Allies Stipulate Powder is to be Delivered During 1917—Building New Mills.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 15.—An additional $65,000,000 powder order from the allies has been awarded to the du Pont Powder Company, according to reliable information received here today. Officials of the company, however, refuse to confirm or deny the report, as has been the case with all war orders received by the company.

It is understood that this last order stipulates the powder is to be delivered during 1917, an indication that the allies do not look for an early cessation of hostilities.

All of the many mills of the company in different parts of the country are working day and night turning out powder for the allies, and additions are being added and new mills constructed almost as fast as the necessary arrangements can be completed. At the present time, extensive additions are being made to the Haskell and Gibbstown, N. J., plants. The Gibbstown plants are now turning out dynamite exclusively, but it is understood a large smokeless mill is soon to be constructed.

The company is now building a large wharf at Deep Water Point, and when it is completed, vessels will be able to load their powder cargoes there. A line of boats will then bring gun cotton direct from the City Point, Va., mills to Carney's Point.

A GOOD PLATFORM.

Being convinced that all men, like all great political parties, should have a platform, I have decided that mine (until I find a better one) shall be as follows:

To grant to all men the great privilege of thinking and to reserve the same right for myself.

To consider consideration one of the greatest of virtues.

To help others to help themselves and to find my reward in seeing them do it.

To seek out and hug close to my heart a few real friends who understand, rather than to play for popularity.

To think well of everyone—including myself.

To give to all work entrusted to me, the best that is in me and to never be quite satisfied with my own efforts.

To keep my face to the light, and to laugh loudest and longest when about ready to cry.

To pin my faith to the Gospel of human service and to do my level best to live long and be good—for something.

To never forget my friends, and to always forget my enemies.

To spend as much time as possible, each day, in God's great out-of-doors, and to endeavor to read life's lessons from the pages of nature.

All of which, after being carefully reasoned out, seems good enough for—PASTOR BILL.

MR. ERWIN TO SPEAK.

Mr. William A. Erwin will speak to men next Sunday evening at 3 o'clock, at the church of the Holy Comforter. Mr. Edwin is well known to our people and is a pleasing speaker. All men are invited. Come, you will find a hearty welcome.

LETTER FROM CHAPEL HILL.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 18.—Extension Series Bulletin No. 2, on "The Teaching of County Geography" is now ready for distribution. This bulletin was gotten up for the University Bureau Extension by Professor M. C. S. Noble, Dean of the School of Education. As Professor Noble says in the introduction, "the purpose of this Bulletin is to give methods and suggestions to those teachers who wish to teach their pupils the geography of their county." In this study Orange County is used as a model. First an outline of topics is presented and then follows a brief presentation of the geography of Orange County based on this outline. Professor Noble is of the opinion that a careful reading of the outline and of the presentation of Orange County geography will suggest to teachers in other counties how they may follow the same outline in teaching the geography and history of their own county.

The general outline for this study falls under five heads: Physical-Political; Historical-Political; Industries; Towns; History and Education. Each of these heads is then taken up in detail.

Realizing that a bare outline of county geography and history would be insufficient, Professor Noble follows this up with a resume of Orange County geography and history. For instance, among the items taken up under the Historical-Political heading, he shows—for whom the county was named and by whom settled, population, occupation, crops, wealth of county, road system, manufactures, towns and schools.

The last five pages of the bulletin are given over to "suggestive questions for the teaching of county geography and history, taking Orange County as a model." As Professor Noble points out, the purpose of these questions, and of the outline in general, is to aid the pupil in building up his own county geography and history by writing at least one sentence under each topic of the outline.

One of the most striking features of the syllabus is the collection of illustrations. Seventeen cuts were used in the compilation of this little forty-page bulletin. One of the pictures shows the Orange County Courthouse at Hillsboro and the clock in the tower which was presented to the town by King George III in 1769 and has been a reliable time piece ever since. The most striking illustration is a double page map of Orange County drawn by Professor Noble. It is probably the only map of its kind in existence. The heavy border lines of the map show the boundaries of Orange County as defined in 1752 and 1753; the dotted lines in the center of the map show Orange County of today, after ten counties have been formed in whole or in part from the county as first formed. The bulletin contains numerous other cuts and topics of interest, too numerous, in fact, for a more detailed account of them here. A copy of the bulletin will be sent to every school in North Carolina. Other copies can be obtained by writing to Mr. E. R. Rankin, Secretary of the Bureau of Extension.

From the White House, on election night, came no comment on the results of this year's voting. The only statement forthcoming was that the President had gone to bed. As we recall, the stereotyped despatch from Fairview, Lincoln, Nebraska, on the election nights of 1896, 1900 and 1908, read: "Mr. Bryan retired early."

MEETING OF BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The Board of Aldermen met in regular semi-monthly session in the Mayor's Hall last Monday night. This proved to be a very interesting meeting, not only for the members of the board, but to the citizens as well. Several matters of no little importance came before the board for consideration and action.

Among the most important matters claiming the attention of the board were the election of consulting engineer for the city and the election of chief of police, the present incumbent, Mr. E. M. Long, having resigned to re-enter the mercantile business. Mr. E. W. Myers was chosen by the board for the position of engineer, whose duties will be to consult with the city officials in matters of improvement in street and other permanent improvements. Mr. Myers comes from Greensboro and is very highly recommended as an expert in his profession. He will no doubt render the city invaluable service in the position to which he has been elected.

There were several applications for the position of chief of police, and when the votes were counted Mr. R. A. Lutterloh was declared the successful applicant, who will be chief of our city from now henceforth. Mr. Lutterloh is a splendid gentleman and well known to the people of Burlington. We predict for him a successful career as "cop" for our little metropolis.

Other matters of minor importance were disposed of and thus another meeting of the "city fathers" was recorded upon the municipal records of Bigger, Better Burlington.

FIVE MEET VIOLENT DEATH AT HOPEWELL.

White Man Shot While He Slept, 3 Negroes Die on Train and Policeman Kills One.

Petersburg, Va., Nov. 15.—Hopewell celebrated the three week pay day with a number of killings, most of them negroes. Today on one of the trains en route from this city to Hopewell three negroes became involved in an argument over a previous crap game and began shooting, all of them being killed as was an innocent bystander and two others were wounded. All were colored. Another negro was killed by a police officer in defense of a fellow officer whom the negro was about to shoot down.

D. W. Atkins, a section foreman of the Norfolk and Western was killed yesterday being struck by a train.

The most sensational killings was that of Thomas J. Paschal, by Carl A. Pike. Pike, who runs the Virginia restaurant and rooming house, was a close friend of Paschal, as both were from Greensboro, N. C., and came of prominent families. Paschal was called at 5 o'clock this morning by Pike, and his failure to acknowledge the call resulted in his being shot to death while asleep. Letters found on the person of Pike, have a strong tendency to show that his mind is unbalanced. The killings of today have scared many of the negro employees of the PuPont Works and they have talked of quitting the works.

REV. GEORGE HOLMES IS ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Graham Divine Heads State Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church; Same Strong Addresses.

Greensboro, Nov. 18.—The 50th annual session of the North Carolina conference of the Methodist Protestant church convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at Grace Methodist Protestant church, with Rev. A. Cecil of High Point in the chair. The roll was called and a large number of ministers and laymen responded, there being approximately 200 churchmen present. The conference sermon was preached by Rev. H. L. Powell of Lexington, his subject being, "Personal Evangelization." The visiting minister handled the timely topic well and the closest attention was given every word.

At the afternoon session the election of officers for the ensuing year was held. Rev. C. A. Cecil, having served three years as president, declined re-election and Rev. George W. Holmes of Graham was elected president. There was a very spirited contest over the selecting of presiding officer, Rev. A. G. Dixon of High Point, being a favorite of many for the office of president. Rev. C. W. Bates of Asheville was chosen as secretary and Rev. J. E. Pritchard of Thomasville, reporter. Rev. S. W. Taylor, of Winton-Salem, was elected treasurer. A number of committees were elected.

This convention annually elects one minister and one layman whose duty it is to station the men in the various fields. This committee consist of Rev. C. A. Cecil of High Point, the retiring president and L. L. Wrenn of Siler City. Much business of routine nature was transacted and the gathering got down to real business of the conference today.

There were two fine addresses at the session last evening, the first of these having been delivered by Rev. H. L. Eldredge, D. D., president of Westminster Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md., representing ministerial education and young people's work. He laid special emphasis on the need of properly preparing men for the ministry, classing this as the greatest need of the church today. He referred to the very thorough preparation given the laymen in the schools and colleges, and declared that the ministry must be well trained in order to hold these laymen in the church.

Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon league, was the other speaker of the evening. He used a large nap of the country to show the territory now that is wet and dry. Some of the facts disclosed in his address were startling, to say the least. One of these was to the effect that 55 million people of the United States are now residing in territory that is legally dry. He also referred to the newest prohibition law in North Carolina, which restricts individual shipments of liquor to one quart every 15 days, and compared totals under this law to those of the preceding statute, under which five quarts could be had in a similar period. Even under the present law, he pointed out, there is a vast quantity of liquor consumed. In Greensboro, for instance, 653 gallons were received during the month of June, last.

It was an able address and Mr. Davis concluded with the statement that he is confident the next Congress will submit an amendment to the constitution to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor in the United States.

States.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. W. E. Swain, D. D., of Mebane. There are quite a number of visitors attending the conference, among them being Rev. F. T. Tagg, D. D., of Baltimore, editor of The Methodist Protestant, one of the most loved men in the denomination.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

When President Wilson attached his signature to the tariff bill which his party had just passed and thereby made it the law of the land, he gave out a statement in which he expressed his great and deep satisfaction at the opportunity this afforded him.

Mr. Wilson was a very poor soothsayer. The tariff question has not been settled. The recent election amply proves that fact. Where the issue was made the present tariff law, the Democrats lost the ground that previously they had occupied.

Protection is the great question of the land. It cannot be otherwise. It is in the best sense a home question. It involves in a very vital degree the prosperity of the country, and that means the happiness of the home.

The Republican party has always stood for protection. It has stood steadfast by this doctrine through good and evil report. Whenever the Republican party was in control of affairs during the last half century, we had protection and we prospered.

When we have tried other tariff policies, we have been obliged to halt and mark time until the people repented of their mistake and restored the Republican party to power.

Surely the people of this country have not forgotten what followed close upon the heels of the enactment of the present law. This was a measure that was heralded as a sublime piece of statesmanship and that was looked upon with infinite satisfaction by the White House and its followers.

That is what occurred before the outbreak of hostilities in Europe. It is what would be going on today but for the war. There should be and must be no confusion upon this point.

The Democrats are hopeful that the war, like charity, will cover a multitude of sins and among them their own political sins. But no one should be blinded by the war to our actual conditions at home or to the cause which lies back of them.

Colonel Bryan appears to have the notion that the President is getting to be something of a jingo himself. A beautiful woman without love is the sun without light.

to with intelligence and felicity. The Republicans will ask the country to vote again for a protective tariff law, and no issue that the Democrats can raise will suffice to throw it for a single moment into the background or the shadow.

SATISFIED.

MAKING CANVASS OF KITCHIN'S DISTRICT.

New York Newspaper Man Declares Big Majority Favor Adequate National Defense.

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 14.- A representative of the New York Herald, said to be Don Martin, political writer has been in this congressional district the past two or three days to determine sentiment in Congressman Kitchin's home district on the President's defense policy.

Martin, as the newspaperman admits his name to be, was to try to get an audience with Mr. Kitchin today. The New York man declared sentiment was even stronger in the district for "adequate" defense than he had expected to find it.

Colonel Bryan appears to have the notion that the President is getting to be something of a jingo himself.

UNIDENTIFIED BOY SHIPPED TO CHICAGO.

Miss Crumley Now Admits That "Dr. Hensley" Lived Only in Her Mind.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.-The body of the unidentified boy brought to Atlanta from Chicago by Julia Choate Crumley as that of her fiancée was started on its way back to Chicago to-day.

Under care of physicians here since the arrival of the body last Wednesday, she has stated that she realized that "Dr. Hensley" lived only in her mind and that she had worked incessantly to drive the hallucination away.

EXPLOSION WRECKS DU PONT POWDER MILL.

Houses in Wilmington Shaken by Report Three Miles Away—Cause Unknown.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 12.-One of the mills in the lower Hagley yard of the du Pont Powder Company, at Rising Sun, three miles west of this city, exploded at 8:40 o'clock tonight with a report that could be heard many miles and a shock that caused homes in this city to rock.

Officials of the company say they do not know what caused the accident, but it is similar to the several they have had during the last few months. They said there were about three hundred pounds of powder in the mill at the time, but heavy atmospheric conditions made the report and shock much greater than had the explosion occurred on a clear night.

The mill was known as a wheel mill where the ingredients of the powder are mixed. Houses at Rising Sun were damaged and many windows were broken. Hundreds of people rushed to the gates to inquire for re-lives in the yards, but no one was admitted. Officials of the company hurried to the plant in their automobiles and started an investigation. The mill was destroyed.

CLAIM WILSON CAN'T EXPECT BRYAN'S HELP.

Democrats Believe Former Secretary Will Oppose Second Term Plan.

Pacific Orator Won't Deliver Address Here—Some Say Commoner Will Seek Presidency Himself—Others Doubt It.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.-Following are the effects of Bryan's announced opposition to President Wilson's military preparedness program:

The Democratic majority in the House is broken by the subtraction of Bryan's following and the program will have to go through with Republican and Progressive support, rather than by caucus action and party vote.

An open split exists in the Democratic party and a joint debate is on between the Administration and Bryan which will separate the preparedists from the Pacificists.

President Wilson cannot count on Bryan's support for renomination or re-election.

The single term plank in the Baltimore platform has been injected into the Democratic situation as a party issue. While Bryan has not definitely announced that he would insist on this single term pledge his friends are convinced that this is his intention and it is an obvious sequel to the steps he has already taken.

Whether Bryan will become the nominee for the democratic nomination is a question still in doubt. There are those who believe that he will. Should he do so, however, there is small prospect that the result will be anything more than the wedge of a fractional fight in the democratic party with the Wilson forces in eventual control.

Campaign is begun. The campaign for President Wilson's renomination has begun. It is to be a campaign of public sentiment in which the President is represented as indifferent as to whether or not he is to have a second term, but will yield to the call of duty if his party or his country needs him.

THE General Manager was presenting plans for an extension of the factory to the company's directors at Detroit. He found that he had left an estimate sheet in his desk at the factory. He called up the factory on the Bell Long Distance Telephone. His assistant read the figures to him and the directors were able to act without delay.

Southern Opposition.

Another reason not mentioned was the opposition of southern senators who convinced the President last winter a Presidential primary would be unconstitutional. An official statement issued from the white house at the time announced that the effort to secure a Presidential primary had been abandoned for this reason.

THE CORN-STALK BORER.

The Division of Entomology of the State Department of Agriculture is engaged in securing data upon the life-history and control of the corn-stalk borer. It is intended to carry on the work over a period of three or four years. A year's work has already been done. No control has as yet been devised, considerable difficulty being encountered because of the presence of two well-marked broods of the insect. During the past year a large amount of corn stubble has been examined at different intervals, to ascertain the percentage of infestation of corn planted early and late. From preliminary results it has been found that corn planted approximately before May 25 is affected with both broods; corn planted approximately after that date is affected by only one brood. The presence of the borer may be determined at this time of the year by examining corn stubble; a well grown white worm will be found in the tap root of the stubble. In the growing season the work of the insect is noticeable by the darkened channel made in the stalk near its base. The Department will welcome reports of its presence and injury.

U. S. COURT RULES ON MILEAGE BOOKS. ANCONA PASSENGERS DANCING AT TIME.

Non-Forfeitable When Presented For Another by Purchaser Himself.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The Supreme Court handed down today an important decision on mileage books. It held that a non-transferable railroad mileage book, sold under conditions that it would be forfeited if presented by any other than the original purchaser, may not be forfeited if presented by the purchaser himself for the transportation of another person.

This decision opinion was rendered in the case of Samuel J. Campbell, who sued the Southern for $1,000 damages for taking up a book that he tendered for his wife, who was riding with him from Greenville, South Carolina to Greensboro.

On November 24, 1910, Campbell presented two mileage books to the ticket agent at Greenville, and received in exchange for the proper amount of mileage detached two mileage exchange tickets for Greensboro. Both the mileage books were in his name and were limited to his use.

Campbell procured the tickets for the use of himself and wife. They boarded a train for their destination, but the ticket collector on the train refused to accept the mileage exchange ticket for Mrs. Campbell, when Campbell offered it. The collector asked for the mileage book, and refused to return the same, claiming that it was forfeited under a regulation, duly promulgated. He also required Campbell to pay full fare for Mrs. Campbell. Campbell brought this suit for $1,000 damage. Judging for $37 awarded Campbell in the trial court was affirmed by the Supreme Court of South Carolina.

The railway claimed that error was committed by the trial court holding that the ticket and mileage were not properly forfeited, because such decision was contrary to the lawful tariffs of the railway, which provided that if a mileage book or ticket issued in exchange for mileage was presented to an agent or conductor by any other than the original purchaser it should be forfeited. The railway claimed that the husband was the agent for the wife and that the provision for forfeiture was applicable.

The Supreme Court affirmed the lower court. Campbell will get $37 for his mileage book and the cash fare paid for Mrs. Campbell.

ECONOMIZING LABOR.

Two laborers were engaged to deepen a well which had become dry. One of them sent his mate down into the well while he sat at the top and directed the work, says the Baltimore Sun.

He first ordered the other man to "dig a bit on this side," the "dig a little more on that side," until the latter, tired of both the work and the orders, exclaimed, "You sit up there and use your tongue while I have to do all the work!"

"One man here giving directions," said the man at the top, "can do as much as ten men down there."

Thereupon his mate threw down his pick and climbed up beside the other man, "What are you doing here?" inquired the latter.

"Two men up here," answered his mate, "can do as much as twenty down there."

Rome, Nov. 12.—(Delayed in transmission)—Giovanni Martini of Reggio, Calabria, a survivor of the Ancona, in describing the scenes at the sinking of the liner, said that the first note of warning to the passengers in the steerage, who were dancing and listening to music at the time was a sound that was taken to be a clap of thunder.

"The ship slowed down," said Martini, "but the music continued until a ripping sound was heard, followed by a woman's screams. Everybody then seemed to understand what was happening and panic-stricken rushed to the deck."

"I shall never forget the American, Pasquale Lavigna, who had the courage to put himself in evidence by mounting the deck railing. Standing upright, he waved a large American flag in a desperate effort to save the ship by showing that there were Americans on board. I don't know what became of him. I think he was killed, as he disappeared suddenly."

TURNING PATRIOTISM TO POLITICAL ACCOUNT.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(Special correspondence)—That Woodrow Wilson is the Democratic party, and that he is Congress and that he is the State Department and all the rest of the Cabinet has been well known for some time.

But that he claims to be virtually the whole Nation also was not known until he disclosed it in his speech to D. A. R. at their silver jubilee.

The propriety of using the occasion for making a speech such as the President's was has been seriously questioned by many of the ladies who heard him; but it is among politicians that the speech created the most widespread interest. With one accord they recognize that the President was sounding a campaign slogan and there is a serious division of opinion regarding the probable results.

In effect the President declared that he wants an immediate line-up on the question, "Is America first or is it not?" He voiced his opinion that in all the "political agitations of the years which are immediately at hand" it will be necessary for every man to make his position known.

Now, it is evident that the only "line-up" and the only "political agitations" which are "immediately at hand" are the "line-up" and the "agitations" which will develop from the President's campaign for re-election. Mr. Wilson is held to be trying to make it appear that the only way to demonstrate patriotism in that connection is by voting for him.

Since, without recollection here, has a President gone so far in seeking to identify his own personality and his own political fortunes with the fate of the Nation. Washington is thoroughly familiar with the type of mind which life in the White House tends to develop. We know perfectly well how the isolation of the Executive Mansion, with no one seeing the President whom he does not wish to see and with no one telling him anything except what he wants to hear—we know perfectly well how this sort of a life breeds the idea in a President's mind that he is a sort of superman, that his opinions are always correct, that his actions are always wise and just, that he is, in short, infallible. Even the judicial Taft was not always immune to the microbe of such an idea—and Washington well remembers when the White House echoed with rhapsodies on the superiority of "my policies" as developed by "a man of my type."

Washington can remember many a President who has believed that his fellow-citizens who did not vote for him were misguided, or short-sighted, or unjust. But Washington cannot recall a President who has believed that his political opponents were un-American.

Yet Washington interprets Mr. Wilson's speech to the D. A. R. as meaning nothing short of this; and Washington believes that the President has thereby raised an issue which will prove him to a fatal political end.

The President ever now has no countenance majority mandate from the people of the United States. Only forty-two per cent of the electorate voted for him in 1912; and the indications are that no more will vote for him in 1916, while the divided opposition which blessed his fortunes three years ago is no longer in existence.

Yet the President is trying to assert that he embodies all of the patriotism and all of the spirit of nationality which the country possesses and that whoever does not give him complete political support is traitorous and un-American. This is the foreign doctrine of less-majesty transplanted to America. There are speedy evidences that this exotic plant will be blasted in the hot indignation of the millions of Americans who did not vote for Wilson before, who do not propose to vote for him next year and who know that they are just as patriotic as he is—if not more so.

GIRL RESENTS REMARKS BY SHOOTING WOMAN.

Anniston, Ala., Nov. 11. Effie Fencher, 17 years old, was held in the county jail tonight pending a change in the condition of Mrs. M. Eason, Hagerstown, Md. Last winter was when police charge Miss Fencher shot and according to the police the girl heard at Sunday School today that Mrs. Eason had made remarks about her which the girl resented. The hearing followed and it is said that Mrs. Eason is not expected to live.

CONQUEST BY PELLAGRA

The reported discovery of the cause and cure of pellagra gives a problem that has puzzled medical science for a decade. Both cause and cure prove to be so simple as to raise the hope that this dread disease may soon be eradicated from the country. Especially in the poor houses and insane asylums of the South where pellagra was dangerously prevalent, will this discovery be hailed with profound relief and thanksgiving.

Experiments on a number of prisoners who voluntarily submitted to the test have demonstrated that pellagra is caused by abstinence from certain kinds of foods, namely lean meat, peas, beans, eggs and the like. Living on a diet from which such foods were absent, the prisoners gradually contracted this terrible disease. Put back on a diet to which these foods were restored the prisoners gradually overcame the disease and will eventually be restored to complete health.

North Dakota was honored with a new bishop of the Episcopal church in 1914. He came from a rectorship at Hagerstown, Md. Last winter was the first for his family in the cold northwestern. The bishop's young son was observed by a neighbor last evening descending a great snowdrift away from the roof of his home in Fargo. Said the neighbor: "Did you have much snow in Maryland my boy?"

The youngster with a refined and cultivated southern drawl, replied: "Yes, it snowed there, but not so thoroughly as here."

A man's character is founded by his understanding, and his will, dominated by that which predominates.

Entered as second-class matter May 10, 1908, at the post office at Burlington, North Carolina, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Have you paid your poll tax for the year 1915? Pay it early and when you do pay, see that it is for the year 1915. Do not be deceived. Of course, if you owe for other years, they should be paid, but you can pay for any year you choose.

Alamance county will have a primary law for state and congressional candidates next year, but this county is exempt from the operation of the law for county officers. How come? We thought our representative was in favor of a primary during the campaign last election.

There was a large crowd at the Republican Executive Committee meeting in Raleigh last Wednesday, and much enthusiasm was manifested. Reports from all sections of the State indicate that there is much dissatisfaction with the present Democratic administration and increased taxes. Some former strong Democrats say that they cannot stand this condition any longer and will either vote the Republican ticket in the next election or will refrain from voting at all and thereby help the Republican ticket. Many prominent men say that the past Republican administrations have been conducted along economical lines and they are willing to trust them again.

It is generally understood that the tariff will be the issue in the next national campaign. There is urgent need for a protective duty to prevent the flooding of our markets at the close of the war in Europe. Unless this is done before the war ends, our country will be flooded with imported goods made by the cheap pauper labor of all the foreign countries that are now at war. Millions of women and children will have to work for starvation wages because the men have been killed, and there is no wage earner to provide the family with a living. Our people should wake up now and not wait until it is too late when the war ends and it must end some time. The goods already made and waiting for safety of the seas will be dumped over here and our own markets will be ruined. This is no idle dream, it is a reality, and the one sure way to avoid this dire calamity, is to elect Republicans to office, thereby insuring the enactment of a protective tariff. The place to begin is at home right here in Alamance county and the state of North Carolina.

NATIONAL POLITICS.

The next national campaign promises to be about the liveliest we have had for a decade. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan have openly disagreed, and the country finds itself faced with the problem of "preparedness" with a large following on either side. Nor can it be a party question, for Democrats and Republicans stand with Wilson and Democrats and Republicans with Bryan. The Quakers who are mostly Republicans are standing on the Bryan side of the fence, and there are thousands of people who have adopted the Quaker view since this fool was begun, and they cling to both parties. What the outcome of it all will be no man can say. It is more than probable that the President will win in the reversal of the policy of the government, for two thirds of the Congressmen are puppets, ready to follow anywhere so as to be in agreement with the administration (we are not speaking at random in this statement—they are almost the identical words used by an intelligent congressman in our hearing). But the victory is not won when the appropriation is made, for Congress is not the country. The question of armament will be the burning issue in the campaign of 1916 overshadowing the tariff and all other matters that usually form the principal material in the handbooks. How the people of the country as a whole will take to blue clothes and brass buttons we are not able to say but we do say that there are millions of thoughtful citizens who have little patience with the tinsel splendor of the professional soldier and especially with the insolence of the army officer. Heretofore ours has been a nation of peace lovers. We have exalted the citizen in plain clothes. As soon as the fervor of the war between the States was over we quit electing "Generals" to office and even in our state the Confederate soldier is no longer a battle cry. We have not raised our boy to be a soldier and it will go hard with some of us to change our notions in this respect. So, taking it all in all, we are going to have a strenuous time next year, but it will be a most informing and important campaign and every boy in the land ought read a paper, and keep thoroughly posted on the tremendous issues that divide our people and the adoption of which will settle national policy for years to come.

THE PEOPLE HAVE THE LAST SAY.

President Wilson has "jined" J. Pierpont Morgan and the rest of the Wall Street robber—they are the men who will get the big rake off in their line and cry for a greatly increased expenditure for army and navy purposes in this country and all the subsidized newspapers, big and little, in the country who get their opinions from Wall Street and its subsidiaries are lauding him to the skies.

And our own Brother Josephus Daniels, who has written several hundred thousand columns, more or less, in the Old Reliable against the spread of militarism in this country, has joined in the chorus also "For a Navy next to England's" and is now trying to out-Herod any of them!

Verily, these be strange times we have fallen upon, and it is truly remarkable the changes that will take place in the minds of some men after only a few months' hobnobbing with the super-great minds of Washington and New York.

Fortunately, however, the plans of Mr. Wilson and Bro. Daniels for the expenditure of a billion dollars of the people's money for absolutely useless purposes (except for graft) are yet subject to the people's say so, and our opinion is that when the true representatives of the people in Congress get through with them, they will look very much like a thirty-cent piece with a hole in it—Webster's Weekly. Yes, the people have the last say and they are going to say it in November, 1916 and it will not be thank God for Wilson but thank goodness we have beat Wilson.—Editor.

Next to being a "deserving Democrat" the best-paying proposition down South is lending money. Interest charges in Dixie net the banks all the way up to 120 per cent. W. P. G. Harding, one of the Southern and Democratic members of the Federal Reserve Board, is authority for this statement—he having told the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce that there are five national banks in Alabama (Mr. Harding's own state) whose maximum rates of interest average 26 per cent, the rate in one case being 60 per cent and in another 84 per cent. The average rate of interest which one of these banks was charging on all of its loans amounted to 12 per cent and another 10 per cent. In Arkansas one national bank admitted making a loan at a rate as high as 120 per cent, another one at 50 per cent, another at 60 per cent and another at 25 per cent. In Georgia there were eleven banks where the average maximum rate of interest was about 30 per cent. The maximum rate charged by one of these banks was 40 per cent, and the average on all loans was 15 per cent. No bank in South Carolina admitted charging more than 15 per cent. In Texas a number of banks reported rates in excess of 100 per cent. And yet the South pays less, far less, income tax than any other portion of the country and whenever the cotton crop is to be moved, the South lets out a loud roar demanding Federal help.

Colonel E. Polk Johnson of Louisville, who fought for the Confederacy read something in the dispatches from the front the other day that reminded him very much of what happened when he was serving in the western army of the Civil War. "I remember it was a wet, cold, rainy night in the middle of the winter," said the veteran, "when a long, lank chap in my regiment was ordered to go on picket duty. He thought the situation over for a minute and then he turned to the sergeant who had brought the message. "You go right straight back where you come from," he drawled, "and tell the cap'n I jest natchelly can't do it. The New York Globe says that "the industrial condition of the country is encouraging," basing its assertion on the statements of a Democratic Department of Labor. "If 'encouraging' is all that can be said for conditions by a 'booster,' there is certainly large room for improvement. There is a vast difference between 'encouraging' and 'satisfactory.' While there is life, there is hope, but long continued hopefulness gets monotonous.

Sometimes, I can hardly straighten, my back is so weak and lame. Often, sharp twinges catch me across my kidneys, so that I can hardly move for a minute or so. THE GAME LAWS FOR ALAMANCE.

The recent Legislature enacted a law which makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $50.00 or by imprisonment for thirty days, for anyone to sell or offer for sale, or to buy or offer to buy, quail within the county of Alamance for a period of two years from March 8th, 1915. Carrying or shipping or in any manner transporting quail out of the county for the purpose of selling same is forbidden. And the fact of taking quail out of the count is prima facie evidence that it was done for the purpose of sale. The open season for hunting quail is from November 15th to March 1st. The Federal Laws also prohibit the killing of any migratory game or insectivorous birds during the closed season, as prescribed by regulations of the Department of Agriculture under Act of March 4th, 1913, (37 Stat. 847.) They also prohibit: (a) The shipment from the state of any game the export of which is forbidden by local law. (b) Export of any games killed in violation of local law during the closed season by illegal methods or for illegal purposes. (c) Shipment at any time from the state of game in packages not marked so that the name and address of the shipper and the nature of the contents may be readily ascertained by inspection of the outside of the package. These laws are designed for the protection of the agricultural interests of our county, for the birds are of great value in destroying harmful insects. And it is hoped to stop that practice, indulged in by one, of killing the birds in large numbers, not for the sport of hunting but for the money they can make in selling the birds and without regard to the loss to our county by the extermination of the game. This new law makes it the duty of every Justice of the Peace and of every township officer to arrest and prosecute any violation that may come to their attention.

The plurality for the Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky has fallen to three hundred and twenty-seven and they were probably voted cast by men who had not heard of the President's letter urging the election of the Democratic candidate. We fear the Republicans neglected their duty to give the letter a State-wide circulation. Representative Moon of Tennessee, is quoted as saying that his colleague, McKellar, is too light for the Senate. As to that we do not venture an opinion, but we do remember having heard it intimated that the light shed by Mr. Moon is none too bright for the House. Gumption is doing the right thing at the right time and place.

SWIMS TO ESCAPE FROM INTERNED CRUISER HERE.

Thery, Member of Eitel Friedrich's Crew, Missing, German Captain Reports; Police Watch Trains and Boats Leaving Port.

By lowering himself down the side of his ship probably by the anchor chain, S. Thiery, a fireman on the interned German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, escaped from the vessel Thursday night. Rear Admiral Beatty, commanding the Norfolk navy yard says the man made a clean get-away, despite the vigilance of American marines who guard all approaches to the ship. Admiral Beatty says the man must have lowered himself to the water, swam a considerable distance and made his way to a swamp at the extreme end of the yard, by crawling or swimming under the docks.

The missing man is described as being 25 years old; 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighs 135 pounds. He has blue eyes and when he left the ship he had a moustache and goatee. The man escaped sometime between 9 o'clock Thursday night and 6 o'clock yesterday morning. He answered the muster call at 9 o'clock Thursday night but was missing this morning. Officers searched the ship, thinking he might be asleep. They found no trace of him and at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Rear Admiral Beatty was advised of his absence. He immediately notified the police of Norfolk and Newport News and the custom authorities. All boats and trains leaving here last night were under surveillance, but no trace of the missing German was found. Rear Admiral Beatty says it would require a guard of 300 or 400 men to prevent interned sailors from escaping if they decided to lower themselves over the sides of their ships and swim to freedom. He says there is no way for any man on either the Eitel Friedrich or the Kronprinz Wilhelm to escape by land or by boat. American marines patrol the dock at which the two ships are moored, but they cannot prevent a man escaping, unless they see him, if he lowers himself noiselessly to the water and swims away.

These laws are designed for the protection of the agricultural interests of our county, for the birds are of great value in destroying harmful insects. And it is hoped to stop that practice, indulged in by one, of killing the birds in large numbers, not for the sport of hunting but for the money they can make in selling the birds and without regard to the loss to our county by the extermination of the game. This new law makes it the duty of every Justice of the Peace and of every township officer to arrest and prosecute any violation that may come to their attention.

FIND HUMAN FOOT IN DUMPING GROUND.

Murder Mystery About to Develop in Atlanta Police Believe.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 15. The finding by negro boys of a human foot on a city dumping ground in the outskirts of Atlanta today led to a police investigation which disclosed other pieces of human flesh, including parts believed to be from the trunk and thigh. The foot and other flesh appeared to be that of a white woman.

A police theory that a woman had been murdered and parts of her body hidden in the garbage pile, apparently was strengthened by statements of three negro women living nearby that early Sunday morning a cab dashed past their homes and they heard a woman scream for help.

Find Pieces of Clothing Near. Detectives later found pieces of a woman's clothing near where the human remains lay, but were unable to discover other human parts. The clothing appeared to have been hacked up with a sharp instrument. Search was being made tonight for a cabman who might have passed that section early Sunday.

Injury at local hospitals and medical colleges, detectives said, showed that no parts of a body, removed in an operation or in dissection, had been disposed of that they would reach a city dumping ground. Negroes who daily search the garbage heap for possible values said the pieces of flesh were not there Saturday.

If English is guilty of all the things alleged in Secretary Lansing's note, and no doubt she is, how long are we going to put up with it?

Character is what a man is, reputation is the estimation of his fellows.

HER IMAGINARY LOVE ENDS TRAGEDY.

Atlanta Minister's Daughter Examined For Sanity After Bringing Home Body of Tramp as That of Fiancee; Admits He Existed Only in Her Mind; Man Still Unidentified.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13.—Dr. Alleyne Hensley, announced in formal wedding invitations and in society columns of local newspapers as the fiancee of Miss Julia Choate Crumley, a music teacher of this city, existed only in her imagination. It became definitely known today. Not until Miss Crumley had gone to Chicago, "identified" the body of an unknown, killed in a railroad accident, and shipped it here as that of "Dr. Hensley," did her family and friends suspect anything unusual. She is being attended by nerve specialists today at the home of her father, the Rev. Howard Lee Crumley, well known former Methodist minister.

Controversial statements made by Miss Crumley after she arrived with the body led close friends of the family to call a physician who had known her for years, to observe her. It is said that she stated to him that Dr. Hensley was a creature of her mind and that the identity of the body at the undertaking establishment here was known to her.

The funeral had been set for Thursday at the undertaker's parlors. An announcement appearing in newspapers yesterday stated that it had been postponed. Friends of the family stated today that they employed this method to gain time to investigate further.

Those who saw the body today said its identity was that of a man not accustomed to a life usually led by a surgeon. An effort was being made to have Chicago authorities take it back.

Two years ago Miss Crumley was at Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore undergoing an operation. On her return she told family and friends that a Dr. Alleyne Hensley had performed the operation and that they had fallen in love with each other. Letters she received she said were from "Dr. Hensley," whose home she said was in Quebec, Canada.

Two weeks ago invitations to the wedding on November 17 were issued and published notices went so far as to give the details of the forthcoming wedding, stating that the 11-year-old daughter of Dr. Hensley would be a flower girl.

Miss Crumley left Atlanta about the time of the announcement, stating that she was going to New York to purchase her trousseau. Last week relatives received a message saying she had received a telegram to the effect that "Dr. Hensley" had been badly injured in a train wreck. Another message from Chicago said he had died before she arrived and that she was bringing the body here.

Body That of Tramp.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—A body which Miss Julia Choate Crumley, of Atlanta, is said to have claimed in Chicago as that of her fiancee, Dr. Alleyne Hensley, of Quebec, Canada, was in fact that of a tramp destined for the Potters field, according to a statement today by members of the undertaking firm which cared for the body. Dispatches from Atlanta last night said that Miss Crumley had announced in Atlanta that Dr. Hensley had been killed in a railroad accident and that she had brought back his body from Chicago.

An officer of the Western Undertaking Company said Miss Crumley last Tuesday claimed the body as that of her husband.

"I'm looking for the body of Dr. Hensley. I was told that you have a body here which I believe is that of my husband."

The officer said the body of an unknown man killed on the Illinois Central Railroad tracks a week before was shown to Miss Crumley.

"That's my husband," she said, according to my husband. He said she declined to view the clothing, saying it was unnecessary and that arrangements were made immediately for shipping the body to Atlanta, with Miss Crumley paying the bill.

MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS—OTHER NEWS.

The month of November is set apart by the State Superintendent in an official letter and by the Governor in his acclamation as Moonlight School month. The purpose of such a school is to teach the adult illiterates of the state to read and write, to give the man who works all day a chance to learn the rudiments of an education. The census of 1910 shows that with the exception of New Mexico and Louisiana, North Carolina has the largest percentage of native born white illiterates in the United States ranking forty-sixth in this particular. We have in the good old North State 14 percent of white illiterate voters. Many of these are god men. They are the slaves of unfortunate circumstances. Many of these men have fought we'll the battle of life that have made possible the rays of light that have blessed some of us with their beams of benediction. May we not join readily and heartily in the movement to share at least in part with these unfortunate ones at this late hour what they have helped to give to us?

It has been planned to have these night schools organized wherever a working number can be secured. One month is the least unit that will be undertaken, and it is hoped that all schools will continue two or three months or longer—two or three nights in the week.

Several schools have been organized and are now in session. Midway school between Carolina and Hope Dale has a school with an enrollment of 50 with a prospect of 25 more. Osippee has organized with 10 and expect a number more. The ages of the Osippee pupils range up to 46. This school has three grades and much interest is manifested. Elmira expects to organize Tuesday night of this week. Graham has just closed a very successful school that lasted for two months. This school enrolled 36 grown ups and had five grades. There were 17 pupils in the first grade and some of these were more than 50 years of age. The expression of every teacher was that the students did well.

The three community Fairs of the county were held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Spring, Hawfields and Friendship respectively. The weather was good and the fairs were a great success.

The departments of field and orchard products, crops, cooking, sewing, pantry and dairy, school work, manual arts and live stock all came in for a place. The products of these departments were judged by experts and discussed before the people for their instruction. There was a fine exhibit of horses and cows at Spring. At Hawfields there was a fine exhibition of all kinds of live stock—horses, cows, sheep, goats, hogs, ponies, and poultry. Mr. R. W. Scott had a fine flock of sheep at Hawfield and a splendid exhibition of wool products showing both the raw and the manufactured products. What was unique, however, was the old hen on the nest among Mr. Scott's exhibit and a little further down the line was three possums—shore enough live possums in a simmon tree.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Kerr, demonstrators had beautiful samples of cover crops growing—also trees sprayed and unsprayed—fruit sprayed and unsprayed. It was of special interest to see the marked difference.

Friendship had an excellent address by Mr. H. B. Varner of Lexington on "Good Roads". At Friendship athletics took an important part on the program. Burlington and Graham were over to join the home team in contests in the various games.

Alamance is the pioneer county in Community Fairs. Other counties are following the practice. Durham county is holding three this year. Vance and other counties are following suit too.

PREPARING FOR HEALTH DAY

Teachers Urged to Provide Composition Work For Children on Health Subjects—Prizes Offered.

The teachers for this county are being urged by the State Board of Health to stress the importance of composition writing on the part of their pupils as a necessary preparation for Health Day. The Board says: "We believe the greatest good to be derived from Health Day, both to the community and to the children will be the education that comes to the children through their composition work. They, with the teacher's aid, will select some health subject on which to write and then will write the State Board of Health, at Raleigh, for literature on that subject. From this literature, they will get what ever of facts and information will be necessary for them to use in their composition work and thus they will come to have a fair knowledge of one or more health subjects."

The State Board of Health says further: "We will know just where to expect good work is being done along this line from the orders that come in for literature. We will be able to know just what schools are and are not taking an active interest in this important health feature that has been provided for the good of the school and the communities."

"Of course every teacher will explain that a prize of five dollars will be given to the child who prepares and reads the best composition on a health subject in the county. A second prize of three dollars will be given for the next best composition. A prize of ten dollars will be given the school principal or teacher whose school scores the highest on Health Day, and a second prize of six dollars will be given the principal or teacher whose school scores next highest." These prizes are worth working for not only for their money value but for the worth of the work that they are intended to stimulate. Furthermore, the schools of this county cannot afford not to take advantage of this opportunity for learning more about the vital subject of health and accepting the benefits that have been provided not only for the school but for the community on Health Day.

BETWEEN TWO CHARMERS.

(By Edna K. Woolley.)

It's one of the cutest little courtin' stories I've heard in many a day, and I'm going to tell it to you as nearly as possible in the words of the young man himself, who related it while his pretty wife laughed and dimpled and corroborated.

"You know I used to be her teacher," he commenced nodding toward said pretty wife. "That's how I met her."

"We had opened night classes in the commercial school where I taught, and one evening there came demurely into my class room two pretty girls, who were to be my pupils."

"That evening I said to the superintendent, as we walked home together—'Well, I see what's going to happen to me.' I'm going to marry one of those two girls."

"I preferred this one—" again nodding over at his wife, who was giggling delightfully. "She was so cute and plump, and there was something about her I just can't explain. Anyway, one night I fixed it so I walked down the long hall with her after class hours, and I was going to walk home with her, but by Jimmy—When we got at the end of the long hall, there was another fellow waiting to take her home."

"Well," I thought to myself, 'I guess I'm too late there.'

"So I made up to the other girl, and took her home next night—there was not any other fellow around to show me off. She was a nice girl and just as pretty as the other, only—Well, anyway, I tried to make a date to call on her. Seems she had a steady fellow, and when I wanted to call the next Sunday she said maybe he wouldn't like it."

"We fenced around there for a considerable while, she trying to make me set a date and I trying to make her set one and both kind of enjoying it. Finally, she said she'd put off the other fellow this next Sunday evening and I could come. So that was settled."

"But before Sunday came I found out that this one—" again nodding toward the pretty wife—"didn't really have any steady fellow. That was Thursday evening, when I managed to walk home with her. Right after that I began wondering how I could get out of that Sunday date with the other girl. I intended to call on this one that Sunday, and to keep calling until I got her, but after all the fuss I'd made to get a date with the other girl it seemed sort of mean not to keep it. Finally, I just called her up on the phone and told her I was pretty sick and guessed I wouldn't be able to come out Sunday and she'd better satisfy her 'steady' that he was expected. It was awful lame, of course, and she saw through it—but I had to do it, you see. There simply wasn't any holding me when I found this one wasn't spoken for."

"The other girl never held it against me, though. She said she knew right along which one I preferred and, anyway, she was engaged to the man she wanted to marry. She married now, too and we're all the best of chums."

"But doesn't it just go to show," teased the pretty bride, "that a man is fickle? Now when he thought he couldn't have me he was perfectly willing to take somebody else."

"Not at all," teased back the husband. "I'd have taken you both if it hadn't been against the law."

In October, 1913, the first month of the Democratic tariff law, 61 per cent of our imports came in without paying a cent of revenue to the government. At present duty free goods form 66 per cent of our importations. The Democrats promised the country, during the campaign of 1912, that the tariff law they would enact would lower the cost of living. The New York Times Annalist index number showing average wholesale prices of 25 food commodities for the week ending October 16, 1915, is 142.93, compared with 141.6 for the corresponding week of October, 1913. The cost of living goes up instead of down; foreign producers are presented with a free market, and the Treasury funds continue to dwindle.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING THE BEST. SPEAKER SAYS.

Newspaper advertising is the most effective for the business man, according to R. H. Durbin, president of the Poor Richard Club. In an address before the Business Science Club at the first Fall luncheon yesterday at the New Hotel Bingham, Mr. Durbin told of the advance in modern advertising and its place as a necessary factor in the business world.

"Every business man should advertise," said Mr. Durbin. "It is his best investment. Without advertising he is unknown, virtually dead. There are times when advertising was not reliable and the public was loath to believe in it, but now it is vastly different."

This revolution in advertising, he explained, has been brought about solely by the newspapers.

"Philadelphia should advertise—I mean the city," continued the speaker. "It should spend $100,000 a year on display advertising. I do not mean to infer that it is dead; it isn't; but advertising would help it immensely. Business men should advertise in the newspapers for it has been shown that 81 per cent of the goods sold in the retail stores are purchased by women. The business man's ad. should go into the paper so that it will go into the homes of these women."
