The Genuine Roosevelt.

Thirteen days from today the foremost man of his time will pass into private life, after seven years of most varied official activities, most of them historical in importance and all of them dramatic and exciting. The striking individuality of Mr. Roosevelt; his pioneerism in a hundred different paths; his bold attack upon long established evils his impregnable place in the hearts of the people—these facts, exhibited in a thousand and one lights during stormy encounters, have made him an ideal model and pattern for shoals of counterfeit reformers, bogus crusaders, and base imitators. The more Theodore Roosevelt was tested by fire and found to be pure gold the more eager were charlatans to imitate him. A counterfeit is never counterfeited; it is the genuine which is followed by its spurious shadow.

The esteem and gratitude of the American people will follow Mr. Roosevelt to Africa, and all patriotic men will him thorough rest and recreation, in order that in due time, he may return and devote his remarkable powers to the welfare of his country.

Mr. Roosevelt will stand out as intimated by the Washington Post, as a President in many respects unprecedented. His achievement is not marred by one broken pledge. His biographers to date are unable to find a single instance in which he engaged wild promises to smooth his pathway to office. Always he has striven at genuine evils and sought to effect genuine reforms. No conscious or inadvertent hypocrisy cumber his good name or shadows his political future.

As much, sadly, cannot be said for some dozens of demagogues, who, as the Post saliently points out, have left a trail of ruin in their wake by attempting to imitate Roosevelt, but with cheap lies and wretched judgement and palpable insincerity.

Roosevelt goes back to private life a man honored and respected and acclaimed by all civilized nations.

Without Roosevelt's acumen or energy, they endeavored to emulate his methods and his success had sufficient common sense to sense the marvelous character in which his brand of statesmanship had laid hold on the popular mind. Lacking his grand and generous, lacking his common sense and his energy, they gave credence to the notes to be read in the impossible performance.

Progressive National Committee New York City.

The most recent returns from the poll which is being conducted by the railroad men of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan from their Chicago Headquarters, give the following results:

Roosevelt 377
Wilson 160
Taft 96
Debs 144

The Steam Roller at Beverly.

"Dropping off the train as it pulls into the bright and airy little depot at the North Shore town where President Taft is summering again this year, the first thing which greets the eye of the new arrival is a trolley up and partly repaved street, the new stretches of concrete being flattened out by a steam roller.

"Of course, there would be nothing to comment upon the coincidence between this de facto 'flattener' and the political squeezer that was in use at Chicago, were it not for the fact that 'longside this Beverly machine a board sign tells us that 'This steam roller is in full operation.'"

—Washington Herald.

Telegram from National Committee-man Dawson.

A telegram from Portland, Maine, received today in New York runs as follows:

"Progressive Party gaining rapidly. Entire Republican County Committee have resigned and joined us. Estimates of our vote have increased twenty-five per cent. during week. All we need is to inform voters."

A poll has been taken on North Lockwood Avenue, East Cleveland, Ohio, where there live 192 voters. The results were as follows:

Roosevelt 102
Wilson 65
Taft 25

In Cleveland there is a family named McIlrath. They are old residents and among them are 76 voters. So far as they have been canvassed, 60 of them are for Roosevelt.

In Chicago the women held four meetings the 24th, including a noon day meeting in the Olympic theatre. They have opened a store in the downtown district for the sale of stamps and certificates. Business men in that city have shown a deep interest in the distribution and sale of the certificates. They are keeping books of the stamps in their desks and selling them to callers through the day.

PAPER'S POLICY IS STILL BULL MOOSE

Burlington State Dispatch Stockholders Win.

Durham, Sept. 30.—Judge H. W. Whedee, sitting in chambers here to-night, heard arguments of counsel in the case of J. Z. Waller vs. the State Dispatch Publishing company, Burlington, in which the plaintiff sought to have the policy of the paper changed from Bull Moose to Republican. The judge handed down a decision that since it was admitted that the majority of the stockholders were in favor of the Bull Moose, he had no right to go behind the will of the majority of the stockholders when no vested rights were violated, and the company doing business was authorized by charter.

Waller's contention was that he put money, time and labor into the paper with the express understanding that it was Republican. He produced evidence showing that the organizers had agreed that the paper be Republican. He said that following the Chicago convention, he ran the paper advocating Taft and Sherman. The meeting which changed the policy of the paper was said to be irregular and the majority swelled by the issue of fourteen shares of fraudulent stock. This was denied by the defense. The stock had been subscribed, but only taken up and paid for just before this meeting.

Waller admitted that the majority stockholders at present favored Bull Moose candidates and Progressive principles, but contended that in having the policy of the paper changed, he was being deprived of vested rights in that he had been forced to pay for stock in a paper which he understood was to be differently conducted, and contract for which had been drawn allying the paper with the Republican party.

The only case cited by the plaintiff was that by Jones against Pulitzer, Missouri case, in which the court held that Jones had a right to prevent Pulitzer, part owner of the St. Louis Globe-Dispatch, through pooling shares of the stock in the company against him, to prevent his advocacy of free silver. The court held that since the majority of stockholders had done nothing to violate the charter, it had no right to prevent the publication of the paper as a Progressive organ.

The points to fourteen shares of fraudulent stock will possibly be fought out later. Alleged mismanagement of the paper will not be taken up by the court since insolvency is not alleged.

"The prospects of our party in West Virginia are steadily growing brighter and brighter. The most encouraging news is constantly coming in."

Boy Enters College At Twelve Years Old.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 28.—Enjoying the distinction of being the youngest student ever matriculated at the University of North Carolina, Robert Welch, Jr., 12 years old, is a full fledged freshman at this institution in the A. B. course. In knee breeches and looking more like a child than a college youth, he was admitted at the opening of the session this fall he had passed the entrance examination with ease. In fact, he was declared immune when the hazards set about their pranks soon after college opened.

Son of a well-to-do planter residing near Hertford, N. C., the lad exhibited such unusual signs of precocity at an early age that his mother began to use him as an experiment for some of her pedagogical theories. When three years old, he could read intelligently and tell the time of day accurately.

At 4 he knew multiplication table up to the twentieth line, reasoning it out for himself without the use of a book. At this age he also had a fair knowledge of fractions. After this his progress was so rapid that he was not allowed to study at all between the ages of 6 and 8.

At 10 he entered the Elizabeth City high school, where he remained two years, standing at the head of his class each year. During this period his mother kept constantly in touch with him, talking with him over the phone several times a day in regard to his studies.

The lad has a marked predilection for mathematics, finding the solution of the "pons asinorum" and other such difficult problems as simple as the multiplication table was when he was barely out of swaddling clothes. He follows a profession, but is in no hurry to choose one.

America's Greatest "Man."

Returning from his visit to America, John Burns, the leader of British workmen in parliament, was asked, "who is the greatest man you met in the United States?" and his prompt reply was "Jane Addams."

Jane Addams has been battling for years for social and industrial betterment. She has been urging the passage of laws that would free little children from slavery and give them their childhood free to devote to mental and physical growth that they may mature into splendid men and women.

Jane Addams has been battling for years for laws that would relieve women from the tragic choice between starvation or prostitution; relieve them from the burden of twelve, fifteen and even eighteen hours of labor in sweatshops or in great factories, amid degrading and unsanitary conditions and for a mere pittance of wages.

Jane Addams has been battling for years for laws that would free men from the necessity of working under conditions that constantly jeopardized their lives—often sacrifice them—and surely wrecked their health, sending them to the human scrap heap when they should be in their prime.

She has met with measure of success. The fight has been long and against terrific odds. The things gained have been only a fraction of the things asked. The opposition to the industrial and social reforms asked by Jane Addams has been found in the halls of state legislation. It has been the same force that has raised "jackpots" to bribe legislators to elect Special Privilege men to the United States senate.

It has been the same forces that dictated the appointments of state judges and factory inspectors. It has been the same force that controls political machines in both old parties and works against the people, viewing with alarm the "rule of the mob."

Jane Addams has learned by years of bitter experience the futility of trying to get relief for laboring classes through the medium of state legislatures and through the medium of the old political parties, controlled as they are by Big Business, financed as they are by Special Privilege.

That is why she has allied herself with the Progressive party in this campaign. It is the first party that has pledged itself to make the issues affecting the laboring classes the issues of immediate contidoration by congress in event it is successful. It is the first party that has existed since Jane Addams' activity in behalf of the industrial workers which has not been controlled by Special Privilege and whose promises to the workingmen and workingwomen have been made in all sincerity, and have the very substantial merit of being practical.—Evening Times.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

Record of Past Year—

Plans for the Opening Year.

It is an annual practice of almost every good business man at the end of the year to take inventory of his stock on hand of his assets and liabilities and from this information together with conditions that confront him, to outline his policies and make his plans for the year before him. In conformity to this same, same practice, same silent facts and figures from the County Supt. of schools report are hereby given add some policies are set forth for the opening scholastic year.

There are now 80 rural schools in Alameda County—54 white and 26 colored, employing 132 teachers—84 white and 28 colored. Of the white schools just 27 employ one teacher and 27 employ two or more. There are 23 one teacher colored schools and 3 two teacher schools. There is not a log school house in the county for white children. The last one was replaced this year by an excellent frame building, modern in every particular. Of the 26 houses for the colored race there remains only 3 log houses. They are now in process of erection and nearing completion. Two two story brick buildings that are under rural supervision—one at Elon and one at Snow Camp. During the scholastic year that has just closed there were built in the county 4 new school houses.

There are now 37 rural libraries for whites and 2 for the colored, containing in all 4278 volumes. There were established the past year 2 original libraries and 3 supplements.

There are 25 Local Tax districts three were established this past year.

There is a census of 4191 white children in the rural schools and 1747 colored children. The enrollment for the year, 3006 white and 1836 colored. The average attendance, white 2066, colored 699. These figures show that the white schools made an attendance of only 49 per cent of the census and 68 per cent of the enrollment.

There were enrolled in the 1st grade of white school 860 and in the 7th or last grade of the Public school 255.

The average length of term for the colored is 76 days; the length of term for the whites 94 days. This difference is due to local tax voted by the whites. The average term in local tax districts is 110 days.

At the opening of the past year a county commencement was announced and a certificate of attendance offered to each student in the county who did not miss a day and was not tardy. There were awarded 152 of these certificates. Also two collective prizes for attendance were offered by the chairman of the Board of Education, Mr. J. L. Scott of Burlington and the Supt. These prizes were $5.00 each and were to go to those two schools making the best average attendance. They were won by Center school of Newlin township and by St. Paul of Coble township. Their attendance was 90 and 88 per cent respectively.

Graduation from the Public School was made possible for the first time the past year. There were 2 certificates of graduation awarded at the county commencement.

The county commencement is now a permanent part of our educational system. Next spring the county commencement will be held about the same time in the season and will not only carry the same features of past year but will be enlarged and developed along several lines. The same prizes will be offered, the same certificates awarded. There will be next spring a real exhibition feature. School products of different kinds will be produced the coming session and put on exhibition at the county commencement. The outlines to govern in the making of these school exhibits are now ready to go into the hands of every teacher in addition to these things there will be contests in athletics and in recitation and declamation to be more fully announced later.

Two new things will be introduced into the schools this year that, no doubt will go far in developing the internal work of the schools. One is an outline scheme setting forth the course of study by grades in such a form as to suit our rural schools with their short terms. The course of study and the graduation heretofore been based on long term of the city and when applied to the short rural term it failed to fit and hence was impractical. Another thing there will be a report card for each student that show each month to the parent just the attendance made and the work done by the student.

The beautiful in creation and wonderful headwear was to be seen at the Millinery openings from Thursday night of last week to Saturday night. Many visitors came to our town to see the beautiful fall styles and we think every woman and child in town was present. Rev. G. R. Mines and wife will be in attendance at the first service and on through the meeting, as will also Bro. Chapman.

Music will be rendered on the stringed instruments during the services.

Facts and Fiction

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Burlington is true. Read it and compare evidence from Burlington people with testimony of stranger living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Burlington will endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. A. Harter, Davis St., Burlington, N. C., says: "I was troubled a great deal by backache and dull pains through my loins and sides. I often noticed that the kidney secretions were unnatural and passed entirely too frequently. Upon the advice of a friend, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and procured a box at the Freeman Drug Co. I had used them but a short time before my kidneys were restored to normal condition. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Resolutions of Respect.

Joel Cyrus Shepard was born in Alamance County, North Carolina, July 4th 1863 and died in Burlington Sept. 6th 1912. He was elected teacher of our Baracca Class in 1903, soon after uniting with the Church and remained faithful and efficient until death removed him to a higher sphere.

Resolved: That the Baracca Class bows reverently and humbly to the will of the all-wise Heavenly Father in this deeply mysterious providence in removing our beloved teacher.

Resolved: Second, That we extend to the widow and other relatives our strongest sympathy in the sad hour.

Resolved: Third, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our Minute-book, and copy sent to the widow and that a copy be read from the pulpit of the church at regular preaching service.

Also that copies be sent the City papers.

Respectfully, M. G. Burke, J. A. Thompson Committee, J. F. Meacham

Bad Spells

"I suffered, during girlhood, from womanly weakness," writes Mrs. Mollie Navy, of Walnut, N. C. "At last, I was almost bed-ridden, and had to give up. We had three doctors. All the time, I was getting worse. I had bad spells, that lasted from 7 to 28 days. In one week, after I gave Cardui a trial, I could eat, sleep, and joke, as well as anybody. In 8 weeks, I was well. I had been an invalid for 5 weary years! Cardui relieved me, when everything else failed."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are weak and ailing, think what it would mean, to you, to recover as quickly as Mrs. Navy did. For more than 50 years, this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women, has been used by thousands of weak and ailing sufferers. They found it of real value in relieving their aches and pains. Why suffer longer? A remedy that has relieved and helped so many, is ready, at the nearest drug store, for use, at once, by you. Try it, today.

WHY WHO'S WHO

It must be a fearful thing to be dogged around by coupon bonds and 32 per cent. dividends without being able to persuade them to release their hold. What greater affliction could there be than a mass of monotonous, multifarious and moth-eaten millions which pile up faster than eager church treasurers can receipt for them?

Yet this is precisely the fix in which Andrew Carnegie, Scotchman, finds himself. For years Andrew has been engaged in an unsuccessful effort to die poor. It is the passion of his life. He would rather die broke than do anything else he can think of offhand. For years, we say, Andrew has been throwing pipe organs, libraries and higher education at the heads of the common people without making a dent in his income. He hasn't even started a respectable dimple in it.

Every once in a while Andrew tears off a few millions and hurls them with all his force at somebody who believes that our infant industries ought not to be throttled by the paper labor of Europe. When he gets up the next morning and looks at his cash on hand, he finds that his income has gotten busy during the night and choked his safety deposit box with convertible assets. If he lets a day go by without starting a few gymnasiums or light fiction resorts, his money will pile up faster than the contents of a corn crib.

Andrew might as well give up. He is several laps behind now and sinking deeper and deep in legal tender and other financial debris. He will never know what poverty is unless he changes his system. There are thousands of bright, estimable young men who would be willing to help Andrew get rid of his small change, if he would invite them in and talk the matter over without any of the Scotch hauteur which creeps into some of his correspondence.

Aside from his money, which he can't help, Mr. Carnegie has no bad habits. He is as big and forceful and square as a Scotch American is supposed to be, and you can't beat the combination.

Shortest Story.

Natali Brummenslager, today's heroine, was blessed with the rare combination of a perfect set of teeth and a keen sense of humor. And as she sat on the opposite end of the sofa from handsome Harry Himmeldough, today's hero, her beautiful teeth and adorable dimples were at it everlastingly.

"Heck," reproved Harry gently. "You might let me in on the joke, Nat."

He always called her Nat, for he knew her very, very well. But now as he sort of slid across the sofa and tried to kiss those laughing ruby lips, she waved him away and laughed harder than ever. It really began to get on Harry's nerves, because he was a man who lost all patience if he wasn't kissed every so often.

"Tell me what it's all about, Nat," (Nat again you see) "or I'll make such a racket your father'll call down," he threatened.

"I—oh, hee, hee—I ate onions for supper," she gushed.

He grew pensive right away and remained over on his end of the sofa all evening.

PROGRESSIVE THOUGHTS

Are you striking every blow you can for the Progressive Party?

Are you trying to convince every man and woman you meet that the Progressive Party is battling for humanity?

Do you tell them that child labor, night work for women, the unbridled flotation of wild-card securities and the use of money to debauch elections are only a few of the many intolerable conditions the Progressive Party pledges itself to stop?

Do you tell them that the Progressive Party is battling to destroy the invisible government and the unholy alliance between corrupt business and corrupt politics, Republican and Democratic alike?

If you are not doing this, you are not doing your share in this great war for humanity.

Start now and do it every day and every hour until the polls close on election night. —Progressive Bulletin.

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN.

Now comes Mr. Bryan accusing Roosevelt of first, stealing all his progressive ideas from Democratic platform of the last three campaigns—platforms which Bryan wrote; and second, of being a dangerous man.

Inasmuch as Bryan could not accuse Roosevelt with being dangerous because of his teachings; unless Bryan were ready to admit thereby that what he alleges Roosevelt stole from him (Bryan) is dangerous, we must conclude that Bryan thinks Roosevelt is dangerous because of some other reason.

There is only one other reason that could possibly exist for Bryan's fear, and that is the belief upon his part that Roosevelt is going to win, and win because of the ideas Bryan claims he has placed in Democratic platform for years.

In that event Bryan is forced to confess that the people had no faith in his ability to carry them out, while they do have faith in Roosevelt's ability to carry them out.

Nor is that any reflection upon Mr. Bryan personally. It is simply proof that, while the Democratic bosses and party organization were willing that Bryan might write the platform and secure the nomination, they were not willing that he should win. Inasmuch as they controlled the organization and delivered the votes, they saw to it that Bryan and his progressive ideas (which he now claims Roosevelt stole) did not reach the White House.

And the same bosses and the same forces of predatory wealth and the same machinery which controlled the Democratic party when Bryan was a candidate control it now.

Now comes Roosevelt, backed by a really sincere and militant organization, advocating the things progressive Democrats have advocated and the people are responding. Democracy is being forced to show its true colors. It is being forced to admit that its organization is hostile to popular government. It is being forced to admit that its leader are in league with Big Business and Special Privilege.

So much in debt to reactionary influences to the Democratic party that its own candidate has had to repudiate the Baltimore platform, which did have flavor of progressive ideas.

The people are now beginning to see why the Democratic party bosses and organization never let Bryan win. They are beginning to see why Wilson has to trim and back and twist in order to keep the organization in line for him.

The people wish progressive principles put into practice, and they are realizing that Roosevelt and the Progressive party afford the only chance they have to realize that wish. That is why, to Mr. Bryan's mind and Democracy's way of thinking, Roosevelt is a dangerous man.

He is dangerous to Democracy. In the fight that is on between him and Wilson he is going to puncture the pretensions of the New Jersey candidate and expose the reactionary control of the Democratic organization. —Philadelphia Evening Times.

Bridges Time and Space

IT WAS A QUESTION of life or death and the victim's life hung by a slender thread. A difficult operation was necessary. To be successful the operation must be performed at once. The services of a specialist were required, but he was in a distant city.

The specialist was reached over the Long Distance Bell Telephone, the case described and the operation arranged for.

The sufferer's life was saved through the ability of the Universal Bell Telephone Service to bridge time and space.

OUR CANDIDATES.

For President:
 Theodore Roosevelt.
For Vice President:
 Hiram W. Johnson.
OUR PLATFORM:
 THE PEOPLE SHALL RULE.
OUR WATCHWORD:
 A SQUARE DEAL TO EVERY MAN.

The charge has been made by the Democrats that if Col. Roosevelt had been nominated in June at Chicago by the Republican Convention, we would not have a progressive party. It's true, we would not need a new party. The people would have ruled the Republican party. But as it is the machine controls what there yet remains of that once powerful organization, but greed, bigotry, and self exalted men ignored the voice of the great number of men that constituted the one day great party. The principles of the Progressive party born out of necessity of justice for the protection of men and principles of true government all truly expressed in the following words of Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana.
 "This party has grown from the soil of the people's hard necessities. It has the vitality of the people's strong convictions. The people have work to do, and our party is here to do that work. Partisan victories have come to be merely the people's vengeance; and always the secret powers have played their game. They are the invisible Government, behind our visible Government, and it is this invisible Government which is the real danger to American institutions. The Southern Democrats vote a dead issue and a local fear not a living conviction and a national faith."

Miss Brooks Becomes The Bride Of E. L. Bowland.

Last night at the home of the Rev. E. K. McLarty, on West Market street, a marriage was solemnized that will come as a great surprise to many friends of the couple in this city and throughout the state when Miss Nettie Brooks became the bride of E. L. Bowland, of Burlington. The services that united Miss Brooks and Mr. Bowland as man and wife was pronounced by the Rev. McLarty at his home at 8:30 o'clock last night, only members of the bride's family and a few very intimate friends being present. Miss Brooks is the daughter of Mrs. W. H. Brooks of this city and has been for a number of years a valued employe of the Meyer's company. She is a woman of exception talents and has a large number of friends and well wishers in this city. Mr. Bowland is in the dry goods mercantile business in Burlington. Mr. and Mrs. Bowland will leave this morning for Burlington, where they will make their future residence.—Greensboro News.

For the past month we have been laboring under the embarrassment of a complaint for an injunction hanging over the Dispatch Company but we are delighted to inform our readers and friends that when the whole truth was made known to Judge Wheelbee the temporary restraining order as granted in part, was dissolved, and the friends of the Dispatch can rejoice with its majority stockholders that the paper is in better condition now to serve its many friends than ever before.
 We have no ill will or feeling toward the complainant in the proceeding closed in Durham last Monday night, but we do hope that complainant may learn ere its too late that right makes right, and not that might makes right. The day has forever past in our grand old state when a few political bosses can dictate terms to the political and industrial world.
 Therefore we shall never be guilty of bounding down the defeated in this or any other conflict, but rather if within our power to do so, hold up the hands and cheer the hearts of distressed brethren.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Letter from Mr. Thompson.
John H. Vernon, Esq.
Chr. Dem. Ex Committee
for Alamance County and
W. W. Brown, Esq.
Chairman Prog. Ex Com.

Dear Sirs:
Having entered the present
political campaign upon a reform platform and several of the democratic candidates, having expressed to me their disapproval
of the use of money in this campaign except for actual legiti-mate expenses, I hereby challenge you to take a decided stand with reference to this issue. Do you condemn the use of money
to debauch the franchise and corrupt the ballot? Do you also condemn all political in trigue
and chicanery used in the past to defeat an opponent? Do you believe that all such methods to secure an election should be condemned by both the press and the pulpit?

Are you willing to give every man a "square deal" and let each a didate stand or fall upon his own merits and the principles
he represents?
If so, are you willing to request all the democratic candidates, their friends and co workers, to refrain from the use of money in the present campaign
except for actual legitimate expenses to refuse to countenance and any under handed scheme or political trickery, and thus help to remove the stigma of political corruption that now rests upon our beloved county? Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience, I have the honor to be.

Very Respectfully Yours,
J. A. W. Thompson.

Large Crowd Come to see Roosevelt.

Between three and four thousands people, assembled at the depot Tuesday to see and hear Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the Progressive Candidate who spoke for ten minutes. The special on which Col. Roosevelt traveled arrived here on schedule time,
the great throng of people having gathered more than an hour to hear and see this great American citizen. He came here from Asheville, leaving there early in the morning and making a number of stops speaking to the vast assemblies which had gathered at the stations along the way.

While here the Col. spoke of boss rule, he said each of us want to rule his own life and if mistakes
are to be made them ourselves and not have some one make them for us. The Col. voice was in bad shape from having spoken
so much his physician having advised him not to speak between Asheville and Raleigh. Among the party from this place who were escorting his special car
were Jas. N. Williamson, Jr., and Mr. Erwin Holt. We are told that only one town between Asheville and Raleigh had more people than Burlington present to see and hear the Col. Roosevelt and that was Durham, and we are not sure if Durham had us beat. Quite a number of our citizens pressed forward with eagerness to shake the Col. hand
if his hand could not be reached
they were content to just touch
his garment, and thereby say they had touched the garment of the greatest living American citizen.

We were especially proud of the non-partisan cordial greeting
given this great man.

Sudden death of Mr. Lindley.
Mr. Monroe Lindley, died suddenly Monday evening at the fair ground. He took a hemorage of the lungs and died within a few minutes. He lived near

Helps the Farmer to Sell

THE FARMER was worried over the market reports. Cotton was rising. When it reached a certain figure he proposed to sell. The day before it had almost reached his price. What would it bring today?

The farmer needed first-hand information at once. He stepped to his Bell Telephone. The Long Distance connection with the buyer in a distant city informed him that cotton had reached the top figure, and he sold his crop at a handsome profit.

The Universal Bell System enables the producer in remote rural districts to keep in touch with market conditions without the necessity of leaving home.

By the way, have you a Bell Telephone?

THE INSURGENT

By Howard L. Rann
The insurgent is a piece of human dynamite who is always breaking into the conversation with impious remarks regarding the southern delegates. He is the nearest approach to perpetual motion this side of T. Roosevelt.

Up until the last year or two the insurgent was not allowed to appear in public without a high check and kicking straps. Times have changed, however, and now he can go around and assault defenseless standpatters with impunity and a rich, saw-tooth vocabulary.

As commonly understood, the insurgent of the present A. D. is a person who would be willing to trade the administration for anything from a milch cow to what have you. No reasonable offer refused.

There are several kinds of insurgents. The lodge insurgent is one who blackballs every candidate whose name gets past the outer guard, and thus prevents the lodge from growing too fast. He is usually about as popular as a Unitarian preacher in a Methodist church.

The business insurgent is one who trades western land for a bankrupt stock of clothing and unloads it at 30 cents on the dollar during fair week.

The social insurgent is generally a fearless female who pulls off a series of card parties during a revival meeting, thereby securing considerable free and undiluted advertising from the visiting brethren.

The church insurgent always manages to get on the official board where he is prepared to show that the minister ought to support a wife and nine children on $600 a year and lay up money. This kind of an insurgent can usually generate the longest prayer in the parish.

The newspaper insurgent is one who has a sliding scale of advertising rates ranging from zero to all the traffic will bear. He also conducts his job department on the eleemosynary system.

One of the best things insurgency has done is to clean up the United States senate so that people can frequent it without carrying smelling salts.

Letter from Pennsylvania.
We are in receipt of a letter from a friend in Pennsylvania and we quote the following:
I enclose you my check for one dollar in and 05 cents ($1.05) for two subscriptions to 'The State Dispatch' for six months, provided jobholder Waller remains outside the breastworks of the paper.
If T. R. wins out, your P. M. will get the grand bounce, and then everyone in Burlington can sing:
What have we done?
What have we done?
We've put old Zeb Waller on the bum.
That's what we've done.
Names of Subscribers:

Reber used to be a good electrician until he one day bumped up against some live wire which put him out of business and left him paralyzed and perfectly helpless. He is a member of the P. O. S. of A., and other orders. His little store is well patronized by the members of these bodies, whom poor Fred delights to read to.

Frank C. Mosier,
216 Wyoming Ave.,
Pittston, Pa.
I wish you would send me a book, giving an account of Burlington, N. C., which I never heard of until after you received my card. Tell us about its climate, manufacturing enterprises, water power, business places and natural resources, etc., etc., etc. Have the editor of the State Dispatch get busy and write the old town up.
Very truly yours,

TWO STEAMERS.

Washington, September 23.—President Finley, of the Southern Railway Company, speaking today of the contract recently let by the Chesapeake Steamship Company for the construction of two steamers for service between Baltimore, Md., and West Point, Va., by way of Chesapeake Bay and the York River, said:
"The completion of these steamers will stimulate freight and passenger traffic in the territory traversed by the Southern Railway in Eastern Virginia. It is expected that this service will be an important factor in the material development of that territory."

"The larger part of the passenger traffic will be handled by the new service which will be that between Baltimore and Richmond. Rail and steamer schedules will be so arranged that passengers leaving Baltimore in the early evening will be in Richmond early the following morning, and those leaving Richmond in the early evening will reach Baltimore early in the morning. The line will participate in the present large movement of freight, between Richmond and Baltimore and it is expected that the additional and improved facilities afforded will lead to an increase in the volume of traffic through the larger industrial development of the territory affected."

"One of the important results of the new service is expected to be the larger development of fruit and vegetable production as a result of providing quick and more frequent service to the markets of Baltimore and points beyond. A large part of the region served is admirably suited for the growing of truck."

Read the Book.

We take pleasure in announcing that any of our readers can secure the above vest pocket book free of charge by sending 2c. for postage to D. Swift and Co., Patent Lawyers, Washington, D. C. This book contains tables showing which states each presidential candidate carried in 1908, the number of Democrats and Republicans elected by each state to Congress in 1908 and 1910, the leading events of the life of each President, from Washington to Taft. It also gives the population of each state according to the census reports of 1890, 1900 and 1910, the population of about 20 of the largest cities in each state, a calendar for 1912 and 1913 and much other useful information.

Puts End To Bad Habit.

Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feelings end "the blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25c. Freeman Drug Co.

THE ONLY HONEST PLANK ON TRUSTS

"The new party is the only one that has a single intelligent and honest word to say upon the trust problem. Mr. Taft's party is still infatuated with the law under which trusts multiplied and flourished as never before. In supreme court decisions, which amount merely to rubbing out the old name on the trust's sign-board and writing up three new ones—while prices are smartly increased to the consumer and the trust's shares advance by leaps—it sees an adequate remedy. So long as the attorney general wins brilliant victories on paper it is quite satisfied. The plank that Mr. Bryan wrote goes back to even the Sherman law and rests upon a naive faith that the only way out of the difficulty lies in 'busting' everything of size."

"Both these platforms rely upon compelling competition; and no policy which relies upon that will bring us one step nearer to an actual grapple with the trust problem. We believe, as ex-Senator Beveridge said at Chicago, 'the people are tired of this mock battle. What good does it do any man to read in his morning newspaper that the trust has been dissolved and then read in his evening newspaper that the price of oil has been advanced?' The Progressive Party begins with a sane brief—backed by the whole world for a full generation—that competition may be harmful and combination salutary. It is only from this point of view that any solution of the trust problem will ever be found."

ROOSEVELT ON FLINN

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 17.—In his speech at a big meeting here this afternoon Roosevelt paid emphatic tribute to the service rendered by the former State Senator Flinn to the Progressive cause. While Roosevelt was speaking one in the crowd asked: "How about Bill Flinn?" "I'll tell you about Flinn," Roosevelt promptly rejoined. "He is as stout a champion of liberty as exists. I want you your full armor. He came to me last April or May and had never known him. He told me he was going to support me, for he believed the country would not be a place for his children to grow up in unless such social and economic justice was done to make good place for other children to live in. "He told me that it was experience, and he said he had learned it, and that he had learned it—had been taught the safety of our government in making the people responsible not merely nominal rulers but their own governmental agents. He fought his fight squarely, and he carried it off. State Test Farm Exhibit Car to visit City, Burlington, N. C.
The Chamber of Commerce
has arranged with Mr. F. S.
Puckett, of Raleigh, Assistant Director of the State Test Farms
to bring the State Test Farm Exhibit to Burlington Oct. 12, 1912.

The Exhibit is installed in a passenger car and will arrive on train No. 108 due to arrive at Burlington, 8:12 on Oct. 12 and will be on sidetrack near Passenger waiting room open to visitors.
The car will leave on train No.
108 Oct. 12.

The Exhibit is complete in every detail, consisting of the leading varieties of corn on the stalk, showing the height, size
and shape of the ears, and cross sections of ears showing shape of grain and size of cob. Also museum jars graphically representing the differences between the different varieties for the number of years they have been tested. Representative types of each variety of corn has been carefully selected to show each variety, not at its best nor poorest, but as it grows under average conditions.

The different leading varieties of wheat, oats, and cotton are shown in a similar way. Fertilizer experiments have been carried on with these crops the results of which are shown graphically in museum jars.

Other interesting features of the Exhibit will be representative soil types of the State shown in its natural state to a depth of 24

location of these different types
also the results of fertilizer tests that have been made on these soils.

The leading varieties of apples,
peaches, and Irish potatoes will be shown in an attractive way.

A complete tobacco exhibit is also with the car, showing the different grades of tobacco from the distinct tobacco belts of the State.

A portion of the Exhibit that will be of special interest to the women is the canned fruit and vegetable exhibit, canned by the Department of Agriculture.

Instructive charts, enlarged
photographs and leguminous
plants will be on exhibition also.
The Exhibit is instructive, educational, and interesting and something worth coming to see.

COLONEL WILL SOON TURN HIS ATTENTION TO NORTH AND EAST

Jackson, Tenn., Sept. 26.—To a large crowd of Tennesseans gathered here from several counties Col. Roosevelt expounded Progressive doctrines today. It was his only political speech of the day, as his address in Memphis this morning before the interstate Levee association was of a non-partisan character. Tonight he went on his way to New Orleans.

With his transcontinental tour
drawing to an end, Col. Roosevelt is turning his attention toward the battlefields of the north and east, where he expects to have the heaviest fighting of the campaign. During his trip through the south he said he intends to devote himself largely to an exposition of Progressive party's principles. On his return to the north, where he has already made a number of speeches of this character, it is his plan to take up the issues raised by his opponents.

Neither President Taft nor Governor Wilson, said Col. Roosevelt, is truly progressive. It is his plan to emphasize this statement during the remainder of his campaign, for, he asserted, there is no vital difference between the Republican and Democratic parties.

Col. Roosevelt read with interest names of the men summoned to testify before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions.

Some time ago he intrusted his managers in New York to arrange with Senator Clapp for his appearance before the committee on any of the days between his campaign trips, and he received word today that he was to go to Washington on Friday of next week. The colonel had been hoping to have a period of uninterrupted rest at Oyster Bay before his next trip, but said he would be glad of the opportunity to testify. He had no means of knowing what lines his testimony
would follow, he said.

When Col. Roosevelt reached Jackson late in the day he received an enthusiastic welcome at fair grounds. He said he wished to emphasize the fact that the Progressive party was making its fight alone and had no filiations with any other party.

Governor Hooper, the Republican executive of Tennessee and a candidate for reelection, was scolded by Col. Roosevelt.

"I wish to comment," said
Col. Roosevelt, "upon the attitude of the Republican nominee for governor. Governor Hooper has announced that some people think Mr. Taft's nomination was stolen and others do not. He said he was one of the latter.
Now, I wish to say, with all the emphasis in my power that every intelligent man who chooses to look into facts knows that Mr.
Taft's nomination was stolen. If Mr. Hooper doesn't know it, it is because he doesn't take the trouble to think.

"And another thing, Mr. Hooper was nominated for the position of temporary senator of the United States—highly temporary—one of the men who assisted in the theft. I refer to Mr. Sanders. Mr. Sanders sat in the national committee, with a proxy,
and took part in the scandalous
conduct that resulted in stealing from the rank and file of the Republican party the machinery of the party. In this way Mr.
Hooper forfeits his rights to the support of any honest man."

In Tennessee as elsewhere Col.
Roosevelt said he wished his support to stand by the state ticket as firmly as by the national ticket.

"I feel that we have the right to appeal to ex-Democrats and ex-Republicans alike," he continued, "and to both the men who wore the gray and the men who the blue. Ours is in no sense a sectional party."

He said both Union and Confederate veterans were working for the Progressive party and were making common cause in the fight as loyally as they had stood by Lee or Grant.

Col. Roosevelt will spend tomorrow in New Orleans.

For Register of Deeds.

"I hereby announced my candidacy for the office of register of deeds of Alamance County, subject to the action of the democratic convention to be held on the 7 th day of September, 1912.

Daily Chat About Dress Fascinating Millinery

It is natural for every one to be interested in autumn millinery and to note the definite changes in form and trimming. The summer models emphasized the pyramidal effects with trimming
towering high to the front or side of the hat. Trimming is now placed flat instead of upright.
This is especially apparent on the new large hats.

Graceful trimming droops noticeably over the brim. Plume and feather no longer wave their fronds upright. Another admirable point, in the new flat hat,
is its flexible grace and lightness.
Whether of velvet, velour or felt these qualities are always present.

The stiff brim is a memory of the past. Many of the large picture hats are as light in weight
as the summer models fashioned of crinoline and silk covered.

The alliance of fabric effects
in two tones is another noticeable feature. Velour is combined with velvet, moire, gros-grain
silk and satin.

The crown may be of velvet
with a brim of velour, faced with moire or satin in a contrasting tone. Some hats are apparently crownless, being almost flat on top with little trimming aside
from a single rose or flat bow.

A fascinating model developed in white velour has a facing of pale rose satin. The crown and brim are completely covered with sulphur-colored ostrich plumage.

Small hats and large ones are trimmed in this manner. Very often the brim is hidden by the fronds which droop over several inches.

Uncurled ostrich plumes are much in evidence. The fronds are extremely long and sometimes swirled about the crown.

A hat demanding much attention at a recent display of imported models was of prune-colored velour. The under brim was faced with "faded" pink satin. Bird of Paradise plumage was lavishly used to trim it.

This model would appeal to almost any woman, as the lines permitted an unusual amount of coiffure to show.

The new sailor hat is of soft velvet, and is bound to meet with instant approval. It has a large, low crown and a wide brim which curls up slightly toward the back. This takes away the effect of resting on the shoulders which is not becoming to small people.

The most popular trimming for this hat is a draped band of white satin around the crown and finished in front with a flat bow of pleated satin.

Ribbon is used extensively to trim the large flat hat. The variety with the picot edge is most favored.

Flat bows, double and single pleatings and ribbons with fringed edges all appear on pretty models.

A simple yet graceful hat of black velour has a facing of old blue velvet it is trimmed with a flat bow of blue and black shot ribbon. This is a lovely model especially suitable for a young girl.

Ribbon-trimmed hats always display good taste when used for the younger generation. They are girlish and more practical
than any other variety.

Taffeta is another material
that is used for the autumn hat.
It is combined with velvet and velour. Gold is a popular shade and verges on a mustard color.
White moire is used for the brim with a crown of sapphire blue velvet in another smart flat hat. A flat bow of pleated moire silk adorns the front. Two white wings tipped with blue are arranged slantingly from beneath the bow.

Hatpins of seed pearls are worn with the flat hat. They harmonize beautifully with the autumn hues.

Cascades of pleated maline
falling from the top of the crown
to the edge of the brim are noticed on many of the flat hats.
Black and a combination of black and white are equally popular.

The flat hat is one of the leading modes in the realm of millinery and every woman who makes any pretense of keeping pace
with fashions demands must own
at least one.

Religion and Medicine

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Is there any intimate relation between religion and medicine? Yes, there is. The old-time healer was also the priest. Theology and medicine have not maintained a separate existence very long. They used to be one. Yes, there is an intimate relation between religion and medicine. It is well known of a person who eats with unthankfulness and ill-natured spirit, that his food will not have the same effect as if he were in a kindly mood. The same is true of medicine. If a person swallows a medicine with suspicion, has no faith in its action, is more or less afraid of the one who gives him the medicine, it cannot do him as much good as if he had unwavering faith in it. The mind has a wonderful influence over the body. Those who believe that a loving Father controls the destiny of mankind are a great deal better prepared to meet the vicissitudes of life and to overcome disease than the one who has no such faith. A truly religious man makes a better patient than an irreligious man. In using the word religion I am not referring to any particular kind of religion. The Jew and the gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant, each have a religion in which they believe. They also agree in the essentials. A religious man may believe that it is necessary for him to use every means in his power to get well. He may believe that it is perfectly proper for him to employ doctors and take medicines. But he also believes that when he has done the best he can there is a higher power that has charge of his affairs, that absolute justice will be done him, that no evil thing can befall a good man. He goes forward with confidence, sick or well, rich or poor, and gets a great deal more comfort out of life than the man who has no religion. I have found myself saying many times to people who have a chronic ailment, "You need religion as well as medicine. You need faith in an overruling providence that guides everything to wise ends; that the affliction of disease teaches a lesson that every one should strive to learn."

This does not mean that sick people are to sit down and trust that an overruling providence will do everything. Nothing of the sort. He is to use remedies guided by his best judgment, but in the use of them he can believe that all things are well and that in the end all things will come out right. Any medicine has a better chance to cure a man who holds such a faith. Some men are so faithless and unbelieving, so restless and desperate, their minds so unsettled, that even the best of medicine has little chance to do them any good. Therefore I say that religion is often quite as necessary as medicine, that the want of religion frequently defeats the action of the best medicine.

Many a chronic invalid has searched in vain for a physical remedy simply because he has lost his grip on vital religion, the religion that not only provides salvation in the world to come, but soundness of body and mind in the world that is.

Yes, there is a most intimate relation between medicine and religion. Other things being equal, the irreligious man stands a poor chance of getting well when he is sick, while the religious man frequently gets well in the most astonishing way after his doctors have all given him up to die. With a firm faith in a rational religion and an obedient use of the right remedy a great many hopeless invalids could be restored to perfect health.

Well, you have made it clear as to what you mean by religion. But what is the remedy you would recommend?

Of course I would recommend different remedies for different conditions. But the particular remedy that I am interested in at this time, the remedy that meets more chronic ailments than any other remedy I know of, is Peruna. Peruna is a remedy for that multitudinous group of ailments that are dependent upon catarrhal derangements.

I am furnishing a book on catarrhal diseases which I send to any person free. In this book I explain quite fully the uses of Peruna. Those who do not care to wait to send for the book at this time will find information and instruction as to the general uses of Peruna explained within the wrapper of each bottle. PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To suit the demand, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

Almost A Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy in Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Straw Vote in Meat Market.

The following is the result of a straw vote taken at my meat market in the first ward, for one week, just as the voters dropped in:

Wilson	125
Roosevelt	108
Taft	4
Debs	4

Last election this same ward gave sixty Democratic majority. Ninety-five per cent of the honest Republicans in the state will cast their ballot for Theodore Roosevelt on November 5, with hundreds of good, good Democrats who believe in letting the people rule and not the representatives of special interests.

Partisanship Gone To Seed.

We have heretofore expressed our views as to the executive committee definition of who is a Democrat, which were to the effect that if the party wishes to shut the door in the face of possible new members, the committee did right. Very few papers have endorsed the ruling some of the strongest opponents being supporters of Governor Kitchin.

An opinion, editorial, in Raleigh Christian Advocate, under the above quoted caption, says: "That is what the decision of the State Executive Committee in determining who may vote in the Senatorial primary amounts to. If none are Democrats except those who vote for everybody whom the Democratic party puts up, the ranks of the party will be wonderfully diminished—and ought to be more so. It is not a pleasant doctrine to party organization leaders, but the sturdy independent voter is the hope of the nation. It may do for the ambitious politician to boast of party regularity; but the man who will vote for a person whom he knows to be unworthy and unfit for the position—possibly a menace to the public good—simply because he has secured the enforcement of a political party, always represents something somewhat less than the highest type of manhood. To make such a course a test of fealty partisanship has gone to seed. The attempt to enforce such a rule is a slap in the face of the sturdiest manhood of the state; and at this time when party ties are held somewhat loosely it will cost the party heavy loss that attempts it—and it ought."

No man who holds honesty above partisanship will attempt to show that the Advocate has not spoken truthfully. The chances are that Governor Kitchin regrets forcing such a ridiculous, such an unreasonable issue. If the Democratic ticket was regarded as in danger of defeat, the executive committee would have ignored any such demands. In fact there are many reckless things being said and done in this campaign that would not be thought of if there was a strong, vigorous united opposition party in the state. It is not a case where "might makes right" but where might permits wrong. Major H. A. London, writing in his paper, the Chatham Record expresses the opinion that the committee ought to hold another meeting and rescind its drastic requirement." Continuing Major London declares that if "this is not done the resolution will not be adhered to in many counties, especially in those counties that are closely contested between the Democrats and Republicans. There are local conditions that do not apply to all the counties and in many counties the enforcement of the resolution of the committee will hurt the Democratic party and many jeopardize the election if not defeat many of our candidates." As we previously pointed out the committee could hardly have done anything that would confer a greater favor on the Republicans, and the foregoing opinion of Major London supports that view. Still there was nothing else for the committee to do in the face of Governor Kitchin's demand and the charges he was making, but to make that ruling. However it will not be the slightest concern to the governor how many Democratic counties are lost if he gets the senatorial nomination, just so enough are left to elect him. And we further believe that if he should be defeated for the nomination he would welcome a republican legislature to the end that his successful opponent in the primary might not be elected.

Commenting further on the ruling of the committee, Major London says that "one effect of the enforcement of this resolution will be to drive away some men who might otherwise vote at least a part of our ticket. At this time many Republicans are so dissatisfied with their own party that they might be induced to vote at least a part of our ticket and vote for any Republican. Of course no man would be allowed to vote in the Democratic Senatorial primary who would at that day for any Republican. There are some men who may be induced to vote for a part of our ticket and vote in any opposing caucus. The resolution adopted by the committee is not calculated to get recruits for the Democratic party, to say the least." This is the opinion of a man whose loyalty to the Democratic party will not be questioned by any man who has a spark of regard for the truth. Just here it might be interesting for Governor Kitchin and Manager McNinch to reflect that Major London is supporting Woodrow Wilson. —Greensboro News.

The Unexpected Will Happen October 14th - Monday - At Twelve O'clock On The Premises Of Miss Mary Cates.

On that day we will sell her valuable property at auction to the highest bidder. Lot 60-1/2 ft. front by 1200 ft. deep. Splendid six room house, rooms 16 x 17 ft. square, five rooms with grates in them.

This property is located three blocks from the center of town on the street car line on Front Street, directly in front of Tom Sellars. Never before in the history of the town has there been so valuable a piece of residential property offered at public auction. If you want to buy a bargain, come to the sale.

This property is well worth $4,000.00 but will be sold to the highest bidder by the PIEDMONT TRUST COMPANY.

Since our last writing we have had many refreshing showers of rains for which we are grateful and the tellers of the soil are using to a great advantage preparing for a large wheat and oats crop.

The Progressive met at Mr. O. N. Hornaday's 28 and nominated a good ticket of Township officers just like the county did the 21st of Sept good clean men if elected will make us some good officers will work to the advantage of the farmers for the majority of those nominated for county commissioners are farmers and good ones at that.

Mr. Lon Smith is all smiles its a girl.

Mr. June Hornaday and family have returned from their visit in Tenn, had a nice trip got home in time to be nominated for survivor on the Progressive ticket of which place he is fully capable of filling.

We learn that Drs. Foster, Foust and Shepherd of Liberty will open their hospital October 1st they not made much blow about it they had they might have done like the Burlington and Graham Drs. did. Too much smoke without a little fire is not very dangerous.

Jim Spoon received a very bad burn on his leg a few days ago from his engine bucking on him. Good "lasses" making is the go at A. T. Spoons those days also at S. G. Alreds very little visiting on side so we can not report many visitors this time Dalph Kinney who has a road job running the road roller says he likes it very much visited his f m y Saturday night.

The road scraper was around to see us on a few stripes of road but did not get to the worst ones they are still neglected better a little than no work still some was done where was not needed very bad and the worst has been neglected.

Love

The ancients regarded love as a disease. It has all the symptomatology of a disease, and the fact that it chains in all healthy organisms of the higher type, and is necessary in evolution, instead of being destructive, as is a disease proper, alone saves it from being classed as a malady by modern medicine. But in its most extreme form it becomes absolutely destructive.

Anthony lost an empire for love of Cleopatra. Alexander stayed his march to India for the conquest of the entire world, because he was stricken with love for Thais. Intuition that ends in self-destruction is common enough, but the murderous direction is more rare.

The normal man is stayed by his self respect. If another is preferred before him, he does not attempt to remedy it by abuse nor to acknowledge his chagrin by persecution. The jealous gorilla tribe of apes is an exception, and is without a characteristic that promotes further mental, emotional, or social development. The chimpanzee, being less jealous of other males and females; lives in families groups and tribes and has progressed in the gentler qualities, intelligence in adaptability and in social interests. Obviously jealousy is an unsocial quality a violent factor. It is the lowest form of human emotion. And, by the same token it is the most violent. —Detroit News.

Reasonable Tests For Admission to College.

The first step toward true reform will be the abandonment of the certification plan of admitting to college. This plan, as it works out under our system, makes college matriculation at once too easy and too difficult. It is too easy for those who are drawn up, cog by cog through twelve years of school attendance marked by the performance of no really difficult intellectual feats but only an infinity of "small jobs." It is too difficult for those who, though abundantly able and eager, have the misfortune to be obliged to walk part way instead of holding their seats in the educational car.

By substituting for the present plan an examination whose objective that of the new Harvard examination, is not alone to test the candidate's acquirements in a minimum number of prerequisite studies, but especially to find out the quality of his mind, we would correct both these evils at one stroke. Such an examination should be mainly but not wholly oral; it should be conducted by a committee of say three persons who vary sufficiently in their points of view to make the test a fair one. This committee should secure in advance as complete a description of the candidate as possible from the school he has been attending or from other sources. Should this prove favorable on all points—his moral character, intellectual habits, the studies he has pursued and the degree of proficiency attained in them—a very short examination would suffice. More doubtful cases would require correspondingly minuter treatment, until with the man who should present himself an entire stranger, with meager credentials, the process would become very searching.—From "Who Should Go to College and Why," by Joseph Schafer, in the American Review of Reviews for October.

What Was True Then Is True Now.

"In this, the great era of American advancement, the Republican party has reached its highest service under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. His administration is an epoch in American history. In no other period since national sovereignty was won under Washington, or preserved under Lincoln, has there been such mighty progress in those ideals of government which make for justice, equality and fair dealing among men.

"The great accomplishments of President Roosevelt have been first and foremost, a brave and impartial enforcement of the law, the prosecution of illegal trusts and monopolies, the exposure and punishment of evildoers in the public service, the more effective regulation of the rates and service of the great transportation lines, the complete overthrow of preferences, rebates and discriminations, the arbitration of labor disputes, the amelioration of the condition of wage workers everywhere, the conservation of the national resources of the country, the forward step in the improvement of the inland waterways, and always the earnest support and defense of every wholesome safeguard which has made more secure the guarantees of life, liberty and property.

"These are the achievements that will make for Theodore Roosevelt his place in history, but more than all else, the great things that he has done will be an inspiration to those who have yet greater things to do. We declare our unflinching adherence to the policy thus inaugurated, and pledge their continuance under a Republican administration of the government."

Thanks Expressed.

Roosevelt's Clothes Were Admirers In W.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., When Colonel Theodore reached Oyster Bay for the first time he found it necessary to consult with his advisers. Whatever other important he may have recognized was none quite so pressing as the absolute necessity of new suit of clothes. The colonel himself retained his strenuous tour of duty in his splendid physical his clothes were a wreck.
