Kaiser's Chancellor Tells Associated Press Commander's Error Will Be Made Good—Statement to Follow Report of Submarine.

When Circumstances Are Learned, Says Von Bethmann Hollweg, Imperial Government Will Not Hesitate to Conform With Keeping of Friendly Relations With United States.

Berlin, via London, Aug. 26.—If the commander of a German submarine exceeded his instructions in sinking the steamer Arabic the German government will give full satisfaction to the United States, Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg informed the Associated Press correspondent in an interview this evening.

The Imperial chancellor made the following statement of German's position on the sinking of the Arabic:

"As long as the circumstances surround the sinking of the Arabic have not been fully cleared up, it is impossible for me to make a definite statement. Thus far we have received no report about it. Now we do not even know whether the sinking of the ship was caused by a mine or by a torpedo, fired from a German submarine, nor do we know whether in this latter case the Arabic herself may not by her actions, perhaps, have justified proceedings of the commander of the submarine.

"Only after all these circumstances have been cleared up will it be possible to say whether the commander of one of our submarines went beyond his instructions, in which case the imperial government would not hesitate to give such complete satisfaction to the United States as would conform to the friendly relations existing between both governments."

MR. JIM HAYES DEAD.

Mr. Jim Hayes died at the County Home Tuesday evening of fever. He had been ill for some time, and was taken to the home for treatment with the hope that he would recover, but died immediately after arriving there. He lived in Burlington nearly all of his life, having been at one time employed as telegraph operator at this place. For the past few years he was in the employ of Walker's livery stable.

The funeral and burial took place Wednesday, interment being in the city cemetery.

FARM LIFE SCHOOL ADVOCATED

The following is an expression of the boys and girls of Alamance county and should be given consideration and careful thought by the citizens of our county. This paper was read at the Annual Picnic of the Tomato and Corp Clubs of our county, by one of the boys of our county.

"To the Commissioners of Alamance County, Gentlemen:—

We, the boys and girls of Alamance County are very desirous of having established in our county a Farm Life School, in which Industrial Education shall be emphasized, either separately or in connection with one of our High Schools.

We desire to see such a school established for the following reasons:

First: We are a rural people and feel that, as boys and girls, we should be thoroughly drilled on all the fundamental subjects that underlie successful farming and home making. These subjects are not at present included in our schools.

Second: We believe that we shall fall short of our duty to our county and to our state and to the possibilities of our own selves, if we do not have such preparation for life.

Third: Our county depends on our farmers for food and clothing. We can not contribute as large a share of these products as we desire unless we learn how to do this in early life and have a beginning made then as will enable us to continue to improve in our farm methods all our lives.

Fourth: We feel that farm boys and girls are entitled to the best training in the world, for the lands of the country are in their keeping and unless they manage these lands so as to preserve and improve their fertility, the country will grow poorer instead of richer.

We therefore earnestly and urgently entreat you who represent the best interests of our county to establish for us an industrial school where all who desire may be trained to become efficient on the farm, helpful and able in the home and citizens whose thrift, intelligence and success will make them happy contented and successful in their country homes."

The Dispatch heartily endorses the above and commend it to our officials for consideration. We believe this a step in the right direction.—Editor.

WU TING FANG EXPECTS TO LIVE TO AGE OF 150.

Perkins, August 25.—Dr. Wu Ting Fang, well known in America as the former Chinese Minister to Washington, has just celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday and boasts that vegetarian diet keeps him in such splendid condition that he expects to live to be one hundred and fifty or two hundred years old. Dr. Wu lives in Shanghai, where his son, Wu Chao-Chu, who is an adviser to President Yuan Shi-Kai, visited him according to old Chinese custom on the occasion of his birthday.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY AND FLAG RAISING

There will be an educational rally and flag raising at Cross Roads Schoolhouse, Saturday, September 4th, 1915. The Graham Council No. 98, Jr. O. U. A. M., has charge of arrangements for the occasion. In addition to the flag raising, a Bible will be presented to the School.

The program will consist of an address by Mr. L. D. Mendenhall of Randleman, who will represent the Junior Order and be the principal speaker on the occasion. Among the other speakers who are expected to be present are: Prof. J. B. Robertson of Graham, Dr. J. D. Gregg of Liberty, and Prof. Junius A. Hornaday of near Liberty. A United States flag, or "Old Glory," will be presented to the school and hoisted on a pole on the school grounds. A Bible will also be presented to the school for its use. The speaking will begin at 11 o'clock. The flag will be raised at 2:30 o'clock, and a ball game will be played at 3:30.

Everybody is invited to come and bring their dinner and enjoy the day. All members of the Junior Order are especially invited to attend.

Remember the time and place, Saturday, September 4th, at Cross Roads Schoolhouse.

SERMONS ON SANCTIFICATION.

On last Sabbath, Rev. D. H. Tuttle preached the first and second sermons of the series on Sanctification to large congregations, even calling for the use of the Sunday School room at the morning hour when many were present from the country.

On next Sunday, 11 a. m., the third sermon of the series will be built about the "Key Words," perfect, perfecting, perfection. The evening sermon will be about the "Key Words," pure, purifying, purity. Come, keep and exemplify.

6-YEAR-OLD FACES CHARGE OF ROBBERY.

New Bern, Aug. 24.—Whether the government can or will prosecute a six-year-old boy and if he is found guilty of a serious crime what will be done with him, is a question that is attracting considerable attention at Cove City just at this time. A few weeks ago, it is claimed, six-year-old Walter White, entered the postoffice at that place and departed with $35. After the theft was discovered a search for the money was instituted and $13 of the money was found, the remainder having been spent for candy and "pop." The matter has been turned over to Postoffice Inspector L. T. Yarborough for investigation. Whether the lad will be placed under arrest remains to be seen as does also the probable penalty to be placed upon him in case he is found guilty and sentence passed upon him.

PREACHER HURT AFTER SERMON ON ACCIDENTS.

Rocky Mount, Aug. 24.—Within less than twenty-four hours after he had sounded a word of warning from his pulpit to his congregation on the danger of automobiles and the promiscuous use of signals, Rev. R. C. Craven, the pastor of the First Methodist church was knocked down yesterday and injured in a collision between his bicycle and an automobile blockading his church. He suffered a broken rib and fractured knee. Mr. F. Jones was the driver of the car.

YOUNG GERMAN ARRESTED FOR TAKING PICTURES OF U. S. FORTS

Gustav Kopsch Held in $5,000 Bail at Washington Charged With Photographing Military Posts at Fortress Monroe and Cape Henry.

Washington, August 25.—Gustav Kopsch, a young German employed as an instrument maker by the Carnegie Institution here, was arrested tonight by agents of the Department of Justice, charged with violating the Federal law for protection of the national defense by making pictures of military reservations. He was held in $5,000 bail and will be sent to Norfolk for trial in the United States District Court there.

According to the officers, Kopsch had in his possession photographs of the fortification and guns at Fortress Monroe and of the reservation at Cape Henry, Va., where the government is planning extensive works to defend the entrance to Chesapeake Bay.

JOSEPH M. REECE CLAIMED BY DEATH.

Well Known Greensboro Editor Dies After Long Illness; Funeral this Afternoon.

Greensboro, Aug. 24.—Joseph Martin Reece, editor of the Greensboro Daily Record, died this morning at 10:20 o'clock, after an illness of two months, during which time his family and friends knew that it was only a question of time until the end would come. While the announcement was not a surprise, news of his death was received everywhere as a shock. Arterio sclerosis was the cause of death. During the past two months Mr. Reece was unconscious nearly all the time. Saturday he began sinking and this morning the end came.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church of which he had long been a member. Rev. Melton Clarke, the pastor, will conduct the service. Deacons of the church will be pall-bearers. During his illness he had requested that friends be asked not to send flowers and had given directions for a simple funeral.

Survived by Wife.

Mr. Reece is survived by his wife, who was before marriage Miss Alice McMurray. No children were born to the couple, but they reared as their own three children of Mrs. Reece's sister, whom they loved as if their own children and upon whom they bestowed every parental affection. These are Mrs. Frank P. Morton, of Charlotte, Mrs. J. A. Williams, of Greensboro, and Mr. Charles H. Robertson, of Peoria, Ill.

The South is a good country to live in, even if some of the people go wild sometimes and commit crimes that they are afterwards ashamed of.

The invaders' approach, it is apparent, is not so much a threat as it was in the case of Brest-Litovsk itself. It was evacuated as was Ossowetz, in conformity with the Russian intention to take up new positions farther east.

Germans Hold Railway.

The Germans now are in possession of the whole line of railway from Chelm to Bialystok. The Russians having already evacuated the latter city, the lesser fortresses of Grodno and Olita now are the only strongly defended positions remaining in the hands of the Russians. Both these are being approached by the Germans. They probably will be given up when they have fulfilled their purpose of facilitating the Russian retreat.

NO TARIFF REVISION IS SEEN BY SIMMONS.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Simmons came to Washington today from Philadelphia where Mrs. Simmons has been in a hospital for several days. Her condition was improved when Senator Simmons left. He expects to leave here tomorrow for North Carolina if his wife continues to improve. Senator Simmons does not believe there will be any attempt at the next session of Congress to revise the tariff to meet unusual conditions brought on by the European war. If Congress find it necessary to change its revenue system to meet present conditions the war tax, he believes, will be revised so as to care for the Treasury's deficit. The only government officials whom Senator Simmons called on today were out of town, Secretary McAdoo, Commissioner Osborn and Director Rogers of the Census Bureau. Colonel Osborn is taking a vacation, while Mr. Rogers left for North Carolina several days ago to recuperate after a summer of strenuous work. Col. Walker Taylor, collector of the Port at Washington, is here.

THE MODEL HUSBAND NOW ASKS DIVORCE.

Before he was married he saved $600 on a meager salary of $50 a month. He purchased a home and paid for it out of earnings of $60 a month. He always got up at night, and during the infancy of the children, and fed them and took care of them. He always undressed the youngsters and saw that they were put to bed. Fischer put out the family wash. He tilled a little garden and sold the truck, adding to his income. He raised chickens and every night wiped the dishes. He only asked his wife for a quarter for spending money every two weeks. He walked two miles to save carfare and sent the wife and children away every summer for a vacation. He was away from home but one night in all his married life. Under this stress of truly marvelous marital excellence, Fischer finally broke down. Now he is suing his wife for divorce, alleging that he might have spoiled her on the ground of overindulgence.

FRANK "EXECUTED" AS COURT ORDERED SAY WITNESSES OF MIDNIGHT HANGING.

Associated Press is Told That Lynching Was Carried Out in Orderly Manner

ALLEGED SLAYER MADE NO CONFESSION OF CRIME.

Walked 200 Yards to Death Tree Without Faltering Step; Was Not Maltreated, and the Killing, It is Said, Was Carried Out With Formality; Was No Demonstration.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 22.—The first actual story of all that transpired on the death ride of Leo M. Frank from Milledgeville to Marietta, between midnight and dawn, last Tuesday morning became available to The Associated Press today. The recital did not come through second or third hands, but in a manner which seemingly placed its authenticity beyond all question. The narrator, however, will not be a witness before the Cobb County grand jury, which, on September 1, will be asked to undertake a thorough investigation of the lynching of the man alleged to have been the slayer of little Mary Phagan.

Governor is Warned.
It also became known today that Gov. Harris, during the past few days, had received several anonymous threatening letters purporting to warn him not to go "too far" in his investigation of the lynching. The Governor is not inclined to take the letters at all seriously, but looks upon them as the outgrowth of the disturbed sentiments of the moment.

The "inside story" of the events, which preceded the finding of Frank's lifeless body swaying from the limb of an oak tree near Marietta cleared up many features of the tragic incident which heretofore have been veiled in mystery.

Did Not Confess.
First: Frank did not confess. He twice was asked if he had anything to say, but on each occasion replied "No." Asked pointedly if he killed the Phagan girl, he is said to have made no reply whatever.

Second: No attempt was made to force a confession, Frank's statement, just prior to his death, that he loved his wife and mother better than he did his life, came unexpectedly and without questioning.

Third: Frank was not maltreated in any way prior to the actual lynching. Stories that he might have met violent death before he was hanged are without foundation.

Walked to Tree.
Fourth: Frank walked a distance of 200 yards from the automobile to the death tree without a faltering step; without a sigh or semblance of a protest. Fearing perhaps that his body might never reach his relatives he asked that the wedding ring he wore be delivered to a newspaper man with the solemn promise that it would be turned over to his wife. This wish was carried out.

Fifth: Frank was told from the start that he was to be "executed," as the courts had directed that he be, and every effort was made by the so-called "vigilance committee" to see that the "legal hanging," as they termed the lynching, was carried out in an orderly manner.

Not Maltreated.
Members of the "vigilance committee" are said to resent any intimation that Frank was "maltreated" while in their custody. They assert he was given exactly the same consideration usually given to a condemned man on the day of his execution. The rough handling of the body after it was cut down was a matter concerning which members of the "committee" feel they were not responsible.

Sixth: The members of the "vigilance committee" felt they had a sacred duty to perform in "carrying out" the mandate of the courts of the State and of the United States. There was no mob spirit; no demonstration, and there is said to have been an idea of hanging Frank in the public square at Marietta or in the cemetery where Mary Phagan lies buried. There was, however, a determination that the execution should take place in Cobb county. Inasmuch as all the members of the "committee" are said to be residents of Cobb county, the reason for this is obvious.

Were Seven Cars.
Seven automobiles were required to transport the "vigilance committee" from Marietta to Milledgeville. Only four returned, including the car in which Frank rode. All of the machines were small cars of a popular make. These cars were specially selected because of the difficulty in identifying them. No car of conspicuous color or design was wanted. There were probably twenty-eight men in the lynching party. The machines left Marietta singly during the afternoon of Monday and it was shortly after 10 o'clock when the prison farm was reached.

After Warden Smith and Superintendent Burke had been called from their homes and handcuffed, the party proceeded to the prison house in which Frank was known to be quartered. Frank was just recovering from the wound inflicted on his throat by Wm. Green, a fellow-prisoner, and was to have been returned to the regular sleeper dormitory Tuesday night. On the night of his death, however, he still was lying in the hospital room adjoining the warden's office.

JAPAN WILL GET BUSY FOR ALLIES.

Increase Output of Munitions Up to Full Limit of The Empire Resources

Tokio, Aug. 23.—The Associated Press learns that Japan has decided to employ all available governmental and private resources for increasing the output of munitions for the allies, particularly Russia. The Japanese government believes the time has arrived for more concerted action against the enemies of Japan and her allies.

The Kokumin Shimbun says: "Premier Okuma states that Japan has decided to give greater assistance to Russia to prosecute the war. He could not discuss details, but allowed it to be understood that this assistance would take the form of the forwarding of greater supplies of munitions."

Count Okuma emphasized the impracticability and impossibility of dispatching troops to Europe but points out that the great advance in the capacity of the Japanese to manufacture munitions will prove of great help to the allies.

The premier said Japan plans to send delegates to the peace conference although it is not expected to extend her sphere of influence to Europe.

"Japan wants Europe to recognize Japan's supremacy in the Orient," he said.

MARINES AND SHIPS MAY GO TO VERA CRUZ.

Third Regiment's Men to Mobilize and Dreadnoughts Ordered Ready.

Simultaneous orders for the mobilization of the remainder of the Third Regiment of marines at League Island and for the rushing of repairs on the dreadnoughts Minnesota and Kansas, now in dry dock at the local navy yard, that they may join the North Atlantic fleet within five days, caused renewed speculation among naval officers here yesterday in regard to the Mexican situation. The marines were ordered to mobilize here to stand by for immediate foreign service in Haiti, but officers denied the real objective of the marines in Vera Cruz.

Chas. Leathe's wife is right sick. Charles is one of our best colored friends and we hope she will soon recover.

Thanks to Freddie Blanchard, Eluis Ross, Ewell Sutton and Mrs. R. L. Foster and Arthur Ross for nice melons. Jim McCulloch, it seems, has made a failure this year in the watermelon line anyway. At least we have not seen any of his'n.

Mrs. Mammie Rice, Misses Jessie and Kate left for their home in West Durham last Thursday. We miss these pleasant visitors.

Thanks to Brooks Crismon and J. C. McCulloch for nice apples. We will have pies now.

The Record in Burlington is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Burlington citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mr. J. F. Thompson, liveryman, Means Street, Burlington, says: "Quite often I have long drives and I am exposed to all kinds of weather, which causes my back to ache and my kidneys to act irregularly. Sometimes, I can hardly straighten, my back is so weak and lame. Often, sharp twinges catch me across my kidneys, so that I can hardly move for a minute or so. Whenever I feel this trouble coming on, I take Doan's Kidney Pills for a few days and the pain in my back stops and my kidneys act regularly. I believe Doan's Kidney Pills will help anyone, who will give them a good trial."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Thompson had. FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

DEATH A RELIEF.

Frank's Mother Finds Consolation in This Thought.

"I thank God that my boy is dead. I am glad that the long, terrible torture that the people of Georgia have proved themselves capable of inflicting is at an end. My boy is at rest and will sleep untroubled tonight."

With the same remarkable courage that Leo M. Frank displayed during the time he was being threatened by the Georgia mobs, his mother, Mrs. Rudolph Frank, received the news of his death yesterday. There was scarcely a tremor in her voice as she expressed her joy that at last her son was beyond the vengeance of the mob, but her unusual calm spoke eloquently of a blow that had struck deep.

The little three-story white limestone house at No. 152 Underhill avenue, where Frank's parents reside with his married sister, Mrs. Otto Stern and her family was funeral-like when the World reporter called yesterday morning. The curtains were drawn and there was the stillness that bespeaks death hanging over the neighborhood. The neighbors lowered their voices as they passed by and several raised their hats.

"We are all bearing up as well as we can," said Mrs. Stern to the World reporter. "Surely when Leo was so brave and courageous, we cannot do less. There is nothing we can say now. We appreciate deeply the sympathy of all who believe in poor Leo's innocence. He was as innocent of that crime as you are. It is too terrible. That awful South! Never again will we breathe the air of the South. Oh, how I hate it!"

"The poor boy to die just after he was beginning to recover from that dastardly attempt on his life. They had to have a life for that crime and Leo was their victim. But it's God's will."

A short time after, Rudolph Frank, the dead man's father, accompanied by his son-in-law, Otto Stern, appeared in the doorway. The aged man made no attempt to hide his grief as he stumbled down the steps to the street.

"I can't talk, I can't talk," he sobbed, "my poor murdered Leo." With an effort the aged man, straightened his shoulders and gained control of himself. "If there is any force left in the laws of this land these men will be brought to justice," he said.

Although they had never seen their Uncle Leo, Elinor and Robert, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Stern were crushed by the grief that had drawn close to their parents. Occasionally the children would go to the window and, holding the curtains aside press their faces to the pane. The resemblance of Robert to his Uncle Leo is marked, and he and his sister have been told stories of their "uncle" who

So far as official reports have disclosed, there never has been previously an air raid of such magnitude. In a few earlier ventures thirty or more aeroplanes were used.

Press dispatches have indicated that the belligerents have built great numbers of aeroplanes, and these machines are now sent forth in flotillas for organized assaults on a large scale.

Yesterday's raid was the third in this part of Germany during the last three weeks. On August 9th Saarbruecken was bombarded, and three days later the neighboring towns of Saint Ingbert and Zewelbruecken were attacked. Eight persons were killed in the latter raid.

Little Herman was a very backward cholar and his teacher frequently lost all patience with him, relates The Houston Chronicle.

One day when he seemed to be more dense than usual the teacher exclaimed:

"It seems you are never able to answer any of my questions, Herman, why?"

"If I knew all the things you ask me, ma'am," replied Herman, "my father wouldn't go to the trouble of sending me here."

We now have on display many of the latest novelties in Fall Footwear for Young Ladies. Laced shoes seem to be quite in favor for the coming season and we have a very large selection in both patent and gull kid. Some have black cloth tips and others have Fawn tips. These are all the popular military styles. Of course you will find the ever popular button styles in all leathers for all occasions. The best shoes we have ever shown for $2.50, $3.00 & $3.50. Would be glad to have you inspect the many new things that will be shown exclusively at FOSTER'S SHOE STORE.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

HICO MILLING CO.

Because of the liberal patronage given me by my merchant and farmer friends since I have taken charge of the Hico Milling Company, I have been able to make constant and valuable improvements in the machinery and equipment, until today we have the most modern and best equipped roller mill in the south, and as a token of my appreciation of this patronage I want to extend to each of my friends, both farmers and merchants, my thanks for their patronage.

It is my desire to build up such a business relation between myself and patrons that they may know at all times that they will receive the best of treatment and the best products that can be made, and that in having their work done at our mills they are getting the best that can be made.

Besides many of the latest improvements added, we have just received and placed in operation a modern cleaning machine, known as an onion separator. This machine is the most modern in the south, and insures good, clean wheat, and pure flour and will be of great benefit to the farmers in cleaning their seed wheat.

We are always glad to see our friends at our mills and will continue to work to merit your patronage.

Yours truly,
Hico Milling Co.

TEETH AFFECT MORALITY.

(By H. Addington Bruce.)
The hygiene importance of keeping the teeth well cleaned is appreciated today by most people, thanks largely to the "tooth brush campaigns" carried on by school authorities. Not so generally appreciated is the fact that tooth decay sometimes has a disastrous effect, not only on the body, but also on the mind and the morals.
As striking an instance as has ever come to my knowledge of the influence of diseased teeth on morality, is the story of a Cleveland young man, for information regarding whose singular case I am indebted to the late Dr. Henry S. Upson.
Brought up in good home, this young man, as a boy, showed no traits out of the ordinary. Until about fifteen he behaved much like any average, vigorous lad.
At fifteen his mother was startled and dismayed by a sudden change in his character. He became mischievous, unruly, and given to roaming the streets.
Some neighbors began to complain of him. He was accused of taking one person's bicycle to pieces, of stealing another's milk bottles, of overturning peddlers' carts.
Next he started in earnest in a criminal career, breaking into Y. M. C. A. lockers, pilfering from barns, and finally robbing a store. Arrested, but released for lack of evidence, he promptly committed another burglary.
This earned him a two-year term in the Ohio State reformatory. He was no sooner freed than he turned burglar again, and this time was sent to the local prison.
There he remained until he was twenty-one, when his mother, in a last desperate effort to save her boy, appealed to Dr. Upson to make a medical examination of him.
It was her idea, from a recent reading of medical literature, that possibly some abnormal physical condition might be responsible for his delinquency.
Visiting the prison, Dr. Upson was at once impressed by the deplorable state of the young man's teeth. Several were impacted—that is, crowded against those nearest them—and an X-ray examination revealed abscesses at the roots of several others.
Given dental treatment a great improvement in his behavior became apparent. He lost his sullenness and restlessness, and on his return to his mother's home sought work and kept at it steadily.
A year later the mother was able to write to Dr. Upson a letter of grateful assurance that her son's reform promised to be lasting.
How account for this strange effect of dental disease of character?

Simply by the fact that the young man's brain had been poisoned by toxic products of tooth decay. Absorbed into the blood, these products had been carried by the blood to the brain.
Also his whole nervous system had been unduly taxed by the prolonged pressure of the impacted teeth against the teeth adjacent to them.
The poisoning of the brain had weakened his power of reason and judgment. The nervous strain had caused a restlessness, which in his case took the form of an abnormal revolt against mental and moral discipline.
He was not really a criminal. He was merely the victim of a "reflex neurosis," hence amenable to reformatory influence once the cause of the neurosis had been ascertained and removed.
Nevertheless, until it had been found and removed, he was a real menace to society.
As with him, so with not a few other evil-doers, whose criminal or vicious habits have demonstrably been consequences of tooth decay.
Use the tooth brush vigorously therefore in the interest of morality as well as of physical health.

And tuck those rosy apples in Till cider dripped off of my chin.

And mother would be scared at night
For fear I'd lost my appetite.
When was the days of long ago,
When apple blossoms used to blow.
Across my path, and I would be
Acquainted with each apple tree;
And figure up the season's eats;
And watch the tree of golden sweets
That every farmer has, and sigh
For the day comin' by and by.
When he would let me load up at.
'Most every tree exceptin' that.
Then was the apples that we looked!
Whenever that there farmer looked.
The other way, then we would fill
Our shirts with golden-sweets until.
We were as round as a balloon!
Talk not to me of days of June!
'Twas when the suns of August days
Shone bright and warm across our ways
That used to mean the most to me,
Of all the days that used to be,

SERBIA YIELDS TO ITALY IN ALBANIA
This Solves One of Principal Difficulties in Way of Balkan Settlement.
Milan, Italy, via Paris, Aug. 23.—Premier Pachitch, of Serbia, is quoted by the Courriere Della Serra as saying Serbia has given way to Italy regarding Albania, thus solving one of the principal difficulties in the way of a settlement of the Balkan situation favorable to the entente allies.
The Premier is quoted as declaring Serbia bows to the decision of Europe in regard to Albania and wishes a friendly solution of the Adriatic question with Italy, acknowledging the predominant position of Italy in that field.
BRITISH WARSHIPS BOMBARD ZEEBRUGGE.
Flushing, Holland, Aug. 23, (via London).—Several British warships appeared today off Knocke, Belgium, and bombarded the coast. A press dispatch says shells burst over a factory between Zeebrugge and Lissoyoghe. The Germans replied with their coast defense guns, but their fire finally ceased.
Heavy clouds of smoke appeared over Zeebrugge, but no fire was visible.
At this distance the hole Mr. Bryan left in Washington looks suspiciously like a hill.
Let us not despair. A negro was illegally hanged in Georgia Thursday.

THE HOME PAPER.

It wants you on its reading list, recorded on its books, and then you'll get it every week and know just how it looks.
It will tell you all about the news in this and nearby towns, who gets married, dies, is born and who elopes or drowns.
There isn't a thing from A to Z that tends to help the town that the paper doesn't catch it up and quickly pass it round.
It tells about your visitors, with titles emphasized, while at their points of merit are freely generalized.
It tells the story of success, but screens the failure side, and when the facts will make a mess it simply lets them slide.
It tells about your virtues and overlooks your sins, and puts an extra emphasis upon the birth of twins.
It never designs to tell a lie, except in personal praise, and then it does it clear and strong, and with its choicest phrase.
In writing up your marriage it elaborates with care, and says the bride was beautiful and bridegroom was on the square.
It doesn't matter who it is that crosses Jordan's River, the paper tickets him as saint and safely sends him thither.
It tells about that darling boy who had a dollar raise, leaves out this measly little tricks and just recites his price.
And there's your daughter on the street, gadding night and day, of all the rumor slow or fleet, it wisely does not say.
It paints out every blemish on the picture of your life and paints in every virtue of a home that has no strife.
It learns to read between the lines and find the tender spot, to blow not cold on young or old, when the blowing should be hot.
It senses all the skeletons behind the closet door and runs its big blue pencil through the lines that turn them o'er.
PHILADELPHIA BOY OF 15 PREACHES TO 800.
Gives Advice to New York Men and Women on How to Live.
New York, Aug. 22.—Eight hundred adults for three hours today heard a boy, fifteen years old, give them advice on how to live. He was J. Scott Dawkins, licensed exhorter of the Siloam Methodist Episcopal Church of Philadelphia, and a student at the Temple University. He is conducting revival services at Tent Evangel, Manhattan Avenue and 125th Street.

Dawkins appeared before two congregations today and advised mothers how to rear their children and told fathers how they should behave about the home. The two front rows of chairs were filled with gray-haired men who listened eagerly to what the boy in knickerbockers had to say, while behind him sat a dozen seasoned clergymen. The boy faced his congregation and talked without hesitation.

Dawkins' sermon was on "The Helping Power of Christ." For illustration he went into his own experience when he "was a child" and told of the comfort he had received since his conversion.
"Since that time I have never left what I believe to be the path of righteousness," he proclaimed. "I have never smoked and don't believe I ever will. If there are any among you now who will forsake the paths of sin and shame, raise your hands so that I may see."
Several hands were raised, and he said: "Good!"
Dawkins preached what he termed a "try-out" sermon in New York two weeks ago, and got an invitation to return.
MOTHER AND BABY ARE KILLED — FATHER AND SON INJURED.
Seaboard Passenger Train Crashes Into Family in Buggy Near Kittrell Wounded Brought to Hospital Here.
Mr. Stone, Though Badly Hurt, Expected to Recover; Mrs. Stone Was Killed Instantly. While the Infant Expired While Being Brought to Raleigh.
The tragic death of a mother and her eighteen months old baby, the serious injury of her husband and her three year old son, who were riding over a grade crossing of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad near Kittrell on a one-horse buggy, late yesterday afternoon, was caused when No. 3, a through New York to Jacksonville passenger train, squarely struck the buggy, shattering it to atoms, frightfully mauling the horse.
The train, which was six minutes late, according to witnesses, was going at full speed. Luther Stone, 35 years old, the husband and the baby, which he held in his arms, were carried on the pilot of the engine, where they were found when it stopped, about 400 feet from the crossing. Stone was injured seriously, his right arm having been broken below the elbow. He had ugly cuts about the head, and bruises on his body. He was unconscious. He suffered from shock. Doctors said he was not injured internally. The boy was injured but slightly. While in a serious condition, Stone's chances of recovery are excellent.

The Stone home is about four miles northeast of Kittrell, and the family was on its way to the residence of James Hunt, one and a half miles north of Kittrell. Hunt is Mrs. Stone's uncle. The accident occurred in close proximity to the journey's end.

Mrs. Stone was hurled under the train and her body was dragged full 400 feet before the engine was stopped. It was mutilated beyond recognition.
Spain has mobilized her army and we may now expect some more moonlight bull fights.

PREPARING TO RETALIATE.
Long-haired chap who walked into the general store at Arvada asked, "Do you sell stale eggs?"
"No," said the grocer with a smile, "but I've got some."
"Well, give me all you've got," said the stranger.
The grocer, relates Field and Fair, as he bundled up the eggs, laughed and said, "I guess you're going to see Hamlet tonight at the opera house."
"No," said the stranger grimly. "I'm going to play Hamlet tonight at the opera house."
"In my story I'll tell a story, Of a soldier good and brave, Who died upon the field of battle His country's flag to save."
"A soldier stood on the battlefield. His weary watch to keep. While pale moon spread her mantle o'er, The souls that 'neath her sleep."
CONGRESS SHOULD BE CONVENED.
Logically, in the light of the several warnings transmitted by the Washington government to Germany, we sought to be making war against that country today. Our diplomacy has led unerringly and inevitably in that direction, and it has more than once brought us to the brink of the black night into which Europe has been plunged. Once more a section of the press of the country is in full cry. They did not even await the arrival of a few facts which the London censor was willing to make available.
For weeks before his retirement from the cabinet the days of Mr. Bryan were deeply anxious and his nights were sleepless. Drugs alone, some say, gave him a few hours of rest now and then. The country, ere this, should have comprehended the reason for this. Mr. Bryan dreaded the old system, and he dreaded it for the country. It was the Arabic, we believe, that steamed away from New York a few weeks since, laden with hundreds of tons of absolute contraband, protected by several hundred bags of sand and seven American babies. There is little doubt that the Germans had the Arabic on their blacklist, and that they would have destroyed her under any and all circumstances.
The Germans have not sought to harm any American citizens. The intent is lacking. Germany is one of the few nations of the earth with which the United States has been traditionally friendly, and it is the one belligerent in this war to propose a plan for showing the utmost respect for the American flag, and for all peoples claiming the protection of that flag. It may be that the ships of the nations at war cannot be regarded as foreign soil, as many of our statesmen believe. It may be that this nation is ready to fight for the right to travel on vessels traversing naval war zones and flying the flags of belligerent nations; but we are of the opinion that an issue of import so vital and vast ought to be determined by the accredited representatives of the people.
If the people want war, then let them have it; but our rulers and governors ought to be very certain of this. The Daily News believes with Mr. Bryan that a citizenship which demands protection likewise imposes certain obligations. We doubt whether the thinking people desire to go to war for the right to take passage in vessels not flying the Stars and Stripes. There are issues which we believe that Congress ought to be asked to determine, and a special session ought to be called before any grave step is taken, such as the recall of our ambassador to Germany, or giving von Bernstorff his passports—acts that would certainly lead to war—no matter what we had to say at the time about throwing the responsibility upon Germany.—Greensboro News.

NEW YORK LETTER.
SOCIETY AT THE BAZAARS
Sweet Charity in Fashion's Name
STRIPED SILKS FAVORED.
When we think of bazaars, we naturally conjure up pictures of fancy work in the name of charity, even the wholesome odor of crullers and the picturesque white-iced cake. Mrs. Thompson on the corner made a specialty of—but bazaars have outgrown this homey atmosphere and today have become bazaars of fashion. No longer do you attend to buy Christmas gifts and goodies, but more properly to learn what to wear and when to wear it, or perchance, to show your own new dress.
Fashion Fetes in the Name Charity
Newport is the setting for some of these bazaars. Here on the spacious lawns of country homes, mannequins display the very latest modes from Paris vying in smartness with the women who come to see them. There are tableau and grand promenades and best of all you can sip tea and view them with a conscience free from guilt, for your entrance fee goes to sweet charity.

A Costume of Satin-Striped Faille Showing the New Gauntlet Cuff and Pleated Skirt.

The latter part of last week the bazaar of the season was held at the home of one of the leaders of the Newport set. In artistic tableaux, backed by Grecian summer houses, all the summer modes were reviewed and predictions made for the coming season.
Striped Faille a Favored Fabric
Every dress showed at least two materials; heavy faille silk was a favored fabric. One tall blonde mannequin wore a dress of striped satin and grosgrain silk which was particularly new and attractive. Its simplicity baffles description, its charm being in the clever use of the stripes. The skirt had a pleated lower section, kilted one might say, for it was straight and laid in deep folds from the hip to the bottom. This was cut with the stripes crosswise, while the yoke, waist, and cuffs had the stripes straight up and down. There was a sheer vest and Quaker collar of crisp white Swiss, and sleeves of black georgette crepe, making a striking contrast with the cuffs of the silk.
Skirts Short and Shorter Still.
There seemed to be no limit to the shortness of the skirt. The costume just mentioned was worn with white kid shoes and the skirt was so short that at least an inch of the stocking showed between the top of the shoe and the bottom of the skirt. Indeed, many of the mannequins looked like school girls, but shoes are fancy and skirts are obviously short to show them. Women want their money's worth. As I watched the mannequins, I could not help thinking of the little boy who went without his coat in December to show his new suspenders.
Braid Introduced as Hat Trimming
There were many new things introduced. Perhaps the most interesting notion was Hercules braid as hat trimming. There is no question of its popularity as dress trimming, but for hats, the idea was certainly unique. It was used in three flat bands on the velvet brim of a sailor, while the crown was white satin trimmed with beads. This was sent by a New York modist.

GOVERNOR HARRIS CONFINED TO BED; RESULT OF STRAIN.
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 22.—Gov. Nat E. Harris was confined to his bed today, suffering from an attack of indigestion, and his physicians declined to allow callers to see him. The governor felt the strain of a session of the legislature recently closed and for several days has not been in the best of health. His work attendant upon the calling of an extra session of the legislature and preparations for investigation of the Frank lynching came within a few days after the regular legislative session ended.
OF FIRST IMPORTANCE.
The teacher was examining the class in physiology. "Mary, you tell us," she asked, "what is the function of the stomach?"
"The function of the stomach," the little girl answered, "is to hold up the petticoat."—Buffalo Express.

The woman who thinks the atrocities of war are just too terrible for anything will go away for the Summer and leave the cat with a jar of condensed milk and no can opener.—Washington Times.

If the German count is right some of the Russian soldiers must have been captured twice.

One Experience Convinced Me of its Value
"One of our salesmen demonstrated the value of the Long Distance Telephone to us. He was at Huntsville, Ala., and upon his own responsibility put in Long Distance calls for fifteen merchants within a radius of several hundred miles.
"In less than one hour he had sold 2100 barrels of flour at a total cost to us of less than six dollars.
"Since then we have applied the Long Distance Bell Telephone to every feature of our business with most profitable results. The service is fine, the rates are reasonable and there is more satisfaction in one Long Distance Telephone talk than in half a dozen letters"

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE
After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bollock Came Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.
Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.
The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand and I gave up in despair.
At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without stopping, and am doing all my work."
If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

WILSON CONSIDERS COTTON PROBLEM.
Administration Will Go The Limit For Relief of Growers of Staple.
Washington, Aug. 23.—The cotton situation is giving the President and members of his cabinet much concern. The making of the Southern staple contraband will call forth a protest from Secretary Lansing but that will not stop Great Britain.
W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, conferred with the President today and will make the policy of the Administration known in a speech in Alabama next week. The President may give his views in a letter to Mr. Harding.
Secretary McAdoo announced tonight that he would send $30,000,000 in the South to be loaned to cotton farmers by the Reserve Banks.
The situation will not be as bad as it was last Fall, for the exchange is open, and a price will be paid for cotton every day in the week, for weeks last year there was no market at all.
The Administration is going to go just as far as it can under the law to help move the cotton crop.
STOP MOVING PICTURES OF LEO FRANK'S BODY.
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 23.—Exhibitions of the moving pictures made of the body of Leo M. Frank as it swung from a limb of a tree near Marietta, August 27th, were stopped her today by the police.
The American dollar is now king of the world. So the war has made a new king without killing off any of the old ones.

AN IGNOBLE PART SAYS ROOSEVELT.

The Colonel By No Means Satisfied With the Administration.—Condemns Germany.

Thinks the United States Should Pitch in and Give the Teutons the Licking of Their Lives.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 25.—"Don't applaud unless you feel a burning sense of shame because the United States has not stood up for Belgium."

Theodore Roosevelt, former President of the United States, snapped these words tonight at a crowd at the military instruction camp during a speech in which he censured the Administration for its attitude in the European situation and strongly urged preparedness for war.

"The surest way for a Nation to invite disaster is to be rich, aggressive and unarmed," the former President said at another time in speaking of preparedness.

In another statement made at the railway station shortly before leaving for New York Colonel Roosevelt defended his criticism of the Administration's course in the present situation.

"I wish to make one comment on the statement so frequently made that we must stand behind the President," he said. "I heartily subscribe to this on condition, and only on condition, that it is followed by the statement so long as the President stands by the country."

Shortly before leaving here for New York tonight Colonel Roosevelt made the following statement:

"I wish to make one comment on the statement so frequently made that we must stand by the President. I heartily subscribe to this on condition, and only on condition, that it is followed by the statement so long as the President stands by the country."

"It is defensible to state that we stand by the country, right or wrong. It is indefensible for any free man in a free Republic to state that he will stand by any official right or wrong, or by any ex-official. Even as regards the country, while I believe that once war is on, every citizen should stand by the land, yet, in any crisis which may or may not lead to war, the prime duty of the citizen is by custom and advice been, even against what he may know to be the majority opinion of his fellow citizens, to insist that the Nation take the right course of action.

"There is even a stronger reason for demanding of every loyal citizen that after the President has been given ample time to act rightly and has either not acted at all or has acted wrongly, that he shall be made to feel that the citizens whom he was elected to serve, demand that he be loyal to the honor and to the interests of the land.

"The President has the right to have said of him nothing but what is true, he should have sufficient time to make his policy clear. But as regards supporting him in all public policy, and above all in international policy, the right of any President is only to demand public support because he does well, because he serves the public well and not merely because he is President.

"Presidents differ just like other folks. No man could effectively stand by President Lincoln unless he stood against President Buchanan. If after the firing on Sumter, President Lincoln had in a public speech said that the believers in the Union were too proud to fight, and if instead of acting there had been three months of admirable elocutionary correspondence with Jefferson Davis, by mid-summer the friends of the Union would have followed Horace Greeley's advice to let erring sisters go in peace, for peace at that day was put above righteousness by some mistake of souls, just as it is at the present day.

"The men who believe in peace at any price or in substituting all-inclusive treaties for an army and navy should instantly leave the country. If he stays here, they more than make up for him, and he is not worth defending. Let him get out of the country as quickly as possible. To treat elocution as a substitute for action, to rely upon high-sounding words unless backed by deeds is proof of a mind that dwells only in the realm of shadow and shame."

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt in an address tonight at the military instruction camp here, declared that for 13 months the United States had "played an ignoble part among the Nations," in that it had "tamely submitted to seeing the weak, whom we had covenanted to protect, wronged" and "had seen our own men, women and children murdered on the high seas without action on our part."

The former President condemned the Government for having "not taken the smallest step in the way of preparedness to defend our own rights." Germany, he condemned as "utterly brutal and ruthless in its disregard of international morality" and declared that it "would be a base abandonment of morality" for American manufacturers of munitions of war to refuse to make shipments "for the use of the armies that are striving to restore Belgium to its own people."

Munition makers who refused to make such shipments should be put, he said, on a "roll of dishonor." He added that they should be encouraged so that we may be able to hold our own when the hour of peril comes to us in our turn."

His speech follows in part:

"Free citizens should be allowed to do their own fighting. The professional pacifist is as much out of place as in a democracy as is the poltroon himself and he is no better citizen than the poltroon. Probably no body of citizens in the United States during the last five years, have wrought so efficiently for National decadence and international degradation, as the professional pacifists, the peace-at-any-price men, who have tried to teach our people that silly all-inclusive arbitration treaties and the utterance of fatuous platitudes at peace congresses are substitutes for adequate military preparedness.

"Under the conditions of modern warfare it is the wildest nonsense to talk of men springing to arms in mass unless they have been taught how to act in mass and how to use the arms to which they spring. For 13 months America has played an ignoble part among the Nations. We have tamely submitted to seeing the weak, whom we had covenanted to protect, wronged. We have seen our own men, women and children murdered on the high seas without action on our part. Yet these 13 months have made evident the lamentable fact that force is more dominant now in the affairs of the world than ever before; that the most powerful of modern military Nations is utterly brutal and ruthless in its disregard of international morality, and that righteousness divorced from force is utterly futile.

"The Government has not paid a dollar for your direct expenses. Inasmuch as we as a Nation have done nothing whatever for National defense during the past 13 months, the time when during all our history it was most necessary to prepare for self-defense, it is well that private individuals should have tried, however insufficiently, to provide some kind of substitute for proper governmental action. The army officers and enlisted men have put all good Americans under a fresh debt by what they have done in connection with this camp; and we owe much to the private citizens who have advanced the money without which the camp could not have been held. But you men have had to buy your own uniforms; you have had to spend money in 50 different ways; in other words, you have had to pay for the privilege of learning how to serve your country.

"This means that for every one man like yourselves who can afford to come here there are a hundred equally good American citizens, equally patriotic, who would like to come and are unable to. It is undemocratic that the young farmer, that the young hired man on a farm, that the hardworking clerk or mechanic or day-laborer, all of whom wish to serve the country as much as you do and are as much entitled to the benefit of this camp as you are, should be unable to attend such a camp. They cannot attend it unless the Nation does as Switzerland has done and gives the opportunity for every generous and right-thinking American to learn by say six months actual service in one or two years how to do his duty to the country if the need arises—and the Americans who are not right-thinking should be made to serve anyhow for a democracy has full right to the service of its citizens.

"Camps like this are schools of civic virtue as well as of military efficiency. They should be universal and obligatory for all our young men. Every man worth his salt will wish to come to them. As for the professional pacifists and the poltroons and college issres who organize peace-at-any-price societies, and the mere money-getters and mere money-spenders, they should be made to understand that they have got to render whatever service the country demands. They must be made to submit to training in doing their duty. Then if in the event of war, they prove unfit to fight, at any rate they can be made to dig trenches and kitchen sinks, or do whatever else a debauch of indulgence in professional pacifism has left them fit to do."

"Camps like this are the best possible antidotes to hyphenated Americanism. * * * The events of the past year have shown us that in any crisis the hyphenated American is an active force against America, an active force for wrongdoing. The effort to hoist two flags on the same flagpole always means that one flag is hoisted underneath; and the hyphenated American invariably hoists the flag of the United States underneath. We must all be Americans and nothing else. * * *

"There exists no finer body of American citizens in this country than those citizens of German birth or descent who are in good faith Americans and nothing else. * * * The professional German-American has shown himself, within the last 12 months to be an enemy to this country as well as to humanity. The recent exposures of the way in which these German-Americans have worked together with the emissaries of the German Government—often by direct corruption—against the integrity of American institutions and against America doing its international duty, should arouse scornful indignation in every American worth calling such. The leaders among the professional German-Americans have preached and practiced what comes perilously near to treason against the United States.

"Under the Hague Convention it was our bounden duty to take whatever action was necessary to prevent and if not to prevent, then to undo, the hideous wrong that was done to Belgium. We have shirked this duty. We have shown a spirit so abject, that Germany has deemed it safe to kill our women and children on the high seas. As for the export of munitions of war, it would be a base abandonment of morality to refuse to make these shipments. Such a refusal is proposed only to favor the Nation that sank the Lusitania and the Arabic and committed the crime against Belgium, the greatest international crime committed since the close of the Napoleonic contests a century ago. It is not a lofty thing, on the contrary it is an evil thing, to practice a timid and selfish neutrality between right and wrong. It is wrong for an individual. It is still more wrong for a Nation. But it is worse in the name of neutrality, to favor the Nation that has done evil. * * * Exactly the same morality should obtain internationally that obtains nationally. It is right for a private firm to furnish arms to the policeman who puts down the thug, the burglar, the white-slaver and the blackhand. It is wrong to furnish the blackhand, the burglar and the white-slaver with weapons to be used against the policeman. The analogy holds true in international life. Germany has herself been the greatest manufacturer of munitions of war to be applied to belligerents. * * * Let us furnish munitions to the men who, showing courage we have not shown, wish to rescue Belgium from subjection and spoliation and degradation. And let us encourage munition makers so that we may be able to hold our own when the hour of peril comes to our turn, as ourselves too "nause" to speak a word on behalf of the weak who are wronged, and too slothful and lazy to prepare to defend ourselves against
