we were enjoyably amused by a comical recitation, given by Miss Nettie Lewis. Last, but not least, we were invited into the dining room, where two tables were bountifully loaded with delicious cream and cake, which we all greatly enjoyed.

All went away declaring they had been pleasantly entertained and desiring that this should not be the last party given by The Christian Endeavorers.

WARNING TO WHOLESALERS AND RETAILERS.

Editor of The Daily News:

It is not my purpose here to enter objections to the manner of present methods of doing business, but with the lights before me, to sound a note of warning to manufacturers, jobbers and merchants.

There is a growing evil in the methods of doing business which, if not checked, will bring on a crisis and menace the whole foundation of business. It is the "Red Letter Sales."

The merchant is asking himself this question—Can I afford to lay in a stock of goods with any assurance that my competitor will not throw his stock on the market at and below cost, destroy my business and wreck my capital?

There are many merchants whose only capital consists in the key to the store and the prospects of a big crop and a good fall business. Should the crops turn out bad, he at once throws open his doors, hangs out a Big red flag and the slaughter begins in earnest. If the game goes the right way and it is more profitable to continue the business another year, very well, but if contrary-wise, up goes a wall and the manufacturers and jobbers are left with the bag to hold and the legitimate merchant to pocket his losses.

Something is going to be done to check this growing evil that bids fair to bankrupt the country. It is in the power of the manufacturers, jobbers and merchants to do it and here is a solution of the matter.

Let the manufacturers, jobbers and merchants get together and resolve not to sell their goods on a credit basis. Ship all goods to order, B of L attached. The merchant or party would then pay his invoices at the bank and take his goods, and there would be no more red letter sales, no more overstocking.

The merchant could buy his goods cheaper and sell cheaper. The manufacturers and jobbers could sell cheaper, as they would not have a big failure account to charge to profit and loss.

It would do away with the enormous expense of maintaining an expensive credit and collection department.

Doubtless many manufacturers, jobbers and merchants would enter a protest; but to what avail, if the big manufacturers, jobbers and merchants should firmly decide the matter?

I have talked to quite a few merchants on the subject and in every instance they have agreed.

I would like to see this matter fought among the business men of the whole country and get other opinions on the subject.

Tells Expedition Visitors We Must Prepare For War or Suffer Like Fate—Raps Peace Treaties.

San Francisco, July 21.—Theodore Roosevelt delivered two addresses today at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, one vigorous in tone, on military preparations, and the other, a brief, personal talk to "the men on the line," soldiers, sailors and marines, at the Enlisted Men's Club.

He held both willingness and ability to be soldiers to be desirable attributes of good citizens. He told the enlisted men "a man afraid to fight is not fit to vote," and "a mother who is not willing to raise her boy to be a soldier is not fit for citizenship." Before the address at the court house he planted a poplar tree.

"War and Peace," was the topic of Colonel Roosevelt's address to an immense audience gathered in the court of the Universe.

Colonel Roosevelt was escorted from his hotel by a squadron of the First Cavalry, and by various military and public officials. He was given a Presidential salute of twenty-one guns by warships in the harbor. He was introduced by Governor Hiram W. Johnson, of California, his running mate for the Presidency on the Progressive ticket in 1912.

Should Train Young Men.

"I firmly believe that there should be universal military service for our young men on the Swiss model," said the former President in his speech on "War and Peace."

At another point his address, referring to the price which Belgium had paid because of her unpreparedness, he said:—

"Some day or other it may well be that we shall have to pay on a ten-fold greater scale the same price for exactly the same reasons; and if such should be the case, remember, my fellow-country-men, that whereas the case of the Belgians excited warm sympathy, our misfortunes would excite nothing but scorn and contempt; for a rich, powerful, boastful people invites the ridicule of all mankind if whether from sheer silliness and shortsightedness, or from soft timidity, or from gross and greedy devotion to the material benefits of the moment, it fails to prepare itself to defend its own rights with its own strength."

Colonel Roosevelt spoke derisively of "eloquence as a substitute for action," and in his arraignment of those who stood in the way of preparedness for war, he said the "professional pacifists, the peace-at-any-price, non-resistance, universal arbitration people are seeking to Chinify this country—to reduce it to the level of impotence to which old China sank." The average Chinaman, he said, had taken the view that China was too proud to fight, and in practice made evident his hearty approval of that object pacifist song, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier."

In the future it will be written that "Warsaw saw war," but right now Warsaw sees war.

Condensed-Stricken Henry Howard Offers Himself to Asheville Officers.

Asheville, July 22.—Walking into the police station at midnight, a man who gave his name as Henry Howard, of Merriatown, Tenn., last night asked the officer if he had an eight-year-old warrant for "Jesse Brown," with the statement that while working at Asheville eight years ago under that name he stole a cow from the man by whom he was employed. After stealing the cow, he said, he sold the animal for $18.75 to a local market and left the city for Georgia, where he stole many articles of value and made his escape from various towns. He furnished the officers with the names of men from whom he purloined articles and asked that the officials of the various towns be communicated with, stating that his conscience will not let him rest until he has been punished for the many crimes which he has committed.

Never before did the local officers hear such a story as that related by the young man who brought his narrative to a close with the statement that he "got religion" last Christmas and has decided to go to the towns at which he has stolen articles and surrender himself to the authorities with the request that delayed sentences be imposed.

The warrant issued for the arrest of Brown eight years ago undoubtedly has been destroyed, as no trace of it is at police headquarters, while the man from whom the caller said that he stole the cow has left this city, moving away from Asheville six years ago. The young man insists, however, that he be allowed to plead guilty to larceny and that sentence be imposed.

Officers refused to lock him up, telling him to go before Judge Long, of the Superior Court, and tell him his story. He promised to do so.

A soldier on guard in South Carolina during the war was questioned as to his knowledge of his duties.

"You knew your duty here, do you, sentinel?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, now, suppose they should open on you with shells and musketry, what would you do?"

"Form a line, sir."

THE HORNED SNAKE.

(From The Moore County News.)

Mr. A. C. Kelly killed a horned snake last Sunday afternoon in the old field back of the Christian Kelly old home place. Several have been killed in this community in the past few years. Those who have seen the snake fight say that the horned snake will roll up like a hoop and strike as it unrolls with its tail. Mr. Sam Muse told us Monday that he had seen them strike and that when in the attitude of striking they held their head from the object held wished to hit and would curl their tail up over their back forming a hoop shape and strike back. The horns on their tail is about an inch long and is hard as a bone. It is said that they are among the most poisonous snakes known and will kill anything they strike. We have heard old people say that they have been known to strike a sapling when mad and that the sapling would wither in a few minutes and die outright.

EIGHT HUNDRED MEN LOSE JOBS.

Belhaven, N. C., July 22.—Eight hundred men, mostly negroes, were thrown out of work here today when the plant of the Interstate Co-Operative company was closed. It is said the entire output of the plant is shipped to the Standard Oil company's plant at Bayonne, N. J., and that the strike there necessitated the shut down. Officers of the company stated that the shut down is only for one week. The plant is one of the largest industries in Belhaven. The company experienced considerable labor trouble a few years ago when employees objected to the introduction of Greeks as laborers.

THE WEATHER MAN.

Good, kind and gracious prophet—man, Won't you give us steady weather? Won't you invent some town plan To relieve us altogether? State when to sweat and when to weep.

We are not "prepared" for changes. This sudden heat, then sudden frost, Our poor system quite deranges.

Tell us for sure what will occur From this till tomorrow's sun up. It's this uncertainty, dear sir, That keeps us so nearly done up.

AERIAL TORPEDOES.

German inventive genius has furnished war with a new terror, according to London despatches, one that promises to revolutionize the science of aerial warfare. Impressed with the failure of the Zeppelins to attain any degree of accuracy in bomb-dropping, the German military authorities are alleged to have developed an aerial torpedo that can be fired from any height with extreme precision and that has all the destructive properties of a submarine torpedo.

The aerial torpedo is made buoyant by gas chambers and has its own electrical propelling power actuated and controlled by Hertzian waves projected from the Zeppelin. Having launched the torpedo the gunner in the Zeppelin directs it until it has reached a point directly over the target, then throws it into a vertical position and allows it to drop straight down like a projectile. His control over it is absolute until it passes beyond his range of vision.

American experiments with underwater torpedoes have demonstrated that a missile fired from a land station can be so perfectly controlled by means of electric batteries at the firing place that after describing a figure 8 in the harbor it can be brought back to the starting point. Similar control of torpedoes fired from air-craft would materially increase the efficiency of aerial fighters and would seem to make the promised air-invasion of England no empty dream. It is significant, however, that though London describes the aerial torpedo in great detail, there is no evidence that a Zeppelin has yet employed it.

POOR

How do you greet the farmer when he comes to town?
 Is your greeting such that he feels that he is with us, but not of us? Or is he made to feel that he is in his town, among his people, and with his friends.
 The making or the marring of this town depends greatly upon your attitude toward the farmer when he favors us with his visits.
 He is the backbone of the community, and without his aid and encouragement we should be an unsuccessful business community.
 The townsman is no better than the man from the farm and the farmer can claim no superiority over the townsman.
 We are all human beings, with the same aims and purposes in life and endowed with the same brands of intelligence.
 In fact, we are brothers of a common community, the only difference being that the one lives in town, where life is a little more diversified, while the other breathes God's pure air in the green fields of the country.
 Let us remember that we are brothers and sisters, and cousins, and that the welfare of the one is vital to the success of the other.
 When we ride out into the country, the farmer extends the hand of fellowship, bids us welcome and hands us a hearty "come again."
 It is a delightful characteristic of the man from the farm, for his greeting is sincere and his invitation is from the heart.
 But what of us when the farmer comes to town?
 Is our welcome on the same high basis as his?
 Is he made to feel and realize that our smiles are for him, and not for the contents of his purse.
 We of the town are proud of the farmer of this community, and of their wives and daughters.
 They are men and women of high order, of intelligence whose integrity is beyond question, and whose thrift and energy and perseverance is transforming our countryside into a hive of industry and wealth.
 They are builders, one and all.
 But we fear that we of the town are often forgetful of the great duty that we owe to them for their loyalty and generosity in support of the local business community.—Exchange.

Finds Cure for Epilepsy After Years of Suffering

"My daughter was afflicted with epileptic fits for three years, the attacks coming every few weeks. We employed several doctors but they did her no good. About a year ago we heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and it certainly has proved a blessing to our little girl. She is now apparently cured and is enjoying the best of health. It is over a year since she has had a fit. We cannot speak too highly of Dr. Miles' Nervine."

 Thousands of children in the United States who are suffering from attacks of epilepsy are a burden and sorrow to their parents, who would give anything to restore health to the sufferers.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is one of the best remedies known for this affliction. It has proven beneficial in thousands of cases and those who have used it have the greatest faith in it. It is not a "cure-all," but a reliable remedy for nervous diseases. You need not hesitate to give it a trial.

SHIP WITH 800 ABOARD ON FIRE

Vessel 800 Miles East of Durban in the Indian Ocean.
 London, July 21.—A Reuter dispatch from Durban, South Africa, says that the Peninsula and Oriental line steamer Benalla, with 800 emigrants aboard, bound from London, for Australia, is afire 800 miles east of Durban in the Indian ocean. The cargo in one of the steamer's holds is burning.
 The steamer Otaki, 150 miles off, picked up a wireless dispatch from the Benalla asking for aid. The Benalla is now steaming to meet the Otaki.

An Irishman was on his first visit to London. Passing through a back street he was gazing up at the houses in apparent wonder. A wag looking down from a window spied Pat and shouted:
 "Hello, there, Pat! You seem to be astonished at the size of these houses; why, they are only stables compared with the grand ones in the principal streets."
 "I was thinking they were stables," remarked Pat, dryly, "when I saw the donkey's head at the window."
 Maybe you know it all, but it's doughnuts to fudge that you can't tell offhand who ran against George Washington for the presidency.

The News is of the opinion that we are reaping in political corruption what we have sown in years gone by.
 The Democrats in Randolph said it was nothing but Republican lies. Even so good a man as W. C. Hammer, the District Attorney practically said in his paper soon after the election when the charges were first made. But it seems there was fraud there or the Democrats would not agree for the Democratic clerk of the court to step down and out and let the Republican have his job, also the Democratic chairman of the county commissioners stepped down and a Republican took his place.
 The Democrats retain the office of sheriff, the other contested place.
 There were irregularities and illegal voting on both sides from what we can gather.
 The point we wish to make is that we have had votes thrown out in years gone by as a necessity before the amendment to keep the negroes and those that used them, out of power, and now white men are doing for each other what they used to do for the negro.—Catawba News.

WILSON AND JANE ADDAMS TO DISCUSS PEACE.
 Chicago Woman Will Be Given Audience on Wednesday by President.
 Washington, D. C., July 19.—President Wilson will discuss with Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, Wednesday the outlook for peace in Europe. Miss Addams recently returned home after visiting the principal officials of many of the belligerent and neutral nations abroad as the representative of a woman's peace movement. The president has been informed from other sources that there is little prospect of an early peace in Europe.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—An aerial torpedo boat for attack on ships in protected harbors is projected in patents just issued, it was learned today, to Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, now attached to the Navy War College, but formerly aid for operations to Secretary Daniels.
 The plan contemplates equipping a monster aeroplane similar to a number now under construction in this country for the British government with a White head torpedo of regulation type.
 Swooping down at a distance of five sea miles from the object of attack, the air craft would drop its deadly passenger into the water just as it would have been launched from a destroyer. The impact sets the torpedo's machinery in motion and it is off at a speed of more than 40 knots an hour, toward the enemy ship.
 Admiral Fiske believes that the flying torpedo boat would make it possible to attack a fleet even without a land locked harbor. The range of the newest navy torpedoes is 10,000 yards and even the older types will be effective at 7,000 yards.
 Carried on a huge aeroplane the 2,000 pound weapon would be taken over harbor defenses at an altitude safe from gun fire. Once over the bay the machine would glide down to within ten or twenty feet of the water, the torpedo rudders would be set and it would be dropped to do its work while the aeroplane rose and sped away.
 Aeroplanes to carry a ton of dead weight have been perfected by several foreign countries.
 Since the aerial torpedo plan was advanced, reports have come that German engineers were at work with a somewhat similar scheme. It is proposed to drop from aeroplanes a torpedo that can be guided by radio impulses during its fall and sent with absolute certainty to its mark.

WEBB URGES PRESIDENT TO BE FIRM WITH ENGLAND.
 Shelby, July 22.—Congressman E. Y. Webb who has the particular interests of the cotton farmer at heart and the welfare of our export trade in general, sent President Wilson the following telegram today urging him to insist that England stop blockading neutral ports and seizing American cargoes of non-contraband goods:
 "I trust that you will immediately press upon England the necessity of receding from her order-in-council of March 12. Her illegal blockade of neutral ports and her seizure of American non-contraband goods will have a most depressing effect upon the price of the South's cotton crop. The position of the American Government, as expressed in your note to England of March 30, is undeniably sound and I regard it as highly important to our country that England be compelled to abide by that position."

CHRISTIAN CHAUTAUQUA.

Adopts Stirring Resolution Indorsing President Wilson.

Virginia Beach, Va., July 23.—The Christian Chautauqua in session here tonight unanimously adopted a stirring resolution indorsing President Wilson and expressing confidence in him in these critical hours. The resolution was voted for by men and women from Rhode Island, and New York, from New Hampshire and Indiana, as well as by those from the Southern States and the States between. The resolution read as follows:
 "That we send hearty greetings to the President of the United States and the assurance of our confidence in and our loyal support of himself in this period of national stress and uncertainty, collectively and individually. We pledge him our prayers that our Father might guide him and his faithful advisers in their honest effort to uphold the rights of natural powers, the law of our community, whenever they are assailed and to preserve the peace of nations by all means that are consistent with the national honor."

MARKETING THE FARM EGGS.

The families of the cities want strictly fresh eggs, they are tired of storage eggs and eggs sold them for strictly fresh country eggs which are not, (the writer having lived in the city for more than 20 years speaks from experience) and they are willing to pay the highest prices for them. Will you deliver to them this first class product? Now with the parcel post it is within your power to come in direct touch with the city consumer. How are you going to reach them?

Most farmers look upon eggs as by-product of the farm and in many instances the hens are compelled to forage for themselves and are not provided with proper shelter, feeding and care.

When the hens forage for a living and go without care, it may be true that the money their products bring in is clear gain but on the other hand if they were properly cared for, watered, fed and housed they could be made one of the most profitable branches of the farm. They should be placed on the basis they deserve.

The losses to the egg industry which are avoidable is about 17 per cent and includes rotten, stale, held, dirty, hatched and cracked eggs.

Don't keep broody hens around on the nests used for laying hens. A broody hen is not a profitable hen and is not needed for sitting and hatching purposes, break her up at once and put off from day to day until finally she gets discouraged and gives it up herself. If she is broken up from setting she should return to laying in about 10 days. Don't keep mongrels or pullets that don't reach maturity by early winter. Keep clean nesting material in the nests as soiled eggs don't present a pleasing appearance to the city buyer and they don't pay so much for them. Provide special rooms for the sitting hens and keep the room closed so they will not be molested. Collect the eggs twice daily in hot weather. Store the eggs in a clean, dry cool room and market them twice a week. Sell your eggs in attractive packages and sell on a cash basis delivering only clean, fresh and large eggs. The eggs should weigh at least 24 ounces to the dozen. Under such conditions you will find it profitable.

Egg circles are being formed. Every community in North Carolina should organize their egg circle. By a neighborhood thus uniting they can ship their eggs direct to the wholesale firms of the cities. Often, select trade is built up and the eggs delivered direct to the homes of the city through the parcel post. Recently this office made some trial shipments from Raleigh to Washington, D. C., shipping in six dozen cartons. The eggs were all clean, white, selected large and strictly fresh. They brought 7 cents a dozen more than they would have brought on the Raleigh market and 3 cents above the top quoted price. In shipping in cartons it is advisable to wrap each egg separately in paper so that each egg will be held securely in its compartment and not shake. The box should be marked in large letters on all sides "EGGS."

The breakage in shipping by parcel post has averaged 11 per cent, that is of 88 packages of eggs shipped in cartons where the eggs were packed in either wheat brand or cotton seed hulls there was 12 which contained one or more broken eggs. Of 20 packages shipped by express, some in baskets, others in carton or wooden cases there was 2 or 10 per cent that contained one or more broken eggs.

DREAMLAND'S END.

Where's the end of dreamland—can you say? Shall it always close in common day? Just before the end there comes the dawn And the wonders we would see are gone, We can find in dreamland 'neathful peace

Where we wander when our labors cease, Quiet dells and walks, vine-hidden seats, Fountains softly playing, flower-sweets Brooks that sing forever happy tunes, Winds that play forever low harp-tunes.

But beyond, the wistful heart can see Sheen of distant fields, where tenderly

The sunshine rests, and all the hushed day With fragrant breeze the trees and meadows sway. There no shadows ever threat or throng; It is a land of peace, of smiles and song.

Where is the end of dreamland? I have seen Promise in that far land's silver sheen;

It must be some fair land of happiness, Whose charm and beauty we but dimly guess! —Arthur Wallace Peach, in The Springfield Republican.

AN OLD MAID AND GLAD OF IT.

(From Scribner's Magazine.) I am an old maid and I like it, I realize that in the eyes of my close friends I am an object of profound pity. I can often feel their conviction of the tragedy of my circumstances when I happen to be smiling at some one else's baby; I read perfectly clearly the glances of understanding that a father flashes to his responsive wife, when, by chance, I am caught playing with their offspring. It is not so very long since a generous husband of one of my old friends whispered as we left a wedding together: "Never mind—we shall all be going to yours some day." He said it very kindly. Why should I have been moved to mirth that recurs at intervals at the thought of his compassion? I know that I am a disappointment to my family and a failure from the world's point of view. And yet I like it. Sometimes—dare I say it?—I have seen in the eyes of my dearest friend, mother of six, a kind of leaping envy at my freedom. She knows that I have my work to do and that I believe in it and like it. For all the sweetness of those "Stragglers into loving arms, Those climbers up of knees," they are heavy to carry sometimes and they make enormous confusion in the darningbag. Besides, they disturb one's late morning nap in a way that

QUITE PROFESSIONAL.

Augustine Birrell, about whose resignation from the chief secretaryship of Ireland rumors are still in circulation, is like so many of her notable politicians, a lawyer.

In his early days at the bar Mr. Birrell often had to deal with poor clients. On one occasion he defended a very poor man, and kindly offered to do so for nothing. Mr. Birrell won the case and the client was so grateful that he sent the lawyer 15 shillings. Mr. Birrell accepted this small sum so as not to hurt the man's feelings; but later on he was reproached by a fellow lawyer for doing so.

"Why," said the latter, "did you take 15 shillings? Don't you know that it is unprofessional for us lawyers to take less than gold?"

"Well," answered Mr. Birrell with a twinkle in his eye, "I took all the poor beggar had. You don't consider that unprofessional, do you?"—Pearson's Weekly.

FOOLING THE ENEMY.

Rain was falling steadily as the weary cyclist plodded on through the English mud. At last he spied a figure walking toward him through the gloom.

Gladly he sprang off his machine and asked the native: "How far off is the village of Popleton?"

"Just ten miles the other way, sir," was the reply.

"The other way!" exclaimed the cyclist. "But the last sign post I passed said it was in this direction."

THE BOOKS OF BOOKS

(Billy Sunday.) Twenty-two years ago, with the Holy Spirit as my guide, I entered this wonderful temple called Christianity. I entered at the portico of Genesis, walked down through the Old Testament art gallery, where the pictures of Noah, Abraham, Moses, Joseph, Isaac, Jacob and Daniel hung on the wall.

"We'll drive our cars with mighty speed; Always going, but we go nowhere, Time and gas we never spare, Onward we come side by side; Going nowhere, just out to ride, Noise we make and teams we scare, Filling the folks with dread and fear, Here we come right by your door, Raising the dust like the ones before, Singing our songs on the midnight air With a speed that equals Paul Bevere At this rate, can it always last, Or are we living a little too fast? —T. CHICKEN AN ARDENT COWARD TOO MANY DEAD BEATS IN CHURCH

Husband Discovered His Lack of Courage When He Began to Carve.

(Boston Record.) Mrs. Jones bought a chicken at the family butcher shop and after embellishing it with bread crumbs, celery, cranberry sauce and other glad things, she set it before the head of the family. "What is the matter, John?" asked the young wife with an anxious look as hubby laboriously carved the bird. "Isn't the chicken all right?"

SUN STROKES

It's about this time of year that the wise merchant begins to advertise, Summer underwear—half off.

A man who had dealt in mules all his life was the owner killed by an automobile. Life is certainly full of uncertainties.

Some men borrow money with which to buy an automobile, but wiser ones buy an automobile and then borrow money.

The Durham Sun says "Mr. Bryan makes a success of paddling his own canoe, even if he did make a failure of steering the ship of State." But he is not content to paddle his own canoe. He wants to take charge of the whole fleet.—Florida Times Union.

"There are too many dead heads and dead beats in the church today," said Rev. C. E. Maddy at the Tabernacle Baptist Church yesterday morning preaching from the subject "Coveting Honors But Unwilling to Pay the Price."

The subject was drawn from the story of Ananias and Sapphira who lied to the Holy Ghost and held back part of the proceeds of land sold, and kept it out of sheer greed when it should have gone in service to the cause of Christianity.

"A great many people, professing Christianity, willing to bear the honors, are not willing to pay the price in the performance of service or in the payment of financial obligation," said Mr. Maddy. The church is full of people who want the rewards of church membership and of Christianity without contributing the work, who want the prizes without the price.

MRS. ANNIE B. MORRIS DEAD

Greensboro, July 18.—Mrs. Annie B. Morris died yesterday at one o'clock at St. Leo's hospital. She deceased was 42 years of age and had lived in this city for the past several years. She was born in Alamance county, near Mebane, and was married to J. C. Morris in 1899. She survived by her husband and six children. Her father, J. T. Bradshaw, of Mebane; two sisters, Mrs. W. J. Jennings, of Gibsonville and Miss Blanche Bradshaw, of this city; two brothers, Charles W. Bradshaw, of this city, and J. G. Bradshaw, of Mebane, also survive. Although Mrs. Morris had been a resident of Greensboro for only a few years, the time was long enough for her to make a host of friends and acquaintances. She was a woman of a lovable disposition and the news of her death will come as a shock to people in this section.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Grace M. P. church, of which the deceased was a member. Services will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. M. Andrews, and interment will follow in Greene Hill cemetery.

PA'S BARCASM

"Thump-rattley-bang!" went the piano, according to The Musical Courier. "What are you trying to play, Jane?" called out her father from the next room. "It's an exercise from my new instruction book, 'First Steps in Music,'" she answered. "Well, I knew you were playing with your feet," he said grimly, "but don't step so heavily on the keys—it disturbs my thoughts."

One thousand buildings will be raised in Cleveland, the State fire marshal and the city administration co-operating for that purpose.

SENATORS APPROVE NOTE TO GERMANY.

President's Handling of Situation Indicates Victory of American People.

Greenville, S. C., Daily News—By acceptance of America's principles Germany may gain partial victory by trusting America to hold Great Britain to limits of law. The communication is a definition and also a warning.

Danville, Va., Register—The American reply is courteous and certain, but definite, vigorous, clear and incisive. Its effectually punctures all German subterfuges and calls for definite remedial action.

Petersburg, Va., Index-Appeal—Germany will not dare to make an evasive reply until prepared to have the American Government sever diplomatic relations, which would be tantamount to a neutrality unfriendly to Germany.

Lynchburg, Va., News—President Wilson has shown that he will cease to tolerate quibbling and fiddling in respect to the grave questions about which Berlin and Washington have not as yet reached agreements.

Richmond, Va., Dispatch—President Wilson has closed the door on further discussion. The words amount to an ultimatum. Germany must decide whether she will keep the peace with the United States.

Asheville Citizen—The latest American note, while still couched in friendly terms, and hiding the sword, has marked the end of useless parley, and now demands action on the part of Germany.

Bristol, Va.-Tenn., Herald-Courier—The people are standing firmly by President Wilson in his determination to exact from Germany full respect for American rights. They will support him just as loyally in any course he may pursue to bring England to the same terms.

Raleigh News and Observer—President Wilson states the position of the United States as Americans would have him. He speaks as the red-blooded representative of a red-blooded people.

Roanoke, Va., Times—President Wilson has not been influenced either by the attitude of the German or by the sentiment among a certain class of citizens of the United States and has repeated his demands on Germany.

LOCKED UP ON A BIGAMY CHARGE.

Went Through Form of Marriage of Miss Marie Paschal, of Rockingham, When, According to The Charges, He Already Had a Wife in Miami, Florida.

Rockingham, July 24.—Dr. W. H. Walker, until a few days ago assistant chief surgeon in St. Joseph's Hospital of Savannah, Ga., is behind the prison bars of Richmond county. Miss Marie Paschal, nineteen years old and beautiful daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. (Reb) Leak, of Rockingham, is at home with her parents after a most thrilling experience that carried her through Georgia, to Savannah and over to Charleston, S. C., in which she was one of the principal figures in a bigamy case just come to light.

During October, last year, Miss Paschal went to Savannah, Ga., to enter the St. Joseph's Hospital for training to become a nurse. She had been there progressing nicely until February of this year when Dr. W. H. D. Walker came upon the scene and entered the hospital as assistant to Dr. Crawford, the chief surgeon. Miss Paschal and Dr. Walker met and an immediate attachment for each other resulted. The Dr. began to address her almost from the time they met and pursued his attentions without intermissions. Miss Paschal came home during July for a vacation and was followed on July 23d by Dr.

Walker. He proposed that they be married and his proposal was accepted by the young lady. Dr. Walker had previously told Miss Paschal that he had already been married, but had secured a divorce, and when the proposal of marriage was made he produced to her the papers and produced documentary evidence of the divorce. Not suspecting anything irregular, the statement of the doctor was accepted without question and the marriage was allowed to proceed, which was a circumstance created suspicion and she left immediately for Savannah, where they put up at the DeSoto hotel.

Dr. Walker and his new bride was seen on the streets of Savannah by his chief and being asked who she was replied that it was a friend of his. Upon examination of the hotel register, it was seen that Dr. Walker had registered himself and wife. This circumstance created suspicion and caused Dr. Crawford to make investigations. In the meantime Mr. Boykin Paschal, advertising manager of one of the Savannah papers, was called up over the phone by a lady representing herself to be an aunt of the lady supposed to be Mrs. Walker No. 1. An appointment was made with her and she informed Mrs. Paschal that Dr. Walker was the husband and father of a woman and child in Miami, Fla. Paschal took immediate steps to verify this statement and was put in communication with Mrs. Walker in Miami, who wired the chief of police at Rockingham and the sheriff of Richmond to swear out a warrant for Dr. Walker on the charge of bigamy and have him arrested.

When Dr. Crawford, of the sanitarium, became convinced that Dr. Walker had committed bigamy, he discharged him from the hospital and told him to leave Savannah. He and his bride went from Savannah to Charleston, she in her innocence, not even dreaming that there was any trouble impending. There, they stopped at the Argyle Hotel and while in their room, the officers of Charleston arrested him. When the officers knocked at the door, Mrs. Walker, No. 2, answered the summons and two officers asked if that was Dr. Walker. She said "yes, it is he." When they displayed their badges and said they came to arrest him, it was like a thunder clap out of a clear sky. She asked Walker what it meant and he replied "you will learn later." The arrest was made last Thursday. Dr. Walker did not make any resistance, but consented to come back to Rockingham without requisition papers.

ASHEVILLE WOMAN TAKES OWN LIFE. Mrs. L. W. Roberson Swallows Enough Carbolic Acid to Kill Several.

Asheville, July 25.—Swallowing carbolic acid at her home on Pearson's Drive, Mrs. L. W. Roberson yesterday ended her life without leaving any explanation for her act, taking the drug while members of the family were absent from her apartments. The deceased appeared to be in the best of spirits when seen last by members of her family yesterday morning and the finding of her body by another resident of the apartment at which she resided left to the belief that she had fainted. However, when physicians made an examination it was found that she had swallowed a sufficient quantity of the drug to kill several people. "Swallowing carbolic acid with suicidal intent" is the cause assigned for her death in the report made by physicians to the registrar of vital statistics here.

Mrs. Roberson was 45 years of age and is survived by a husband and two children, both girls. One is ten years of age and the other is three years old. Mr. Roberson is prominent in business circles here, being associated with two well known local grocery firms.

This kind of thing is getting fiercer. Have the Greensboro Record say: "We wonder if Warsaw saw war coming before war saw Warsaw?" while the Kinston Daily News' version is: "Warsaw saw war; that's what Warsaw saw."

George Hollingsworth and Max H. Jordan Lost Lives While in Bathing—Lives of Six Other People Endangered.

Norfolk, Va., July 25.—Two young men were drowned and the lives of three young women and three more men endangered in the surf off Blount Cottage, Ocean View, this afternoon. All of them were week-end visitors from Raleigh.

The victims were George Hollingsworth, clerk in a drug store, and Max H. Jordan, jeweler and watchmaker.

Those who narrowly escaped a similar fate, but were rescued in an exhausted condition by volunteer lifesavers in small boats, were Misses Effie Willis and Mammie Baugh, H. L. Drew and C. B. Arnold. Miss Verlie Edwards was brought ashore by her brother, A. J. Edwards.

Unaccustomed to salt water bathing the eight members of the party went in bathing about 1 o'clock. The northeast wind was kicking up a stiff surf on the bar off the beach and before they realized it the five men and three girls were beyond their depth. Hollingsworth and Jordan were considered good swimmers and had ventured further out than the others.

Panic Stricken, Call for Help.

When the bathers found they were in danger they became panic stricken and began to call for help. There were not other bathers in the immediate neighborhood but people on the beach heard the calls for assistance. S. S. Latten, of Portsmouth, who was on the nearby beach, heard the bathers and succeeded in launching a small boat and getting it through the surf tumbling over the bar. He helped Miss Effie Willis and drew her into his boat just as she was about to give up the fight. When the two struggled through the breakers to shallow water, both of them were exhausted. Miss Willis would have gone down in a minute or two longer had not relief come.

About the same time that Latten was making his rescue another small boat made its way through the surf and picked up Miss Mammie Baugh and Arnold.

In the meanwhile Hollingsworth and Jordan had gone down. While the two rescues were being made Edwards succeeded in making his way ashore dragging his sister with him.

First Aid Treatment Applied. When Misses Willis and Drew were landed on the sand they were in a semi-conscious condition and first aid treatment was applied by Sherman Seelinger and S. B. Whitlock.

Other volunteers manned additional small boats and every effort was made to find the bodies of Hollingsworth and Jordan. The search continued for two hours. Later in the afternoon the body of Hollingsworth was found floating near the scene of the tragedy.

Use Pulmotor in Vain. In the meanwhile in response to a telephone message Fire Chief McLaughlin, of Norfolk, had sped to Ocean View with the department's pulmotor which was used on Hollingsworth but in vain. The body of Jordan had not been recovered tonight.

The Wilmington Star takes the position that "we don't have to have politicians to run North Carolina," and further that "if it were constitutional, we ought to put North Carolina's government into the hands of the University for about four years and watch the results." This was said in reference to the good work which the State University is doing in its extension activities and is giving high praise to that institution, but we hardly think that the drop of candidates for office will take kindly to the idea. And if it could be done, the University would see to it up to its ears in politics.

PLEASE TAKE THE SORROW.

Chicago, July 25.—Sorrow which spread over the city with the Eastland disaster and beclouded a thousand homes with poignant grief, has its lowest today over the silent forms of the victims in the drill hall of the Second Regiment Armory.

There was little sign of violent emotion, though everywhere the tenseness of repression was apparent. Men and women, boys and girls, and even little ones, bereft in many cases of all their loved ones, though they shook with sobs, made no outcry as they beheld their dead. Some few collapsed and were cared for by Red Cross nurses in a squad room. But of thousands who through the night and day visited the armory not more than a hundred needed aid.

As fast as the bodies were identified a record was taken by the coroner's office and they were then turned over to those who claimed them. Early tonight less than a hundred bodies were left in the armory.

Many of the bodies bore no sign of struggle. Calm and still their faces lay unturned and uncovered to aid in identification. Here and there, however, was one with distorted limbs, with bruised head or torso. Perhaps the most pitiful were the bodies of babies.

In the Red Cross room there were many scenes of sorrow. One aged woman kept repeating "All gone, husband, son, his wife and their two children."

One man bowed with years screamed and struggled with those about him when he saw the bodies of his wife and children. "The men are the hardest to control when they do give away," said the physicians in charge of the relief room.

From the first word of the disaster till late tonight, neither Coroner Hoffman, his aids, nor any of the higher police officials took any rest.

Nellie and Dorothy Fitzgerald, sisters, of Philadelphia, were the only identified victims tonight whose homes were outside Chicago or its suburbs. They went to the boat with their Chicago hostess.

$200,000 FOR RELIEF OF FAMILIES OF VICTIMS.

Fund Guaranteed by Sub-Committee And Will Be Available Within 24 Hours.

Chicago, July 25.—At a meeting of the citizens advisory committee called today by William R. Moorhouse, acting mayor, it was planned to raise immediately $200,000 by public subscription for the relief of families of the Eastland victims. In addition, officials of the Western Electric Company announced that the employee benefit association had $100,000 available for such work.

Acting Mayor Moorhouse said the $200,000 relief fund had been guaranteed by a sub-committee and would be available within 24 hours. The relief work will be in charge of the National Red Cross, the Associated Charities of Chicago, and the city health department.

PLEASE TAKE THE SORROW.

Raleigh, July 25.—"Please take me home." These words in the voice of a girl were heard a few nights ago from an automobile that passed down Edenton street. They were heard by a lady and her daughter, the two sitting on their porch on Edenton near Dawson. A few minutes later the automobile came by again and again the words, as if a girl in tears, were heard. The lady and her daughter were alone on their grounds and there were no men near whom they could call on to investigate the unusual occurrence. Just what the incident involved will probably always remain a mystery, but the lady who heard the girl's cry thought it desirable that publicity be given to the occurrence on the ground that it might serve as a warning against the possible dangers of joy riding.—News & Observer.

Asks $20,000 Damages From Brown Brothers and Banker Norwood of Goldsboro—Won't Try at This Term.

Goldsboro, July 23.—In an interview this morning with W. S. O'B. Robinson, one of the attorneys for the defendants, C. A. and G. W. Brown, editors of the Goldsboro Record and George A. Norwood, president of the National Bank of this city who were recently served with papers by the sheriff of this county citing them to appear in the Superior Court of Halifax county at the July term in a damage suit instituted against them by Judge Peebles for $20,000, the attorney informed your correspondent that the court calendar for this term had not as yet been set and he could also state on good authority that the case would not be heard at this term. The case against the Brown brothers is a revival of the controversy several months ago between them and Judge Peebles, who charged them with contempt of court because they published articles alleging that the jurist was guilty of drinking too much whiskey.

Judge Peebles is entering suit against Mr. Norwood in which he claims the defendant was the ring-leader in the whole affair.
