WOULD KAISER ASK U. S. INDEMNITY?

Rumors in Washington That This is Intention if Teutons Win—Wilson Converts all Callers to Preparedness.

Washington, Oct. 31.—It is being freely predicted here by those who are "close to the inside" that Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina, the Democratic floor leader in the House, will be decidedly less reactionary with regard to the administration's preparedness program after he has his conference with the President in a week or so.

From the manner in which doubter after doubter has come away from the White House convinced, (like Senator Kern of Indiana and Senator James of Kentucky, both of whom have heretofore been unwavering followers of Mr. Bryan,) it is assumed that Mr. Wilson has some very interesting information to impart in confidence in support of his position. There is undoubtedly more in the international witches' caldron than the average citizen is aware of or would be inclined to believe unless informed with authority.

For instance, there is a rumor in official circles that Germany, if victorious in the present war, will demand an indemnity of the United States for the damages done the Central Powers by the free exportation of munitions from this country to the Allies. Most of the military experts in Washington seem to believe that Germany will win, though the general opinion is that even with a complete victory on land Germany can never break the deadlock caused by England's hold on the sea. However that may be, exploits of the Teutonic generals are admittedly amazing; and it behooves neutral countries, of which this is the strongest and richest, to consider what position they would be in if the Kaiser's terrible war-machine should achieve a conclusive victory.

When Congress convenes there will be a renewal of the effort to have an embargo declared on exports of munitions of war. Much of the strength of this movement in the last Congress came from the South which was concerned over the German cotton market. Since the adjournment of Congress, German cotton market has been taken out of the equation, except as to purchases for storage in the United States until the war is over, by the classification of cotton as contraband by the British government. It is a fact that 70 per cent of what is known as gun-cotton is cotton. Smokeless powder is chiefly based on it. When the movement to have Congress declare for an embargo on munitions of war is revived, it will be brought to the attention of members from the South that the importance of cotton as a base of the favorite modern military explosive would put the great white staple itself on the embargo list. This consideration is likely to reduce the ardor of some of those who a few months ago were leading advocates of "stopping the munitions trade."

EDITH CAVELL, 1915.

John O'Keefe, in the New York World.) Sun glint and gun glint and sweat eyes clear of pain, And on the head of a woman dead the red cross made Cain!

O distant ones, all white of face, Who hear the rifle-rattle! See the real death, the true disgrace, The devil's perfect toll; A nation in the firing-place Has murdered its own soul!

Straight fire and hate fire, with orders from the Crown; But from the lips one breath outslips to blow an empire down!

We saw the Tide of Terror sweep Across the Belgian plain And women died like poisoned sheep That drop in a murrain, Then wherefore shall we pause and weep For one more woman slain?

Clear soul and dear soul, white as the clouds that fly; But on the cheeks the rose that speaks "No pale girl coward I!"

For once she knew of mercy's knell When, in a shuddering sea The Lusitania's fragile shell A scorpion stung in glee. "A thousand in the sea—deeps dwell! What is one here?" asks she,

Proud head! Unbowed head! O eagle's crest and dove's! Where now you lie beneath the sky the wide world weeps and loves!

There is a hawk that hunts on high, On town-bred geese to dine, A thousand slays he from the sky, With ne'er a warning sign, "Behold!" I hear the martyr cry, "What is one death like mine?"

Red breast and dead breast, the trembling flowers beneath! Your white hands sow, row upon row, a crop of dragon's teeth!

Brother Bryan is in Ohio, swatting the Demon Rum hip and thigh and the opinion is expressed that they are going to make the Demon run. Brother Bryan is a man of peace, but when he makes war he makes war—and he always goes in prepared.

Some of us who thought Germany would not last three months do not now know exactly what to think of it.

OLD TONGUES, FRENCH AG-VICE.

Paris, Oct. 30.—The minister of war has sent to the military governors of Paris and Lyons and the generals commanding the military districts of France large placards reading: "Keep silent, be careful, the enemy is listening."

It is ordered that these placards be placed in railway trains, street cars and other public places. This is good advice to some people engaged in war.—Editor.

GIRL AND BROTHER FACE AR-SON CHARGE.

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 31.—Miss Emma Lloyd and Raney Lloyd, sister and brother, were defendants in an arson case in the Onslow county court at Jacksonville, said a report today, in which both were held in bail of $200. W. T. Bray lost a quantity of hay by fire. Tracks were found near the burned stack which were identified as those of a woman and man. The female's track were noticed to be similar to those of Miss Lloyd, who was suspected. A bloodhound brought from Washington trailed the accused couple directly to their home.

INDIANA REPUBLICANS.

There never was an "off year" in Indiana like this one. The Republican State Committee has been holding a series of meetings in various portions of the State and the Attendance has been such as to clog a tabulating machine. From ten to twenty thousand men have turned out at Rushville, Noblesville, West Baden, Indianapolis, East Chicago, Terre Haute and other communities and the enthusiasm displayed has not been equalled since 1888, when Benjamin Harrison first headed the Republican ticket. In addition a series of "bollar benquets" has been held and at each there has been an attendance which crowded the tables and taxed the kitchens.

Republican leaders are more than pleased with these results, because, they say, the large crowds indicate the intense interest that the people of the state are taking in political matters even thus far ahead of the 1916 election. They contend that it is a sure indication that the Republicans are alive and awake and ready for the coming battle.

In addition to the great crowds that turn out for the meetings, another feature of the situation that the leaders point out as an indication of Republican optimism is the large number of candidates for state nominations. If there were no chance to win there would be no candidates, but there is a contest on for every Republican state nomination. There are no contests for Democratic state nominations.

Senator Hoke Smith denies that a "moonshine" still has been discovered on his Georgia plantation. Then where in the world does Hoke get all the moonshine he has been so copiously dispensing of late?

A traveling man was eating in a stuffy little restaurant one very hot summer day. There were no screens at the windows or the door. The proprietress herself waited on her customers and shooed flies from the table at the same time. Her energetic but vain efforts attracted the attention and roused the sympathy of the traveling man, who said:

"Would it not be better to have your windows and the door screened?" "Well, yes, I s'pose that would help some," replied the woman, after thinking of a moment, "but 'twould lock mighty lazylike."—Everybody's Magazine.

CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD IN GREENSBORO.

Methodist State Meeting on November 17—Two Hundred Delegates Expected.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 31.—The North Carolina annual conference of the Methodist Protestant church, will meet in Greensboro this year. This evangelical body of Christian workers representing over 20,000 members, will hold its 90th session in Grace Church, beginning November 17 and will continue through the following Sunday. This member of the Methodist family of which there are 16 others, is third in point of membership in the United States and ranks fourth among the denominations of this State. There are 63 pastoral charges in the North Carolina conference and 228 churches. Every pastoral charge is represented by a lay delegate in the annual conference and as the conference roll has on it 110 names of ministers and preachers there will be something like 20 delegates and preachers attending this session of the conference.

Last year the conference statistics reported that there were 21,134 members of the Methodist Protestant Church in this conference, with church property valued at around $400,000, and there was raised for the work of the church more than $84,000. He reported that there had been 2,718 conversions during the year, 1914, with a most substantial growth of the church membership.

The retiring president is Rev. C. A. Cecil who will call the conference to order at 10 A. M., Wednesday, November 17, and his successor will be chosen that afternoon. President Cecil is retiring of his own desire, preferring the work of the pastorate to the duties of the executive.

Among the duties of this conference will be the election of delegates to the general conference, which meets every four years. The next session will probably be held in Zanesville, O., next May. North Carolina will send at least 22 delegates to this conference.

Among the out-of-State visitors expected here are the following: Rev. Dr. Lyman E. Davis, president of the general conference and editor of the Methodist Recorder of Pittsburg, Pa.; Dr. C. E. Wilbur editor of the Sunday school literature of the church, also of Pittsburg; Dr. F. T. Tagg, editor of the Methodist Protestant of Baltimore, Md., and Dr. F. C. Klein, missionary secretary of Baltimore.

The pastor of Grace Church, Rev. R. M. Andrews, is now serving his third year as pastor and will make a splendid report to the conference.

The Democratic party, according to Victor Murdock, is due to blow up by March, 1916. There's no doubt that the party leaders, especially Mr. Bryan, are loaded with political dynamite.

There is always one chance, when you think you have a chance.

KILLED BY IDLE GOSSIP IS VER-DICT OF JURYMEN.

Western Springs, Ill., Oct. 30.—Although a jury here today gave to the authorities the names of the "murderer" of Mrs. Ida Bodman and the "murderer" is known everywhere in this little world, there will never be a trial.

Eighteen months ago the Bodmans and their baby daughter moved to Western Springs, where everybody knows everybody else. Three months later the Bodman home was made completely happy when the stork brought little Priscilla, a baby brother.

Then Mrs. Bodman began to receive "poisoned" telephone calls and she knew others were receiving them by the lifting of eyebrows and breaking up of scattered groups of her new friends whenever she went near them.

Saturday the woman could stand it no longer. She tucked her kiddies in bed, kissed them good-by—and then shot herself.

The jury's verdict as it appears on the records was "KILLED BY IDLE GOSSIP."

Those who forget today seldom remember tomorrow.

SAFE FARMING ALWAYS.

Outline of a Program Recommended by Government Specialists to Secure Safety in the Cotton Belt.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—A program of "Safe Farming" for the South is outlined in a circular which the United States Department of Agriculture has sent to bankers, business and farmers in the cotton states. The history of agriculture in the South, as has been said, has been one of lean years and fat years. Short crops and high prices have almost invariably been followed by big crops and low prices and, in consequence, the farmer has experienced much distress. The increased attention which has recently been given to supporting the people upon the land has already resulted in much good, but there is some danger, it is pointed out, that, with the price of cotton rising, there will be a tendency for farmers to return to the old system of gambling on cotton. If the people of the South produced their own living, the circular points out, it would steady the whole system and keep the boat from rocking. The safety measures recommended are as follows:

- First:—Produce a home garden for every family on the farm, the year round, paying special attention to a plot of Irish or sweet potatoes sufficient to supply the family with food of this character. Where feasible, have a patch of sorghum or other cane to produce syrup for the family.
Second:—Produce the corn necessary to support all of the people on the farm and the live stock, with absolute safety.
Third:—Produce the necessary oats and other small grain to supplement the corn as food. Pay attention to winter grazing.
Fourth:—Produce hay and forage from some forage crop, sufficient to supply all of the live stock on the farm. Use legumes such as clover, cowpeas, velvet beans, soy beans and alfalfa for the production of hay and to enrich the soil with nitrogen and humus.
Fifth:—Produce the meat necessary to supply the people, through increased attention to poultry and hogs, especially. Plan to increase gradually the number of cattle and other live stock so as to have a sufficient number to consume the waste products of the farm and make the waste land productive.
Sixth:—After all of these things have been amply provided for, produce cotton for the market.

TOO SYMPATHETIC.

The following true instance of an example of Cockney wit is related by an officer in the Strand Magazine. He was in a trench facing one held by Germans. The latter simply gave his men no rest, tormenting them in every possible way. The persecuted ones ached to go for their neighbors, and when the chance came they got a bit of their own back. During the skirmish, the officer saw one of his men corner four Germans in a small yard. When calm had settled he asked what had happened in that particular spot. "Well, sir, you see it was like this: They all threw up their hands, so I shot two and then I hadn't the heart to go on—I really hadn't, sir, so I bayoneted the other two!"

THE GERMAN ALL RIGHT.

The writer in the New York World says that the German himself is all right, but his rulers are wrong. Man for man the German will compare favorably with any of his brothers anywhere in the world. The Germans have done a noble part in the development of the world and if the question of war had been put up to them, they would be at peace with all the world. We are hoping that a republic will succeed the empire.—Hickory Record.

AZTEC CORN, 1,000 YEARS OLD, WORTH $1 A KERNEL.

(Hutchinson, Kans. Special.) The most valuable corn crop in Kansas this year—taking it by and large, as Jay House says—is in the backyard of William E. Kelley, a Hutchinson city official.

There are only eight stalks of the corn, but Kelley expects to realize a net profit of $1,000 cash from his crop, next spring. A Baptist preacher, Dr. E. B. Pratt, while on a visit in New Mexico, recovered in an ancient aztec urn a mummy, within which was found sealed an Indian jar containing a few grains of ancient Indian corn.

The archeologists figure the corn was at least 1,000 years old. The Rev. Mr. Pratt gave ten grains to Kelley on his return to Hutchinson, Kelley carefully planted them.

Eight of ten grains grew, the corn growing more rapidly than ordinary field corn. There are twenty ears now on the eight stalks, and they average fifty kernels to the ear.

The corn looks like ordinary field corn as it grows, but the stalks are much taller and the ears smaller, while the kernels are yellow with a blotch like blood at the tip of each.

"I have been offered as high as $1 for a kernel and I believe I can sell every kernel for $1 each," Kelley said. He figures he will have 1,000 kernels.

THE UNCONQUERABLE SOUL.

(William E. Henley.) Out of the night that covers me, Black as the pit from pole to pole, I thank whatever may be For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance I have not winced or cried aloud, Under the bludgeonings of chance My head is bloody but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears Looms but the Horror of the Shade, And yet the message of the years Finds and shall find me unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate, How charged with punishments the scroll;

I am the master of fate, I am the captain of my soul.

SOME THINGS THAT MONEY CAN NOT BUY.

People are accustomed to thinking that money can open every door and purchase everything in the world. But this is not so, for there are many very valuable things that have no real market price and yet their real worth is above rubies. The fine part about them is that they may be had by the poor as well as by the rich and no one is able to corner the output and keep them from even the humblest man.

Personal honor can not be bought for money. One may lose self-respect and he may lose respect in the eyes of others, yet his choice of a friend is not enough to restore this lost possession. This must come as it did before. He must build back the character again by slow, steady, honorable living until he shall once more respect himself, and shall win from others that precious regard which he had forfeited.

True friendships do not come at a money price. Associates may be easily bought, who will help squander all the riches you may have but these are not true friends. They join themselves to you for what they can get out of the union for themselves. Now you may be rich and have many true friends, but they are not friends because you are rich, but because you are worthy of the attachment. Friendships are formed by the attraction of soul for soul; by truth and sincerity on either side.

Peace of mind may not be bought for money. This is a matter of conscience and conscience does not care for greenbacks and checks, and will not be bribed into silence by means of this sort. Peace of mind comes through being right in the life and by having a pure heart. A sense of sin, forgiveness; a conscience that is without offense toward God and toward man; these are the things which bring harmony to the soul.

True happiness may not be purchased with any amount of wealth. It is not obtained so much by direct effort any way. It comes through self-forgetfulness and by consideration for others. Those who think and feel and suffer for others are the happiest folks that live on the earth. By putting your best self into the tasks of each day and performing them in the name of the Lord Jesus you will slip up on happiness and seize it unawares. In all my life I have never known happiness to be sold across the counter at any price.

I am sure, too, that one can not buy the favor of God with any price which he might bring in his hand. Try to do this, and the reply will come: "Thy money perish with thee." God favors those who are humble, lowly repentant, and obedient to his word. No mention is made of what a man has but of what he is and does.

Once more, we can not always purchase life for money. A certain queen offered millions of money for a moment of life, but no one could be found who had any to sell that day. A ship was fast going to pieces on the California coast. Among the passengers on deck was a man who had a bag full of gold, and he offered this to anybody who would put him on the shore. No one accepted the offer, for gold was below par on that occasion while life was above. It might be possible, however, for us to increase our lives some times, both as to their fullness and extent, by obedience to all right laws, physical, moral, divine. This is strange but true, that we may sell for little money what we can not buy back again for much.

So when we count up the list we are surprised that there are so many things which do not come through money and really when you estimate them you will find that what can not be purchased with it, is of greater value than that which can. Ought we not then to treasure such possessions very highly and not part with them at any price?

HOW TO MAKE INSECT POWDER.

Take three parts of gasoline and one part of crude carbolic acid or one part creosol, and mix these together, then stir in enough plaster of paris to make a slightly moist mixture. The liquid must be distributed uniformly through the plaster. Take a piece of fly-screen about fifteen inches square and tack the frame made by nailing together four strips, one inch thick, two inches wide and the same length as the fly screening. This makes a sieve through which the mixture is passed, allowing the powder to fall upon a paper and lie loosely for one hour.

NEW JERSEY'S DECISION.

Theoretically, man believes that he supports woman.

Sentimentally, he thinks that her piece is in the home.

Practically, does it take a third tradition somewhat flatter man?

The gentlemen of New Jersey who have just refused women the suffrage, permit one-third of their women of voting age to earn a living outside the home—and to pay taxes direct or indirect.

If one-third of the working men of New Jersey were thus taxed without representation, they would consider themselves exploited.

Why should their women feel differently?—Durham Sun.

AN INEXPENSIVE WATER FOUNTAIN.

A convenient and inexpensive drinking fountain for chickens can be made by securing a pie pan then secure and melt off the top of a can the size of a tomato can. By placing the can top down on a hot stove the top will be melted loose and can be removed. Punch a half dozen holes a half inch from the top edge, fill can with water and invert it in the pan and you have an excellent water fountain. As the water is drunk out of the pan more will be delivered through the holes. The pan will stay filled to the upper edge of the holes if they are punched in the proper location.—B. F. KAUPP, Toultry Investigations and Pathology.

THE GAME LAWS FOR ALABAMA.

The recent Legislature enacted a law which makes it a misdemeanor, in any public place, to kill any game bird during the close season by any of the following methods: by fire, by any other means, or by any other means, or by any other means.

One is not to be allowed to kill any game bird at any time from the first of November to the first of March, or to kill any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season.

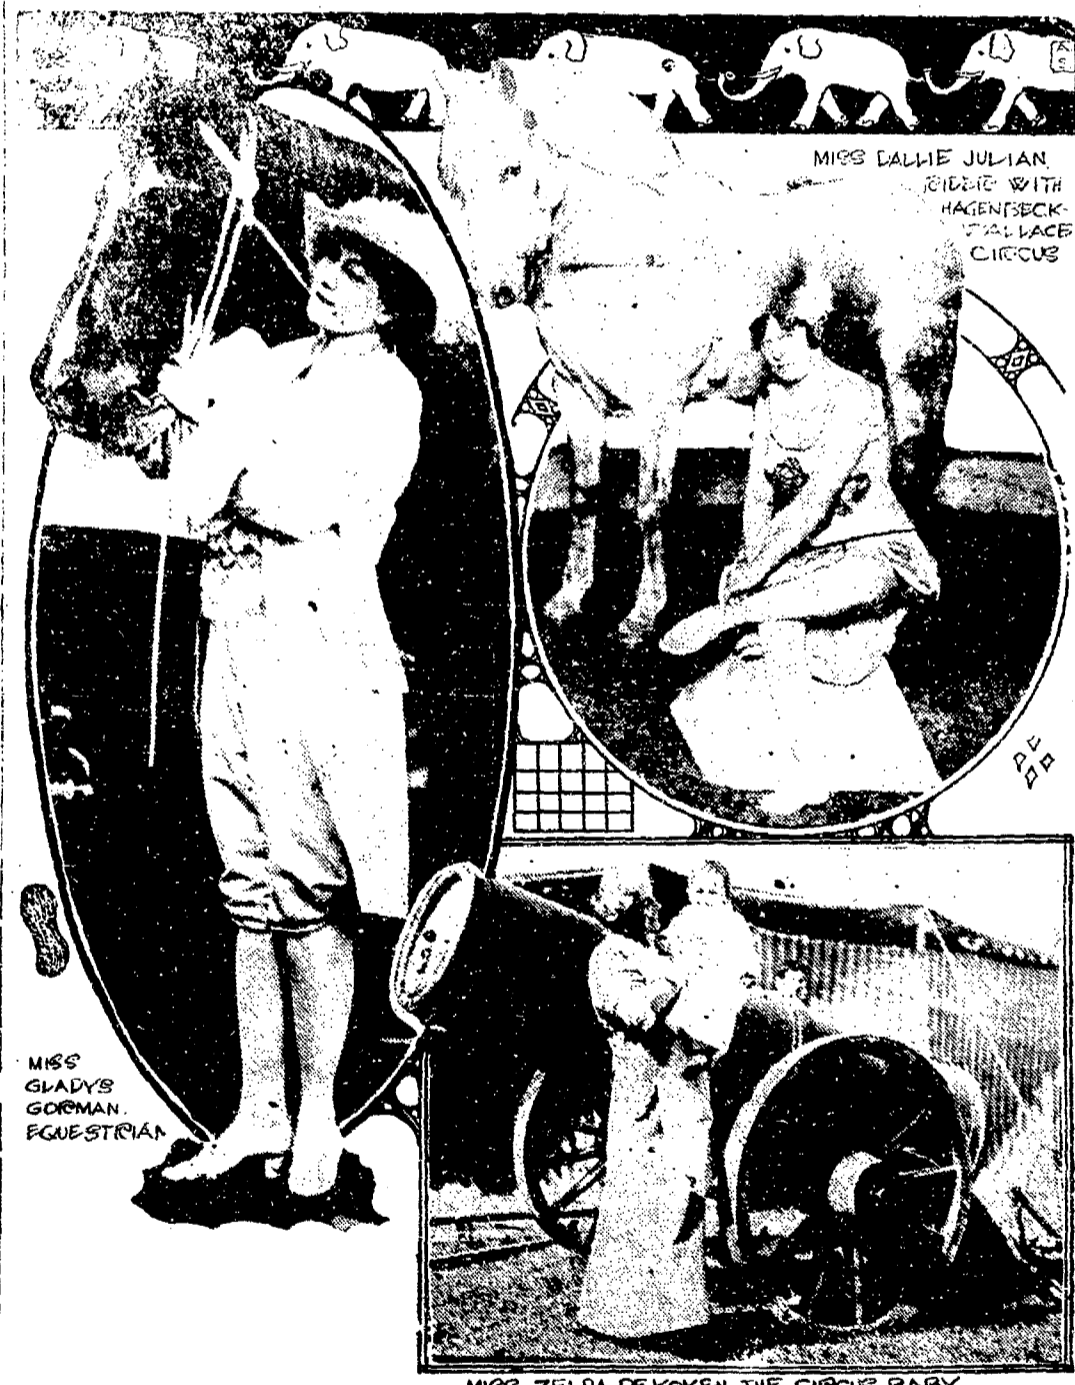

The Federal Game Laws also prohibit the killing of any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season.

The open season for hunting quail is from November 15th to March 15th. The Federal Game Laws also prohibit the killing of any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season.

The Federal Game Laws also prohibit the killing of any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season, or to kill any game bird during the close season.

They also prohibit: (a) The shipment from the state of any game the killing of which is forbidden by local law.

This new law makes it the duty of every Justice of the Peace and of every township officer, to arrest and prosecute any violation that may come to their attention.

William Van Horn, known as "Rattlesnake Bill," who has been wandering through Northern New Jersey and Pennsylvania for 30 years, most of the time making his living by killing or capturing rattlesnakes, began emulating Billy Sunday and started preaching from the steps of the Neighborhood House.
Temperance seemed to be the subject of his address, but Mounted Policeman Herbert C. Irons thought Bill was in no condition to talk on this topic and arrested him. When taken to jail Bill was asked if he ever had been locked up before. Pulling a small book from his pocket he consulted his records and found that his latest arrest made the one hundred

THEY ALL DEMAND IT.
Burlington, Like Every City and Town in The Union, Receives It.
People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the torture of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Burlington evidence of their merit.
Mrs. H. P. White, Front St., Burlington, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven a splendid kidney medicine in our family. I have taken them on several occasions when my back has been lame and sore and they have always given me quick relief. Another of my family had a very bad case of kidney trouble. The doctor said the only thing to do was to go to the hospital. However, Doan's Kidney Pills were used and the first few doses gave great relief. After taking a couple of boxes, the trouble disappeared and hasn't returned."
Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. White had. FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FIND GERMAN DEAD.
Norfolk, Va., Nov. 3.—Chief Surgeon Perrenon, of the German cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, interned at the navy yard, was found dead yesterday in his state room, it was learned today. Heart failure is believed to have been the cause. He was a line officer in the German navy with rank of captain.

FOR THE BANKERS TO CONSIDER
It is suggested that American bankers, if they are patriotic citizens, instead of loaning money to keep the war alive in Europe, will retain enough on hand to steer our own Government off the rocks. In the midst of our thankfulness that we have been involved in the conflict abroad, we might pause long enough to wonder what is wrong with a system which, despite a war tax and an income tax, permits the Government to run behind more than half a million dollars a day.—Newark (N. J.) Star.

THE ADENOID MENACE.

(By H. Addington Bruce.) Is your child a "mouth-breaker"? Does he take cold easily and is he often troubled with sore throat? Does he complain from time to time of earache? If he manifests these symptoms, don't try to overcome them by home remedies, or regard them as of no importance. Take him without delay to a good physician.

disease germs, which being taken up by the blood, get into the system and poison it. In this way, it has been found, the germs that cause rheumatism often gain lodgment in the joints. And not a few cases of germ-caused heart disease have similarly been traced to adenoids.

Her Father, a Duck, Took Girl Kidnap, Told in Court of Juneau, Alaska. Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 30.—That witchcraft still exists among the natives of Alaska was brought out in the United States District Court before District Attorney J. A. Smiser here.

she learned many things about witchcraft. The girl's story was told with straightforwardness and without contradiction and the reason she said she wanted something done with her father was because she feared he would kill her grandmother with witchery. The child's mother is dead and she is apparently very fond of her grandmother and is evidently sincere in her fear of her father's power.

The lowest percentage was found in Ogden, Utah, where only 4.5 per cent were unemployed and 14.3 per cent were working part time. The cities showing the largest percentage of part time workers were: San Diego 29.2; Oakland, 26.9; San Francisco, 25.4; Los Angeles, 24.1; Sacramento, 23.7. The average for the twelve western cities investigated was 20.2 per cent.

ARE YOU EDUCATED?

A professor of the University of Chicago has evolved a series of test questions for the educated which, he avows, are the best evidences of a real education. If you can answer "yes" to all the questions you are truly educated, the professor says. Here are the questions: Has education given you sympathy with all the good causes and made you espouse them? Has it made you public spirited? Has it made you a brother to the weak? Have you learned how to make friends and keep them? Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself? Can you look an honest man or pure woman in the eye? Do you see anything to love in a little child? Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

WIFE TOO BEAUTIFUL HE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Husband Unable to Give Her "Proper Setting" on Salary of $100 Per Month.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—John F. Suits has filed suit for divorce in the Circuit Court because, as he says, Mrs. Suits is too beautiful to be the wife of a salaried clerk and that is what Suits is.

Suits has come to realize, he says, after ten years of hard efforts to support an extremely beautiful woman in the "correct setting," that it cannot be done on $100 a month.

Mrs. Suits made up her mind on that score two years ago, when she left her husband and decided to support herself on her music talents. Suits struggled for two years to get enough money to entice his beautiful wife back again. And now comes the divorce proceedings.

The poor drug clerk was forced to realize that his salary was insufficient to support his charming wife in the way she deserved. He knew $1,200 a year was not enough to put his wife in the circles of society where her beauty warranted, so he finally made up his mind not to be a drag to her any longer. He decided to get a divorce that she might climb to the highest pinnacles of her ambition. He would hold her back no more.

The bill declares Mrs. Suits is "fully cognizant of her charms, both as a musician and a beauty and aspires to a superior station in life to that of the wife of a salaried clerk."

Mrs. Suits' "setting" is 4220 Ellis avenue, where she is the only diamond in the tiara except her mother, who keeps house for her. She refused to expose her beauty to newspaper men, but when she was told through the door that her husband had said she was "too beautiful for matrimony," she replied sweetly:

"Yes, but why didn't he think so before this?"

LOVE'S LABOR LOST.

One night four Princeton boys, according to the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, went gayly forth to serenade two belles of the town. Arrived at the house of the fair ones, they took their stand under the correct window, as they thought and for some time made the night more or less melodious.

They were just preparing to leave when a door opened and the jolly old father of the girls appeared. Had it been light they might possibly have seen a twinkle in his eye.

"Boys," said he, "we are much obliged. That is, I am much obliged, for I happen to be alone tonight. I am sorry to say that the family in New York, but I thank you for coming. Maybe if you come again you'll have better luck. But in the name of old Princeton, boys, if you do come when the girls are here, don't play in the bath room window."

"Man as he thinks he is, and what he does is the result of the sum total of this thought."

A CREED.

To be earnest, to be strong; To make light the way with song; Slow to anger; quick to praise; Working steadfast through the days, Firm of purpose, sure of soul; Pressing onward to the goal, Upright, even, undismayed, Sure, serene and unafraid.

To be patient; to be kind; To be purposeful and find Sweetness all along the way; Loath to judge, but firm to say Truth with unrelenting tongue; By no evil veered or swung From the right and to endure Hopeful, helpful, clean and pure.

To be gentle; to forgive; True to life and glad to live; To be watchful and to be Rich with boundless charity; To be humble in success. Strong of heart in bitterness; Tender, gracious, thoughtful, good, In our man and womanhood.

To be smiling; to be glad For the yesterdays we've had; To be grateful all the way, For the beauties of today; To be hopeful and to see In the days that are to be, Bigger, better, broader things, Robes of purple, crowns of kings. —Collier's Weekly.

MATRIMONY FRIGHTENS HER.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—A husky young Hollander, member of the staff of a New York newspaper, is dreaming of the future when a certain girl shall become his bride. This is to tip him to the fact that dreams sometimes are merely dreams.

For the girl, although she helped rescue him from the clutches of a British court, where he was on trial for his life as a German spy, isn't sure she wants to become a bride.

"Frank is the finest boy in the world," says Nina Morris, playing in vaudeville in "The Blue Diamond," "but—but sometimes it comes to me that this thing I am about to do is—WHY, IT'S FOREVER! And that's a long time."

When the European war began, Schaffer's paper sent him to England as London correspondent. He was invited to a week-end party at Brighton with Miss Morris, Miss Alice Lloyd and other notable English and American artists. While on the sands a discussion arose regarding the portions of the allied and German armies.

Schaffer, who knew every inch of the western battle front, because of numerous tours long before the war, began tracing a map of the district on the sands with his cane.

Now, the war had been on several months and people in England were seeing German spies in every foreign-looking person. A man strolled by, heard Schaffer enthusiastically tracing the progress of the war—and the result was Schaffer's arrest in just about two jiffies.

"It was really funny," laughed Miss Morris. "Frank was terribly excited."

For two weeks Schaffer stalked wildly about a cell in Old Bailey and heard grim stories of German spies being finished off by well-drilled firing squads. It worried him. And then he came to trial.

"There must have been a thousand people in the court room," said Miss Morris, "and the poor boy was terribly nervous. He knew that his life depended on his every word and naturally he made many blunders."

They flashed his own correspondence on him and he had a hard time explaining its innocent purpose. But Miss Morris had mustered many English and American friends who gave their personal assurances that Schaffer had no desire to aid Britain's enemies or injure England, and after the unwinding of much red tape, she succeeded in gaining his release.

They came to America on the same steamer—and the engagement followed quite naturally. And now in their spare time, he two are bossing by long distance, the bungalow in New Jersey.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky. "It certainly has no equal for the bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

Saved Mine Option

A WESTERN Mining Engineer, with an option on a valuable mine was about to close the deal, when, at the last minute, the Western capitalists withdrew their support. With a few hours left in which to find the money, he got New York on the Bell Long Distance Telephone, talked with a banking house and outlined the proposition, which they agreed to finance.

A personal interview by the Bell Long Distance Telephone often closes a trade or saves a situation.
