BULGARIA ON BRINK OF WAR ON SIDE OF CENTRAL POWERS

Hostilities Believed Imminent As Military Authorities Take Possession of Railways and Ordinary Traffic Is Suspended, Says Sofia Dispatch.

MANY DEMONSTRATIONS IN FAVOR OF GOVERNMENT.

Dissatisfaction Over Serbia's Reply In Negotiations For Concessions In Macedonia and Attitude of Greece Given as Cause; Answer To Turkey Delayed Because of Threat of Entente Allies

London, Sept. 23.—M. Radoslavoff, the Bulgarian Premier has announced to his supporters the signing of a convention with Turkey for the future maintenance of armed neutrality on the part of Bulgaria, says the Times correspondent at Sofia in a dispatch printed this morning.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Monday, Sept. 20, (via London), Sept. 22.—Bulgaria apparently is on the brink of war. The people generally believe that hostilities are imminent. The military authorities have taken possession of the railways, and ordinary traffic has been suspended.

Diplomatic representatives here of the Entente powers generally recognize that their cause is a lost one, and that Bulgaria is manifesting clearly a tendency toward the central powers. This is due to the dissatisfaction of the Government at Serbia's reply in the negotiations for territorial concessions in Macedonia, and at the conduct of Greece in this connection.

REVIVAL MEETINGS IN PROGRESS.

Revival Services are Being Held at the First Baptist Church and Webb Avenue M. E. Churches This Week—Splendid Attendance and Good Preaching at Both.

At The First Baptist Church. King and Wolslagel, the famous evangelistic workers, are conducting very successful evangelistic services at the First Baptist Church this week. These meetings have been largely attended, and already much good has resulted from the meetings.

Mr. King is a speaker of great force and power and has no difficulty in obtaining and holding the attention of his hearers. Mr. Wolslagel continues to lead the song services with remarkable ease, and delights the audience at each service with beautiful solos.

A special service for the women of the city was held Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, at which time Rev. Mr. King spoke on the subject, "Why Did She Do It?" and Mr. Wolslagel sang a most touching solo entitled, "My Mother's Prayer." This was a most interesting and impressive service.

This afternoon at four o'clock there will be a special service for the young people of Burlington. This promises to be a unique service, each one being requested to bring a nail.

At Webb Avenue M. E. Church. A series of revival services is also in progress at Webb Avenue M. E. church this week. The pastor, Rev. E. C. Durham, is conducting the services and doing most of the preaching. Mr. Durham is a young man in the ministry, but is giving the people splendid Gospel sermons and the people are responding to his appeal very satisfactorily. Already several conversions have resulted and much good is expected to follow.

Rev. D. H. Tuttle of Front Street M. E. church preached at the service last night, giving the congregation a soul-stirring sermon.

The services are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public is most cordially invited to attend. A special service for the children of the church and community will be held tonight and all parents are requested to attend and bring their children with them.

Educational Column CONDUCTED BY J. S. ROBERTSON.

THE CHILD MIND AND THOROUGHNESS.

The first seven years of a child's life is said to be the most important period, and it is unquestionably so from the standpoint of environment. The mind is then in a plastic state and begins to receive impressions from the time of the child's birth. We might say that education begins by the process of absorption. Hence the importance of a good, clear, wholesome environment during the first seven years. The mother's influence over the child is greater during these early years than at any other time of life.

Thus the child spends its first years in a receptive attitude and while this state continues through life, it is gradually lessened as the mind begins to unfold and gives expression to itself. At this point individuality begins to make its appearance and it is the duty of the parent and the teacher to foster and strengthen this tendency. Thus we have arrived at another strata of the formative period.

At the age of six or seven or even younger, as age varies according to heredity and environment of the child—the child becomes of school age. His mind has sufficiently developed to partake of a heavier diet, prepared in an appropriate manner from books by his teacher.

If heretofore environment has been the leading factor in his life, it is now the teacher who becomes the chief engineer of his career.

Frequently we hear the remark from parents that any kind of teacher will answer the purpose for the beginners. The truth of the matter is, that we can better afford to be careless about the teachers who, at the close of the school years add the polish and then finish to the jagged edges, than to be indifferent as to the one who gives to the child his foundation and solidity.

Children from seven to fourteen are not lacking in ambition, as a rule, as may be seen by their enthusiasm and desire to excel in games and sports. Animal spirits run high and the discouraged teacher sometimes wonders if it would not be well to turn her school room over into the hands of tamer or wild animals. Yet this transitory, restless, fickle age is the one of greatest responsibility to the teacher.

The study of music is a controlling factor at this time. Since nothing aids in the taming of the spirits, the subduing of the passions and the building up of a stable, moral character as the study of this divine art—music is being more and more recognized as an essential part of the education of both sexes.

It is to be regretted that much of the unpreparedness to enter the High School and colleges is directly traceable to this chaotic period of the pupils' development. There is too often a lack of thoroughness in the foundation work—in the "break and milk" studies—as Reading, Spelling, Mathematics, Geography and History. As a result comes the cry of complaint—that our colleges do too much scrambling for the good of the student. The majority of boys and girls go to college entirely too young. Their minds are not sufficiently matured to grasp the subjects in an appropriate manner. It would mean much for their future welfare if they would stay in the preparatory schools until thoroughly prepared for the larger responsibilities. They then could be "scrammed" at colleges without distressing results.

The parent more than the teacher is to be censured for this nervous hurry to rush through school. We feel it a disgrace not to be able to say that our child makes a grade every year, and the great pride in giving out that he has skipped a grade. We would have more thoroughly equipped children if they were compelled to remain in the same grade two years at least every third year of the preparatory work. It is no credit to a pupil, parent or teacher to permit even an unusually brilliant pupil to skip a grade thereby cheating him out of a year's growth. The unfolding of a child's mind is as natural, as interesting, as beautiful as the unfolding of a flower. Thwarted nature and disastrous results will surely follow.

We as teachers and parents should remember that we never finish our education. It begins before birth and continues after death of the material substance which envelops us. There is a state of inactivity, however, that some minds as they approach maturity assume, which is but stagnation and decay of the functions of this organ and depends entirely upon the will of the individual. No teacher can afford to let this disease to fasten upon her.

To the Public School Teachers we look for the foundation work of the education of the young people of our county. Let them remember that "Life does not allow one to learn in after years what one has failed to learn before sixteen."

Miss Jeffcoat will meet with the Primary teachers again Saturday, September 25th, for normal training. All primary teachers of the county are expected to attend this meeting. First Teachers' Meeting, Saturday, October 2, 10:30 A. M.

THE PEOPLE OF ALAMANCE COUNTY ARE RALLYING TO THE FAIR

Detail Arrangements Are Being Made For The Many Features.

FOUR BIG DAYS ARE ARRANGED FOR.

The Premium List of The Peoples' Fair Association Incorporated Is Out And Promises One of The Biggest Fairs Ever Held in Alamance County.

Manager A. G. Thompson, Burlington, N. C., has been the busiest man in the county for the past 60 days and is still hustling, and says he will continue hustling until the last day of the fair, for he is determined that everything shall go off as scheduled and he has a number of attractions that should prove of more than ordinary interest to the citizens. They are liberal in their premium offers, each department being in the hands of persons who are experts in their respective lines, and all premiums are guaranteed to successful exhibitors. There are lots of attractions that will appeal to both old and young. On the midway will be found a good line of clean moral shows, such as anyone can visit at any time and feel that they have received their money's worth.

The exhibits from the farms, factories, schools, homes and the Boys' and Girls' Canning and Corn Clubs will be much larger than heretofore. Special prizes are offered to schools, the money being now in the hands of Superintendent Robertson to guarantee that it will be paid the successful contestant. The dairy, pantry and home exhibits will be large and comprehensive, premiums sufficient to attract good exhibits having been secured. The races have been looked after carefully, and there will be races every day. Some fast horses will be seen on the track, some of them being already here getting in condition for the races here and at the other fairs which they will visit. A pony race will also be staged, which will be something out of the ordinary for this fair.

It's going to be a big one, and if you don't get there you will miss a good treat. It will be the most representative fair the county has ever had. Don't miss it. Get the date down right, October 5, 6, 7 and 8th, and prepare ahead to be there, for all your friends are coming.

Mr. I. C. Moser is chief marshal and is arranging for 150 men and young ladies to appear on horseback in the big parade Tuesday, October 5th. Let all who are interested send their names to Mr. Moser, Burlington, N. C. One hundred automobiles are wanted in this parade. Remember his parade and old soldier's day is Tuesday, October 5th; that Wednesday is the Manufacturers' Day and big Cotton show; and that Thursday is the Educational Day; and that Friday is Everybody's Day.

FAIR PARADE TO BE VERY ELABORATE.

We had a talk yesterday with Mr. I. C. Moser, chief marshal for the People's Fair, and he tells us that he is going to pull off the biggest parade Tuesday morning, October 5th, opening day of the Fair, that has ever been seen here.

He has selected fifty marshalls, gentlemen and ladies, from all parts of the County, trying to include each township, and has written them personal letters. He urges that they let him know this week if they can serve, he must give orders for their regalia Monday. These marshalls will all be horseback. They will be expected to be here Tuesday morning in time to ride in the parade, and to attend Wednesday and Thursday, also, if possible. But to make the parade a success, he wants each marshal present.

There will be a brass band in the parade also. And he asks that every automobile in the county take part. Let every man who owns one decorate it and come and bring his friends and take part in the grand parade, and help make the Fair the biggest yet.

Speaking personally and feelingly, we should like to see this lending of money without collateral follow the example of charity and begin at home.

THE FAIR AND THE SCHOOLS.

I am glad to state to the school people of the county, committeemen, teachers, patrons and pupils, that I am in receipt of a $50 cashier's check to cover all premiums offered by the fair to the schools and canning clubs of the county. This makes sure the payment of every cent of every premium in these departments. With this assurance of rewards let us do our best to make these two departments what they should be. Examine the premium list and see the premiums offered and get busy to make a good exhibit for your school and to carry home some prizes.

On Thursday, educational day, every school should be well represented. This is our fair and it is a great means of education—that of teaching by example. Let us make the fair what it should be. This can be done by contributing our part and by going and receiving our part.

WHEN THE TICK GOES OUT THE DOLLAR COMES IN.

Asking farmers whether they desire to feed cattle or ticks, the United States department of agriculture is about to embark on a spectacular campaign throughout the tick-infested region of the South to arouse farmers to take the step that will stop the annual tribute of $50,000,000 now being paid to the tick. Attractively colored and illustrated literature will be used in this work.

As the result of the anti-tick campaign, one third of tick-infested area of the South, a region as large as the German Empire, has been cleared since 1906 but it is now desired to push the work much more rapidly than in the past as the country needs the meat the South could profitably supply if the tick were banished and the South needs the dollars that will roll in when the tick goes out.

The department stands ready to co-operate with any county that wishes to engage in this work. Agents of the Southern Railway's agricultural department will also aid farmers in warring on the tick wherever possible and will co-operate with all agencies engaging in this work.

The Charlotte Observer thinks the increased tax assessment is "entirely justified and should be accepted with good grace and in good faith." So we might just as well turn the other cheek.

TOO MUCH PRAISE.

A colored servant had been discharged by her mistress because of various failings, and a few days afterward called with a request for a recommendation, says Housekeeper.

Her future employer, with the best heart in the world desired to assist her in obtaining a new situation and wrote a letter which dilated upon all the colored girl's good qualities and made no mention of her shortcomings.

Dinah read the letter and thought with glowing eyes, her black face shining more with every word. When she had finished, she turned to the lady and said:

"Laws, missus, but yo' certly did say dat nice. Now, missus, with a strong recommend like dat ter back me, don't yo' think yo' could hire me fo' dat job again?"

WOOD CONSTRUCTION FOLLY.

Expert Gives Facts in Cleveland Before Society Advocating Fire Elimination.

John T. Thomas of Chicago, fire elimination expert, was chief speaker, June 11, in Cleveland at the meeting of the Society Advocating Fire Elimination in the Chamber of Commerce Club. The address was the feature of a celebration commemorating the second anniversary of the launching of the National movement for safe building.

Comparing depreciation on a $1,000,000 investment in Chicago with wood and the same amount expended in brick materials, Mr. Thomas gave figures to show that at the end of fifteen years the wooden buildings were worth $200,000 less than the original cost and the brick $100,000 less. He pointed out that the loss was borne first by the property owner and second by the city in decreased tax dupliques. This last fact, he said, proves that wooden buildings take money out of the pockets of every taxpayer.—Mutual Insurance Journal.

A food specialist is quoted as saying that "only a fool eats fried chicken." Bring on the fried chicken; we'll be the fool.

FOUR GENERATIONS TOGETHER

Forty-five years ago Mr. Riley Bowman, father of Mr. W. D. Bowman, of this place, carried Mrs. Margaret Stafford to Greensboro where she took a train for the west and until last week she had never returned to the land of her birth. But on last Wednesday Mrs. Stafford who is now 87 years old, her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Pritchett, and her granddaughter, Mrs. Harry Simpson, and little great grandson, James Giber Simpson arrived in Greensboro where they were met by Mr. W. D. Bowman and were brought to Burlington by auto to spend some weeks visiting him and his family and other relatives in the vicinity. Mrs. Stafford will remain some time while Mrs. Pritchett and Mrs. Simpson will leave in about two weeks to spend the winter in Florida.

It is not often that one sees four generations under one roof and Mr. and Mrs. Bowman feel honored by the visit of these people who have been away in the west for so long.—Burlington News.

GOOD ADVICE.

Each box of matches furnished a fire patrol in one section of Idaho bears this warning: "A match doesn't think with it's head. When you see it, your head has to do all the thinking. Don't trust the match not to fall where it may start a fire and make you responsible. Cigarette or cigar stubs and camp fires have no heads at all. Do the thinking. Put them out.—Hartford Agent.

One day an English tourist was passing along the road when he saw an Irishman sowing oats in a field close by the roadside. The Englishman made up his mind to have a joke with Pat.

"Hello!" said the Englishman. "You'll only have half a crop there."

"That's all I'm putting in," replied Pat. "How far is this road going?" asked the Englishman. "Well," said Pat, "I'm here this ten year, and never saw it going any place."

THE VOLUNTEER.

Patriotic stage beauties in England have been picturesquely active as volunteer recruiting officers, says the New York Evening Post. One of the most famous of modern music hall dancers, according to an account which must be accurate because it comes straight from Germany, appeared the other day at a meeting in Camberwell and offered to kiss every man present who would volunteer for Kithener's army. A number of young fellows answered the call at once and claimed and received the promised reward. Then a hideously ugly repulsive creature came forward. The lady looked at him in dismay.

"For heaven's sake what do you want?" said she, shrinking away from him.

"A kiss," said the object. "Have you thought—have you thought," stammered the dancer, "of what you are doing—of what a cruel and frightful thing was it—and that this is the most frightful and cruel of all was? And are you ready to go into it?"

"It is my dearest wish to serve my country."

"Do you realize that they will shoot at you with 42-centimeter guns—that they'll almost certainly hit you—that you'll very likely come back a cripple?"

"And that I may never see a pretty girl again. Yes, I realize all that. Yet I am resolved to volunteer."

"Well, then."

And G——y D——s shut her eyes and bestowed the kiss.

The fellow marched straight into the enrolling office. Ten minutes passed and out he came a——dashed up to the dancer, flung his arms about her waist and gave her a hearty smack on the lips.

"Villain, monster," she screamed "unhand me—you've had your kiss already."

"Quite right, miss," replied the fellow, unabashed. "Quite right, and as an honorable man I was bound to give your kiss back to you. You see, they wouldn't accept it there."

THE NEW FORM.

"Will you be mine?" he asked in accents tender in direct contradiction to the steak he had eaten shortly before.

"No," she answered gently; "but I'll compromise. Let's be curs."

Habitual numbness of the hands may be removed by rubbing them for a short time in cold water, followed by dry friction. Another method is as follows: Get one pint of gin and five cents' worth of ligmonvido in the liquid form, that being better than the red; take one or two teaspoonfuls a week with a little water and sugar.

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER.

I remember, I remember
The house where I was born,
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn;
You'd hardly know the old place now,
For dad is up-to-date.
And the farm is scientific
From the back lot to the gate.

The house and barn are lighted
With bright acetylene,
The engine in the laundry
Is run by gasoline,
We have silos, we have autos,
We have dynamos and things;
A telephone for gossip,
And a phonograph that sings.

The hired man has left us,
We miss his homely face;
A lot of college graduates
Are working in his place,
There's an engineer and fireman,
A chauffeur and a vet,
Electrician and mechanic—
Oh, the farms run right, you bet.

The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn
Now brightens up a bathroom
That cost a car of corn,
Our milkmaid is pneumatic
And she's sanitary, too;
But dad gets 15 cents a quart
For milk that once brought two.

Our cattle came from Jersey,
And the hogs are all Duroc;
The sheep are Southdown beauties
And the hens are Plymouth Rock,
To have the best of everything—
That is our aim and pain—
For dad not only farms it,
But he's a business man,

AT NINETY WALKS TEN MILES A DAY.

Fourteen years ago two doctors of Binghamton, N. Y., told William W. Hemingway that he hadn't more than a year to live. Since that time he has attended the funerals of both and now has passed his ninetieth birthday.

"I just made up my mind to fool 'em," he says. "I started walking. The first few months I walked nearly two miles a day. Now, unless the weather is bad, I seldom go less than ten miles and have often walked as much as twenty."

Doctors sometimes stop Mr. Hemingway on the street and urge him not to overdo his exercise.

"I don't know when to stop," he confesses. "I get up in the summer usually at four o'clock. Cold weather keeps me in bed half an hour longer."

ENCOURAGING.

"Here, my dear," said the husband, producing his purse, "here's $500 I won playing cards in the smoking room last night. You may have it to buy that dress you wanted."

Reluctantly the conscientious wife took the money, according to the Topeka Journal, then said, with an expression of rigid rectitude:

"I simply shudder at the thought of using money gained in such a way. Henry, promise me that after you have won enough for me to buy the hat to go with the dress you will never again touch those awful cards. I don't want my husband to become a gambler."

THE GERMAN'S SMILE.

"Who is the greatest power for good in your church?" a clergyman was asked the other day and his answer was, "My big German usher. I got him out of a saloon."

The story of how he got him followed and is interesting enough to retell. The clergyman, in his daily walks, was accustomed to pass a large saloon. This great, fat German smiling all over, always stood in the saloon doorway. With one hand he patted each entering customer on the back, and with the other he shook hands with him warmly. No one could resist that broad, welcoming smile. It drew men in who had no special desire to take a drink, but who could not resist its good fellowship. The pastor noticed it, thought it over, and decided on a plan. Next day he crossed the street and went up to the saloon door. "I want to shake hands with you!" he said to the big German. "Put it there, partner!" cried the German heartily, grasping his hand in a big friendly clasp. Let's have a drink."

"No, I will not drink," said the clergyman, "but I just want to shake hands with you. If you would but consecrate to God, this great power you are using against his Kingdom, what a mighty man you would be! If you were to stand at the front door of my church and greet the people that come in, and smile upon them and say, 'God bless you,' you could help my work, possibly, more than any other man."

The German started. Then he thought. The appeal went to his heart—a big, warm, thought up to that time misguided heart. He was touched; he was won. The next week found him at the church; and from that day to this he has drawn people into the church, as formerly he drew them into evil. Is not this true story a whole sermon on personal influence—the personal influence which each individual carries about with him and uses either for God or Mammon? —Forward.

TEACH THE CHILDREN.

By teaching the children, some of whom will in a few years administer the laws, a long stride toward fire prevention will be taken and the children while being taught, will interest parents, who will, as never before, recognize the importance of the question and rather than plead ignorance on such an important and self-interesting subject, will lend their aid in the campaign for fire prevention.

One individual in a set of individuals can do only little, but if the sentiment for the saving of life and property is spread (and it can be through education) the interest must increase, and a vast army fighting against fire waste, will soon bring results. Fire prevention means the saving of life and property, and it should appeal to every one, else something is lacking. What is it?—Safety Engineering.

Did Turkey learn her diplomacy from Germany, or Germany from Turkey?

THE FEAR OF DEATH.

O why fear death whose coming is so sure? He is a friend, he is the last great cure; Although his shadow is as dark as night, He speedily shall lead me to the light. A moment's gloom, a gasp, a falling breath, And I shall pass life's bounds with friendly Death, And go where none alive can ever go, And leave what earth-bound souls can never know.

The ages' wisdom in a twinkling shall be mine, And I shall be immortal and divine, And all the things my soul craved all life through I then shall have in realms forever new.

He shall reward me for all left behind He is God's pilot sent to show the way To heaven's portals and to endless day.

—George Lawrence Andrews, Charlotte, N. C.

Sam Small's statement that Atlanta is the grunkiest city in the United States in proportion to population would indicate that the "near" stuff has a stronger kick to it than the real article.

THE KNOCKER'S CREED.

Here is the knocker's creed as set forth by the St. Louis Post Dispatch: "I believe that nothing is right, I believe that everything is wrong, I believe that I alone have the right ideas. The town is wrong, the editor is wrong, the teachers are wrong, the people are wrong, the things they do are wrong and they are doing them in the wrong way anyhow. I believe I could fix things if they would let me. If they don't I will get a lot of other fellows like myself and we will have a law passed to make others do the things the way we want them done. I do not believe that the town ought to grow. It is too big now, I believe in fighting every public improvement and spoiling everybody's pleasure. I am always to the front in opposing things, and never yet advanced an idea or supported a movement that would make the people happier or add to the pleasure of man, woman or child. I am opposed to fun and am happiest when at a funeral. I believe in starting reforms that will take the joy out of life. It's a sad world and I am glad of it. Amen."

ROLLING IN FASHION.

Let the road be rough or dreary, And the end far out from view; Fool it bravely—strong or weary—Roll your stockings to the shoe.

UNWARRANTED PERIL.

"This penitentiary wants reforming!" said the man who was reading the paper.

"Is something shocking going on?" inquired his wife.

"I should say so. Here's a story of a prisoner who was allowed to ride up and down Broadway in an automobile!"

"Horrors! It's bad enough to put a man in prison without encouraging him to risk his life."

JUST SMILE.

If the world's a vale of tears, Smile till rainbows span it; Breathe the love that live endears, Clear from clouds to face it. —Everything.

COURTESY APPRECIATED.

"Did you tell that young man of yours that I am going to have this light switched off at ten?"

"Yes, dad."

"Well?"

"He's coming at ten in future."—London Mail.

SEASON OF STRAW BALLOTS WITH US.

First Presidential Poll is of State of Washington. Moose—Borah First Choice.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The first presidential poll for the 1916 campaign has been made; it was taken in Washington on Republicans.

A statement issued today by the National Progressive Republican Union, which in plain English spells Bull Moose, said:

"Senator William E. Borah for President on the Republican ticket in 1916, with Justice Charles E. Hughes as second choice to head the National ticket, although they are not avowed candidates, is the sentiment of Republican leaders in the State of Washington, according to a State-wide canvass just concluded.

"The canvass showed according to the Union, very little interest in the candidacies of Weeks, Whitman, Sherman, Burton, Cummins and others. On the other hand, the conservatives among the State party leaders who are very scarce in numbers, cast their straw ballot for former Senator Root."

H. E. C. BRYANT.

SWIFT BANCHANDER.

Mrs. Sam Tyle met her dearest friend, Mrs. George Reen, in the street relates the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"How lucky to meet you!" gushed Mrs. S. Tyle. "I'm—er—we want another maid; there is too much work for two. So I'm looking for a parlor maid."

Mrs. G. Reen bid her envy under a smiling face.

"How strange," she gushed back, "I think I know the very girl for you. And I can recommend her personally because she's leaving us next week."

Mrs. Tyle darted a suspicious look at her friend.

"But—er—why are you—er—getting rid of her?" she demanded.

Mrs. G. Reen smiled coolly.

"Oh, she's given me notice, dear," she said, with well assured frankness. "You see, she complains that there is too much silver to clean at our house. So I know she'll just suit you."

German-Americans are advised to make war on Wilson and Roosevelt. This ought to bring the president and ex-president together.

If the feet are tender bathe them often in strong alum and boric acid rubbed on when the feet are drying will remove any odor but it must be allowed to dry on the feet.

A PITY.

High on the roof of the four-wheeler was piled a most miscellaneous collection of luggage. Savagely the cabman had toiled at his task, but it was ended at last. Then a jaded little woman came out of the house and eyed her cherished belongings before entering the vehicle.

"Sure you've got everything, ma'am?" asked the cobby, with sarcastic politeness.

"Yes, that's all," was the reply. "The cabman glanced back at the house as he remarked: 'Seems a pity, don't it leave the doorstep?'—Liverpool Mercury.

EYES BEING OPENED.

Patient—sure they are, sir.

Doctor—Same you see better; can you see the nurse now?

Patient—sure, I can that, sir. Faith, she gets plainer and plainer every day.—Exchange.

The Twice-A-Week Dispatch

Published Every Tuesday and Friday By The State Dispatch Publishing Co., Burlington, N. C. Office, First Floor, Walker Building. Telephone, No. 265. Subscription, One Dollar per Year, payable in advance.

All communications in regard to other news items or business items should be addressed to The State Dispatch Publishing Co., and not to any individual connected with the paper.

All news notes and communications of importance must be signed by the writer. We are not responsible for opinions of the correspondents.

Subscribers will take notice that no receipt for subscription for The State Dispatch will be honored at this office unless it is numbered with stamped figures.

Entered as second-class matter May 16, 1903, at the post office at Burlington, North Carolina, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Burlington tobacco market is now open, and if the farmers want the highest price for their tobacco, bring it to Burlington.

What this town needs is a long, strong pull and a pull together. No town will progress fast when they are torn a part by factions. Let's get together and stay together, in union there is strength.

The committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to secure new members are meeting with much success. Our people realize that we need organization and co-operation in order to go forward. It is the duty of all our business men not to wait to be called upon to join the association, but send in your name to the Secretary at once. The committee will not be satisfied with less than 200 members, join now, do it today.

WHEAT ADVANCING.

The big foreign loan is causing wheat to advance sharply. It is the general opinion that this money is wanted to purchase wheat for the allies, if this information proves correct, we will see through this wheat market in the near future. Corn is likely to advance with wheat, but of course then corn market will be influenced by local condition to some extent, new corn will start at a decline owing to its being new and danger of spoiling. It looks now as if the farmers have a good year ahead of them and we are glad to see them reap the reward of their labors.

The Dispatch appreciates the many kind words that are being said about the good paper we are getting out. One lady writes us that she just could not do without it. Another says that it comes so often that she does not need a daily paper, and still another says the news is not only fresh but wholesome. All these expressions are highly gratifying to the management. We assure one and all that we are trying to get out a good, live readable paper and will be glad to have you speak a good word to your neighbor who does not take the Dispatch.

WHERE EVERY MAN ADVERTISES.

We venture to say that there is no town the size of Bakersville in North Carolina where every merchant, to a man, is advertising his business. Mitchell County Banner.

This is reproduced for the benefit of our Burlington business men. If you want a good live town, you must advertise, if you want people to patronize you, the thing to do is to invite them to trade with you by advertising. People who have money to spend like for those who want it spent with them to invite them to spend it, in this way they feel that their patronage is appreciated. Get busy and place an ad, in the Dispatch and let their thousands of readers know that you want their business.

SHOULD KEEP STAMPS.

The Southern Railway Company should require their agents to keep revenue stamps upon hand to be placed upon bills of lading. The railroad Company will not accept a shipment unless the bill of lading bears this stamp because it is required by law, but they could and should keep the stamps for the accommodation of the public. The banks keep them, and yet they have no interest in the railroad and do not get anything for handling the stamps. They do it for the accommodation of the business public, and of course the business public appreciates the favor. The railroads should be required to keep these stamps and it is up to the public who have to use them to require them to do it. This is a matter that should receive the attention of the Chamber of Commerce.

The mission of the foreign loan commission and its effect in this country are of great significance, and the result of which can not yet be forecasted. The general consensus of opinion among bankers and business men is that it will stimulate activity in all lines of business and more especially the produce and food lines, directly connected with the farmers. It is very evident that if these nations do not have the proper line of credit, no matter how much they want the products of the American farmer and manufacturer that they can not buy, with the activity and necessary, to promote the business interests of the country.

MR. CRAWFORD WRITES AGAIN.

Editor Burlington News, Burlington, N. C. Mr. Editor:—

I am glad you made reference to your impression as to what Mebane had promised in regard to the Mebane-Trollingwood link of the State Highway because it gives me an opportunity to state the exact facts of the case. The town of Mebane, through me, did propose on or about the first Monday in January, 1914, to lend the county of Alamance the money to complete this road, but the county commissioners refused to accept the proposition. They did, however, instruct me to get a State Highway engineer to make a survey of the road and six or seven months later (after a great deal of agitation on our part), on the first Monday in August, the commissioners instructed Mr. Fogleman, the Superintendent of Roads, to put the county force on the road to grade it. Encouraged by this action, Mr. W. A. Murray secured pledges from the Mebane people to put about thirty teams on this road to surface it, with the understanding that the work could be finished in October and November of last year. This, however, was impossible, as the grading was not completed when the winter rains set in. This delay caused those who had promised to do this hauling, to feel—in many cases—released from their pledge. Most of us, however, were still willing to do what we could. When the rush of farm work was over, about July 15th of this year, the matter was agitated and a good number of men declared themselves ready to go to work; but at that point, it was announced that the citizens of Orange county from Carr to the Alamance line leading toward Mebane, had surfaced the road to the Alamance line, and asked us of Mebane to complete the road in Alamance to the Macadam road leading into Mebane.

Now, the people of Mebane feel that since this is the most important road leading into Mebane, it is greatly to our interest to do this work, but we can't do both. Since we have but four miles of Macadam road leading into Mebane, we feel that it is imperative for us to subscribe all of our free work to those roads that are essential to our business interests. The Carr-Mebane road will cost us two or three hundred dollars in work.

Grandma's Telephone Visits

GRANDMA SMITH is a sprightly old lady who likes to keep in touch with things. In the next town lives another dear old lady who was Grandma's school-mate, and of whom she is very fond. It is impossible for the two old ladies to do much visiting, but every day they call each other up on the telephone and have the most delightful chats.

No one gets more comfort and pleasure out of the family telephone than Grandma.

When you telephone—smile

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

The business men here have subscribed already one hundred dollars toward hauling rock for the stretch of Macadam leading into Swepsonville—a piece of road that will not help us any. The people on the Oaks road leading into this place, have been urging us to help them put an almost impassable road into decent shape. I personally, have spent nearly a hundred dollars in time and money, to secure what we have already had done on the Mebane-Trollingwood road, and feel that we really are under no obligations whatever that the whole county is not under, toward the completion of this link in the State Highway. I believe that I can promise that we will do as much as the other towns will do, provided there is no chance to get the county commissioners to complete this road unaided by private subscription.

(Signed)

Yours very truly, W. S. CRAWFORD.

WHITSETT ITEMS.

Students continue to enter school every week from various parts of the State; two have just arrived from Craven and Bertie counties. Quite a number have written that they will come about the first of October after the rush of work on the farms is over.

One feature of the school that is growing rapidly, and attracting much favorable attention is the weekly lecture each Sunday night at 8 o'clock P. M. Large crowds attend every week. These are given free to all who desire to attend.

A meeting of the voters of the community was held last Saturday to pass upon a number of matters affecting the school interests of the local community. The meeting was largely attended, there being a good majority of all the voters present, and the action taken by the meeting was unanimous on all questions, thus showing a fine spirit of unity, and determination to go forward in educational matters. The day has about passed in North Carolina for any few who object and criticize to retard the progress of any community, "Get in line, and go forward," is the cry everywhere.

LION HAD THE TOOTHACHE.

"King Sampson," the famous lion with the Robinson Famous Shows, has quite a history. He is a real African lion, and one of the few lions on exhibition that was actually horn in the jungle, and instead of being secured while a cub, was captured when almost full grown, after a desperate battle with native hunters. There is something of the lordly freedom of the wild beasts in King Sampson's walk and manner, while his great size and beauty of head and mane make him particularly interesting to the students and artists, and he has had enough photographs taken of him by sight-seers to paper the biggest house in town.

"Would he hurt anybody?" inquired an amateur zoological student, with one foot in the air ready to run. "Oh, I don't know. That depends. Maybe it wouldn't be a good thing for a stranger to go into his cage. He would likely resent that as an intrusion on his privacy," replied the keeper. "But he would never make a row if I was to go to sleep in his den. The only time I ever had any trouble with Sampson was last season on the road. One day I noticed he had suddenly developed a cranky disposition. He even resented my going into his cage, so I was at a loss what to do, so I called the doctor with the show.

"Why, he has a slight toothache," said the doctor, after examining him. You would naturally think the King would object to anybody fooling around his jaws, but he seemed to know the doctor was there to help him, so after the medicine man cleaned out the cavity in one big tooth and sprayed a little antiseptic solution into it and plugged up the hole with a bit of full of amalgam, he never whimpered, and kept his mouth wide open without the slightest urging. The next day he was all right, and has never had an ache since, so far as I have been able to discover."

As will be seen at the Robinson Famous Shows when the menagerie is in exhibition, all the animals are kept in prime condition. The date is Saturday, September 25th.

tariffs to American labor and capital, sturdy defence of American rights, an adequate and satisfactory currency system—these are the essentials of Republican faith since the days of Fremont. Whoever subscribes to these declarations and who evidences his faith by support of the Republican ticket is a Republican, nationally speaking. These things will be found, not only in national Republican platforms but in State Republican platforms as well; while in the latter will be many other things of local application which in no wise detract from the quality of national Republicanism. For instance, a Republican in Oregon will hold to many principles for Oregon—which a Republican in Rhode Island never has subscribed to. Yes, both are Republicans, as Mr. Taft will have to admit.

We do not believe in any other test for Republicanism. Especially we cannot admit the right of any one—President, ex-President or any other man or any group of men to say who shall enter or re-enter the Republican party or upon what terms. So far as we are concerned any Progressive who wishes to join the Republican party can come in without the indignity of being frisked for concealed principles. Is he a protectionist? Does he believe in a strong foreign policy? Does he favor an adequate national defence? Is he for legislative and administrative sanity? The man who supports these principles is a Republican by all the tests which anyone has the right to impose. In no other way can Republicanism live and grow; in no other way has Republicanism lived and grown. The doors of the Republican party swing inward and neither Mr. Taft nor any other man can close them or narrow the entrance. Those Progressives who have already come in have been warmly welcomed. A like welcome awaits the others who are on the way.

The net balance in the general fund in the United States Treasury at the close of business September 11 was $49,999,237, compared with a net balance of $131,390,515 on the corresponding date two years ago when Republican revenue laws and appropriations were in effect. The present administration has spent $31,935,000 more than its revenue since the first of July.

"Considering the modern enlight-ment as to the deceptive possibilities that reside in whiskies, it is not only difficult but practically impossible to take a man like Carranza at his face value."—Providence Journal. How about Secretary Redfield, from whose whiskers drip trade statistics?

PRESSING CLUBS.

Gasoline is used in pressing clubs in quantities ranging from a pint up, and an inspection tour will disclose the fact that in these places the fuel is generally carelessly handled. This should be regulated, and a little work on the part of the fire chief or police chief will lessen the danger there. A permit should be granted to these pressing clubs only upon the condition that all gasoline kept should be kept in approved safety cans (these cans can be bought for a small amount) and when the fire chief or police chief finds that same is not kept as ordered, the license should be revoked. It is surprising the number of fires caused by these small pressing clubs.

LAWS NEEDED.

The people must be made to know that our annual fire waste is as great a menace as war, famine, or flood. Fire waste emanates largely from criminal indifference, hence should be prevented through laws which would go direct to the very root of the evil.

and hold the party on whose premises fire originates criminally liable. When this is done our fire waste and sacrifice of human life will be reduced 75 per cent.

TOSSED 15 FEET IN AUTO BY TRAIN, MAN UNHURT.

Henderson, Sept. 16.—Alive without a scratch after an express train crashed into an automobile he was driving and tossed it fifteen feet in the air is the experience through which George Allen, a hardware merchant of this place has just passed.

While crossing the Seaboard Air-line tracks in William street about 7 o'clock last night a fast freight struck Mr. Allen's machine, tossing it over a train of cars on a siding nearby. The car landed right side up and Mr. Allen was unhurt although badly shaken up and frightened.

THE GULF WIND.

I think I'm some kin to the lilies,
For I toil not, nor do I spin,
But sit in my cabin doorway,
Till the wind from the Gulf blows in

It carries a song through the pine trees,
A soft little bush-a-bye strain,
That clings to the human heart-strings,
Then echoes it back again.

It hushes the cries in the marshes
And ripples a smile on the bay;
Its kiss is a benediction
Brings peace at the close of the day.

It heralds the footsteps of twilight,
Still crooning now softer and sweet,
Till it's lost in the shadow distance
After singing the Southland to sleep.

So I reckon I'm kin to the lilies,
I toil not, nor do I spin,
But sit in my cabin doorway
Till the wind from the Gulf blows in.

CONVICT GUARD SHOT TO DEATH IN STANLEY.

J. C. Freeman Was Directing Some Work When Negro Convict Jumped on Him—Was Shot Through The Body. Albermarle, Sept. 18.—One of the most cowardly murders in the history of Stanley county occurred this morning about a mile west of Albermarle.

THE MOST UNPOPULAR THING.

We believe the most unpopular party in this state was the indistinguishable ever done by the Democratic criminate raising of the taxes in nearly all of the counties.

TWINS.

"I don't like to see warring armies call too persistently on Providence. It savors of arrogance and self-righteousness. Providence may take revenge." The speaker was Bishop Lincoln L. Miles of Duluth.

CLEVER.

"Bliggins is a clever story teller." "Why, he has been telling the same story for years!" "Yes, But he keeps you listening. Every now and then he manages to think up another, beginning and make you believe it's going to be a new one."

ARGUMENTUM AD FEMINAM.

Representative Bowdie, of Ohio, whose vigorous anti-suffrage speech was the feature of last month's suffrage debate, sat at a recent dinner party in Washington beside a suffragist. The suffragist, desirous of showing woman's seridom of servitude, said: "Mr. Bowdie, why does a woman when she marries a man, take his name?"

A VEXED QUESTION.

Some Frenchman has said that the age of a woman may be judged by the temples and the end of the nose. He warns men that if there are specks in the nose or the temples are withered the woman is more than thirty, says the Modern World. To which Arthur Brisbane replies: "To speak of a woman being old because she is thirty, or for that matter forty or forty-five or fifty, is simply nonsense. And to judge of a woman's looks, her powers of attraction, the importance of her place in the world by the tip of her nose or the blue veins on her temples is worthy of a chimpanzee."

their respective noses may reveal as regards 'specks.'—Exchange.

RAT FIRES.

A rat will not gnaw the head of a match, but takes a keen delight in gnawing the wood part. A rat gnaws the wood part away from the head and the finished job looks very much like a long cut by a beaver. He will, however, run with a match in his mouth, and there is no law against his striking it against a wall as he goes; and he also takes a match or two sometimes to his nest. A rat will build a nest against a chimney during the summer and when the fires are started in the fall there is generally quite a number of fires from this source.—Safety Engineering.

SPEECHLESS.

Blonde—Hear about Gerty Giddigad? Brunetta—What about her? "Knocked speechless by a street car." "But I just passed her a few moments ago and she spoke to me." "I knew but she was on her way to a meeting to make an address and when the car hit her she lost her manuscript." The girl who can look as good as her photograph ought to be satisfied with her art and her photographer's

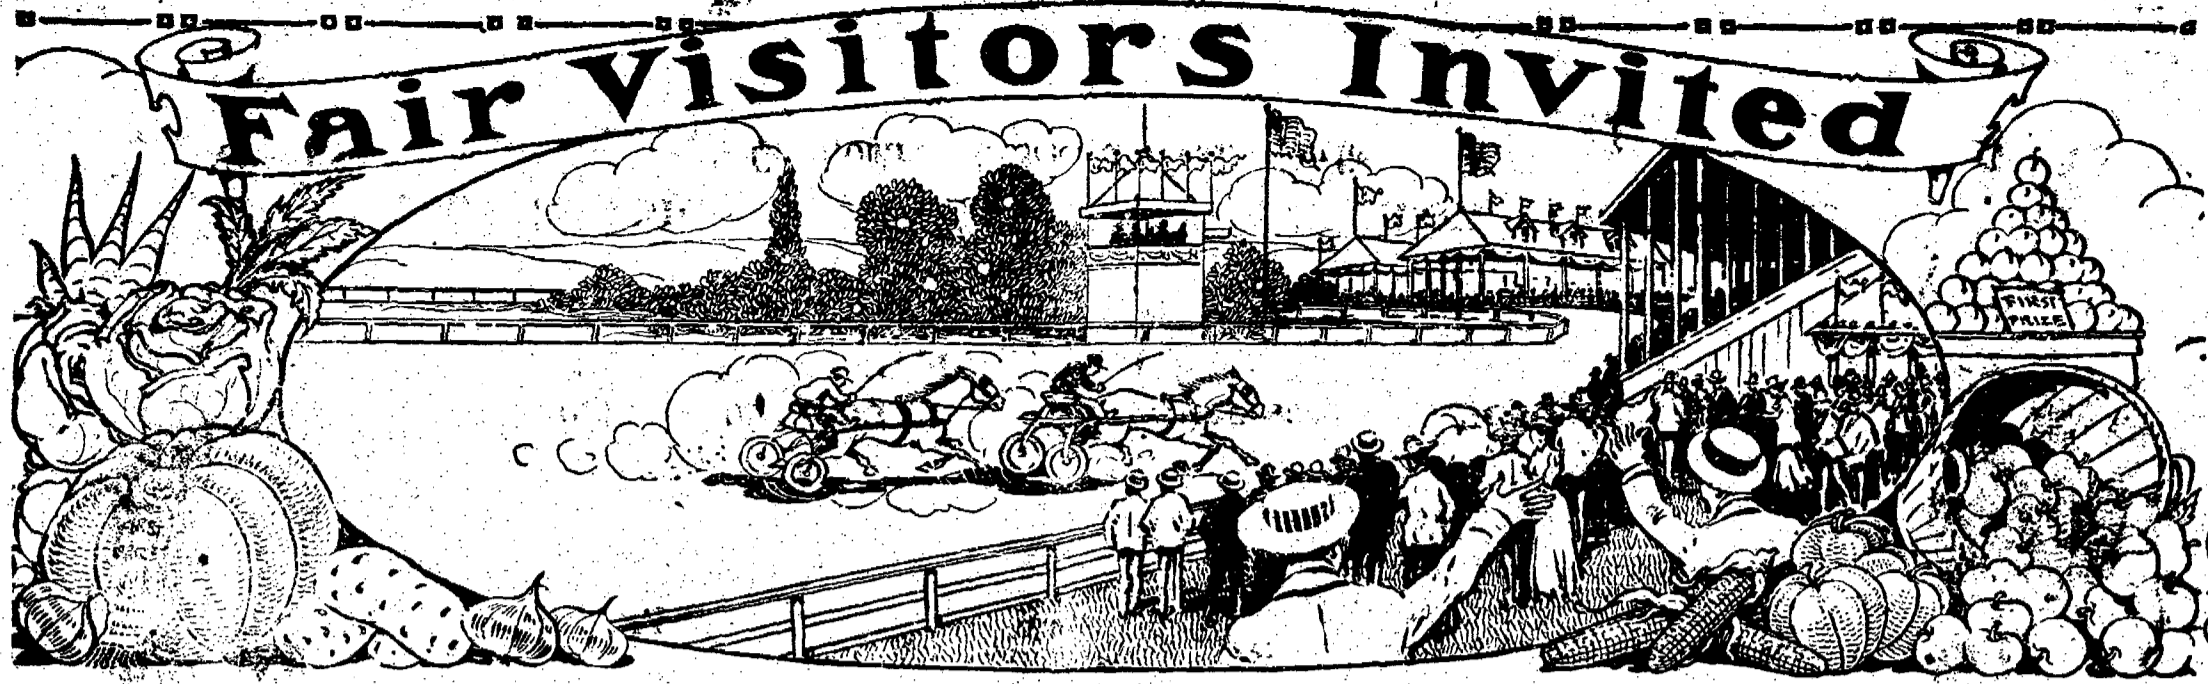

I AM WAR.

I am a pestilence Sweeping the world— Hate is the root of me. Death is the grit of me, Swift is my stroke; Blood is the sign of me, Steel is the twine of me, Thus shall ye know me; I am the death of Life, I am the life of death, I am War! I am madness Riding the necks of men— Champing on various armed. Stamping of war horse hoofs Charging unbridled; Clashing of bayonets, Flashing of sword blades, Rumbling of cannon wheels, Crumbling of kingdoms, These are my harbingers; I am the death of Law, I am the law of Death, I am War! I am a harbor Seducing the nation; Diplomats lie for me, Patriots die for me, Lovers I lack not— Cannon mouths speak for me, Battlefields reek of me, Widowed wives shriek of me, Cursing my name; I am the death of Joy, I am the joy of Death, I am War! Altar Brady in Outlook. TRYING TO BE MERRY. "I see you are being investigated," said the chatty young woman. "Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox, with a determined air of cheerfulness. "My business affairs have been made the object of some formal curiosity." "Are you in the manufacturing business?" "No—unless you might be pleased to call our business office a manufactory of great wealth."

"I'm looking for a tall man with a long thirst" —and maybe he won't be glad to see me! Hope he don't forget I've got some thirst myself for a cold drink of Pepsi-Cola.
