Latest reports from here are to the effect that she is getting along as well as could be expected, but will have to remain there for some time yet for other operations. Dr. Page, her physician, returned Sunday and assured relatives and friends that the succeeding operations will be successful and that she will be able to return home in a few weeks.

THE HOME OF THE SPRINGFIELD ON FIFTY-EIGHTH STREET IS A DESOLATE ONE.

When the picture of Springfield was brought out last night, a physician had to be summoned. The mother weeps constantly and means that she felt this would happen.

THE WIFE, IN A SERIOUS CONDITION, IS AT 432 UNION STREET, WILMINGTON, WHERE SPRINGFIELD TOOK HER TO HIS HOME WHILE HE WORKED IN THE POWDER MILLS.

One of the uninjured survivors among the employees who were at the Henry Clay plant Tuesday afternoon, at the time of the explosion, was Albert Hobson, the young wife's father.

INTEREST IS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY IN THE APPROACHING TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD DECEMBER 18TH AT REIDSVILLE.

Interest is developing rapidly in the approaching tournament to be held December 18th at Reidsville. Contestants from the counties of Rockingham, Guilford, Caswell, and Alamance will participate and a keen contest for county and individual honors is looked for.

THERE WILL BE EXHIBITS OF AN EDUCATIONAL NATURE, FREE PICTURE SHOWS, BAND CONCERTS, ETC., AND CONCLUDING WITH A GRAND BALL IN THE EVENING, A DAY OF JOYOUS EVENTS THAT WILL MARK AN EPOCH IN REIDSVILLE AND ROCKINGHAM COUNTY, AND DRAW INTO CLOSER FRIENDLY RELATIONS THE GOOD FOLKS OF THE WHOLE SECTION.

But the chief event of the day will easily be the Riding Tournament, and many a good knight will enter the lists with his "Fayre Lady's ribbon on his sleeve, determined to do or die to win her approval, and a spirited contest will naturally result. It has been the popular belief that expert horsemanship as a peculiar coincident to western citizenship, but those who have witnessed the tournaments held previously in other parts of the State of North Carolina have had occasion to revise such opinions, and those who will be presented on December 18th to witness the riding feats of the young manhood of Rockingham, Guilford, Stokes, Caswell, and Alamance counties will feel a thrill of pride in the state that can produce such daring equestrians.

The lists of entries are being prepared and will shortly be closed, and contestants are urged to communicate without delay with the Chairman, Mr. John M. Harris, Reidsville, in order that the program may be completed as soon as possible.

MR. E. O. WAY, AN OVERSEER IN THE FINISHING DEPARTMENT OF THE AURORA COTTON MILLS, MET WITH A VERY SERIOUS ACCIDENT WHILE ATTENDING TO HIS DUTIES IN THE MILL LAST FRIDAY MORNING.

He was performing some work on one of the large machines and in some manner his arm was caught between the large cylinders on the machine and right seriously bruised. An examination by a surgeon revealed that no bones were fractured, and that the wound was not fatal. Mr. Way is confined to his home but is getting along nicely and is now on the road to a speedy recovery. The incident was purely accidental, and was very deeply regretted by the mill proprietors and friends of Mr. Way.

ON LAST WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, MISSES RUTH AND THELMA THURSTON ENTERTAINED THE MEMBERS OF THE KILL KARE KLUB.

An embroidery contest was the chief feature of the afternoon, followed by an ice course, served by Miss Thelma Thurston, assisted by little Miss Josephine Thurston.

THE FORCE AT THE ALAMANCE LOAN AND TRUST CO., IS WORKING OVER TIME THESE DAYS GETTING OUT THEIR CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB CHECKS FOR THE CLUB JUST CLOSED.

On or before the 15th, they will mail out checks to more than 1,000 members, aggregating about $16,500.00. This money saved so easily, just a small amount each week will bring happiness and joy to many a household which otherwise would not have enjoyed it. The merchants will also reap a harvest when these checks are turned loose.

Their next step opens December 20th and if you are unfortunate as to not be a member of this year's Club, you had better drop in early and join for next year before the cards are all gone. It is not a money making business for the bank but simply a plan to induce people to save their money and it is undoubtedly the best plan ever inaugurated.

The farmer who raises his own "hog and hominy" at home receives in the right sort of preparedness.

PREMONITION THAT HE WOULD BE BLOWN TO ATOMS IF HE ACCEPTED A POSITION IN THE POWDER MILLS OF THE DU PONT DE NEMOURS POWDER COMPANY CAME TRUE IN THE CASE OF ELIJAH GILTON SPRINGFIELD, TWENTY-THREE YEARS OLD OF 383 NORTH FIFTY-EIGHT STREET, ONE OF THE THIRTY MEN KILLED BY THE EXPLOSION IN THE DU PONT PLANT AT HENRY CLAY, NEAR WILMINGTON, DEL., ON TUESDAY.

Out of work for a long time, the young man at first heeded the pleas of his wife and mother that he exhaust every effort to obtain employment elsewhere before he went to work in the powder mills. But with his wife ill and the need of money pressing harder each day the time came when there was no alternative.

Last Monday morning Springfield and his wife of less than a year went to Wilmington. He started working in the Henry Clay plant that day. In a little more than twenty-four hours his premonition of death was verified, and he was killed in the explosion, he and his family feared.

YOUNG WIFE MAY DIE.

Although not officially on the list of the victims of the disaster, there is grave fear Springfield's young wife may die of the shock. The delicacy of her constitution causes physicians to fear she will not survive it.

Springfield could have gone to work in the Du Pont mills at any time. The father of his wife was a foreman in the packing plant blown up and had frequently offered him employment in the mill.

Knowing the constant dread of some dire happening that is always present in the families of men employed in the powder mills, because her father had been working in them so long, the young wife pleaded with her husband not to go to work in the plant until it was absolutely necessary.

That time came last week. No matter how hard he tried, he could not find work. So he wrote to his father-in-law and arranged to start work in the plant Monday.

After the die had been cast, he worried a great deal. To his family he remarked: "Well, it would be just my luck to be blown to pieces when I start working down there."

A brother, William Springfield, Jr., went to Henry Clay yesterday to try and identify the remains. In the heterogeneous collection of human limbs and mangled fragments it was impossible to pick out even a small portion of his body.

HOME IS DESOLATE.

The home of the Springfields on Fifty-eighth Street is a desolate one. When the picture of Springfield was brought out last night, a sister of the dead man fainted, and a physician had to be summoned. The mother weeps constantly and means that she felt this would happen.

The wife, in a serious condition, is at 432 Union Street, Wilmington, where Springfield took her to his home while he worked in the powder mills.

One of the uninjured survivors among the employees who were at the Henry Clay plant Tuesday afternoon, at the time of the explosion, was Albert Hobson, the young wife's father.

STERILIZATION OF DENTAL INSTRUMENT IMPORTANT.

The possibility of the transmission of disease through the medium of dental instruments has probably been considered by every occupant of the dentist's chair. It constitutes one of the fears with which a patient is possessed the moment he adjusts himself for his period of treatment. Authoritative instances of the conveyance of contagion in this manner are extremely rare. Its frequency not being determinable, although few will deny the possibilities of occurrences of this character.

The list of organism which may contaminate dental instruments is formidable, but this does not mean that the diseases of which they are the causative factors necessarily ensue if they are accidentally carried into the mouth. Their presence upon dental instruments is, however, an indication of what the surgeons call poor technique. In surgery poor technique is usually attended with disastrous results, but in dentistry errors of this character may produce no ill effects. In spite of this relative freedom from danger, dentists are determined that their methods shall equal the highest standards. Cleanliness should be the primary consideration in all dental operations. The white coat of the operator represents more than comfort; it is the symbol of neatness. The dentist who works with unclean instruments, who provides soiled linen, or who places a common drinking glass before his patient, should be judged accordingly. Fortunately the members of the profession who do these things are criticized and suffer from loss of patronage, so that there is a strong tendency on the part of dentists to maintain their surroundings above reproach. With the sterilization of instruments some carelessness may manifest itself, partly owing to the fact that many instruments are injured by such processes, are too complicated to be treated in this manner, or that the public is not competent to detect errors of technique. However, the public is rapidly learning the value of aseptic methods and the proper equipment is now found in nearly all dental offices.

Through studies of the sterilization process have recently been made for dentists by the United States Public Health Service, at the request of various dental associations throughout the country, and in a recent publication of that Service detailed information will be found as to the accepted methods for the sterilization of all dental instruments.

SEES GRAFT BEHIND DEFENSE PROGRAM

Rev. Percy Cross Says Preparedness Idea is Farcial and Impracticable.

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 29.—“Graft,” Rev. Percy Cross says, is behind the present preparedness agitation. It is impracticable to establish a continental army such as is proposed, he says. “That idea is farcial.” Rev. Mr. Cross is an evangelist noted throughout the Southwest, a native of England and at one time a chaplain in the Texas National Guard.

He today declared it to be his opinion that there is but one means of raising an army after the American ideal. “Adopt the Australian military system. Teach school boys to use rifles and to drill. The Swiss system, too, is good but it is not quite as good for American purposes as is the Australian. Do you know why the Kaiser has taken special pains not to violate Swiss neutrality? It is because in 24 hours an army of 300,000 splendid shots would be lining the frontier, and it would take more troops than Germany can raise to successfully invade the splendidly prepared Alpine republic. The Australian idea is very similar, but has some points which would appeal to people over here that the Swiss system is lacking in.

“A nation-wide eight-hour day is another thing” indispensable for adequate preparedness,” according to Mr. Cross. “A man in the long run can accomplish more work in eight hours than in 12 or 16 and during the leisure that would come to him after his labors have ceased military training would be recreation.”

THE NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND MECHANICS ANNOUNCES ITS WINTER SHORT COURSE IN AGRICULTURE, JANUARY 10-FEBRUARY 5, 1916.

A four weeks' short course in agriculture is offered the farmers of North Carolina by the Agricultural and Mechanical College. A special invitation is given them to come to the college and study in the class rooms and work in the laboratories for four full weeks without any charge for the tuition. While at the College meals may be obtained at the mess hall for twenty-five cents each. Rooms may be either obtained in the city of Raleigh or out in West Raleigh in some of the boarding houses adjacent to the college as the individual may choose. Special courses will be given in soils, drainage, fertilizers, field crops, fruits, vegetables, farm animals, dairying, poultry, plant and animal diseases, marketing and farm management. The college has a splendid equipment for the purpose of giving practical instruction along all the lines mentioned and the opportunity offered the farmer to improve himself in his methods has never before been equaled. This is due in part to the many changes in farm conditions and to the frequent methods which are discovered from time to time that are improvements over old methods. The new dairy and creamery at the college which is now shipping butter on a commercial scale will give new points. The improved and pure bred in livestock in the College barns and the methods of handling same should be of interest. The experiments on the college farm and the methods of cropping could also be studied with profit. So a lot of practical good as well as theoretical knowledge can be gained. Every farmer in the state is invited to come.

STORY OF GERMA DESERTER One Man Who Had Better Keep Moving On.

(From The New York Sun.) A German soldier who deserted from his regiment after having been through the drive on Paris and the operations in Belgium was a stow-away on the Dutch liner Noorderdyk, which arrived yesterday from Rotterdam. He was Karl Schultz, formerly a private in a light infantry regiment of Leipzig, and he told the immigration authorities that he deserted "because he was hungry and everybody was discouraged." "I had served two years when the war began," he said, "and then we were rushed into Belgium. After that came the march on Paris. I don't know where we went for every time we got to a town the officers pulled off all the street signs and then told us we were so many miles nearer Paris. "The only way we could tell whether we were advancing or retreating was by watching the officers. When we were benten and pushed back a lot of officers would be degraded in rank. After we gave up the Paris march we went back into Belgium. "The food was terrible all the time. There was never enough of it and what there was generally rotten. I got tired of being starved. I wasn't the first to desert. There were 120 men from my regiment before me, and the others used to say that they'd throw down their arms if they dared. The whole army is discouraged. "About four weeks ago I made up my mind to get out. We were in Brussels, and a girl gave me some women's clothes and I ran away at night, stealing rides and keeping hidden in the day. When I got to Rotterdam some Dutch longshoremen gave me clothing and I managed to get into the coal bunkers of the ship. "Schultz, who is 25 years old, lay in the coal bunkers until the Noorderdyk had been passed by the British authorities at the Downs. The ship was held there three days and he was without food all the while. He gave himself up when the ship reached the open seas. "He has relatives in New Jersey, he said and will try to be allowed to go to them instead of being deported. There is little chance of his staying, however. He was kept on the Noorderdyk last night and will be taken to Ellis Island this morning to await the sailing of the ship on which he will be returned. He will probably be taken off by the English at the Downs and may escape going back to Germany. "I don't want to go back to my country," he begged yesterday. "I'd be shot certainly. "I have had enough and my father and brother were both killed in the trenches. I don't want to be sent back."

SCHOOL BUILDINGS; BETTER AND SAFER FIRE PROTECTION IN SCHOOLS.

In a pamphlet just issued by the Insurance Commissioner, he says: "Let us continue to erect school buildings, but not of the 'built-to-burn' character." In America we burn twelve school-houses and two colleges every week. In the United States, a fire occurs every day in some school. The loss of life is great, while the loss of property amounts to several hundred thousand dollars. The American people have given less thought to the protection of schools and their precious contents than has been given to manufacturing plants and buildings in general. Frequently the lives of our children are saved simply because the fire occurs while the school is not in session. The above statement contains warnings for us here in North Carolina. We are in the midst of a great educational uplift and advance. We are building an unusually large number of school buildings and collecting in them our children and their teachers. We are looking after the appearances of these buildings and their adaptability to teaching but paying little or no attention to their safety, or even economy of erection. A large majority of our school buildings are of the most dangerous character, calling for heavy depreciation and constant repairs, large insurance rates and fewest exits. These buildings are not only easily fired, but of the character to burn most rapidly when once fired. With a view of bringing about a change in these conditions, your careful attention is invited to the letters and other data herein. Let us inform ourselves and the people and we will get the results desired—better and safer school buildings.

ROOSEVELT LAYS IT ON THE U. S. A.

New York, Nov. 30.—Theodore Roosevelt lays the wholesale slaughter of Armenians directly at the door of Germany and indirectly blames it on the "milk and water attitude", shown by the United States. The former president expresses his opinion on Turkish atrocities in a letter to Samuel T. Dutton, secretary of the American committee of Armenian and Syrian relief. Mr. Dutton in making public the letter today said: "This letter grew out of correspondence in which Colonel Roosevelt was invited either to take part in a public meeting or to give some expression of his views concerning the tragedy, which has been enacted in the past few months in the Turkish empire. "The letter is characteristic. All who have labored to educate men and women to an understanding of international relations and to face in the possibility of permanent peace, while feeling that Colonel Roosevelt's views are unduly severe, will take considerable comfort to his equally strong reference to the "blood and iron policy of the worthless and unscrupulous militarists." Colonel Roosevelt's letter is given to the press in the hope that the sympathy of the American people may be increased. McADOO THE JUGGLER.

For light and airy juggling of millions of dollars there is no one in the Administration who can vie with Secretary McAdoo. There is apparently no sum large enough to give him pause. To him the prospect of a Government deficit has no terrors. He takes care of it in easy fashion and in brief phrase. According to the Treasury Department head there is no occasion for alarm about the finances of the nation. The fact that the Government is each day spending more money than it receives is to him a mere trifle, a mere bubble than can be blown away by the adoption of his suggestions.

His plan is such a simple one, too.
It is to lay another tax, a direct one, on the people. By his own statement the sum of one hundred and twelve millions will be needed to pay the Government bills for the next year, that sum in addition to what is now being collected. And in his easy way Mr.
McAdoo says this amount "can be easily raised by internal taxation without appreciable burdens upon the American people."

The Democratic mind seems to have an entirely new idea of taxation. Formerly its stood aghast at the very thought of such a thing. It declared that the tariff was a tax and, therefore, should be abolished. Yet the tariff was a tax that was paid by the foreign manufacturer, not by the people of the United States. Every dollar that was collected in customs duties came from the man across the sea. Not only did it take no money from the pockets of American citizens but the system of Republican tariff duties protected American industry, and aided both American capital and labor.

Mr. McAdoo proposes to meet the deficit, caused in most part by the Democratic tearing down of the protective tariff system, by internal taxes. These are taxes imposed directly upon the people. They are doubly deleterious. Our industries and labor are left exposed to the competition of foreign cheap labor, and, besides, an additional burden is imposed when the people's paying capacity is thus reduced. They are taxes that in the past have only been used as a last report imposed only in time of stress and emergency and abolished when times became normal again.

How easily the Secretary of the Treasury speaks of collecting the necessary amount in this manner. Yet the truth of the matter is that the raising of his sum means the imposition of taxes averaging one dollar and twelve cents for every man, woman and child in the United States. And the only necessity for such action is the blundering of the Democratic party. And this amount that he speaks of so casually is one-third of the total amount that was collected in customs duties under the reign of a Republican tariff law. Yet Democratic hands were held up in horror at the thought of the tariff tax, one that no one in America felt, one that was paid by rival commercial nations for the privilege of doing business in the best market place of the world, the United States.

THE FOOLISH FARMER WHO SOLD HIMSELF.

A farmer sold a load of corn in town one day, remarks a writer in the Way. While it was being weighed he slyly stepped on the scales and then drove off to unload. When the empty wagon was weighed, he took good care not to be in it and congratulated himself that he had cheated the buyer in good shape. The grain dealer called him in and after figuring up the weight of his load paid him for the full weight.

As the farmer buttoned up his coat to go out, the buyer talked over the crops and the price of hogs and the likelihood of the Maple Valley railroad building up that way until the farmer fairly squirmed in his chair with uneasiness about his chores at home.

At last he could stand it no longer and said he must go. The dealer quietly said that it was not to be thought of, that he had bought the farmer at full weight and paid him his own price and that he would insist on doing as he pleased with his own property.

The seller of the corn saw that he had indeed sold himself—in one sense at least. He acknowledged his cheat and returned the money he had dishonestly taken in the affair. Now when he markets grain he does not stand on the scales or sell himself with his load.

A good many boys sell themselves at a still cheaper rate. The boy who lies, cheats, swears or steals, and thus loses his character, his reputation and his prospect of true prosperity in this life and blessing in the next, sells himself to Satan; and though the boy may not get much pay, the buyer is likely to hold on to his purchase.

A RECRUDESCENCE THAT CHAL- LENGES ATTENTION.

The announced determination of the National Progressive executive committee to nominate a straight ticket next year, with Mr. Roosevelt at the head of it if possible, but at all events, to make it straight Moose, has given a filip to political discussion, especially at the National Capital. It was determined by Mr. Flinn, Mr. Perkins and other angels of the cause, that the cause, that the Progressives must avoid the very appearance of evil, by having no commerce or communication with either the Democrats or the Republicans.

A few weeks ago, after a meeting of the Progressive committee of New York state, it was announced by Mr.
Perkins that the effort to reform the Republican party would prove an enterprise too Progressive for even the Progressive party. Presumably Mr.
Perkins is of the same opinion still, and it matters a great deal about the opinion of Mr. Perkins.

It appears that the committee achieved a number of resolves. The second was to the general effect that Mr. Roosevelt must be prevailed upon to lead the Moose, if only to hold the major portion of the four million votes polled by him before. One wonders how that proposal is going to strike that eminently practical person. He will be asked by the Progressive National committee to lead a forlorn hope, to the end that Mr.
Perkins, Mr. Flinn, et als., may have some sort of organization to be employed as a political asset for possible future use. This decision is doubly significant. It is first of all very flattering to the present National administration. It means that the Progressive executive committee views with composure the re-election of Mr.

Wilson, and that it will be agreeable to the committee for Mr. Roosevelt to perform the same service for the Democratic party that he performed in 1912.

Republicans in Washington, who have begun to gather for the meeting of Congress, are inclined to the opinion that Mr. Roosevelt will declare that two Armageddons would be at least one too many and that he feels no great interest in lost or hopeless causes, no matter how many undesirable citizens may remain in the Republican party. Republicans profess to believe that Mr. Roosevelt would invite disaster because, with the Republicans only reasonably successful in finding a candidate, the Progressives could not hope to poll the number of votes they desire. In such eventuality, the former President would be definitely removed as factor in the political life of the Nation. Already, with all the Roosevelt influence on the other side, Penrose predominates and dominates the situation in the Keystone state, and while the continued defection of the Colonel might prove a serious thing for the G. O. P. in some sections of the country, in other sections the Old Guard leaders would be ready to exhaust every resource in the effort to bring about his permanent discomfiture. Still again, these hopeful Republicans reason that beyond every other consideration Mr. Roosevelt longs for the decisive defeat of Mr.
Wilson, and that he would decline to be a party to a movement which could have no other effect than to render difficult, if not impossible, this undertaking.

Nevertheless, the Democrats are delighted, however, the Colonel may feel about it. They had hardly dared to hope for a turn so favorable. It had been supposed that the Progressive committee would wait upon events, that they would feel their way with some degree of care, and finally patch up their differences with the present organization. They feel that all this Republican light-heartedness is assumed, and that the prospects were never so bright for the continued activity of the G. O. P. schismatics. One cannot explain away the Colonel, and his committee, the Democrats respect.

This Perkins, Flinn recrudescence certainly challenges attention.—

"PSYCHOLOGICAL" OPPOSITION.

There is certainly such a thing as contagion in ideas at Washington.
When President Wilson announced to the world that the business depression caused by the enactment of his personally-conducted tariff law was "merely psychological" he did not dream that such idea would later come home to plague him. Nor could he look forward and see that persons in his own party would take advantage of the Wilson thought and calmly use it as a defense in their opposition to policies of the White House.

However, such is the case. Two eminent leaders of Democracy are hiding behind this mental shrubbery, and from its shelter are shooting arrows at some of Mr. Wilson's pet plans.
These gentlemen are Mr. Bryan and Mr. Kitchin. They seem imbued with very similar ideas and their methods and their excuse are twinkle in their resemblance. Whether by design or by mere accident, their minds are running along parallel lines, and both follow the reasoning of the President.

Upon every possible occasion, Mr.
Bryan expresses opposition to policies and plans formed by Mr. Wilson.
Whenever a new proposition is put forward by the White House, he arises and proceeds to stick a pin in the idea.
He expresses wonder that the President could assume such a position when in the Bryan judgment it is entirely wrong. He gives arguments to controvert the Wilson view and uses very plain language in which to express his opposition.

Then when the wicked newspapers of the land dare to intimate that such proceeding and such opposition and such forcible language mean that he is against Mr. Wilson, the Nebraskan makes loud protest. When it is assumed by the public that constant opposition to the measure of a President suggest that the opposer is not in favor of another term for the occupant of the White House, again comes the Bryan dissent and the declaration that he himself has no idea of being a candidate against him. So the game goes on, vigorous opposition to the Wilson policies one day and vigorous protest of esteem for the President the next.
In other words, Mr. Bryan's opposition to Mr. Wilson is "merely psychological."

WOMAN SENTENCED FOR DROWN LITTLE GIRL.

Belief that Miss Sallie McIntosh, forty-seven years old, was not mentally responsible when she drowned her two-year-old grandniece in a bathtub at the home of the child's father, 2016 Glenwood Avenue, on September 28, caused Judge Carr to allow her to enter a technical plea of guilty to a charge of murder and to sentence her yesterday to not less than one nor more than two years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

The woman was under a delusion at the time that the child's father was about to remove the grandniece from her care. While bathing the baby, Miss McIntosh was suddenly overcome with a desire to drown it and then end her own life. She held the infant's face beneath the water until it was dead. Then she walked to the police station and told what she had done. She lived at 1641 Huntington Street.

Physicians testified at the trial yesterday that she had been overburdened in taking care of the child's sick mother and the child also, and that her mind had broken down under the strain.

of the new project.

According to reports the President wrote on his message all Thanksgiving worked on it Saturday, and now he is back in Washington, is still pegging away at it. This is evidently going to be a great message for words and plenty of them.

Woman is Prostrated When She Learns Brother is In Navy, Believed Him Dead.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 3.—Never having used the final "e" in her own spelling of the word "corpse," Mrs. Marceline Germain, of Donaldson, Michigan, was prostrated with grief upon receipt of an official communication announcing the fact that her brother, Joseph Eli Jollicouer, had joined the United States Marine Corps and had named her as next of kin to be notified in case of death. "If my brother is a corps, of what did he die?" she wrote to captain H. T. Swain in charge of the local recruiting station of the United States Marine Corps, who had enlisted the man and was responsible for the notification.

The recruiting officer, by return mail, bade the sorrowing sister cease mourning and assured her that the "corps" to which her brother had lately attached himself was the "livest" kind of an organization.

MONKEY RUM MAKES DRINKER FEEL LIKE HE IS ONE, THEY SAY

It Changes Grouches Into Real Comedians and in One Case a Horse Turned to a Mule.

Greenville, N. C., Nov. 30.—A story coming from the Pink Hill section of the county and purported to be true, gives some light on the new drink, monkey rum, which has recently sprung into the limelight in this section of the state.

The story, as told to a newspaper man, relates that a certain old and well-meaning farmer, from the Pink Hill section, had occasion to visit a country store where the rum is obtainable. He is known as a merriment maker, even when he is perfectly sober, but it is said that on this day, after he had imbibed in a few long glasses, he became so funny that he could hardly retain himself.

He was not alone in the drinking, but had several companions, but they did not take on quite as heavy a charge as he did. After he had filled up and was sleeping, his comrades went out and trimmed the tail and mane of his horse so that it resembled a mule's right much. They also tarred the farmer's fee, and then departed.

When he awoke and went for his horse, he was mystified to find that someone had stolen his horse and substituted a mule. Anyway, he hooked up and started home, wondering what he was going to tell the good dame. She met him at the front door, and he, thinking he would pull off a joke, said: "Look! Old Henry has turned to a mule." "Yes," she replied, "and you have turned to a negro," and with that the farmer's friends say, the good wife administered the most horrible beating they had ever witnessed.

"THINK FIRE" BEFORE IT HAPPENS.

Don't allow children to play with matches.

Don't block the fire escapes; you may need them yourself tonight.

Don't leave everything to the landlord; inspect your own house from cellar to garret and locate all exits.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars, or cigarettes.

Don't go into dark closets, bed rooms, or cellars, using matches or candles to light your way.

Don't use insecticides in the vicinity of open flame lights. Many such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils.

Don't use kerosene, benzine, or naphtha in lighting fires, or to quicken a slow fire—it may result in death.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing near an open flame, light or fire.

Don't use alcohol lamps, especially of made of glass; they often break and the fluid is ignited at once.

Don't fill any lamp with gasoline, kerosene or other oils while the lamp is lighted. Keep the burners of all oil lamps thoroughly clean.

Don't fill kerosene lamps after dark or within 15 feet of the lights or fire.

Don't use oils with a low flash point.

Don't put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. Keep ashes away from boards. Don't place them on dumb waiters or in closets. Hot ashes will take fire by themselves as they frequently have small bits of coal mixed in with them.

Don't accumulate rubbish in premises, cellars, or workshops, and don't deposit such material on dumb waiters unless it is to be removed at once; while awaiting removal, keep such material in covered metal-lined receptacles.

Easy money may land a man on Easy street, but he seldom remains there long.

TREASURY IS IN A HOLE SAYS SMOOT

He Takes Issue With the Statement of Secretary McAdoo—Shortage is Greater.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Taking direct issue with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Senator Smoot of Utah, leading financial authority of the republican side of the senate, tonight asserted that the administration will face a deficit in 1917 that will be nearer $300,000,000 than the $112,000,000 estimated by Secretary McAdoo. In a lengthy statement discussing the situation Senator Smoot made the following points:

That treasury balance has been arbitrarily increased by a "change of book-keeping" because of the "imperative necessity to make it appear that the treasury is not practically bankrupt."

That this change of book-keeping involved the shifting of balances from the "liabilities" to the "assets" side of the government account.

That the Democratic administration up to November 1, 1915, had resulted in a treasury deficit of $114,000,000.

That the measures proposed by Mr. McAdoo for increasing revenues will fall far short of the needs of the treasury and that the administration finally must turn to a bond issue or tariff revision to refill the depleted coffers.

As opposed to Senator Smoot's statement, Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, chairman of the senate finance committee, in a statement today endorsed the secretary's plans for raising money, although he said he was not in a position to estimate the amount that would be needed. In addition to continuing the present war revenue tax and the one cent a pound duty on sugar, Senator Simmons particularly advocated taxing automobiles and gasoline. He endorsed increased appropriations for national defense and plans for securing an American merchant marine. Senator Simmons also favors Secretary McAdoo's plans for increasing the income tax returns.

KILLS CHILD AS SHE FIRES AT SUPPOSED BURGLAR.

Woman Holds Girl in Arms and Bullet Also Passes Through Mother's Palm.

Kane, Pa., Dec. 2.—Mrs. Stephen Benik, of James City, early today shot her daughter, Anna, four years old, when she thought she heard a burglar at a window. Turning quickly, the mother, while holding her child in her arms, fired.

The child fell to the floor with a bullet through its heart. The bullet also passed through the palm of the woman's hand with which she clasped the child.

Heart Disease Almost Fatal to Young Girl

"My daughter, when thirteen years old, was stricken with heart trouble. She was so bad we had to place her bed near a window so she could get her breath. One doctor said, "Your child, she is likely to fall dead any time." A friend told me Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy had cured her father, so I got it, and she began to improve. She took a great many bottles, but she is cured to me today. A fat, rosy checked girl. No one can imagine the confidence I have in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy." A. R. CANNON, Worth, Mo.

The unbounded confidence Mr. Cannon has in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is shared by thousands of others who know its value from experience. Many heart disorders yield to treatment, if the treatment is right. If you are bothered with short breath, fainting spells, swelling of feet or ankles, pains about the heart and shoulder blades, palpitation, weak and hungry spells, you should begin using Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy at once. Profit by the experience of others while you may.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold and guaranteed by all druggists. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

PRYING OUT HUGHES.

In last Wednesday's issue The Observer carried the proposition that as the political situation was developing, the Republicans were faced with the necessity of conscribing Judge Hughes as a presidential candidate, or of being split as in the past campaign with two aspirants, probably Root and Roosevelt. This view of the situation seems to have been accepted by the leaders of the Republican party and it has manifestation in the development of the most insistent and strenuous efforts to bring Mr. Hughes into the field. These efforts apparently have only been redoubled since Mr. Hughes was moved to make oath that he is not a candidate for the nomination and would not become one. The New York Sun has completed a survey of conditions in important States having Progressive tendencies, and from the result of this survey, it draws the conclusion that "a strong current has set in among the Republicans, particularly in the West, for the nomination of Justice Hughes of the United States Supreme Court for the presidential nomination. As a rule the Progressives are inclined to accept the jurist as the best compromise candidate to bring the Bull Moose back into the Republican fold at the next National election." But could Hughes be forced to accept the nomination? There's the rub. That the Republicans will make a desperate effort to finally secure his consent there can be no doubt. They will endeavor to force an acceptance on the ground of party duty. The Michigan view gives a line on the plans. It is to the effect that this is no time for "judicial duty." The plea is advanced that "Justice Hughes has been honored many times at the hands of the Republican party and he now has no right to refuse to accept higher honors from the party when such honors come to him unsought. Neither is this a time for sentiment." With argument of this sort they are hoping to melt his heart. The only trouble is that Hughes might be inclined to insist that he has had his share of honors at the hands of the Republican party and it would be only fair that he give somebody else a chance at them.

How Will You be Rated?

As every man's credit record is of the utmost importance to him, we wish to give every citizen ample notice that they are being rated—prompt pay, fair pay, slow pay and no pay, according to the way they pay their doctor, dentist, grocer, butcher, baker, coal man, rent man, milk man and everyone who extends them credit. As this book is used by all business and professional men of Burlington and vicinity as their guide in extending credit we trust you will find it to your interest to call on anyone to whom you may owe money and pay up. If you can't pay all, pay as much as you can, so they can give you as good a rating as possible.

BANK MESSENGER SHOT FATALLY AS HE SAVES $4,000.00

Assailant Also Dangerously Wounded in Sensational Hold-up—Attempted Robbery in New York Street; Daylight Handit Wore Two Suits of Clothes and Carried Three Revolvers, 200 Cartridges and Bag of Black Powder, Police Find After Capture and Shooting.

New York, Dec. 4.—Allan Gardner, a bank messenger, was fatally shot and George De Brosa, his assailant, was dangerously wounded by Walter F. Orleans, another messenger, in DeBrosa's sensational attempt to steal a package containing $4,000 at the Fourteenth street subway station during the rush hour late today.

Without warning De Brosa fired two shots into the head of Gardner, who carried the bag, and as the messenger fell, to the floor amid the cries of the subway throng, the handit threw away the revolver, seized the bag and started up the stairway toward the street.

Orleman, however, wrested the revolver from DeBrosa, who ran. As the handit reached the topmost step, Orleman fired twice, one bullet lodging in DeBrosa's back. He dropped his booty and fled into Broadway.

By this time police were approaching from several directions. DeBrosa then drew his third revolver and discharging his outer suit, ran across Union Square. Here he attempted to retrace his steps but was felled by a patrolman whom he attempted to shoot.

Gardner is 18 years old and Orleman, one of the bank's confidential messengers, is 29. Little is known to the police of De Brosa, who is about 30 years old.

GOVERNOR WILLIS FOR BURTON IN 1916.

Ohio Executive Favors Nomination of the Ex-Senator for the Presidency.

A national Republican victory in 1916 and a subsequent era of great prosperity is the prediction of Governor Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, who said in an interview yesterday, after a luncheon of the Ohio Society in the Bellevue-Stratford, that he believed the condition to be general throughout the country for the return next year of Republican leadership in national politics.

Governor Willis declared himself in favor of ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, for the Presidency in 1916, and added "Ohio will unequivocally support Senator Burton for election."

"The sentiment in the West," he said, is strong for Senator Burton, who has shown a marked aptitude to handle satisfactorily the great issues in our national politics. His tariff policies have been accepted by the people of the Buckeye State, who declare themselves strong for Burton in 1916."

Governor Willis said he did not believe the people would approve of the Wilson policy in dealing with international affairs and said that the preparedness program would be somewhat altered after the Republican victory next year.

DISCREDITED.

The Underwood law was discredited in peace, and war has changed the situation of commerce and business. The end of the military struggle will still further alter our circumstances. Already the lessons are written for those with sufficient wit to learn them. The menace of an industrial struggle of unprecedented intensity is over our manufacturers and merchants, their workers and all who are dependent on them.

With a tariff adjusted to its needs and its situation, with schedules designed to meet the facts of business and not the economics of the hustings, the United States can regard with confidence the assaults industrial Europe will launch when it stops killing its men; but with the Underwood law in force, this nation will be at the mercy of the most skillful and desperate competitors the world has ever known.—New York Sun.

DR. R. S. CARROLL EXPELLED FROM THE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

Asheville, Dec. 1.—According to action taken by members of the Buncombe County Medical Society at a meeting Monday night, Dr. Robert S. Carroll, proprietor of Highland hospital on Zillicoa street, against whom charges of immorality were preferred some time ago, was expelled from the society.

It is stated that the action of the society, which was taken with a large number of the members present, was unanimous. Before the final action was taken, it is stated, that several members of the society made talks regarding certain phases of the case.

It is understood that the charges against Dr. Carroll in the society were preferred by his wife, Mrs. Lydia, who recently secured a divorce from him on statutory charges, in Superior court.
