VILNA FALLS BEFORE ADVANCE OF VON HINDENBURG'S ARMIES

Russian City of 170,000 Population On Warsaw-Petrograd Railway, Which Has Been Object of Teuton Offensive, Is Occupied By Germans, Berlin Announces

MOSCOVITE FORCES NOW NEARLY ARE SURROUNDED.

Capture of Key to Position on Strategic Line Expected to Be Followed by Evacuation by Czar's Troops of Dvina; Nearly Empty Shell.

Berlin, Sept. 19, via London.—The Russian city of Vilna, at which the armies of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg had been driving and which was stubbornly defended until nearly surrounded by hostile forces, has been occupied by the Germans, it was officially announced by German army headquarters today.

Vilna, a city of some 170,000 inhabitants on the Warsaw-Petrograd Railway line, has been the object of a German offensive movement for weeks past in the course of the widespread operations of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg on the Northern end of the extended battle line in the East. After the fall of Kovno, to the Northwest of Grodno, to the Southwest, no fortress barrier remained before the Germans moving on Vilna, but stubborn defensive measures were taken by the Russians to hold back the Teutonic advance, Vilna being the Northern key position on the important railway line running Southeastward to Rovno, which the Russians were striving to retain.

WELKER-SHOFFNER.

Last night at 9 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fields, on Whittington street, Miss Millian Myrtle Welker became the bride of Charles A. Shoffner, Rev. Shoford Peeler officiating. The wedding was a quiet affair, only a few friends of the contracting parties being in attendance. The bride is a daughter of W. A. Welker, who lives in the southern part of the county, while the groom is a merchant of Climax. Mr. and Mrs. Shoffner will make their home at the latter place. A host of friends here will wish them every happiness.

ROCK SHAPE OF CHILD'S FOOT.

Mr. J. M. McCorkle, the cashier of the Davis and Wiley bank, has a curiosity picked up on his property on the mocksville road. It is a rock in the shape of a child's foot, an exact reproduction in every detail. Experts are different as to its composition, many thinking that it is the foot of a child petrified, some thinking that it dates back to Indian days. However, the case may be, the rock is a perfect foot of a child.—Salisbury Post.

WEDDING AT MEBANE.

Miss Bernice Corene Bright the Bride of James Henry Brown.

Mebane, Sept. 18.—An unusually beautiful wedding was solemnized in the Baptist church of this city at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday, September 14th, the contracting parties being two popular and well known young people, Miss Bernice Corene Bright, the lovely and so universally esteemed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bright, and James Henry Brown, a prominent business man of Winston Salem.

The spacious church was thronged to its capacity. The chancel was elegantly decorated with evergreens, potted plants and golden rods. As the congregation awaited the processional Mrs. W. T. Hunt, organist, sister of the bride, rendered choice selections, Lemares Audantino in D. Spring Time Sketches, Traumeri and Schubert's Serenade, after which the approach of the bridal party was heralded by the joyous notes of Lohengrin's wedding march.

First came the minister, Clyde Turner, of Greensboro, who took his place at the altar then came the groom and his best man Ashmond Patef, of Greensboro, who marched slowly down the aisle and stopped at the side of the altar. Then came the ring bearer, Alma Farrington, carrying the ring on a fern leaf in a cut-glass plate (which is an heirloom over 100 years old) and took her place near the groom, next came the dame of honor, Mrs. A. L. Caudle, of Louisville, Ky., gowned in soft pink silk with pink satin bodice and wearing black boat shaped hat trimmed with pink roses and carrying pink carnations. Then came little Miss Elizabeth Nicholson, dressed in white lingerie with pink sash and hair ribbon strewn with rose petals down the aisle. The bride handsomely gowned in a midnight blue going away suit, with hat, gloves and shoes to match and wearing a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lily of the valley, came down the aisle on the arm of her sister, Miss Minnie Bright, who was handsomely gowned in pink chiffon over taffeta, wearing a black hat trimmed with pink roses and carrying white carnations and met softened notes of the organ the bridal at the altar when immediately to the softened notes of the organ the bridal service began and was mutually spoken, Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

The couple left immediately for Greensboro, where a reception was given in their honor after which they left for a bridal tour through the Northern cities.

The bride is an attractive and cultured young lady. She is a gifted musician, she has many friends who extend to her many good wishes. The groom is a business man of Winston-Salem and is well known in the social circles of the state. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pate and daughter, Alma, of Greensboro; Ashmond Pate, of Greensboro; J. P. Templeton, Selma; Mrs. Farrington, Apex; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hunt, Apex and Mrs. Caudle of Louisville, Ky.

APPRECIATION.

We desire to express our deep appreciation and hearty thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the sickness and death of our daughter, Mrs. R. A. Coble. We pray God's richest blessings upon each one.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. F. D. King, evangelist, and Mr. E. L. Wolslagel, singer, arrived in the city Sunday and began a two-weeks' evangelistic campaign at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. The fame of these evangelistic workers was already established prior to their coming, they having been here in a similar meeting a few years ago, and very great crowds are attending the meetings. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity at the service Sunday night. Rev. Mr. King is a very fluent speaker, and his sermons are characterized by practical thoughts that are expressed to his hearers in a very forceful and comprehensive manner. Mr. Wolslagel, with his almost unparalleled ability as a soloist and Gospel song leader, is leading the song services with great success. His solos are most beautifully rendered and create a most effective impression on the minds of the people.

The services begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock each evening. A special service for the women of Burlington will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) morning at 9:00 o'clock. Noon-day services are being held at the various shops and mills this week.

2,000,000 TURKS UNDER ARMS, SAYS SULTAN'S WAR MINISTER

Soldiers, He Tells Berlin Correspondent, Are Indifferent Whether They Fight British or Italians; Latter, They Say, Are Too Busy With Austrians to Give Time to Gallipoli.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—Via London, Sept. 20.—Enver Pasha, Turkish minister of war, is quoted by the Constantinople correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt as saying that Turkey now has more than 2,000,000 men under arms. When the correspondent expressed astonishment, Enver Pasha replied with more exact figures.

"Last month we had 1,940,000," said the minister. "Now Cadres since formed bring the number to over 2,000,000."

When asked how this was possible, Enver Pasha smilingly replied:

"At the opening of the war our German comrades spoke of a maximum of 800,000. We figured on paper 700,000 as a maximum, but we are now thrice as strong."

The minister added that the mobilization affected only men up to the age of 45 and did not include the youngest of the 1915 class.

"Does your excellency believe that Bulgaria will now strike?" asked the correspondent, adding "The Bulgarian minister told me today that he knew nothing of impending war."

"Nor I either," replied Enver Pasha.

The minister predicted that the Italian would not come to Gallipoli, having quite enough to do at home, but the Turks, he said, are quite indifferent whether they fight the British or the Italians.

The correspondent asked whether German troops would be desired at Gallipoli if the way were opened whether there was any truth in reports that Turkey would not welcome German soldiers. The minister denied this emphatically.

"Our German comrades are bound to us by Great common dangers," Enver Pasha is quoted as saying, "and are particularly bound to us since the arrival of German submarines; but we need no further troops either here, in Egypt or elsewhere."

IMPORTANT.

In view of the ever increasing consumption of inflammable liquids, the question of "Safety" is of vital importance. Storage and distributing installations must be made safe and the all too frequent explosions must cease.

Since the advent of the automobile and other gasoline driven machinery, the wholesale use of gasoline in cleaning clothes, and the other general uses of gasoline, the product has become common, and the public has, in a sense, disregarded the danger of gasoline explosions and "familiarity has bred contempt," so to speak. But the fact remains that the ratio of loss of life and property has increased according to the amount of gasoline carelessly stored and used.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT HOUSE DRESS

With its Apron in Middy or Bungalow Style—The Pantalette Skirt.

Our modern housewife, be she bride or matron, does not prepare breakfast in a be-ribboned and be-ruffled morning robe, or dinner in a passe-partout frock. She delights in her trim morning dress, with open throat, short skirt, and sleeves, developed in some fresh material which may be washed every Monday morning. Her hair is drawn back daintily and becomingly and often confined under a cap of the same material as the housedress, to protect the hair from dust or cooking odors.

The Material of the Housedress.

Gingham, chambray and percale are the staple fabrics for these dresses, but someone who desired to simplify matters still further, decided that plain white sailer no quicker than starched gingham or chambray, that soft, white cotton crepe, which washes so easily, requires no ironing, does not wrinkle, and is fresher looking, was more practical for these dresses than the old-time fabrics which require starch and careful laundering.

Of course, many an old-time housewife laughed at the idea and considered the very thought of housework in white ridiculous, but many have taken

Bungalow or All-Enveloping Aprons

These large all-enveloping aprons play no small part in the house-keeper's scheme of things. Crepe is also being used considerably for these aprons, but gingham still holds first place; this is a garment that requires a bit of crispness to make it look fresh. Percale, striped, or patterned in some conventionalized design, is attractive, too, and there are a number of other wash fabrics, thin duck, for instance, that are used.

Pockets and Trimmings.

Large, roomy pockets are features of both dresses and aprons. They come in very handy for carrying a dust cloth, a short handled duster or whisk broom, a pair of shears, or some other article to be used at various times during the morning; besides being useful, they break the severity of the dress and render it more becoming.

Buttons are used to trim these dresses, too; but they must be a washable button—bone or crocheted. Pearl buttons, which are not removable, are apt to break when the garment is laundered. The large pearl or bone buttons, however, the shanks of which may be shipped through buttonholed cyclers, secured with a bar, and removed when the frock goes to the tub, are the height of the practical.

BRYAN MAY GO AS PEACE MESSENGER.

Washington, Sept. 17.—William Jennings Bryan announced tonight that he had taken under advisement a suggestion from editors of foreign language newspapers published in the United States that he make a trip to Europe as a private peace envoy to the warring powers.

In a statement to a committee of the editors, who, headed by Dr. William Fargo, had urged him to undertake the task, Mr. Bryan indicated that he might at least visit neutral European countries in the hope of finding there information to aid America in "the maintaining of neutrality and the prevention of a preparedness that provokes rather than prevents war."

PHILOSOPHICAL SAMMY.

It was never a happy day for Sammy's painstaking father when his young hopeful's school report arrived at his Boston home.

As for Sammy himself—well, he was a philosopher.

The awful day had come once more and father was in the lowest depths of misery. "Sammy, Sammy," he groaned, "why is it that you are at the bottom of your class again?"

What does it matter, father, whether I am at the top or the bottom?" queried that wise youth. "They teach the same at both ends, you know."

GERMANS CAPTURE ANOTHER CITY.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—The capture of the Russian city of Pinsk, about 100 miles east of Brast Litovsk, was announced today at army headquarters. SCHOOL'S PATRONS HELP TO BEAUTIFY GROUND.

Lucama, Sept. 17.—On Thursday of last week, the county superintendent Charles L. Coon, chairman of county board of education; Nathan Bass, a bit of crispness to make it look fresh. Percale, striped, or patterned in some conventionalized design, is attractive, too, and there are a number of other wash fabrics, thin duck, for instance, that are used.

With the prospects bright for a large and successful year, the Lucama high school will begin a new year on Monday, September 20th. The teachers who will be in charge have all received special normal training. Supt. J. S. Edwards attended summer school at Columbia University, New York. The names of teachers are Misses Agnes Warren, Helen A. Jones, Clara Whitley, Laura M. Faison, Marie Medford, and Dixie Lamm.

A WISE BOY.

"I wonder what we're here in the world for?" asked that little boy, who seemed to be suffering from some childish grievance.

"We are put here to help others, of course," answered the little girl, with an air of superior wisdom.

"Um," exclaimed the boy, disdainfully, "then what are the others put here for?"—Tidbits.

WRECK OF AMMUNITION PLANT BLOW TO RUSSIA.

Great Factory at Okhta Was Destroyed in April Through German Treachery.

London, Sept. 15.—The Daily News today says it was through German treachery that the great Russian ammunition factory at Okhta, a suburb of Petrograd, was blown up some months ago. Okhta was the only ammunition factory in Russia.

"This had a determining influence on the Russian military situation" the Daily News says, "as the allies had to come to the rescue by the circuitous Archangel route. Thousands of workmen were killed and the destruction of the plant caused such an extreme dearth of ammunition that nothing could be done against the German General Von Mackensen's artillery.

"Russia, quite crippled, had to fight for time and the striking power of France and Great Britain was checked. All thought of the proposed great spring offensive had to be given up and the chief energies of allies bent to the task of supplying Russia with munitions, which suddenly had become to her a matter of life and death."

(A Petrograd dispatch April 30th last, said several persons had been killed and many injured and much material damage done as the result of an explosion in the Okhta ammunition factory. It was added that several workshops were destroyed, but that the stores of loaded shells were not affected and that the work in the factory would be resumed in a few days).

Popularity of the Smock

The gardening fad, which took a strong hold upon the fancy of the city dweller and the suburbanite, this summer, was responsible for the introduction of the smock. It has become decidedly popular with housekeepers and promises to find a permanent place in the wardrobe. These smocks are fashioned of dark blue linen, chambray, duck, and similar materials, often trimmed with smocking in contrasting thread. They are especially practical to slip on over an afternoon frock when there is some slight task to be performed which might possibly result in a spot or stain on the gown.

The woman who delights in regilding a picture frame, or brightening up a piece of furniture, will also find them convenient, as they are generally made up in somewhat heavier material than the regulation apron, and, therefore, offer more protection.

ELIHU ROOT, ORATOR.

(From the New York Evening Post). Senator Root on Monday added another to the list of powerful and persuasive speeches which he has delivered in recent years. By it the delegates to the convention were as deeply moved as were the members of the Senate when Mr. Root spoke against Lorimer's title to a seat, or urged the repeal of the Panama free-tolls act. In his oratory, on such occasions, there are elements which mark it off from that of almost all our public men. It is totally devoid of rhetorical ornament. Mr. Root speaks as straight as Mark Anthony. Now and then one comes upon a passage that pierces by its intensity of thought and feeling; but for the most part his speeches are little but close and sinewy reasoning, clothed in simple language and subtly touched with emotion. Yet the impress they make is profound. No other speaker so often has "changed votes" by what he says. This may be partly due to Mr. Root's habit of letting a debate run on until both sides are exhausted—along with their hearers—and then intervening with such fresh vigor and personal weight that he seems to make an end of controversy.

BEFORE HIS TIME.

In his interesting book of memories, "Sixty Years in the Wilderness," Sir Henry Lucy has an amusing story about Sir Francis Burnand. Sir Henry and Sir Francis were talking together at a big function when a very important looking guest arrayed in a brilliant uniform came up and effusively shook hands with Burnand, who appeared surprised at the fact.

"I see you don't know me from Adam," said the stranger. "My dear sir," answered Burnand gravely, "I don't know Adam."

AN OPEN LETTER.

Editor of the Daily News:

"I herewith hand you an open letter addressed to our two senators and the representatives in Congress; and to the Hon. Hoke Smith of Georgia.

I thank you in advance for correcting this manuscript and printing the same, so that the views of the average man and small farmer of the south may be made known to our public men and administration at Washington, D. C.

I also beg to say that your editorials along this line are the only ones that appeared in any of our daily papers that in any measure fit with the views of our citizenship.

AN OPEN LETTER TO OUR HONORABLE SENATORS; F. M. SIMMONS, LEE S. OVERMAN, OUR REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS AND THE HON. HOKE SMITH OF GEORGIA:

Gentlemen: The citizens of North Carolina and the south beg to ask you why it is that our government can use our navy for the protection of the Standard Oil company, and a few other adventures in Haiti and Mexico and are powerless or indifferent to lift the embargo placed by England on our commerce, notably cotton?

Is it not a fact that England would be powerless to interfere with our foreign trade if we saw proper to convey any part, or all of our exports with vessels from our navy? Is it not a fact that we could do this without any additional cost? As we have a thing in the world for our navy to do, except piddle around Haiti and Mexico as above mentioned.

Are we going to sit still and let England have our cotton for seven or eight cents again this year, while the world would be glad to get it for 15 or 20 cents. While all we have to do is to see that the highest bidder gets it?

Is it not a fact that we have the world's market in our hands if we only close our fist on it?

England and her allies would not dare to stop a cargo of cotton or anything else if it was under convoy of one of our ships, as they are too dependent on our foodstuff and war munitions to stop these and thereby cut off their supplies. England by her high handed treatment of our commerce has lost the sympathy of the people of the United States, (if they ever had any). And now while she claims she is not expecting, does not want, or need, any favors from us, she is making us bend the humble knee to all her desires.

We have no quarrel with Germany, if a few of our fathers and fatter purses care to put their lives in jeopardy on belligerent vessels after having been fully warned, that is their lookout, and if they are on some vessel that is sunk the people feel that they are only getting what is coming to them.

Now as to the cotton situation, does any man with a thimble full of sense believe that the free millions that Secretary McAdoo has placed and will place in the national banks of south will do the average farmer any benefit? He will have to borrow the free money from the banks at from eight to 10 per cent interest and put up 10 bales of cotton to get a loan on eight bales at six cents a pound, and with the interest, insurance, and storage, his cotton will bring him in less than five cents per pound. That will not pay debts very far. Will he not reason that he had better let the exporters have it for England for eight or eight and one-half cents per pound to sell to the balance of Europe at 15 or 20 cents? That is the situation to the average man.

Why is it that we kick up and howl at a monopoly of any kind, while we have the government fatherhood national bank with us? What is the answer?

Would not the average man in this state be glad to make bond and loan that money to farmers on his cotton at three or even two per cent? I could handle one or two millions, easy?

Why is it that our national debt has always been a liability when it should have been an asset? When our lawmakers were in labor over the Regional Reserve Bank act, if they had really wished to help the common people which of course we doubt why did they not embody in that bill a clause providing for all future bond issue that they be in denominations of five dollars and up, so that they would circulate through the common people at a cost of only the interest on the bonds instead of through the national banks at a cost of from eight to fifteen per cent?

How many of the two and one-half millions of people in North Carolina ever saw a government bond? Outside of the bank officials of the State I doubt you can find 100.

Now, gentlemen, kindly let your constituency hear from you along these lines through the Daily News, as they feel that all the above questions are pertinent and should be fully considered and discussed, and that the cotton questions should be settled now and discussed afterward.

This letter is especially addressed to the Hon. F. M. Simmons, United States Senator, Lee S. Overman, United States Senator, Claude Kitchin, member of Congress, Humbal L. Godwin, member of Congress and Hoke Smith of Georgia.

METZ PREDICTS DEMOCRATIC DEFEAT.

Herman A. Metz, former comptroller of the city of New York and member of the last House of Representatives, is not an Optimistic Democrat. He believes the Democrats will be beaten next year in New York and perhaps in the nation.

"In New York the business people are against the Democrats, because they are dissatisfied with the national administration," said Mr. Metz, the Raleigh. "Elihu Root is the biggest man in New York State and perhaps the greatest statesman in this country. The Democrats have alienated the German vote by their open opposition to Germany in the European war, and poor business conditions have hurt the party everywhere. There's no use trying to disguise facts."

"Representative Fitzgerald will quit Congress if he is elected to the bench in Brooklyn," added Mr. Metz. "He has given fourteen of the best years of his life to the service of his district, State and party in the House of Representatives, and he deserves to be elevated to the bench, where he would be an ornament and an able judge. If not elected, then he can come back to Congress. In the Sixty-fifth Congress it will not make much difference whether he comes back or not, because it is probable he would have to give up his chairmanship of the appropriations committee, for the House will likely be Republican."

Mr. Metz has been trying to get the allied governments to permit the shipment of certain drugs from Germany to the United States. He got the British government to consent, but France has objected, he said, to the shipment.

Ten newspaper men from Canada recently enlisted in the English army. The fighting will soon be over, if their judgment is good.

MAN, HIS WIFE AND 2 DAUGHTERS SLAIN.

Mississippi Family Found Dead in Farmhouse; Throats Cut With Razor.

Hattieburg, Miss., Sept. 16.—James N. Lee, his wife and two young daughters, were found dead in a farmhouse near here today. Their throats had been slashed, apparently with a razor.

Lee's home is in Clyde, Miss. He had gone to the farm, which he owned, to inspect the property and had taken his family with him. The bodies were found by his sister, who went to the farmhouse to visit him. Preliminary investigation by authorities gave no clue to the slayers.

Lee was a member of a family long prominent in this part of Mississippi. He was about 35 years old and his wife was about 20.

Woman Finally Recovers From Nervous Breakdown

Impoverished nerves destroy many people before their time. Often before a sufferer realizes what the trouble is, he is on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. It is of the utmost importance to keep your nervous system in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Rosa Bonner, 825 N. 10th St., Birmingham, Ala., says:

"I have been suffering with nervous prostration for nine or ten years. Have tried many of the best doctors in Birmingham, but they all failed to reach my case. I would feel as if I was smothering; finally I went into convulsions. My little girl saw Dr. Miles' Nervine advertised in the papers and I at once began to take it. I continued to take it for some time and now I am well."

If you are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion, weakness, inability to sleep; if you are in a general run down condition and unable to bear your part of the daily grind of life, you need something to strengthen your nerves. You may not realize what is the matter with you, but that is no reason why you should delay treatment.

Dr. Miles' Nervine has proven its value in nervous disorders for thirty years, and merits a trial, no matter how many other remedies have failed to help you. Sold by all druggists. If first bottle fails to benefit your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

All hands down the middle,
Whoop her up—she's going now—
Hear that good old fiddle!

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. DON'T STAY BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

"Dodson's Liver Tonic" Will Clean Your Stagnant Liver Better Than Calomel and Can Not Sicken.

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salivates; calomel injures your liver. If you are bilious; feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out; if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tonic instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tonic is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful; full of energy, vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you get your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tonic because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick. I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tonic to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist about me.

SOBER, QUIET, INNOCENT CAMELS.

The sober, quiet, innocent-looking camels are always objects of no little interest. With the herd in the Robinson Famous Shows, which are billed to appear at BURLINGTON, N. C., Saturday, September 25th, are to be found some of the finest specimens ever exhibited in this or any other country, including the only living baby wild black camel known to man, its mother having died upon its birth. While a party of hunters were in the high and cold regions near the lake of Lobmar last December, in search of rare animals for the Robinson Famous Shows, the men sighted a small number of wild camels, and, singling one from the number, succeeded in capturing it. Never having seen the like before, the collectors became fired with the desire to show them to the Robinson Famous Show patrons, but were not successful in showing the original of the capture, but a baby camel, that bids fair to be as vicious as its mother. The beast is now giving its keepers no end of trouble, and all kinds of difficulties are daily encountered. Scientists and all students of natural history will find this untamable quadruped an interesting study.

CHANGE.

A Cleveland party went out auto-mobiling the other night and had an unpleasant mishap, says The Plain Dealer. It occurred on the Euclid road not far from Willoughby. A four-footed creature of intensified odor got in the way of the car. Nobody in the auto noticed the impact, but everybody noticed the appalling result.

The man who drove the car told a friend about it the next day. "Terrible," the friend agreed.

PROMOTING SCHEMES.

It is a fearful and useless waste that is going on. In one year the United States Government has arrested and indicted 529 promotion sharks, most of whom will be sent to jail. The authorities claim that the fraudulent schemes stopped cost the public $77,000,000, and many times this sum was taken by those who escaped the clutches of the law. At a conservative estimate the sum secured from American women every year by unscrupulous promoters must amount above fifty million dollars; and most of this comes from widow and working women.

It is worth the effort to try to stop this loss. The Government is trying to stop it by suppressing fraudulent practices; a more effective method is to try and stop it at its source. A gear check will be placed on it if women investors will observe the following rules:

1. The first consideration in making an investment is the safety of the capital.
2. Six per cent. and even five is a liberal return for the use of money.
3. The higher interest return, the less safe the investment.
4. Before parting with your money, find out under what conditions you can get it back in case you need it.
5. Safe investments are not extensively advertised; they sell on their merits.
6. Never buy extravagantly advertised stock.
7. The personal magnetism of a stock salesman does not add one cent to the value of the stock.
8. Investment is a science practiced by experts. Get the benefit of their experience.
9. Never invest hurriedly; get all the information you can.—Building Association News.

WOULD CAGE STENOGRAPHERS.

Only Way to Keep Off "Old Sinners," Says Mrs. Smith.

(Boston Dispatch.)

At the meeting of the Women's Homestead Association here today Mrs. Charlotte Smith, the president, demanded that girl stenographers be kept in wire cages while at work.

"Just as soon as his stenographer enters the office her employer ogles her, draws out box of candy and gets closer," said Mrs. Smith. "A young girl can't do anything but hear it. Many a girl is afraid on account of her position.

"These old sinners take advantage of it. It's got to stop. I would have a law passed that no man can have a female stenographer in his office without a wire cage surrounding her."

Mrs. Frank W. Page suggested that if wives gave their husbands a little more affection wire cages would not be necessary.

HORSE STEP KILL CHILD.

Louisburg, Sept. 17.—The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Place, Annie Newell, died Thursday evening about three hours after being stepped on by a horse. The little girl, who was about three years old, had run out to meet her mother, who had been out driving, and in some manner got between the wheels so that she was knocked down when the horse took a few steps backwards, bringing her body under the hoofs with fatal results.

Perhaps we have taken things too seriously as the crises have arrived, periodically. We shared the alarm which the country seemed to feel. We could understand and the world could of course understand, a state of war. But we have been unable to understand a diplomacy which, over a period of months, has constantly promised a war which never came. Ocean liners engaged in the munitions trade, and under instructions to resist capture and sometimes armed are not innocent merchantmen. Our diplomacy holds that they are. That, in our opinion, is where the fatal mistake was made. We believe there has never been a time when Germany has been willing to grant everything the people of this country need, and every clear and unmistakable right. There are very many things, on the other hand, which we need and which the Administration has earnestly prayed for under the law, that England has been unwilling to grant, has not granted, and perhaps never will grant. The Germans have shown for the American flag as it has flown over such vessels as the New York, the highest respect, even when the passenger list included men who were on their way abroad to help the Allies. In doing that, we believe that Germany has shown more respect for the Stars and Stripes than have those Americans who, having the opportunity to take passage under the flag of their country, have chosen, for some inscrutable reason, to take passage under a foreign flag.

For a long time it will be a mystery why some of the nations got into this most senseless of all wars known to history. But we believe that even Italy would have a better reason for being at war than would the United States, if we fought for the right of our people to ride in the ships operated under the direction of the admiralty of a belligerent nation. There are so many ways of serving mankind to better purpose.—Greensboro News.

The holiday traffic was at its height, and there were the usual piles of passenger's luggage on the platform of a great London terminus, says Tit-Bits. In the usual way, the porters were banging it about, while the owners mournfully looked on. Suddenly the station-master appeared, and approaching one of the most vigorous, baggage-smashing porters, shouted in stern tones: "Here what do you mean by throwing those trunks about like that?" The passengers pinched themselves to make sure that they were not dreaming, but they returned to earth when the official added: "Can't you see you're making big dents in the concrete platform?"

SUBMARINE AND AUTO. Both in Their Infancy Together and Both Have Rapidly Developed to a High Degree of Efficiency. (From The Wall Street Journal.) Thirty-two automobiles started from New York on a test run to Ardsley in 1901 and only one car finished, all the others broke down or expired en route. Today it would be surprising if one broke down and all did not finish with a perfect score. Such has been the tremendous development and perfection of the automobile in the last decade and a half. The submarine was in its infancy at the same time the automobile was in swaddling clothes. Both have developed with tremendous rapidity and models of a few years ago are now considered archaic. One would view a 1907 automobile these days with a good deal of curiosity. Certainly not much in the way of power and performance would be expected of it. For the same reason a 1907 model submarine cannot be considered in any sense representative of the present day highly developed boat. The submarine which sank in Honolulu harbor was laid down in 1907. If the layman will think of this in automobile terms, he will be less surprised at the regrettable and deplorable accident which occurred in Honolulu harbor. The designation of submarine types by letters indicates different years in which they were laid down. We are now building the P-type but the M-type is the latest model tested out and in use. There are powerful and highly efficient boats of great cruising radius and as unlike the F-type as the 1907 model automobile is unlike the present day product. Much has been said about the tremendous cruising radius of the German U boats, but our own K-type has developed a cruising radius of 5,977 miles and the later boats are yet more powerful. We are building the best submarines in the world. The British Government which recently received the first 10 constructed in Canada by the Electric Boat Company is highly pleased with them. They are the best they have in service. Congratulatory cables were received by Electric Boat officials on the handsome manner in which the boats behaved in their run across the Atlantic under their own power and in record time. The speed with which these boats were delivered astounded the British Government. Six months after the order was received they were ready for delivery where it usually requires two years to turn out a boat. The reason for this quick delivery is not a little due to the confidence which the English Government had in Electric Boat Company. British inspectors who were sent here reported that anything that got through the Electric Boat's own inspection would get through theirs and there was no use in delaying matters by having two inspections. The British inspector turned his rubber stamp over to the Company's inspectors and the wisdom of this course has been demonstrated by the speed of construction and the high degree of satisfaction that the boats have given the British Government. Now comes another important development in offensive power of submarines. The Allies have developed a new type of gun. This means that guns of much heavier caliber can be mounted on submarines and the boat can take the offensive not only with torpedoes, but with guns of such large caliber that the boat can be used as an auxiliary cruiser. The guns will be heavier than any ever before mounted on submarines. These heavy caliber submarine guns can also be mounted on the submarine chasers, the small 80-foot power boats that are being constructed for the British Government to patrol the seas around the British Isles and destroy enemy submarines. This new style naval defense and offense is surely developing by leaps and bounds. Mr. Pown's Sterling is among those who think they can come back.

CINDY'S LOGIC.

Cindy was an old black Southern "mammy," with all the lovable traits and inconsistencies of her kind. For many years she was cook in the Warren family and gave faithful and satisfactory service, says Lippincott's Magazine. One Summer the entire family was away for two months and Mrs. Warren gave Cindy a real vacation by paying her full wages for that time and giving her the keys to the well-stocked storeroom. A few days after the return of the family Cindy came bristling into Mrs. Warren's sitting room. "I want mo' wages," she announced. "Why Cindy," exclaimed the surprised mistress, "you are getting better pay than any cook I know of in a family the size of ours. You have a nice, comfortable room and good treatment. Think how kind it was of Mr. Warren to give you a long vacation with your full wages." "Dat's it," grumbled Cindy. "Mr. Warren paid me dat money fur doin' nothin'. An' now all you folks is come back for me to cook for an' wait on. An' I gets more money er I leaves."

KING AUTO.

Here are some statistical extracts from Reginald L. Foster's "I Am King Auto."

On June 1st there were 2,000,000 automobiles in the United States. Eight million Americans ride in these 2,000,000 automobiles every day. Automobiling costs the United States $1,000,000,000 annually. To run 2,000,000 cars a year takes 1,000,000,000 gallons of gas worth $130,000,000. (Here's where John D. and the Standard Oil smile expansively!)

Twenty million additional gallons of lubricating oil cost $8,000,000 a year. Tires? Twelve million of them wear out in every twelve months, and use up another $192,000,000—figuring tires at only $16 a piece.

Automobile accessories—allowing $50 to a car—calls for an outlay of $100,000,000 annually.

Garage expense, $50 a year for each car, eats up another $100,000,000 in one year.

Figuring $50 for each car (if economical repairing is done) and still another $100,000,000 is spent.

Added up it totals some $630,000,000—doesn't it? Some money.

But we've not counted the cost of the cars yet.

There were 600,000 new automobiles bought last year, costing all the way from $375 up to $10,000, some costing even more.

Call the total roughly $450,000,000. Now add it all up—just $1,080,000,000 for automobiling.

A thousand millions spent on King Auto!

Two states alone have more chauffeurs than there are soldiers and sailors serving the nation.

More money is spent on fires than for a navy.

Gasoline is greater than gunpowder.

There are 200,000 autos in New York state.

Farmers own 70,000 cars in little old New York State, by gum.

Corn-blessed Kansas has 50,000—averaging in 1914 a machine to every eighth family.

One town of only 200 population in the champion farm state of them all, Iowa, has 77 licensed machines and $3,000,000 in the village savings banks.

Two millions of cars! One to every 50 people in these United States, 17 for every railway locomotive, 28 for every passenger coach.

Placed end to end these 2,000,000 cars would stretch in double line across the continent.

An investment of a billion and a half of dollars! In 1915 another half billion dollars worth of cars will be made in this country alone.

The rich man's plaything, a decade ago, today the "jit"—the poor man's necessity.

King Auto indeed!

DEAD CANDIDATE IS NOMINATED FOR AN OFFICE IN ELECTION.

Salisbury, Mr., Sept. 16.—A curious complication has arisen in Wisconsin county as a result of Tuesday's Democratic primary.

For the first time, probably, in the history of the state, a dead man was nominated for office. Ernest A. Toadvine, who died suddenly Monday, was returned as nominated over J. Clayton Kelley for clerk of the circuit known court.

As Mr. Toadvine died on the day preceding the primary, his name could not be removed from the ticket. Although the fact of his death was known generally throughout the county, his name received two hundred more votes than his opponent in the party, and the judges of election were compelled to declare him nominated.

It is said that Kelley will claim the nomination and will fight out the question in court.

PEACHES THROWN AWAY BY THE CAR LOAD AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Entire Carloads of peaches from neighboring states have been carted off to garbage heaps, a total loss to the shippers and producers, because no market could be found for them, according to reports of commission merchants today.

Instead of receiving profits they expected, the growers were called on to pay the freight and cartage charges on their abandoned consignments.

One commission man, who wired a shipper that he owed $18.50 for cartage, received this reply:

"Have no money, but will send another car of peaches in settlement."

"Hold the peaches," wired the commission merchant.

The amount thrown away within the last few days was said to have been enough to supply hundreds of families with a generous quantity.

TOBACCO PRICES IMPROVE.

Average of 8.48 Cents Pound paid on Winston-Salem Market Last Week.

Winston-Salem, Sept. 18.—Salem college will open for its Fall term next Wednesday morning. The enrollment has already reached the 500 mark.

The total sales for the past six days on the local leaf tobacco market total only 113,707 pounds, about 85,000 pounds less than were sold during the previous week. The farmers everywhere are taking advantage of the favorable weather conditions and are busy harvesting the corn and tobacco crops.

Although the market fell off in receipts during the week it picked up in the average price per 100 pounds, jumping from $7.78 for last week to 8.48 for this week.
