Governor Craig Will Call Special Term of Legislature.

Governor Lock Craig has recently given out the report that a special term of legislature will be called to consider the freight question as it affects the state.

He said: There will be a special session of the legislature. That has been contemplated ever since the last session of the general assembly, and I will certainly take any proper action that may be necessary to secure for North Carolina fair treatment by the railroads. The people are determined that they will no longer suffer the injustice to which they have been subjected for years in the matter of freight rates, and I will do all in my power to aid them in this contest. With fair treatment the cities and towns of North Carolina would grow and prosper, and we are going to have that treatment before long.

Mr. Walker Principal of Graded School.

Mr. D. J. Walker of the class of 1913 of the University of North Carolina was elected principal of the Burlington Graded school by the school board the past week. Mr. Walker is a first cousin to Mr. Joe Walker who served as principal during the past two years and was so much liked by all the students. We trust he will be equal to his predecessor. His home is near Union Ridge.

The following teachers have been elected since the first names were chosen: Misses Lena Lefler, of Cooleemee; Emma Taylor, of Seaboard; Hasie Low Ponder, of Mars Hill; and Miss Lois Benbow, of Greensboro, the last being instructor of music.

Carolina Business College Opens.

The Carolina Business College which began actual work in their school over Holt-Cates Store have enrolled a large number of students and are enrolling new ones daily. That this is a good opportunity to take a business course appears to be the opinion of the many boys and girls of the town who have and are expecting to enroll. That it is unnecessary to go away to a business school where you will have to pay a high price for board when you can take a course just the same and just as good at home appears to be the chief pulling point. Several students from other places have already arrived here and will enlist and take the course. Many of the boys and girls who have to work during the day are arrangements to take the course at night.

Stole $26.02.

Little negro boy by the name of King ruler was arrested Monday evening charged with stealing $26.02 from Mr. C. T. Huggins of east Burlington. Mr. and Mrs. Adams make it their business to travel and get up plays, and they have the best on the market in "Mr. Bob," and the ladies are fortunate in getting them.
The play is a comedy, and has been given in all of the largest towns in the State, and has taken well wherever given.
It will be given by local talent entirely, and the proceeds are to go to the Civic League. Look for further notice next week.

Progressive News From Washington.

Munsey Building, Washington, D. C. June 7, 1913.

The Kansas Republicans have at last held the "great hasmony meeting" for they have been preparing with much advertisement during the last two or three months. It was a formal effect on the part of the standpatters to toll ex-Republican Progressive back to the old organization. The lists of Kansas leaders present and absent show, by their sharp contrast, the exact measure of success attained.

Among those who attend were Dave Mulvane, the standpatter member of the Republican National Committee, who helped materially to accomplish the great fraud at the Republican National Convention last year; Chester I. Long, the standpatter ex-Senator; Charles F. Scott, the standpatter ex-Congressman; Dan Anthony, the standpatter Congressman, Mort Albaugh and George Clark, head of the Republican League that last fall advised all Republicans to vote against all Progressive candidates. These were the men who were engineering the meeting.

Those who were not there included Senator J. L. Bristow, former Governor stubbs, Congressman Murdock, Progressive leader of the House; Sheffield Ingallons; William Allen White; Henry J. Allen and a score or more other first class fighting Progressive leaders.

Another prominent leader of the State who was not present was J. N. Dolley who, instead of attending, sent his resignation as Chairman of the Republican State Committee, an act which was foreshadowed some days ago by his public announcement that he had joined the Progressives.

It was a regulation old-fashioned standpatter Republican meeting. A carefully hand-picked committee on resolution submitted a platform of glittering generalities vigorously asserting the progressiveness of the Republican party, without a line to explain in what particular the assertion was true. A few of the delegates who would really like to see the Republican party do something to make good its bluff of progressiveness, had the temerity to try to get the resolutions committee to write into the platform some words of encouragement concerning the minimum wage, workmen's compensation, widow's pensions, 9-hour day for working women, recall of decisions, and similar items, of social and industrial justice. This standpatters, however, promptly suppressed them and the best they could obtain was a feeble endorsement of a makeshift form of initiative and referendum. Even that was fought bitterly by Charles F. Scott, who threatened to take his fight to the floor of the meeting. The other standpatters, however persuaded Mr. Scott to absent himself from the meeting rather than make that fight, and so the conference finished with the outward appearance of harmony. Not a single thing was accomplished to induce any Progressive State to go back to the Republican.

The standpatters had tried to make it appear that Progressives were attending their meeting by electing delegates in pairs, one standpatters and one Progressive from a district, but the Progressives so chosen saw through the tactics and did not accept their unsought and undesired delegations.

A new turn has been given to the Senate investigation of President Wilson's charge that a great lobby was at work on the tariff bill and the investigating committee has now been instructed to inquire into the charged that the President himself has exerted pressure upon Senators to induce them to support the bill as the Administration wants it. An investigation of this kind, if conscientiously made, ought to produce some extremely interesting information. Washington has never seen a more adroit or vigorous use of White House pressure in support of an Administration measure. When the tariff bill was in the Democratic caucus in the House, Mr. Underwood, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, frankly admitted that certain most important provisions had been drawn in deference to the wishes of the President and that admission on his part prevented a change of those provisions by the caucus.

It is not likely, however, that the new turn of the investigation will produce any startling results, despite the moral certainty of certain Senators and others in Washington as the means employed by the President in exerting pressure upon Congressmen. Mr. Wilson is much more skillful than was Mr. Taft and there is no practical likelihood that a "Norton letter" will be extracted from this Administration by a Senate Committee.

Now that the Senator Committee investigating President Wilson's charge about the existence of a tariff lobby has been instructed to inquire into the President's own activities in forcing through this legislation, a very interesting line of inquiry may be opened at once to learn the truth as to certain reports which have been in circulation in Washington concerning the relations between the President and Senator Thompson of Kansas. Mr. Thompson was said to be concerned about the welfare of the best sugar concern at Garden City, Kansas, where he lives, and it was reported that he was inclined to oppose the tariff bill reducing the duty on sugar. About that time, Henderson Martin, the Democratic State Chairman of Kansas, came to Washington for the purpose, as he announced, of "cutting the pie." Mr. Martin saw the President and subsequently announced that a certain appointment would be made in Wichita, Senator Thompson, as the story goes, was opposed to this appointment and wrote a note to the President expressing his feelings. It is reported that the President promptly replied, expressing his surprise and asking Mr. Thompson to come to see him. Mr. Thompson did go to the White House and thereafter it was announced that the Wichita appointment would not be made.

Recently, Thomas W. Morgan, of Ottawa, Kansas, was appointed Worden of the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. This is regarded in Washington as a personal victory for Senator Thompson who had unsuccessfully recommended Morgan's appointment of Attorney-General McReynolds. The job is considered one of the juiciest political plumbs in the west.

Now it is reported that Senator Thompson is prepared to support the Administration at all points on the tariff bill and has no further thought of fight free sugar. This attitude may have nothing to do, of course, with these patronage matters and that is one of the things which the new line of investigation may determine.

Bird Dogs Kill Nineteen Chickens For Walter Mebane.

Mr. Walter Mebane was rather unpleasantly surprised this morning when he awoke from his peaceful slumbers and found twelve of his fine large hens and seven nice frying sized dead in the yard and as he rushed to the door saw two bird dogs belonging to messers E. L. Morgan and L. E. Atwater go rushing away at full speed. The dogs had great sport in catching and killing each chicken as it flew from the roost. One morning last week Mr. Mebane lost three in this same manner.

What Does a Bushel of Cottonseed Weigh?

An Arkansas reader who bought "three bushels" of cottonseed from a man in Georgia and receive donly 90 pounds wants to know if he should not have received 100 pounds.

Bailey's Cyclopedia of Agriculture gives thirty pounds as the legal weight of a bushel of cottonseed in Georgia and thirty-three and one-third pounds as the legal weight in Arkansas. This may explain why our reader received ninety pounds instead of 100 as he expected.

It may be of interest to give the legal weights of cottonseed in the different States as given by the authority quoted above: Alabama, 32 pounds; Arkansas, 33 1-3 pounds; Florida, 32 pounds; Georgia, 30 pounds; Mississippi, 32 pounds; Missouri, 33 pounds; North Carolina, 30 pounds; Tennessee, 28 pounds; Texas, 32 pounds; Virginia, 32 pounds.

In one State the legal weight is 28 pounds; in one, 33 pounds; in one, 33 1-3 pounds; in three 30 pounds, and in five 32 pounds. —Progressive Farmer.

As is generally known by people who are familiar with the automobile business the season runs from June to June. Mr. C. V. Sellers who is always alert will receive this week one of the best 1914 mighty Michigan touring cars.

Third Fatality From The Wreck.

Sanford, June 6.—Engineer Blalock, who was injured in the wreck of the Raleigh, Charlotte and Southern train at Deep river bridge, near Cummock, died today and his remains were carried to Carabonton this afternoon for interment.

The condition of Conductor Beacham is reported as slightly better tonight.

The three negro trainmen who were brought here left the hospital today and are considered out of danger. The others injured are reported as doing well and it is believed that all except Conductor Beacham are out of danger.

The wreck was caused by the bridge giving away and precipitating the train into the river. George Blalock was fatally injured and Bowden Stewart was killed.

Apparently it was a case of using an old bridge too long. The bridge, an iron structure with wooden foundations, was formerly owned by the Seaboard Air-Line railway and was bought by the Durham and Charlotte Railway company along with the old Railway and Western road, which extended from the Cummock to Colon. It finally became the property of the Raleigh, Charlotte and Southern when that road bought out the Durham and Charlotte. The Raleigh, Charlotte and Southern road had constructed a new bridge, which was nearly ready for use, and it is reported that they only intended to use this old bridge about one week longer.

The wreck occurred about six o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The train was a mixed passenger and freight, running between Mt. Gilead and Colon, and was composed of the entire tender, three box cars and one coach. The engine passed over safely and had reached the abutment on this side when the bridge gave way and the entire train fell into the river. It is a marvellous how any one escaped death. Some of the cars, the tender and part of the engine, are submerged in the river.

Baggage Master Stewart, who was substituting for Clarence Smith, was riding on the engine and as the bridge gave way and the engine was dragged back into the river, he was caught under the engine and pinned in the wreck so that his body could not be recovered until the wrecking crew arrived and raised the engine. The noise caused by the falling of the train was heard on the Egypt Improvement Company's farm at Cummock and men rushed to the aid of the injured. Some of the passenger escaped by crawling out of the windows of the coach.

George Blalock, who was riding on the engine with his brother, Engineer Blalock, fell into the river within five feet of the bank, but he was so badly hurt and confused that he turned and swam across the river to bank on the other side, where he was rescued. He was brought to the Central Carolina Hospital at Sanford and every thing that physician and nurses could do was done, but he died Wednesday afternoon.

Engineer Blalock and Conductor Beacham were fearfully scalded and dangerous cuts and bruises were made on head and body.

Only two passengers were injured, Gus and Milt Johnson, of Cummock. However, their injuries are not considered very serious and they are reported as doing well. Three negro trainmen were more or less seriously injured, but none fatally. Arthur Leak, the colored fireman, was badly scalded on head and severe gashes were made on head. Spencer Tyson, one of the colored trainmen, had his arm broken and was hurt on the head, but not fatally. Fletcher LeGrand, another negro, had his leg hurt but not seriously. All of the injured except the two Johnsons were brought to the hospital at Sanford on a special train of the Southern Railway Tuesday night.

Epworth League in Annual Meet.

The six annual convention of the North Carolina Conference Epworth League is in session in Front Methodist church here Prof. S. B. Underwood president of Kingston in the chair.

The conference was opened last night with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. R. E. Atkinson of the Western North Carolina Conference. The new conference hymn, "Our Battle Cry," written by Miss Adeline White of Hertford was sung as the opening hymn. E. S. W. Dameron, president of the league in a pleasing manner welcomed the delegates and visitors to Burlington and her homes. The address of welcome was responded to by Rev. W. H. Brown of Gatesville. Mr. Brown spoke of the wonderful growth of the league in this conference of what it hopes to accomplish.

It was decided to send a fraternal delegate to the State Christian Endeavor in Raleigh June 10-12 and the naming of the delegates was left to the nominating committee. Rev. R. E. Atkinson made a talk telling of the work of his conference. The conference voted to send a fraternal delegate to the Western North Carolina Epworth League which meets at Connelly Springs June 23.

A new feature of this conference is the early morning prayer which was conducted today by Rev. M. P. Plyler, P. E., of Elizabeth City District. About sixty were present this morning at 6:30 to hear Mr. Plyler in a most inspiring talk on "A Celebrated Morning Soliloquy," basing his remark upon Genesis 28. He urged the young people to begin every day with prayer and to reconsecrate their lives anew to Christ and His work.

The regular morning session began at o'clock. After devotional exercises Rev. Walton Patten, first vice president of the conference, conducted a course in Bible study, which is to be a feature of every morning session. He offered many valuable suggestions as to how one should study the Bible, and announced that he would use Paul's "Epistle to the Philippians" for the study during the conference.

Miss Gertrude Royster of Raleigh conference third vice president conducted an open conference on the work of the Third department. She made a splendid talk and submitted a most excellent course in the study of "The Life of Wesley."

A. D. Wilcox of Louisburg conducted an open conference on "Personal Evangelism." This was ably discussed by Mr. Wilcox and many of the delegates and will be continued at the morning session tomorrow.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Munsey Building, Washington, D. C. May 31, 1913.

The Supreme Court of the United States has added another to the series of progressive decisions which have come from it in recent months. This one upholds the Roosevelt-Pinchot contention regarding the rights of the federal government in water power cases. The decision was rendered in what is known as the Chandler-Dunbar case, where when the government condemned for public use the property of the corporation, the company sought to recover a sum in lieu of its possible earnings from the water power as well as pay for the land condemned. The lower court gave the company $55,000 on this contention, but the Supreme Court has now reversed that finding in a decision which goes to the root of the whole matter and settles finally what may be done. It is a striking fact that in every case involving the contentions of the Roosevelt administration on conservation questions which the Supreme Court has decided thus far, that administration has been upheld.

The Roosevelt administration made many new applications of existing laws of the course of its efforts to protect the public interest against the encroachments of land and timber grabbers and other opponents of conservation. These new applications of the law were made partly because Congress refused to pass the laws that were needed to safeguard the property of the people partly because full use had not previously been made of laws already on the statute books. Thus the law which regulated the sale of coal lands provided that these lands should be sold for "not less than" a fixed price per acre, which was far less than most of them were worth. But the law did not say that the price should be limited to the least that could be charged, although that was the practice until Roosevelt changed it. What he did was to find out what the public coal lands were actually worth, and make the men who bought them pay a reasonable price for what they got. Thereupon he was charged by these men with executive usurpation, illegality and disregard of the constitution.

In most cases the men who made such charges did nothing but talk. In some cases, however, suits were brought to break down the new interpretation of the law, and effect a return to the old plan under which the private interests uniformly got the better of the public. These suits have worked their way through the courts, and one by one they have brought about a final decision upon the legality of the Roosevelt position. From first to last the Roosevelt position has been sustained in every decision of every court of last resort. It is a most remarkable record.

The Roosevelt administration made the stockmen and the water power men in the national forests pay the government for what they got. The Supreme Court has since declared that it was right when it did so.

The Roosevelt administration asserted that no claimant to public land had any vested right in it until he got his patent. The Supreme Court has decided that it was right.

The Roosevelt administration made regulation under the law government Indian lands, coal lands and the national forests. The right to do so was attacked, among others, by the State of Colorado, but the Supreme Court has sustained the Roosevelt position.

The Roosevelt administration put forth the theory that the President is the Steward of the Public Welfare, and must do everything necessary to promote that welfare that is not actually forbidden by law. This theory was bitterly fought by all manner of men who had got rich, or who desired to get rich, at the public expense, and by reactionaries like Taft, but the Supreme Court has since sustained it.

The Reclamation Act was attacked and sustained. This guardianship of the Federal Government over the persons, property and rights of the Indians was attacked by the Democrats of Oklahoma and sustained. The right of the President to make withdrawals of public lands, questioned by President Taft after it had been exercised by President Roosevelt, was confirmed by Act of Congress.

Now comes the decision in the Chandler-Dunbar case, in which the Supreme Court sustains the Roosevelt contention that neither the private owner of lands through which runs a navigable stream, nor the State which owns its bed, can control the use of stream for water power or any other uses affecting navigation. This decision will end the States Rights contention of the water power grabbers and make it possible for the Federal Government to take the steps necessary to protect the property of the people.

Taken in connection with the recent decision in the White Slave case, which directly supports the Roosevelt theory of the right of the Government to promote the general welfare, it marks a great advance in the long fight for conservation. It is the latest, but doubtless not the last, of the unbroken series of decision by the Supreme Court of the United States sustaining the Roosevelt way of using the law to help the people.

LIQUOR FOUND IN BARN

Durham, N. C., Jan. 6.—Mr. N. H. Fleming, a farmer living at Stagville, was greatly surprised night before last when he went to his barn for a farming implement and found the door to the barn safely locked with a brand new lock. However, his natural supposition was that the boss of the chain gang who had been using part of the barn for a cement storage house had attacked the lock to keep anyone from stealing the cement. Consequently he looked up the man in question and asked him the reason for locking his barn. The chain gang boss knew nothing whatever about the lock and stated that he had neither put it on the door nor ordered it put on. Accordingly the two men went to the barn together and proceeded to break the lock off. After doing this they went on the inside of the barn and saw smiling up at them two three gallon jugs and a smell of block-ade liquor prevailing on the country air. An investigation was made and the two men found that someone had placed five gallons of block-ade liquor in the barn, after which the new lock was placed on the door.

Sheriff J. F. Howard was notified of the whole procedure by Mr. Fleming and he went out to Stagville this morning to obtain the liquor. The liquor was there all right and the good natured sheriff after trying in vain to prove who the liquor belonged to returned with it to the city. The amount of liquor was the greatest of plenty for a case of search and seizure, but unlike other instances, the officer was unable to seize a prisoner along with the liquor.

Evidently someone who knew not what to do with his liquor placed it in the barn then locked the door for security. However the lock by no means guaranteed safety, as the liquor is now under a better lock and in a more safe place than the owner could have possibly found. There were no clues left along with the liquor as to the identity of the owner, although certain parties are under suspicion. There are not enough of the liquor to make the owner come up and claim it and consequently it is not likely that the liquor will ever be turned over to anyone, as it now appears as if the only thing that can be done is to pour it into the sewer behind the county jail.

Mr. Wilson A Reactionary.

To be a progressive is to be a man that has such views of church and state that when they are put into action will cause progress in all lines of church and state. If views and theories of church and state are put into force that retard the progress of either one of these institutions, such a man becomes by his own acts a reactionary of the strongest and most dangerous type. There can be no progressive acts in life, unless they are conservative. In order to have progress, action must be taken along such lines that will conserve the best interests of not only those who propose such progressive measures, but all those that such measures affect either directly or indirectly.

It is therefore clearly evident that Mr. Wilson belongs to the reactionary class, because he causes by his radical views of government reactions in many lines of business, such as is now being felt by the money markets of America.

The Old Game.

We are again face to face with the same tactics being practiced upon our Senators by Mr. Wilson that were used by Mr. Taft, if the charge made by a Western Senator when examination by the lobbyist committee a few days ago is true. If this charge be true it already points to the failure of Mr. Wilson as president and to his principals of government. If his theories on tariff revision are not of sufficient importance and are not sufficiently clear to the majority of the U. S. Senators that they be enacted into law without this policy of coercion that is now under discussion, the tariff bill as offered should be defeated as a whole and not revised and amended as is now being attempted, because everyone that has any memory, at all, recalls the Wilson Gorman Bill passed under the Cleveland administration that played havoc with the industrial condition of the entire nation. The Wilson-Gorman bill was so changed while passing through the Senatorial fires that it was not even recognizable by its own father in the lower house of Congress. These policies practiced by Mr. Wilson is the same political tactics that Mr. Taft tried to work upon the U. S. Senate when he withdrew the appointment of a large number of Southern Postmasters and thereby defeated entirely their confirmation.

We had a very high regard for Mr. Wilson as a man and as a president elect, but his very recent act has forced us to assume a similar station in life and hold the same views in regard to his administrations as leading magazines and dailies of the Nation now hold. To the average thinker this view need not be stated, for the daily conversation of the merchant and consumer, laborer and capitalist is, that unless something is done on a more conservative basis than that which is now being followed, industrial failure is now face to face with the industrial interest of our land. As we see it there is no hope for immediate relief, because Mr. Wilson is far more set in his ways than ever was Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Taft, and the saddest of all, is that Mr. Wilson's views are radical in many of their phases and in direct contradiction to the American policies of government.

We give it now directly in charge to the Republican and Progressive Senators and the Conservative Democrat to preserve unto the American people the wonderful successful industries by defeating entirely the Senate bill as now offered for ratification, if they do this they will render unto themselves and unto the American people that glory which fadeth not away.

Roosevelt vs. Newett

The case of Roosevelt vs. Newett will go down to history as one of the celebrated cases in American National life, not for any difficult question of the fact raised, not for any difficult problem of law involved, but because it puts before the American people in a very definite form the question whether they will continue to condone, if not justify, the use of personal abuse as a legitimate kind of ammunition in a political campaign. Mr. Newett, the editor and proprietor of the Ishpeming "Iron Ore," said editorially last fall: "Roosevelt lies and curses in a most disgusting way. He gets drunk too, and that not infrequently, and all his intimates know about it." Mr. Roosevelt, who was resolved that his name should not go down in history with this falsehood attached to it, immediately brought suit. The case is on trial at Marquette, Michigan, as the outlook is going to press. Mr. Roosevelt was the first witness to go upon the stand. He entered under oath an explicit and sweeping denial of the charge, and gave a full and frank account of his life and habits. Witness after witness, out of an intimate acquaintance with Mr. Roosevelt, confirmed his testimony. We agree and all of Mr. Roosevelt's associates and intimates will agree, with the statement of one of the most implacable of Mr. Roosevelt's political opponents the New York "Sun." It is unnecessary to await the jury's verdict. Colonel Roosevelt squelched a lot of liars yesterday and, in vindicating himself, put an end to an annoyance that has frequently irritated us. And those who have no intimate acquaintance with him, if they have any knowledge concerning the effect of alcohol, would hardly need the sworn testimony of Dr. Lambert, his attending physician after the bullet wound received at Milwaukee: "He would not have recovered had he been a constant user of alcoholic liquor. To his splendid physique, unpoisoned by alcohol, he owes recovery from the wound." We think also the country will generally share in the judgement of the New York "Times," also a vigorous political opponent of Mr. Roosevelt: "Mr. Roosevelt has acted both courageously and wisely. There is more than the question at issue involved. The aspersion of the private character of public men, the attribution to them of evil habits is too common."—The Outlook.

our home keepers and mothers would be slower to use the ballot than they would the riffraff of society. I fear especially the vote of the 'red light district.' The greatest problems of State are not so important as the bearing of children, to form a right citizenship. In view of the fact that America's birth rate is falling steadily and rapidly, we older women will fail in patriotism if we throw, in our daughters way the temptation that must come with political life.

"It is next to impossible to retrace steps of such importance and we ought to watch keenly this tendency to extend the suffrage. There is no indication that woman suffrage is successful. New Zealand, where the women vote, has defeated prohibition by 50,000. Norway's divorce rate has quintupled in a few years. Colorado, with her years of woman suffrage, defeats prohibition while West Virginia without it carries it by an enormous majority."

"I oppose a movement which weakens the modesty of women. I protest against the spectacular methods by which the suffragette calls attention to herself and I assert that she fails lamentably in patriotism when she arrays sex against sex."

"Now that we are alone," he said, there is something I wish to ask you." She drew back a little from him, relates The Chicago Record-Herald, and in tones that betrayed her agitation, she replied: "Do you think this is a proper time or place?"

"It may not be, but I may not have another chance."

"Oh, I'm sure you can have, if you wish it."

"Tomorrow I leave for the Pacific Coast. One never knows what may happen."

"I wouldn't ask any other girl what I'm going to ask you."

"I—I—don't think I should want you to ask other girl."

"Thank you. It's very kind of you to say that. Tell me whether you think a man who wears a toupe to cover his bald spot ought to let the girl he is engaged to know about it before they are married, or would she be likely to pass it over without complaining when she found it out afterward?"

"Why, Edward—I—I, of course, now that you have told me, I should not object. But how do you conceal it so well?"

"I? I don't wear one. I was merely trying to get a pointer for a friend of mine."

Concord, June 6.--Special. The location of William J. McIntre, who disappeared from his fathers home here about 10 days ago, is still unknown to the distressed family of the young man. He was last seen standing on a track at the Southern station last Tuesday one week ago. Since then nothing has been heard from him. For sometime past his family have been anxious about his mental condition and it is feared he has wandered away and is unable to provide for himself.

Killed by Lightning.

Fayetteville, June 6.--During a thunder storm yesterday afternoon the 12-year old son of Floyd Young was killed by lightning at Sandy Run, in Pearce's Mill township. The boy was coming out the door of his home with a hoe on his shoulder when he was struck.

Lightning also struck the house of Ira Cashwell, on Holt's Hill, tearing away the weatherboarding and plastering. No one was injured here.

Clock 146 Years Old.

Asheville, June 8.--J. A. Moore, a collector of antique goods, has just purchased a clock from S. E. Johnson, who recently moved to Asheville from Elmira, N. Y., which is said to have belonged to President James Madison during the time that he was an occupant of the White House. It is said that the clock was made in England in 1767 and was brought to this country the following year, being sold to the future President a short time after it was received in America.

President Madison is said to have made the purchase in Philadelphia and the clock was sent from that city to the Madison home in Virginia. Years later it was captured by the Indians and was found 25 years later by a cousin of the President, who kept it for several years.

A Lady's Comment On Medicine and Religion

The following letter is from a lady whose name I am not at liberty to use. If I should mention her name she would be known by almost every reader. She writes in part: "Your article entitled 'Medicine and Religion' has been read and re-read by me many times. It seems to me that the article contains the substance of all that has been said about Christian Science, new thought, suggestive therapeutics and other forms of mental healing. "I am very much pleased to observe that you are putting out into the world such useful literature. It will do untold good, without doubt; not only for those who take medicine, but for those who try to get along without taking medicine. Your article is terse, to the point, and will be read by thousands. "Medicine and religion have always been very closely associated. Only in very recent years have the two been regarded as separate professions. I am glad you brought this out so clearly. The tendency of to-day is strongly in the direction of medicine and religion coming back together again. With your wise facilities for spreading useful information I am sure you will greatly assist the progress of the times in sending out broadcast such articles. I want you to know that your efforts are appreciated. "As to Feruna, I have nothing to say. I very seldom make use of any medicine. But I assure you that your article has so enthused me with the good advice it contains that if I have any need for medicine I shall certainly buy a bottle of Feruna. I shall not hesitate to recommend it to others also." FERUNA SOLD AT ALL DRUG STORES. SPECIAL NOTICE--Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Feruna. Expecting Bryan At Kings Mountain

Kings Mountain, June 8.--Preparations are steadily going forward looking to the proper celebration of the one hundred and thirty-third anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountains, which will be held at this place October 7, next. The committee that returned from Washington a few days ago feel sure, that unless something unforeseen happens that Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, will deliver the address.

In addition to the address of Mr. Bryan there will possibly be a short address Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge, who is a direct descendant of Colonel Campbell, one of the active participants of this famous engagement between the American patriots and British forces.

Asleep, Drove Auto 10 Miles.

Burlington, N. J. May 10--W. D. King, drummer for a Philadelphia soap house, said today that he had driven a high power machine safely through towns and villages along the Delaware river last night for ten miles while he was fast asleep.

King says that he remembers feeling drowsy while zipping along the country road near Riverton. When he awoke with a start he was just entering Burlington and he could remember no accident of the ten miles he had just covered. He had to go back over his route. King says, to visit customers he missed, and did so in fear and trembling making inquiries during this wakeful return trip to learn whether he had run down any one while asleep. He could learn of no casualties.

Luke M'Lake Says.

The folks who claim there are no male angles never married a widow and hear her brag about her first husband:
What good does it do to lower the tariff on flannel? The girls won't wear it any way.
It is a mean thing to say, but it is a fact that the girl with splendid intellect always runs second to a girl with splendid hips.

A man wants something he can't get. When a girl is too willing to be kissed she doesn't get many kisses.
Most men never know why champagne is called a dry wine until they wake up the next morning.

Petty insists upon hubby wearing a smoking jacket when he inhales Turkish atrocities because her father likes to sit around in his undershirt when he smokes a pipe.

A man used to get on his knees when he proposed. Nowadays he takes her on his knees. The old fashioned woman who used to hoist her dress and sit on her petticoat in a street car now has a daughter who would start a panic if she tried it.

A New York judge states that amusement is seeing something different every now and then. If this is the case the men will have lots of amusement watching the girls on sunny days this summer.

We all need a lot of things that we don't want and need a lot of things we don't need.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

To Our Merchants.

The man who advertises is the man who wins. The man who sits back to wait for trade to come his way without advertising his goods is the man that goes to the wall.

Get Wise.
You cannot expect to successfully meet competition without advertising.

Read and think.
Whose example would you rather follow, that of the man who failed, or the man who succeeded?

Then look and ponder.
The big mail order houses that do millions of dollars of business annually pay thousands of dollars each year for advertising. They realize that the amount of their success depends upon the amount of advertising they do.

Advertising brought them success, and it also helped the senior members of the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co., to retire with a cash capital of nearly $7,000,000 all his own.

If the mail order houses would not advertise they would be compelled to go to the wall, just as one hardware store did at Tribbey, and another hardware at Wanette. The Tribbey store never used the columns of the local paper, and the Wanette store did a little advertising in the local paper, and today you see the sign, "Bankruptcy" written in gloomy letters over their doors.

No you do not want to follow the man who failed, but you want to imitate the business methods of him who made his store a success by judicious advertising.

HAS GRAHAM FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer is Found in the Straightforward Statement of a Graham Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Burlington citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns. This frank and earnest statement by a well-known and respected resident of Graham will set this doubt at rest.

Mrs. R. C. Phillips, Graham, N. C., says: "I had suffered a great deal from pain in the small of my back for several years. I was nervous and my sight blurred. Doan's Kidney Pills soon had me feeling better."

Rawlings Heard at Burlington.

Burlington, June 6.—There are between 125 and 150 delegates here from all over the eastern part of the State attending the Epworth League conference. The sessions are proving very interesting.

The afternoon session yesterday was opened with a quartette consisting of Rev. A. J. Parker, Rev. J. M. Ormand and A. S. and L. B. Parker. As the conference quartette, they will sing at each service. Their songs are well rendered.

Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth conducted an open conference on the department of Social Service. This proved very interesting and helpful, and the delegates received many useful suggestions for carrying on the work of this department.

The evening service was witnessed by a crowded house. It began with the conference hymn, "Onward, Epworth Leaguers."

Rev. S. F. Love introduced Dr. E. H. Rawlings, missionary secretary of the M. P. Church, South, who delivered a stirring missionary address. He told of the wonderful things happening in China and of the great need of workers there. Rev. T. A. Sikes, home pastor, extended to the conference a most cordial invitation to spend Saturday afternoon at the Piedmont Park as guest of the league, the business session of the local league to be held there in the evening.

Today's sessions of the North Carolina Epworth League conference were interesting. The president named the following committee on resolutions: Rev. Walton Patton, G. F. Seifert, Miss Lilly Duke, Miss Bettie Lea Saunders, Rev. J. A. Dailey nominating committee was named as follows: Rev. J. M. Ormond, Miss Bettie Lea Saunders, Rev. W. H. Brown, Horace Sutton, Miss May Hall, Mrs. H. E. Lance, Carl Geddie, Mrs. H. O. Mattox, Miss Sallie Palmer.

Rev. A. Parker, chairman of Conference board addressed the conference on "The League, the Pastors Assistants."

Rev. A. B. Wilcox conducted his daily conference on "Personal Evangelism."

At the afternoon session Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth conducted an open conference on "Chapter Efficiency."
The secretary, Miss Lizzie Hancock, was instructed to send a telegram of greeting to Rev. J. H. Frizell, League editor of the Advocate, who was unavoidably detained at home.

Mebane News.

L. J. Jobe, who lived three miles southeast from Mebane, died Tuesday afternoon. He had been in bad health for quite a while, paralysis finally entering the complication of diseases that took him away.

He was 58 years old, was a member of Hebron Methodist Protestant church. He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. J. H. Squires, Mrs. Julian Thompson, Mrs. Albert Nicholson and Julian Jobe. Several brothers, among whom is Henry O. Jobe of Mebane, also survive him. The interment was in Hebron cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Mebane Mortor company is the name of the latest business venture for this town. Messrs. W. W. Corbett, W. A. Murray, S. G. Morgan and B. F. Warren are back of the new enterprise. Mebane now boasts of nearly a dozen cars in regular use, and several parties are contemplating buying machines in the near future.

The town council has just done two things that should meet the approval of every citizen. One is beginning some much needed repair work on the street; the other is passing an ordinance against blocking the sidewalk, and fixing a fine of $1 for violating this new law.

Miss Georgia Garrison returned yesterday from Augusta, Ga, where she has been in the millinery business during the past season.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary Beautiful Silver Wedding, Dr. and Mrs. J. U. Newman Entertain.

Elon College, N. C. June 7th 1913.
A beautiful reception was that which occurred at the lovely home of Dr. and Mrs. J. U. Newman on last evening when amid a profusion of light and flowers and in the presence of some two hundred of their admirers and friends they celebrated their 25th anniversary of their wedded life. The gifts all of silver were costly and attested the high esteem in which these devoted Christians are universally held. Many from distant States, who having heard of the event and not being able to come, sent greetings and tokens of their affection for them.

At the door their two cultured, charming daughters, Misses Alma Kathleen and Lila Claire greeted the guests and conducted them to the punch bowl presided over gracefully by Mesdames W. C. Wicker, M. A. Atkinson. They were then presented in the decorated parlor to those in the receiving line who were Dr. and Mrs. Newman, President and Mrs. Harper, Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, and Dr. J. W. Wellons. They were next ushered into the dining room where delicious, dainty, delightful refreshments were served, and then to the drawing room to view the wealth of presents there displayed amid flashing lights, made beautiful indeed by the shimmering silver so artistically and tastefully arranged. At ten o'clock the gay groups composing the party departed and the happy function was over.

Mrs. Newman was Miss Pattie Beale Long, of Missouri, whose father was the oldest brother of that distinguished Long family, of Graham, N. C., which gave Elon its founder and first President in the person of Dr. W. S. Long, the State two of its ablest lawyers in Judge B. F. Long and Col. Jacob A. Long and the State Board of Medical Examiners one of its most competent members in Dr. Geo. W. Long. She was a student in Antioch College, Ohio, in 1888, where she met Prof. Newman and became his wife, he being professor of Latin and Greek in that College founded by the great Horace Mann but then presided over by another uncle of Mrs. Newman, Dr. Daniel Albright Long, who is at present President of Union Christian College, Merom, Ind.

Soon after their marriage, Dr. and Mrs. Newman, upon the foundation of Elon College in 1889, came here and have lived here ever since. They have seen Elon grow up literary out of the clay soil that surrounds its campus, for the brick were made here, and know the history of the place completely. It was natural that many reminiscences of the origin, growth and progress of Elon should be indulged in by them and their friends at this balcony celebration. No people here have labored harder for Elon nor enjoyed it more than they and none have ever received such evidence of sincere appreciation of their services on the part of Elon's friends as these two did at their Silver wedding. Dr. Newman is at present Professor of Greek and Biblical Literature and Dean of the College here. It will be remembered that on the closing day of the past Commencement season about 100 of Dr. Newman's former pupils presented him a purse of gold for a vacation at Northfield this summer.

Was To Marry Soon.

Spencer, June 6.—Miss Ruth Melver of Carthage, who for ten days has been visiting Mrs. J. P. Scott, in Spencer, was to have been married in a few days to Mr. J. B. Stewart, of Hemp, N. C., who met death in the wreck at Cummock Tuesday. The bride-elect was in Spencer at the time the news of the accident was received here, having her bridal trousseau made. She left immediately to attend the funeral of her fiancée.

Eighty Counties Make Appropriations.

On Monday Cabarrus and Transylvania counties made appropriations to have the State and county dispensaries for the free examination and free treatment of Hookworm disease, bringing the total number of counties making appropriations to eighty or exactly four-fifths of the entire State. Eight counties were so pleased with the first round of dispensary work that have provided funds for having a second round of dispensaries. The campaign is now in progress in Hyde, Craven, Vance, Alexander and Polk counties and will be begun within a few days in Rockingham county, where from fifty to three hundred people attend the dispensaries at various points throughout the county each day and manifest great interest in ascertaining whether or not the treatment is needed.

Dr. B. E. Washburn Enters Health Work

He is splendidly fitted for the work, being an A. B. and A. M. graduate of the University of North Carolina, a graduate in Medicine from the University of Virginia, and having had a year's hospital service in the City Hospital of Wilmington, N. C. There are now seven physicians devoting their entire time to this work in the State. In addition to Dr. J. A. Ferrell, the State Director, the following are engaged in conducting the dispensary campaigns for the free examination and free treatment of the disease and in improving sanitary conditions: Dr. C. L. Pridden, Dr. P. W. Covington, Dr. G. F. Leonard, Dr. W. P. Jacobs, Dr. H. L. Sloan and Dr. B. E. Washburn. Mr. R. O. Blackhand Letter To President Wilson.

Youngstown, O., June 7.—Giuseppe Pomare, 35 years old was arrested here today on the charge of sending a blackhand letter to President Wilson demanding $5,000. It is said Pomare admits his guilt, giving as a reason that he "just wanted the money."

The letter demanding the money was mailed May 20, and was immediately turned over to the secret service department. Captain Washer arrived in Youngstown two days ago and found Pomare at 105 North Wall street. It is said that Pomare is one of a blackhand band operating in this section.

Cleveland, O., June 7.—Giuseppe Pomare arrested at Youngstown, O., charged with sending a "blackhand" letter to President Wilson, was brought here today and lodged in the county jail. Pomare was taken to Warren, O., this afternoon and after being arraigned before United States Commissioner Gilmer, was placed under $5,000 bond. He was unable to arrange bail.

United States Secret Service Operative Washer, who took Pomare into his custody, said tonight that reports that his prisoner had confessed were erroneous.

(Wahl Adding Mechanism)

This machine does something that only the brain, directing the hand, has hitherto been able to do—that is, write and add (or subtract) on the same page.

But this is not all. It does such work more easily, more rapidly, and more accurately than the human brain has ever performed similar labor.

Thus the machine is human in what it does and super-human in the way it does it.

ARE YOU A BOOSTER?

Everybody Admires A Booster! Nobody Likes A Knocker

A "booster" is one who wears a smile "that won't come off" and is so busy minding his own business that he has no time or inclination to "knock", even his competitor, so he just boosts every thing that's for the good of his town and community and thereby boosts himself.

Do You Ever Attend the Ball Game and Boost the Home Team?

Or do you boost when the boys are winning and think they are all "boneheads" and no good when they make a few errors and lose?

Do You Ever Make Any Errors Yourself in the "Game of Life"?

We are all playing the "game of life" and "life" itself is the ball with which we are playing. Our Father's Son organized our league; He is the captain and general manager of our team for He bought our "franchise" with his own blood; He is the "umpire" of the game; He layed off the "diamond" of the "straight and narrow path" we must run to reach the "home plate" of eternal life and happiness; our names written in the "score book" of life; He has given us the greatest "book of rules" the world has ever known; He has furnished us with mits and gloves, masks and body protectors and directed us to play the game with our fellow-players "as we would that he play with us" He has given us our orders for batting and base running and cautioned us to "run with patience" the diamond of life and "touch all the bases" that we may not be "thrown out" at the "home plate."

Do you never misjudge or "muff" any "high flies" by repeating the unkind things and falsehoods you hear about your fellow-players?

Do you never hit any "fouls" by "knocking" your competitor and repeating things that other competitors say about each other?

Do you never run out of "the straight and narrow path" or get "thrown out trying to steal" by falsifying about your neighbor or competitor, endeavoring to "build yourself up" by "pulling someone else down"?

When your turn comes "to bat" by boosting a good cause, do you "let your light so burn" by boosting that "all men" may see your good work?

Do you always make a "safe hit" or do you sometimes "strike out" or "fly out" by "knocking" the institutions that help you and your town?

Do you ever make a "sacrifice hit" by exerting your influence to suppress falsehoods that are circulated by malicious competitors about each other and thereby "advance your fellow-players" who never knocks his competitor?

Do you never misunderstand any "batting orders", or "signals for base running," and always follow the book of rules for "playing the game" in dealing with your fellow-players?

Do you study the "book of rules" and practice them in the home and in your dealings with your fellow player, that others may learn from you how to "play the game" to perfection?

When you hear your last summons "to bat," will you come to the plate of death trembling with fear of receiving the "pink slip" of "depart from me you knocker," or will you be ready to make "hit and a home run to the great home plate" in the skies, and hear the last decision of the Umpire, "Well done thou good and faithful player," while you receive the plaudits of friends and loved ones in the "grandstand" of the New Jerusalem?

The Carolina Business College is boosting! And is boosted by such of our highest and most honored citizens as Ex-Governors Glenn and Kitchen, late U. S. Senator Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee, Mayors, Bankers, Newspapers, Business and Professional men of all vocations.

The management has no unkind words for those competitors who circulate malicious falsehoods and attempt to create false impressions, for "by their fruits ye shall know them."

The Carolina Business College and the affiliated colleges haven't a single graduate out of employment—that's how well we mind our own business in looking after the interests of our students.
